proves that this is not correct, their own most ancient records proving that they obtained much of their knowledge from a mysterious nation of the East, which we have proved was the Hindu, among whom the arts and sciences were succesfully cultivated, and whose great progress in medicine attracted attention, and was communicated through the Egyptian priesthood to the philosophers of Greece. After perusing a translation of. 'Charaka Sanhita' Dr. Clarke of Philadelphia observed : 'If the physicians of the present day would drop from the pharmacopœia all the modern drugs and chemicals and treat their patients according to the methods of Charaka there will be less work for the undertakers and fewer chronic invalids in the world.'

Hindu system of medicine known as the Ayurvedic system flourished some centuries before the birth of Christ under the auspices of Hindu kings. Various have been the causes owing to which everything remained at a standstill for more than one thousand years. There was no support, no encouragement from the Government of the day. In fact dark days intervened, without hope, without light. As a consequence there was no progress. Moreover, on account of the innate conservatism of the Hindu race there was no experiment or observation and truths remained neglected. Hindu chemistry, Hindu botany. Hindu materia medica might have been ahead of those sciences in the West at one time, but it is not so now, and it is absolutely necessary that they should be resuscitated according to the high standard of scientific knowledge now prevailing. The rust which has accumulated must be brushed away and proper steps should be taken to make the system as efficient as possible. The Government have been doing a great deal for the encouragement of the Western method, I mean the allopathic mode of medical treatment in this country. It was in 1913 that it was elicited by the questions put by me in this Council that out of nearly 500 applicants for admission in the Calcutta Medical College every year, only one-fourth of the candidates got admission and the applications of nearly three-fourths of the candidates were rejected. Through the exertion of my Hon'ble friend Dr. Nilratan Sarkar and a few others supported by Lord Carmichael and the late lamented Sir Pardo Lukis the Belgachia Medical College is now an accomplished fact, and Government have contributed and have made adequate provision for the upkeep of the College. This I, think, has also been done with other medical schools of the Presidency. It is, therefore, meet and proper that Government should encourage the indigenous medical school of this country.

I am fully alive to the fact that at the present time Ayurveda, the Hindu system of medicine and surgery, has ceased to be cultivated as a science and the result has been that the system has, more or less, degenerated into empiricism. Anatomy, surgery and pathology which require systematic observation and experiment for their development have made no progress, and the orthodox Hindu physicians are unfortunately ignorant of many of the great truths discovered by the latter-day physicians of the West. It was necessary even for the conservative Hindu physicians to march with the times and not to lag behind. An Ayurvedic College has been established in Calcutta by some of the competent Kavirajes of the Presidency, a few of whom are also passed graduates of the Calcutta Medical College. The object of the institution is the cultivation of the science of medicine as was taught in ancient India, with all the advantages and accessories derivable from modern science. The Professors will each be in charge of a special subject and will teach his own selected branch, both theoretically and practically. Thus we shall have different instructors in chemistry, physics, botany, physiology, anatomy, medicine, surgery and midwifery. Surgeon-General Edwards, who visited this institution about a year and a half ago, along with the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell, whom I am glad to see here to-day,

Resolutions.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

was pleased to make the following remarks with reference to this institution :—

'I visited this school with the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell and was much interested in what I saw. It is a beginning which will, I hope, lead to greater things.

Kaviraj Jamini Bhushan Roy believes in a thorough preliminary training on the Western lines. He would teach all that the West knows and add to that the knowledge of the East. This seems very sound method of education. He says that in the old days there were regular schools, teaching all that was known in the intellectual world, whether East or West did not matter, and he would like to see this state of affairs again reproduced. He himself has had a splendid education and is Becholor of Medicine of the Calcutta University as well as a great Kaviraj Doctor.'

The College imparts scientific and systematic teaching, both theoretical and practical, in all the eight branches of the Ayurveda, at the same time it endeavours to combine secular with the moral and religious training of the students in conformity with the past traditions of the country. The College is divided into two separate departments, viz., the Sanskrit Department and the Vernacular Department. The courses of study for both the departments are the same and the only difference is that in the Vernacular Department teaching is imparted in Bengali and Hindi. For students in the Sanskrit Department the course of study covers a period of five years, of which four years are devoted to the study of the general college course and one year to higher study of the philosophical portion of Ayurveda with practical work meant for advanced students. The course of study for students include anatomy, physiology, materia medica, chemistry, botany, pathology, surgery, midwifery, diseases of the eye, ear, throat, hygiene, &c. The College has a free outdoor dispensary attached to it with the medical and surgical departments. The college is provided with (1) a chemical laboratory, (2) a museum for materia medica and pharmacy, (3) an anatomical museum, (4) a collection of surgical instruments for demonstration and operation, (5) a pathological museum, (6) a herbarium and (7) a library. With a view to promote the cause of Ayurveda study the College authorities have started a monthly medical journal which deals with subjects, which are of special interest to the students of Ayurveda and in which a systematic attempt is made to popularise the laws of sanitation and hygiene for the prevention of diseases. An indoor hospital will be attached to the College as soon funds would be available for the purpose. For the present clinical training is imparted to the students at the Marwari Hindu Hospital. The present number of regular students on the rolls is 56. Besides there are five casual students. In accordance with the time-honoured custom of the country the College authorities have to bear the boarding and lodging expenses of the poor deserving students and provide for their free tuition. Those who take admission in the Sanskrit Department must have passed the Government Title Examination or must satisfy the Principal that they possess sufficient knowledge of Sanskrit to be able to read and understand the Ayurvedic literature in Sanskrit. For those who join the Vernacular Department a sound knowledge of vernacular language is always essential. A fair knowledge of English too is always recommended. No student is, however, admitted to the College in any department unless he successfully passes a preliminary test held by the College authorities.

An institution such as this deserves support from Government. A start has been made by private enterprise and it behoves the Government to foster and encourage it by all means. I would, therefore, propose that for the present a monthly grant of Rs. 750 be given by Government to aid this institution in its noble work and a sum of Rs. 9,000 as a contribution for the proper equipment, etc. The monthly expenditure is more than Rs. 1,000.

Resolutions.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

It will be money well spent indeed. But while I ask Your Lordship's Government to support this institution, I also ask if the Government so desire they can appoint members on the Committee of the Institution to look after its affairs. I would like that the Surgeon-General of the Government should have a voice in the management of its affairs.

Suggestion has been made that the students of the Campbell Medical School in Calcutta may be taught as an optional subject Sasruta and Charaka—the two well-known works on Hindu medical science. I have discussed this matter with some of the members of the Ayurvedic Institute. Their objection is that the Hindu system or Hindu school of medicine would then lose its individuality and be merged in the allopathic system of medicine. It is necessary that the Ayurvedic system should flourish as an independent system. The Government has partially recognised this for the title of Vaidyaratna was founded by the Government of India in 1911 for the purpose of recognising the services of Hindu physicians of eminence who practise the Ayurvedic system of medicine. I have been informed that there is an Ayurvedic institution attached to the Dyanund Anglo Vedic College in the Punjab. It is under the Punjab University and the expenses are defrayed by Government. The Government of Bihar and Orissa have given the assurance that at the Sanskrit College to be established at Puri and Muzaffarpur, Ayurveda will be included as a subject of study.

Next as to the ways and means. From the financial statement we come to learn for the first time that in future the Collectorship of Excise in Calcutta will be filled up by a member of the Indian Civil Service holding the position of a second grade District Magistrate. The Collectorship of Calcutta has been held at least for the last twenty-five years by a member of the Provincial Executive Service and generally by an Indian. I knew Rai Bahadur Durga Gati Banerjee, Rai Bahadur Chandra Narain Singh, Mr. Babonau, Rai Bahadur Banshidhar Banerjee, Mahananda Gupta, Rai Bahadur Jamini Mohon Dass. All of them held the appointment and Babu Nrityananda Bhur is the present holder of the post. Except in one single instance I think these officers have discharged their duties honestly, conscientiously and without a stain on their character. For the last twenty-five years that they have successfully held the office the work, I think, has gone on smoothly. It is, therefore, surprising to see that provision has been made for a second grade District Magistrate as Collector of Calcutta In those days when the question of the wider employment of Indians in offices of trust and responsibility has been engaging the attention of the Government we are generally sorry to see that a post held for more than a quarter of a century by Indians and by a member of the Provincial Executive Service should be taken away from them. One would like to know if it is not a fact that about three years ago an attempt was made to give it to an European gentleman though a member of the Provincial Executive Service, but that it could not be given to him because he was junior in service. I move that the present system of appointing Indian members of the Provincial Executive Service on the present salary be continued and the proposal for the appointment of a District Magistrate of the second grade as Excise Collector of Calcutta with a higher salary be rejected and that the amount budgetted for the latter proposed appointment in excess of the present salary be given as a contribution to the Ayurvedic College.

It further appears that an increase of Rs. 9,000 has been made under the expenditure heading of Income Tax and we find in the column of remarks 'Budget provides for the appointment of an Indian Civil Service Officer as Collector with conveyance allowance and for the additional establishment sanctioned for increase of work.' We are ready to concede that conveyance allowance and additional establishment for increase of work and consequent increase of expenses would be necessary in this head. But why appoint a member of the Indian Civil Service to the post."

Resolutions.

Sir Henry Wheeler; Babu Surendra Nath Ray; Dr. Nilratan Sarkar.

The Hon'ble SIR HENRY WHEELER said :—

"Sir, there is no intention of appointing a member of the Indian Civil Service to the post of Collector of Income Tax, Calcutta."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY continuing said :—

"My Lord, I shall show it to the Hon'ble Member later on.

I can very well understand that the officer henceforth will have to do more with the European mercantile firms than has hitherto been the case, but I think experienced and trusted members of the Provincial Executive Service will be able to carry on the work efficiently. If, however, for the present and in order to make preliminary arrangements about super-tax, etc., it is necessary to have a member of the Indian Civil Service to fill up the appointment, I would propose that the intitial grant of Rs. 9,000 for equipment etc., for the Ayurvedic Institution be met from the proposed grant of Rs. 15,000 for a taxi cab stand on the maidan. It is the duty of the Corporation of Calcutta to make provision for such stands and not of the Government."

The Hon'ble DR. NILRATAN SARKAR said :—

"My Lord, I confess that it is with some amount of nervousness that I rise to oppose my Hon'ble friend. In considering our relation with the indigenous system of medicine we are confronted with two important questions—(1) whether it is possible to rehabilitate the indigenous system of medicine with the ideas of modern sciences and (2) how far we can gradually and rightly introduce truths and theory found in the Eastern sciences into our curriculum of studies of the medical schools. My Lord, as regards the latter, that is, introducing these subjects into our curricula, we have to look at matters from two points of view, one is primarily historical and the other is primarily scientific. From the historical point of view, all the accumulated wisdom of the races which has culminated in different kinds of art has their roots in some instincts, and in the case of the healing art these instincts—hygienic, sanitary or medicinals—have their roots deep in the depth of the pre-historic times. This is common with many other biological and sociological instincts. My Lord, all these have root in the instincts of the past. Our ancestors did not exactly stop at these instincts and they advanced to empirical recipes in the first place based upon extensive observation of generations. These empiricisms are the empiricisms of a pre-scientific era. Then, they further proceeded by methodical observation to inductions and classifications mixed, of course, with inevitable errors and superstitions; and next there came an era of hypothesis and speculation embodied in comprehensive sutras, that is enunciations, each of which covers with formal precision a vast assemblage of observation of facts. Thus a stage of professional science was reached. This is all that I can claim for the splendid system of therapeutics that was brought into existence by our ancestors and no more. I dispute the claim of such a system to positive science, because it is wanting in that precision of a quantitative measurement and that experimental verification based upon quantitative measurement which is the essence of all science. This is the important element that is wanting in this, but, My Lord, the professional science of the individual school has done yeomen's service in the past in helping to cultivate medical and therapeutical resources of India in Indian climate and under Indian environments; that is to say, in relation to the diseases that prevailed in India in former times. Thus, a system of therapeutics was built up and it is my hope that these precious heirloom of ours will not be allowed to be merged in the obstinate Western system on the one hand and in the obscurity and credulity of the East on the other, and thus be lost to us for ever. But I believe that in course of time much of the truth that is contained in this system will be incorporated in the curriculum of our students ; but in order to do that a good deal of preliminary research work will have to be done to separate a large mass of dross from the pure gold that is there. I believe it is a mere conviction with me that the future therapeutics of the world is neither a Western therapeutics as is now in use, nor the Eastern therapeutics as it has existed for the last 2,000 years or so, but it will be an universal therapeutics which is to come in which the Eastern, Western and many more will have their part in the contributions. I would, therefore, whole heartedly support my friend for a scientific study of the indigenous system of medicine, but such a study can be conducted only in the light of facts of modern allopathy, modern chemistry, modern physiology, modern biology and modern pathology, and I may also say of the principles of modern surgery and medicine. Therefore, I fail to understand what my friend means by individual system of medicine ; individuality in any science may mean an aloofness and therefore those which necessarily means restrictions which may be based upon bias or prejudice or something else. It would be undesirable, therefore, from my point of view, to have a separate school for teaching Ayurvedic or Unani system of medicine or for the matter of that for the teaching of Ayurvedic medicine, and even though it is assured that in the study of Ayurvedic medicine subjects, such as anatomy, physiology, etc., will be introduced there. It would be undesirable therefore to leave scientific institutions to those whose methods cannot be resolutionised and made free from bias or prejudice. What I object to is this : These institutions will be unable to raise their voice against the principle of mediaeval authority. When they plead for individuality they take their stand upon that principle of authority, that has no place in science.

Resolutions.

Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq.

I submit that the analogy between pleaders and muktears, Aurvedic and Unani schools does not hold good. This is a proposal for practical recognition of a professional school in that help means recognition. Before extending help to a medical institution Government has hitherto considered several questions ; for instance the preliminary qualifications. the course of study and the arrangements for teaching and many questions that do not arise in connection with a non-professional school. These questions will have to be considered before anything can be decided I would cordially support a proposal for a school where Ayurvedic and Unani system of medicine might be taught to passed students of medical schools. I would also appreciate an attempt to start an Ayurvedic and Unani school in connection with the existing system of schools—that is a sort of mixed school—but to attempt to build a scientific Ayurvedic school apart from a medical school would be doomed to failure so far as I can see. If it is conceded that anatomy, physiology and chemistry are to be taught to the students, then why object to Western materia medica, therapeutics, biology and pathology, including Western surgery and Western medicine, and if the necessity of these subjects be admitted then an ordinary medical school with a chair or two for the Ayurvedic therapeutics and some beds in a part of the hospital, where some persons may be treated according to the Ayurvedic system, would serve the purpose : and that would be a mixed school and not a pure Ayurvedic school. With these words, My Lord, I protest against the resolution that has been moved by my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray."

The Hon'ble MAULVI A. K. FAZL-UL-HAQ said :—

"My Lord, I rise to say a few words not only because I wish to give my whole-hearted support to my Hon'ble friend Babu Surendra Nath Ray to whom, as I have said, I was indebted for the idea of moving the previous resolution, but also because I wish to take the earliest opportunity of repudiating the insinuation contained in the speech of my Hon'ble friend

Resolutions.

Mr. Arun Chandra Singha ; Maulvi Abul Kasem ; Sir Henry Wheeler.

Maulvi Abul Kasem that I was induced to move my resolution in a spirit of hostility to the Hindu members of the Council. What I thought was that the time had come when we might well ask Government to divert a portion of the Provincial revenues to the practical study and research of the indigenous systems of medicine. On the merits of the case I do not think I need say much, after the elaborate discourse of my Hon'ble friend. It may be fairly said that he has exhausted all that could be said in support of the resolution. I, therefore, would not take up the time of the Council, but only say that I heartily support the resolution. There are no such difficulties in the way of Government accepting this resolution as there were in mine. Here we have already an institution in working order. In this view of the matter I think my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray, has made out a much stronger case than I could claim to have made out regarding the Unani system.

The Hon'ble Mr. ARUN CHANDRA SINGHA said :—

"My Lord, I beg to support the resolution. The object of this Ayurvedic institution is to revive and modernise an ancient Indian science, which has a following amongst a very large percentage of our countrymen. The conductors of the institution have maintained it with the greatest difficulty up to this, and they are now appealing to the Government for assistance to enable them to keep the school alive and make it possible for them to attain the ideal which they have set before them, of so remodelling the Ayurvedic system of medicine, a system which is best suited to the people of the country by its origin and environment, on the basis of modern discoveries and conceptions, as to render it capable of completely fulfilling the functions which are expected of such a science.

I trust the appeal will not be in vain, and the Government will see its way in accepting the resolution.

The Hon'ble MAULVI ABUL KASEM said :—

"My Lord, I find that several members are supporting this resolution, but I am sorry to say that on this occasion also I find myself in the opposite camp. After an elaborate statement made by my Hon'ble friend Dr. Nilratan Sarkar, I think my friend, the Mover, will be well advised to withdraw his resolution. I cannot, of course, speak with any authority on this or that system of medicine, and although I may have a great admiration for the indigenous system, as a tax-payer I object to our money being spent at the present moment on objects like this, however noble they may be. For the last two days we have been crying ourselves hoarse on the questions of Police and the partition of Midnapore and Mymensingh, and if the partition of Midnapore can wait for two or three years, I think this Ayurvedic Medical School may also wait till the end of the war. I hope, My Lord, the resolution will not be accepted, because at present we can ill afford to direct the Provincial revenue towards such purposes.

The Hon'ble SIR HENRY WHEELER said :—

"Sir, I should be content to refrain from reply after the admirable speech made by the Hon'ble Dr. Nilratan Sircar, who speaks with professional knowledge to which I obviously cannot lay claim, but it is necessary that I should briefly indicate the attitude of Government in this matter. It follows from what I have said in reference to the previous resolution that we should judge this proposal, primarily, by the criterion whether it is likely to improve medical education as now imparted in Bengal, and I am bound to say that from such information as we have been able to obtain, I am doubtful whether that result would ensue.

In the first place, in theory, as I think Hon'ble Members will allow the kabiraji system, that is the traditional kabiraji system, is one which scarcely lends itself to the system of education in schools, colleges and hospitals, as we understand it. Under the traditional kabiraji system, kabirajes of standing attract around themselves a number of pupils whom they maintain and educate, free of board and lodging, combining medical teaching with instruction in Sanskrit and also, as I gather, with moral and religious education. At the same time, they impart a knowledge of the preparation of drugs. I am told that no particular courses of instruction are prescribed; certain text-books are used in association with the teaching of the kabiraj, but the system is generally dependent on the teacher's own methods of instruction. There is no particular fixed period for a complete course of study, but it generally extends to 4 or 5 years, after which the preceptor gives his own certificate to the pupil, though no special tests and no special form of certificate are prescribed. That is, I understand, an outline of the present system, and, as I say, it scarcely lends itself to the machinery of schools and colleges as we know it.

Resolutions.

Sir Henry Wheeler.

In the second place, in respect of the kabiraji treatment, there is another difficulty, and that is that there is a cleavage of opinion between the orthodox and the more advanced as to what is expedient. The orthodox practitioner is apparently of opinion that a course of combined instruction on indigenous and Western lines, which to the outside world would seem beneficial both for the Ayurvedic system and the better equipment of the practitioner, will not prove successful. I quote from a report of a few years ago:—

'The true Ayurvedic pratitioner maintains that any assistance from Government in aid of schools of this kind will not advance Ayurvedic practice, and that if Government desires to revive and encourage the system, it must be on orthodox lines. The kabiraj must be trained as a kabiraj pure and simple: no advantage would be gained by imparting instruction in Western science. The people have more confidence in the true kabiraj who practices quietly without ostentation than in the practitioner who has superimposed on an education on Western lines a course of instruction in Ayurvedic medicine.'

That, Sir, seems to me to be another particular reason for proceeding cautiously.

In the light of these facts, and if these obstacles do exist, are we well advised in diverting from the medical education that we now impart funds which can be well applied to it in favour of an untried experiment which does present obvious difficulties? In so far as the fundamental elements of medicine require a knowledge of the human body and so on, the Ayurvedic system is perhaps admittedly defective, and I think we are all agreed that in these directions instruction is already being given as efficiently as is possible.

As regards the matter of the special drugs which are used by Ayurvedic practitioners and with which Western practitioners are probably less acquainted, it was the intention and hope of this Government, had it not been for the war, to have directed an enquiry, somewhat on the lines which the Hon'ble Dr. Nilratan Sircar suggests, into the value of these drugs, with the idea of preparing an indigenous pharmacopeia and ascertaining the true value of these remedies judged in the light of Western science. After the war, we hope that intention may be revived, and as I have already mentioned in connection with the previous resolution, the Government of India are evidently contemplating the possibility of some advance on central as opposed to provincial lines. These, therefore, seem to be adequate general arguments for not accepting the resolution.

Coming to the particular case of the institution to which we are now asked to give assistance, it is true that in February last, it submitted an application for help, and it gave an account of its activities generally on the lines which the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray has explained to the Council to-day. On the other hand I am bound to say that an enquiry which was recently made by Surgeon-General Robinson does not altogether bear out the contention that, whatever their enthusiastic ideals may be, they have yet succeeded in entirely realising them. I do not wish to read the report on the institution in full, but I may tell the Council generally that it is not a favourable one. The Surgeon-General was not favourably impressed with the standard of equipment, building or anything else; and, in fact, he left with a conviction that what was being done was not likely to produce a class of students with a qualification superior to that of a compounder or dresser. Therefore, Sir, while we all recognise the keen enthusiasm of the gentleman who is in charge, he has got to do a great deal before his ambitions can be fully realised. The actual figures of Rs. 9,000 recurring and Rs. 9,000 non-recurring which we are asked to give are equally rather unintelligible; from the available statements of the expenses of the institution it appears that their monthly expenses are Rs. 450, and a recurring grant of Rs. 9,000 would therefore practically finance the whole institution, which certainly in a matter of this kind would be unusual, while we are not told to what the non-recurring grant is to be devoted or to what extent it is to be supplemented from other sources. Both on general and particular grounds, therefore, I regret that I cannot recommend the acceptance of this resolution, but the report to which I have referred was received while the Budget was under preparation and I have not had time to consider it fully, much less to put it up to my Hon'ble Colleagues. I hope to be able to have an opportunity of personally visiting the school myself, and I shall certainly be glad to do so, but in order to avoid a false impression, I should add that I doubt whether the results are likely to be such as the authorities of the school desire.

Resolutions.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

"So much, Sir, for the resolution itself. I would now refer to the source from which it is suggested that the expenditure should be found, especially since, when the Hon'ble Mover was speaking, I said that it was not our intention to appoint a member of the Indian Civil Service to the post of Collector of Income Tax, Calcutta. I now find that our own papers have misled the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray. Mr. Donald has just drawn my attention to the schedule annexed to the Revised Financial Statement where our office, on its own motion, has noted that we meant to appoint a member of the Indian Civil Service to that post. The office was entirely misled; there is no proposal of this kind. I do not regard a member of the Indian Civil Service as suitable for that post and have no intention of recommending such a selection. I apologise to the Hon'ble Member for having led him astray. Our Budget is prepared amid great pressure of work, and our office has made a mistake."

The Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, I rise to support the resolution moved by my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray. It is admitted on all hands that the institution is not in a proper financial condition. It is the only institution of its kind, and it has not met with that encouragement which it deserves. Of course it cannot get any support from the other branches of the profession generally speaking. But if the Government comes to its help and lends it some sort of financial support, I am sure that it will develop into a very useful institution. In reading the observations of some of the most distinguished members of our community, I find that Sir Ashutosh Mukherjee says: 'A study of the indigenous system of medicine which has successfully maintained its ground against formidable rivals, will convince any impartial critic that its basis was scientific and not empirical; we cannot consequently afford to ignore a system which embodies the results of the observation and experience of the acutest intellects of India for ages. The right course to follow is, not to treat it as a dead system incapable of further development but to foster its growth as a progressive science.' I understand that this institution also teaches surgery and materia medica. I also understand, in fact I have seen, that it has an outdoor dispensary attached to it and there are also arrangements for hospital treatment. My Lord, the resolution asks for a certain sum of money which is not much, but, whatever it may be even a small help from the Government will be very useful. The money will be well spent, and I can assure Your Excellency that this act of generosity on the part of the Government will be very much appreciated by the Indian community. I yet hope that the Government will find the money asked for to foster the growth of this institution."

Resolutions.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY said :—

"I should like to say first a few words about the financial state of the institution. We are told that the monthly expense comes up to Rs. 450. That is so. But that does not include the pay of the professors who are attached to the institution. They are all honorary professors and they are serving without any remuneration, but they will have to be paid afterwards, and if their pay is taken into consideration it will come up to six or seven thousand rupees. The institution moreover is located in a very ordinary house and it will be necessary to have a good house for it in a better locality. All this will require money and if the managers of this institution get some help from Government, they can have the institution removed to a better house, and they will be able to employ qualified doctors to teach anatomy, physiology, botany, etc. I think there are at present two professors who teach physical science and botany. One of them, I know, was the Principal of the Doulatpore Academy and he was for some time a Professor in the Ripon College, and there is also a Professor of one of the Indian Colleges who teaches botany. They will all have to be paid if proper work is to be expected from them. It is for this reason that I ask Government to make a grant of Rs. 750 a month to this institution. Of course the managers of this institution have provided it with some of the necessaries, but if they get some more money from Government they will be able to place this institution in a much better footing. That is the reason why I am asking Your Excellency's Government to make a provision of Rs. 9,000 in aid of this institution. The object of the institution is to train kavirajes and make them efficient by giving them a scientific training. The modern allopathic system is borrowing largely from the Ayurvedic system of medicine, and if Your Excellency's Government patronizes this institution, it will be patronizing a very useful institution and also a very useful system of medical science. With reference to the difference of opinion that there is already between the two systems of allopathy and kaviraji—Surgeon-General Edwards remarked that that was also the case in England between the two different schools of medicine and surgery. He remarked in the visitors' book :

'There are, I understand, two schools of Ayurvedic medicine. The strictly orthodox one will have nothing to do with Western teaching and Western drugs, and train their students to treat patients without any preliminary education in anatomy, physiology, chemistry and bactereology, such as is given in Western schools.

This is much what was the state of affairs in England many years ago. In those days a pupil was apprenticed and learned diagnosis and treatment by watching his master, and by rule of thumb without understanding the why and wherefore.'

The intention of the managers is to teach the Ayurvedic system of medicine based on Western lines. The students will first be taught anatomy and physiology and then they will be taught materia medica and therapeutics. My Lord, I do not know what the opinion of the present Surgeon-General is, but here is an opinion of a distinguished member of the Indian Medical Service commanding a very extensive practice in Calcutta. This is what Colonel Brown says about the institution :

Resolution.

Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur.

'I was greatly interested in all I saw, there being indications on all sides of a serious and earnest endeavour to impart to the students the principles both of Ayurvedic and Western medicine. This I consider a step in the right direction; for, though many speak slightly of the empirical nature of the former, there is not the least doubt that we have much to learn from it. There are a great many indigenous drugs which are of extreme utility, but are little known to the students of Western medicine, as they are not taught in the various medical schools; these are being largely employed here, and among the many interesting and useful collections I saw, was one of growing plants, most of which were familiar to me as useful medicinally, and each one was labelled with the vernacular as well as the botanical name.

The anatomical room was well supplied with models and drawings, the materia medica room with a large and very varied collection of drugs, organic and inorganic, and there was also a fair collection of surgical instruments.

The staff is excellently strong, and as all the members are imbued with a love of their work and a strong determination to overcome all obstacles, the success of the institution is assured.'

I am in absolute sympathy with this College, for it meets a distinct want. The materia medica of the drugs indigenous to Bengal has been surprisingly neglected of late, though workers in the past, the last of whom was Dymock, of revered memory, did a great deal in that direction.

The modern Kaviraj, with his wealth of empirical knowledge, improved by being taught anatomy and physiology, medicine and surgery, will be amply equipped to practise the science and art of the profession; and I wish the infant institution every success, while heartily congratulating Kaviraj Jaminibhushan and his keen and intelligent associates on the success they have already attained.'

From all this Your Lordship will see that this institution has been appreciated by men like Surgeon-General Edwards and Col. Brown and also by a host of other medical men whose names I need not mention here. In these circumstances I hope Your Excellency's Government will make some contribution to this very useful institution."

The resolution was then put and lost.

APPENDIX TO THE LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. XLV.

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR moved the following Resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that—

(a) a sum of Rs. 5,000 be set apart as a contribution towards the Building Fund of the Mahakali Pathsala, Calcutta ; and

(b) the said sum be taken out of the grant of Rs. 23,29,000 set apart as "Grants-in-aid" under "22—Education."

He said :—

"My Lord, the resolution I beg to move has a special interest for us, Hindus of the Province. The Mahakali Pathsala is the only institution of the kind. Its utility cannot be gainsaid and has been admitted by those who have taken care to study the system followed in it. We want a special system of education suited to the requirements for our girls whose destiny is the home and not the market place to compete with men in professions and trades.

My Lord, I was exceedingly delighted to go through Your Excellency's valuable address delivered at the last University Convocation, specially the portion to our students of philosophy encouraging them to study Hindu philosophy, logic, etc.

Resolution.

Mr. Wordsworth; Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

Successive Lieutenant-Governors of Bengal, the Hon'ble the Chief Justice and other Judges of the High Court, Calcutta, H. E. Lady Curzon, Lady Fraser, H. E. Countess of Minto, the Maharaja Bahadur of Darbhanga and the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraj Bahadur of Burdwan, etc., etc., all presided at the distribution of prizes to the girls of the Mahakali Pathsala and they were all pleased with the institution.

I am glad to learn that provision has been made in the Budget for Rs. 75,000 by Your Excellency's Council, in connection with the improvements of buildings of the Vidyamoyee Girls' School, Mymensingh. I propose that a modest sum of Rs. 5,000 be given out of the 'Grants-in-aid' of Rs. 23,29,000 to the Mahakali Pathsala (Calcutta) for girls only towards its building fund, for which a sum of Rs. 10,000 has already been collected from the patrons and other well-wishers of this institution, including the Hon'ble Maharajadhiraj Bahadur of Burdwan.

My Lord, with these remarks, I beg to move the resolution and I hope and trust that it will be accepted by your Excellency's Council."

The Hon'ble MR. WORDSWORTH said :—

"My Lord, with a slight variation of figure this resolution is a repetition of what was moved last year, and on behalf of the Government, I can reply only with a repetition of what the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell then stated. This school is well acquainted with the ordinary channel through which Government assistance can be obtained. I find that in 1916 an application was made for Government assistance. This application was not accepted, because the condition of the school was found to be below that standard of efficiency which would justify the use of Government funds. Subsequently, a resolution was moved in Council last year, and the Hon'ble Mr. Hornell then assured the Hon'ble Mover that if any special appeal were made to him as Director of Public Instruction, it would receive his sympathetic consideration. The case rests there. The school authorities have not responded to this assurance. They have not approached the educational authorities, or in any way invited their assistance, and I would ask the Hon'ble Member, with all the discretion and courtesy at my command, to reflect on the position in which the Director of Public Instruction would be placed if, before the spending year commenced, he had his discretion fettered by a promise or commitment entered into on behalf of a school of which he knows nothing except that about 18 months ago it was found unfit for the receipt of Government assistance. I would suggest to the Hon'ble Mover that it is undesirable, when ordinary channels exist through which such matters can be dealt with, that recourse should be had to extraordinary channels. I think he may confidently leave the matter to the educational authorities who will be prepared to consider on its merits any application which may be made by the school authorities. If the Hon'ble Member fears that the special associations connected with the school—associations which we all respect and many revere—will stand in the way of consideration, I can assure him that he is under a misapprehension. The Director of Public Instruction is prepared to use, in the case of such schools as these, the discretion which the rules permit him to use, and I can assure the Hon'ble Mover that any application made on behalf of this school will be considered purely from the point of view of its educational efficiency."

The Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, I desire to associate myself with my Hon'ble friend Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur in asking for Government help in connection with this institution. But at the same time, after what has fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Wordsworths I do not think that we need press this resolution at present. I happen to know what my countrymen think of this institution. It is an institution conducted on orthodox lines. For years past this question has been coming before the Council, but without any success. A feeling existed that this institution was looked upon unsympathetically by the educational authorities, but after what has fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. Wordsworth I hope that when a proper representation is made to the Government the claims of this institution will not be overlooked, and a suitable grant will be made which will foster female education on strictly orthodox lines I am sure that any assistance given to this institution will be highly appreciated by members of our community and by our ladies too. And on their behalf I appeal to Your Excellency's Government to lend a helping hand to this institution."

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, under the circumstances in which I am placed I have no other alternative than to withdraw the resolution. I am glad that the Director of Public Instruction is willing to consider the claim of this institution if a proper representation is made to him. All that I can say is that this is a very useful institution conducted on orthodox lines. With these words I beg to withdraw the resolution."

The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

APPENDIX TO THE LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. XLVI.

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR moved the following Resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that—

(a) a sufficient sum be set apart for the excavation and sanitary improvement of the Saraswati river in the district of Hooghly ; and

(b) such additional expenditure be met from reduction under the head "Anti-malarial works."

He said :—

"My Lord, the Saraswati branches out from the Hooghly at Tribeni, a few miles above Hooghly town, and enters the Howrah district near Baluhati as a small stream. It then meanders on to the south and flows past Domjur and Andul rejoining the Hooghly just above Sankrail. Its high banks and the remains of large boats occasionally dug out from its bed, show that once it must have been a broader and deeper stream. Below Tribeni the river Saraswati is only 10 or 12 feet wide and a foot deep in the hot weather, but in the rains its width increases to a quarter of a mile and its depth to about 10 feet. It was a dead river represented merely by a chain of pools, but water was let into it in connection with the Eden Canal Scheme by a cut from the Kana Nadi near Gopalnagore. Though much silted up, its banks are 10 to 15 feet high and are still densely populated, where there are several large villages, viz., British Chandernagore, Bara (west of Serampore town), Baksa, Janai, Chanditala and Kalipore in Hooghly district.

My Lord, the river Saraswati should be excavated and cleared of rank vegetation by the Public Works Department, as soon as possible. This is absolutely necessary.

With these words I commend the resolution for the acceptance by the Council.'

Resolution.

Mr. O'Malley.

The Hon'ble MR. O'MALLEY said :—

"My lord, it is somewhat with a shock of surprise, and painful surprise, that I see that the Hon'ble Mover proposes to reduce the grant under the head of anti-malarial works when we know that the works provided under that head consist of schemes which it is proposed to undertake in the campaign against malaria which, as Your Excellency has recently explained, it is desired to initiate.

The proposal is that a sufficient sum be set apart for the excavation and sanitary improvement of the Saraswati in the Howrah district. I may point out that Government have already provided in the budget for work connected with the Saraswati in the district of Hooghly. Now the reason why Government has provided a lakh of rupees for the lower Saraswati and nothing for the upper Saraswati is that a scheme has already been prepared for the former, which is intended to solve a definite and troublesome problem of drainage, whereas there is no scheme ready for the Hooghly portion of the river. The object of the scheme is to provide for the drainage of an area of 52 square miles, including the Janai basin and a portion of the Rajapur swamps which suffer from inadequate drainage. It is desired to utilise the Saraswati for the purpose of drainage; but to enable this to be done, the channel must first be improved, for, in its present silted up condition, it cannot carry any great volume of water. It is hoped to increase by excavation its discharging capacity; and the scheme is to a large extent an experiment in scouring. The total cost of the scheme is Rs. 1,43,000, which Government proposes to give itself. One lakh only is provided this year, and the remainder will have to be provided later. I mention this, as it is a scheme which the people of the district might perhaps have taken up under the Sanitary Drainage Act; but Government has come forward of its own motion and agreed to bear the cost. This is not all. This is only the first part of the scheme. If it is successful, it is proposed to sluice the Saraswati at its mouth at a cost of over another lakh.

It may be asked why should not Government at the same time take up a similar scheme for the upper Saraswati in the district of Hooghly. This, however, is a very different problem. The Saraswati has long been a dead river. This is not a recent development; even in the time of Rennell's survey, nearly 140 years ago, it had dwindled down to a small stream and except for a few miles was unnavigable after the rains. The question of its improvement involves the conversion of a dead into a living river. It will be little use to excavate it unless it can receive a supply of water from above. The difficulty here is that it has not got a good supply of water at its head. Government are advised that this river depends for its supply on the Damodar; and the volume of water in the Damodar is so small in the hot weather that there is little prospect of any reaching the Saraswati. Unless, therefore, the supply at its head is increased, I doubt whether, even if the bed of the Saraswati is excavated, there will be any real improvement. The problem which our engineers have to solve is how to make a plentiful supply of water available for the Saraswati, as well as other rivers of the Hooghly district which are dependent on the Damodar. And this depends on the elaboration of the Damodar canal project. Till this project materialises, I am afraid that no assurance can be given that it will be possible to improve the Saraswati in the way the Hon'ble Mover desires. In any case, even if money was provided in the budget next year it could not be immediately disbursed. That being so, I am afraid that I cannot recommend the resolution to the Council, specially as it involves diversion of money from useful anti-malarial works, with which it is hoped to make a start, and which cannot be delayed without postponing or curtailing the anti-malarial campaign which Government desire to institute."

Resolution.

Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur; Mr. Cowley; Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, in view of the explanation which has been given to me by the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley as regards the practicability of the scheme, I do not think that I shall be justified in pressing this resolution. I ask Your Lordship's permission to withdraw it."

The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

APPENDIX TO THE LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. XLVII.

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR moved the following Resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that—

(a) provisions be made for dredging the Bhagirathi near the town of Nabadwip in the district of Nadia ; and

(b) that expenditure be met out of the sum of Rs. 15,000 provided under head "Irrigation—Minor Works and Navigation" for dredging the Bhagirathi entrance.

He said :—

"My Lord, I understand that if I substitute the words 'at the entrance from the Ganges' for the words 'near the town of Nabadwip in the district of Nadia,' my resolution will be accepted."

The Hon'ble MR. COWLEY said :—

"My Lord, I am prepared, on behalf of Government, to assure the Hon'ble Mover that the provision for dredging the Bhagirathi river at the entrance from the Ganges will be utilised to the best advantage for providing an increased flow of water in the river and that its dredging shall not necessarily be carried out at the entrance, but wherever experts may advise as likely to give the best results."

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, I accept the Hon'ble Member's assurance and beg to withdraw this resolution."

The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

APPENDIX TO THE LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. XLVIII.

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI moved the following Resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that—

(a) a sum of Rs. 1,00,000 be provided for additional hostel accommodation in the Rajshahi College ; and

(b) this sum be met by postponing some item under head "45—Civil Works in charge of the Public Works Department."

Resolution.

Mr. O'Malley.

He said :—

"My Lord, in this resolution I have asked for the provision of a lakh in the Budget for additional hostel accommodation in the Rajshahi College. A scheme for a Hindu hostel for accommodating 250 students at a cost of Rs. 1,95,000 was sanctioned in 1915, and this administrative sanction was communicated by the Director of Public Instruction to the College authorities, but no progress has been made up to this time for this much needed improvement of the College. I heard in reply to the demand of several other building grants that no provision could be made for want of necessary information on those questions, but here is a case in which all the necessary informations are before Government upon which administrative sanction was accorded; but it is very strange that nothing could be done during these three years. Last year also I moved for a similar grant, and though money could be provided for the several building accommodations in Calcutta, nothing could be spared for this mofussil college. Out of a provision of 98 lakhs for education this year over 15 lakhs cannot be spent, and we are not aware of any special reason why this should be so. There is no explanation even why we are not in a position to spend fully the sum received from the Imperial Government. The Hon'ble Mr. Wordsworth was speaking of the high prices of materials for building, but in this case a lakh can very well be spent for the manufacture of bricks and collection of some of the other materials easily available. If start had been given earlier the whole thing could have been completed without much pressure upon the Provincial revenue. I may be permitted to refer to a very curious incident in this connection. The Raja Bahadur of Dighapatiya and his second brother offered a sum of Rs. 30,000 for the construction of a Hindu hostel for the Rajshani College to be named after their late lamented illustrious father Raja Pramatha Nath Ray Bahadur, and a sum of Rs. 13,000, I believe, was actually made over to the Principal through the Rajshahi Association. The offer, however, could not be accepted and the money was returned with a suggestion that it could be paid to the Government as contribution. The suggestion could not be accepted by the Raja Bahadur, as a separate building had to be named as stated above. So another offer was made for the construction of another two-storied building for class accommodation which was also urgently required. The building would cost about Rs. 60,000, and the offer was for the construction of the building under private management under the supervision and guidance of the Public Works Department. There was a proposal, however, of opening B.L. and M.A. classes in some of the subjects for the development of the College. The Governing Body accepted the offer and urged Government to sanction it. Pending the decision of Government as regards that proposal the building work could have been undertaken and finished by this time. But it did not meet with the approval of the Government. This is the official way of sympathising with the popular demand. Those who come to Calcutta are in a position to meet the expenses and suitable hired houses are also available here. But mufassil colleges concern the poorer sections. There is need for hostel accommodation, both for Hindus and Mussalmans in Rajshahi, and I, therefore, ask for a lakh as the first instalment without any restriction. The work may be taken up and finished in two or three years. I hope there is a strong case in favour of my resolution and Government will see their way to accept it."

The Hon'ble MR. O'MALLEY said :—

"My Lord, I fully appreciate the desire of the Hon'ble Mover to see more hostels built for the Rajshahi College. I myself was the President of the Governing Body of the Rajshahi College, and I may say that this is a project in which I myself am interested and have long wished to see materialize. I recognise, however, that its time has not come yet and that we must wait;

Resolution.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

and I can only hope that the Hon'ble Mover may be led to the same conclusion. I do not propose, my lord, to follow the Hon'ble Member into the question of starting M. A. classes, as that is an entirely different matter. The Hon'ble Member has mentioned the munificent offer of Raja Pramada Nath Roy of Digapatia and his brothers, but the idea of Government was that their money could not be utilized for those classes as it was intended for another purpose.

As long ago as September 1915, administrative sanction was given to the construction of a Hindu hostel for 250 boys at a cost of nearly two lakhs (excluding the cost of the land). Land was acquired, but it was not possible to allot the funds required for the building owing to the embargo on non-recurring expenditure from imperial non-recurring grants. Detailed estimates were not prepared; and like so many other laudable objects this scheme has since had to give way to the financial stress caused by the war.

The Hon'ble Member has mentioned the case of hostels in Calcutta and has argued why should not Government develop its own College when it has given large sums for the construction of undergraduate hostel in Calcutta. The scheme of Calcutta hostels has, however, been financed from a special grant of 10 lakhs given by the Government of India, which has been supplemented by a grant made by the Bengal Government. I think it requires no argument of mine to prove the fact, which must be familiar to the Members of Council, that the problem of students' accommodation in Calcutta, with an influx of many thousand students every year, who have to live in a crowded city, is far more acute than in a country town like Rampore Boalia.

Another reason for not proceeding with the scheme was the report of the Presidency College Enquiry Committee, which questioned the policy of large hostels. This has forced the Education Department to reconsider pending schemes for large hostels, and the prevailing opinion among Principals of Government Colleges favours hostels of not more than 50 residents. This view, if accepted, will mean the reconsideration of the Rajshahi scheme among others. It is a question of general importance, affecting other colleges besides Rajshahi, on which the Director of Public Instruction has recently addressed Government.

There are also proposals for a Muhammadan hostel which are only in a preliminary stage. Quite recently, the Director of Public Instruction called on the Principal to submit plans and estimates for the construction of a hostel for 50 boarders to cost about Rs. 50,000.

Detailed estimates are ready for neither scheme. The question of large, as compared with small, hostels has to be settled. Consequently even if money were made available, we are not in a position to use it immediately. It would be scarcely possible, therefore, to accept the proposal that the sum of one lakh should be met from the head of 'Civil Works' in charge of the Public Works Department. This would involve the postponement of one or more new major works, which the Finance Committee considered to have a prior claim on the amount available, in favour of a scheme which is not yet mature. I can only assure the Hon'ble Member that Government will take up the hostel scheme as soon as it can. It is merely postponed and not abandoned."

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI said :—

"My Lord, after what has fallen from the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley, I do not want to press for the immediate acceptance of this resolution. I am very glad that the question is still under the consideration of Government.

Resolution.

Khan Sahib Aman Ali.

My object is that the claims of mufassal students, especially those of the poorer class who cannot afford to come and reside in Calcutta for their education, may not be overlooked by Government. The case for establishing hostels for Calcutta students may be delayed for a year or two without much harm, and I submit that the claims of mufassal students should be given preference. As the matter is under the consideration of Government, and as something is going to be done, I need not press for the immediate acceptance of my resolution.

As regards the Raja of Dighapatiya's offer, I think the second offer ought to have been accepted, because the second offer was a higher one. It was also for the benefit of the College and in the interest of the students. However, it is for the Government to consider the matter. My object was to bring to the notice of the Government the necessity for additional hostel accommodation in the Rajshahi College."

The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

APPENDIX TO THE LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. XLIX.

The Hon'ble KHAN SAHIB AMAN ALI moved the following Resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council—

(a) that provision be made in the Budget for excavation of Chaktai khal at Chittagong at a cost of Rs. 10,000 ; and (b) that the said sum be taken out of Rs. 75,000 provided for the Howrah Police Hospital.

He said :—

" My Lord, when Your Excellency granted your first auspicious visit to Chittagong, the People's Association, the Islam Association, the Trades Association and the Municipal Board composed of Europeans, Eurasians, Hindus and Mussalmans, represented to Your Excellency the necessity of the re-excavation of the Chaktai khal which passes by the outskirts of the town in the east. The khal passes by the eastern side of the town and all the outlets or drains that drain the town fall into this khal. The khal being silted up, the drainage of the town has become very inefficient and the sanitation of the town has suffered a great deal.

Malaria and other epidemics now and then make appearance. The people from different parts of the district bring goods to sell in the town. The silting up of the khal has caused much inconvenience to those merchants, as they cannot enter the khal and unload their goods at the business centres, namely Buxi Hat. Your Excellency has perhaps personally seen the present state of the khal when Your Excellency was on the spot. On account of the silting up of the khal, the people of the town and its surrounding places suffer from malaria and the business of the whole district suffers. It is, therefore, the residents of different denominations had approached Your Excellency. The Municipality of Chittagong is very poor. Its area is only 4 square miles. A greater part of it is full of jungles, having no habitation.

Resolution.

Mr. Beatson Bell; Khan Sahib Aman Ali.

The maximum rate of house-tax is levied there, still its income is hardly equal to the maintenance of its roads and other necessaries. It cannot take up a scheme for drainage without the help of Government.

My Lord, Your Excellency's Government is anxious for the sanitation of the Province, as has been manifested in several speeches delivered in different centres, and the silting of the khal has impeded the progress of trade and given way to the spread of malaria. My Lord, it will not be out of place to point out here that the Chittagong Division has got nothing in the budget for its sanitation, education and irrigation. My humble request on that ground also, I trust, will meet with Your Excellency's Government's approval. The head from which I have said the amount is available will in no way suffer if the amount I have asked for is allotted. Because such a big sum as Rs. 75,000 will not be spent in one year on that head. If Your Excellency's Government consider that the sum cannot be spared from that head, it can be taken from the head 'Miscellaneous.' I have nothing to say here. Your Excellency was on the spot. The excavation of the khal is an urgent matter. The people of Your Excellency's Government being far away from Your Excellency's capital are crying for help for the safety of their life and trade. It will be all fair if Your Excellency grants a listening ear to their need. With these words, my Lord, I move my resolution."

The Hon'ble MR. BEATSON BELL said :—

"My Lord, all our expert advisors have assured us that the deterioration which has temporarily taken place in this khal has had no appreciable effect on the sanitation of the town and its suburbs. We are, however, advised—and it is patent to every one who, like Your Excellency, has inspected the spot—that the deterioration in the khal has caused considerable inconvenience to the merchants who carry on their business in the Buxi Hat. The deterioration of the khal is mainly due to two circumstances : first, to the formation of a char in the main stream of the Karnafuli ; and, secondly, to the action of the merchants themselves, in allowing logs, rafts and other obstructions to remain in the khal. As regards the char, the Port Commissioners are considering this problem along with general problem of the Karnafuli river. Certain training works are proposed, and it is hoped that sooner or later the char will disappear. This is a very large and very difficult question ; but in the meantime, as a small measure, we are prepared to consider the khal by itself. While we are satisfied that the sanitary aspect of the question is negligible, we admit that the merchants are suffering a good deal of inconvenience. But the merchants are, after all, a comparatively small body, and it would be hardly fair to ask general tax-payers to pay money for their benefit. As I have already shown, the merchants are themselves greatly responsible for the bad state of the khal. We have decided to adopt a small measure of local self-government ; in other words, it is our intention to notify the portion of the khal from the Buxi Hat down to the main river as a 'navigable channel' under the Canals Act, and to authorise a representative body of the merchants concerned to take their own steps, in consultation with an expert 'supervisor,' to keep the khal clear from obstruction and to improve it at their own cost in such a way as they think best. I hope the Hon'ble Khan Sahib will see that this proposal is a practical proposal ; and I would ask him to give it a fair trial, and not to press his motion."

The Hon'ble KHAN SAHIB AMAN ALI said :—

"My Lord, the Municipal address was presented to Your Excellency through the Civil Surgeon who is also an ex officio member of that body. He is of opinion that the sanitation of the town is a great deal affected by this khal. All that I ask for is the sympathy of Your Excellency's Government towards a far away and distant place as Chittagong. With these remarks, I ask Your Lordship's permission to withdraw this resolution."

Resolutions.

Khan Sahib Aman Ali.

The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The Council was then adjourned to 11 A.M., on Thursday, the 28th March, 1918, at Government House, Calcutta.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. I.

STARRED QUESTION.

By the Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY :—

*1.

The Bengal Secretariat Press.

(a) In view of the reply given to starred question No. 14 asked at the meeting of the Council of the 19th February last, will the Government be pleased to state on what expert advice they decided on the necessity of creating a new building for the Bengal Secretariat Press?

(b) If no expert advice was taken, besides the advice of the Superintendent, will the Government be pleased to state why no such advice was taken?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether the report of the Press Committee has now been received, and, if so, when it was received?

(d) If the report has been received, will the Government be pleased to lay it on the table?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD :—

" (a) A committee which was appointed in 1909 to consider generally the question of the existing arrangements for the printing of Government work in Bengal expressed the opinion that the Secretariat Press should be removed from Writers' Buildings. Financial conditions rendered it impossible then to give immediate effect to the recommendation, and later when proposals regarding suitable sites were being discussed the question was affected by the departure of the Government of India from Calcutta to Delhi. It was hoped then to secure one of the buildings evacuated by the Government of India, but this has not been found possible

(c) Yes.

(d) Government are not prepared to lay the report on the table."

*2.

Inspection of the Bengal Secretariat Press by the Controller of Printing.

With reference to the answer given to starred question No 17 at the meeting of the Council on the 19th February, 1918—

(i) will the Government be pleased to state how many times the Controller of Printing has inspected the Bengal Secretariat Press during the past five years?

(ii) did the Controller pass, in his advisory capacity, all the indents for machinery, both printing and type-casting, hitherto made by the Superintendent?

(iii) will the Government be pleased to lay on the table the opinion of the Controller as to whether, and, if so, to what extent the introduction of (1) printing and (2) type-casting machines has resulted in combining efficiency with economy?

(iv) is the Controller of opinion that work in the Press has increased, requiring more machinery and larger accommodation?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD :—

" (i) The Controller has inspected the Press in all its departments twice during the past five years. On other occasions he visited certain branches in connection with special questions.

Questions and Answers.

(iii) The Controller has expressed his inability to answer this question, since although printing machines result in both economy and efficiency in several classes of work, and type-casting machines are necessary for the manufacture of type, a very detailed scrutiny of the work performed by the machines over a prolonged period would be necessary to determine the extent of the gain in efficiency and economy.

(iv) The Controller is of opinion that larger and more suitable accommodation is required for the Press. No proposals for additional machinery have been submitted, and the Controller's opinion has not therefore been obtained."

III.

(a) With reference to the answer given to starred question No. 13 asked at the meeting of the Council held on the 19th February last, will the Government be pleased to state whether the insanitary condition stated in the answer refers to the condition of (1) Writers' Buildings or (2) the Press at Sealdah?

Insanitary condition of the Press in the Writers' Buildings and at Sealdah

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether any complaint was made before about the insanitary condition of the Press portion of Writers' Buildings or of the Eastern Bengal Railway Office Buildings before the main Press was located there?

(c) Will the Government be pleased to state whether any expert advice was obtained about the nature of these insanitary conditions, and on the question as to whether such conditions could not otherwise be remedied or palliated?

(d) If so, will the Government be pleased to place the report upon the table?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR DONALD :—

" (a) The reference was to the portion of Writers' Buildings occupied by the Press.

(b) No. The insanitary conditions are largely the product of overcrowding following on the expansion of the work.

(c) Yes. The Surgeon-General and the Chief Inspector of Factories have both reported adversely on the sanitary conditions.

(d) Government are not prepared to lay the reports on the table."

Judge's Court at Malda.

(a) Has the attention of the Government been drawn to the fact that the people of Malda are suffering from the want of the court of a District or Subordinate Judge at the headquarters of the said district?

(b) If so, are the Government considering the desirability of taking steps in the matter?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. PANTON :—

"(a) Yes.

(b) The matter is under the consideration of Government."

By the Hon'ble MR. ALTAF ALI :—

VII.

Election system in District Boards.

Will the Government be pleased to state whether it is in contemplation to introduce the system of election of members of District Boards by Local Boards or village unions in District Boards which do not yet enjoy the privilege?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. O'MALLEY :—

"Union committees have no power under the Bengal Local Self-Government Act to elect members of District Boards. The Village Self-Government Bill, which it is hoped to introduce on the 4th April, 1918, provides for the election of members of circle boards by village committees and for the election of members of District Boards by the circle boards.

In districts where there are no Local Boards all the members of the District Boards must, under the Local Self-Government Act, be appointed by Government. Consequently all the members of the Districts Boards of Bogra, Malda and Chittagong are so appointed, in the two districts named first because there are no subdivisions, and hence no Local Boards, and in the district last named because there are no Local Boards, though there are subdivisions.

In order to introduce the elective system in the district of Chittagong, Local Boards would have first to be created; and it is not proposed to do this, both because the tenure of office of the members of the District Board extends to December, 1920, and it is not practicable to alter its constitution till their term of office expires, and also because it appears undesirable to create new Local Boards which may shortly be replaced by circle boards."

Hostel arrangements for Namasudra students.

Will the Government be pleased to make a statement showing what hostel arrangements there are in secondary schools and colleges under Government control for students of the Namasudra caste?

Questions and Answers.

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. O'MALLEY :—

"At Dacca three unattached messes have been established for Namasudra students of Government and private colleges and schools, one being for college students, the other two for school pupils. There are hostels for Namasudras attached to the Government high schools at Jhalakati and Pirojpur; and there is a special mess attached to the Rajshahi College to which other members of the depressed classes are admitted besides Namasudras. Government have also sanctioned the establishment at Rampur Boalia of a separate hostel for Namasudra college students and school pupils as an experimental measure, but the hostel has not yet been opened."

Kala-azar in Tangail.

(a) With reference to the answer given to my unstarred question No. XXVIII of the 7th August, 1917, regarding the prevalence of kala-azar in Tangail, will the Government be pleased to state how the information was collected?

(b) Were the medical officers in charge of the Golaknath Charitable Dispensary and Hospital at Santosh, the Dwarkanath Charitable Dispensary and Hospital at Tangail and of the Charitable Dispensary at Karatya, asked to supply such facts and figures as might be in their possession in this connection?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. O'MALLEY :—

"(a) Reports were obtained from the Civil Surgeons concerned.

(b) No. Enquiry has been made and it has been ascertained that 53 cases were diagnosed as cases of kala-azar at the Golaknath dispensary from the 1st January, to the 31st July, 1917. The monthly returns of the Dwarkanath and Karatya dispensaries have also been examined, and it appears that one case of kala-azar was treated at the latter dispensary, and none at the former, during the same period."

Grants to the Dacca University Scheme.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to make a statement showing the total amount of recurring and non-recurring grants which have been made on account of the proposed Dacca University, up to date, from the Provincial and Imperial funds?

(b) Are the Government considering the desirability of showing the total amount of these grants as a separate item under the ear-marked balance?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. O'MALLEY :—

"(a) The total amount which has been credited to the Provincial balances on account of grants to the Dacca University up to the 31st March, 1918, is :—

			Rs.
Non-recurring grants	...	...	24,00,000
Recurring grants	...	...	27,70,000

(b) No."

XII.

Grievances of the Indian clerks in the Port Commissioners, Calcutta.

Are the Government aware of the grievances of the Indian clerks in the offices of the Port Commissioners, Calcutta, in the matter of their pay and prospects?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY :—

"All appointments under the Commissioners carrying a monthly salary below Rs. 1,000 are made by the Commissioners themselves under the power conferred on them by the Calcutta Port Act, 1890. No grievances of the Indian clerks drawing a monthly salary below Rs. 1,000 have been reported to Government."

By the Hon'ble BABU BROJENDRA KISHOR RAY CHAUDHURI :—

XIII.

Indian and European employés in the Port Commissioners, Calcutta.

Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table a statement showing—

(a) the total number of Indian and European employés, respectively, in the different offices of the Port Commissioners; and

(b) a list of such of those employés as have received any increases of pay, stating in each such instance—

(i) the date of employment,

(ii) the initial pay, and

(iii) the amount of increase of pay granted at different times with dates thereof?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY :—

"The Port Commissioners prepare, and in meeting sanction, a schedule of the staff employed under them. A copy of this sanctioned schedule is forwarded by them to Government along with their Budget Estimates of Income and Expenditure. This schedule, as last submitted by the Commissioners, has been placed in the library. It shows the number, the designation, and the salary of the several appointments in the different offices of the Commissioners. The schedule does not show which posts are held by the Indian employés and which posts by the European employés and this information is not in the possession of Government. The explanation column gives information regarding variations in pay made at different times."

Questions and Answers.

XIV.

The Accounts Department of the Calcutta Port Trust.

(a) Is it a fact that in the Accounts Department the initial pay of an Indian clerk is Rs. 20 and that of an Anglo-Indian or European is from Rs. 100 to Rs. 130 per mensem?

(b) If so, have such differences, in the pay of these clerks, been made according to their respective academic qualifications, knowledge of accounts and experience, or in consideration of any particular fitness?

(c) What are the minimum living wages in Calcutta for the above two classes according to the official report?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY :—

"(a) The Hon'ble Member is referred to pages 8 to 21 of the schedule of establishment. The pay of clerks in the Audit and Accounts Department varies from Rs. 20 to Rs. 150. Government have no further information on the subject.

(b) Government are not aware of any differential scale based upon racial considerations. The pay is attached to the post, not to the person.

(c) It is not clear to what official report the Hon'ble Member refers."

XV.

Scientific system of grading in the offices of the Port Commissioners, Calcutta.

(a) Is it a fact that in reply to a petition of the Indian clerks of the Calcutta Port Trust, dated the 14th February, 1914, the Hon'ble Mr. Stevenson-Moore, Chairman of the Port Commissioners, stated that what was required was a system under which an even flow of promotion would be secured and that it appeared to him that some reorganisation was necessary and that the introduction of a scientific system of grading, such as applied in the Government Secretariat, might be required?

(c) Is it a fact that the initial pay of an Indian clerk in the Government Secretariat is Rs. 40 per mensem and that in the offices of the Port Commissioners, in the reorganisation scheme, is Rs. 25 only?

(d) Are the system of grading and proportion of different grades based on any of the standard scientific scales current in the Government Secretariat?

(e) (i) What consideration has been shown in the said reorganisation to those who have for over 10 to 18 years been kept on a salary of Rs. 30 or thereabouts?

(ii) What provision has been made in the said reorganisation enabling them to attain the highest grade at the time of their retirement?

(iii) What provision is there for those who are on the verge of retirement?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY :—

"(a) and (b) The Government have no information as to the orders passed by the Chairman, Port Commissioners, on the petition of the Indian clerks. But from the report of the Finance Committee on the Budget Estimates of the Port Commissioners for 1918-19, which is before Government, it appears that the Commissioners have made a provision of Rs. 50,000 to meet increases in the pay of their Indian staff, which is at present under their consideration.

Questions and Answers.

(c) The initial pay of a clerk in the Lower Division of the Bengal Secretariat is Rs. 40 per mensem. It has not been reported to Government whether, under the reorganization scheme, the Port Commissioners propose to fix the initial pay of an Indian clerk at Rs. 25 only.

(d) and (e) Government have no information on these points."

XVI.

Appointments to higher posts in the Accounts Department of the Calcutta Port Trust.

Is it a fact that, particularly in the Accounts Department, outsiders are appointed to vacancies in the higher posts and the claims of experienced clerks are thus overlooked? If so, will the Government be pleased to make a statement showing the appointments that have been thus made during the last five years?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY :—

" Government have no information on the subject."

XVII.

Work on holidays in certain offices of the Calcutta Port Trust.

Is it a fact that, in the Chief Engineer's Department, in the Accounts Department and in the Secretary's office, clerks are required to work on holidays, and that no holiday allowance is granted to them for such extra work?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY :—

" Government have no information on the subject."

Income-tax revenue.

With regard to the increase of revenue under the head Income-tax resulting from the introduction of enhanced rates of taxation by the Indian Income-tax (Amendment) Act, 1916 (V of 1916), will the Government be pleased to state whether it is possible to estimate accurately the normal growth of income-tax revenue from year to year as apart from the increase directly resulting from the introduction of the enhanced rates introduced in 1916?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD :—

" It is impossible to frame an accurate estimate of the normal fluctuations in the receipts from income-tax, which depend upon varying trade conditions."

Questions and Answers.

By the Hon'ble BABU BHABENDRA CHANDRA RAY :—

XX.

With regard to the total income-tax revenue for 1916-17, 1917-18, and the corresponding budget figures for 1918-19, will the Government be pleased to state—

Income-tax revenue.

(a) how much in each year represents normal increase in revenue as wholly uninfluenced by the enhanced rates of 1916; and

(b) how much represents the increase as directly resulting from the introduction of the said enhanced rates?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD :—

" The following statement gives the required information :—

	1915-16. (Actuals.)	1916-17. (Increase over 1915-16.)	1917-18. (Increase over 1916-17.)	1918-19. (Estimated increase over 1917-18.)
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Ordinary receipts ...	72,26,611	18,14,389	14,59,000
Receipts on account of increased taxation ...		78,14,000	27,86,000	4,00,000 "

XXI.

(a) Is it a fact that the introduction of the enhanced rates of taxation in 1916 has resulted in an increase of work for the income-tax establishment and a consequent increase of expenditure under Income-tax?

Enhanced rate of taxation an increase of wo for the income-tax establishment.

(b) If so, how much approximately of the total annual expenditure under Income-tax since 1916-17 represents such increase?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD :—

" (a) Yes.

(b) Rs. 17,280 per annum, or roughly 9 per cent. of the total annual expenditure."

XXII.

With reference to the budgetted assignment of Rs. 55 lakhs to the Imperial Government on account of the new schemes of income-tax, will the Government be pleased to state upon what calculation the said figure has been arrived at? Is it based on the assumption that there will be no normal increase of revenue over the figures for 1917-18, as distinct from the increase on account of the new scheme of income-tax?

Budgetted assignment to Imperial Government on account of new income-t scheme.

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD :—

" It is based on the assumption that there will be no normal increase of revenue over the figures for 1917-18."

XXIII.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table all material papers and correspondence or extracts therefrom relating to the arrangement with the Imperial Government under which an assignment has to be made annually to the Imperial Government from the provincial share of the income-tax revenue?

Annual assignment to Imperial Government from income- and excise-revenue.

Questions and Answers.

(b) Will the Government be pleased to lay on the table all material papers and correspondence or extracts therefrom relating to the arrangement with the Imperial Government under which an assignment has to be made annually to the Imperial Government from the excise-revenue under the new scheme of taxation?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD:—

"The following extract explains the arrangement:—

Extract paragraph 59 of the Finance Member's speech introducing the Financial Statement for India, 1916-17.

59. Lastly, I may explain that under the terms of the existing financial settlements with the provinces, income-tax is a divided head, and the additional revenue accruing from our proposals will thus be shared between Imperial and Provincial. But as this additional taxation is imposed solely for Imperial purposes, the amount which technically accrues to the provinces will be set off by a counter-adjustment from Provincial to Imperial under the head 'Transfers between Imperial and Provincial Revenues.' The same procedure was followed in 1910 in respect of the additional taxation then imposed under 'Stamps' and 'Excise.' A like adjustment will also be made on this occasion in respect of that portion of the additional duty on locally produced beer and 'foreign spirit' which will be credited to Provincial revenues under the terms of the settlements."

XXIV.

Administrative and clerical establishments of the Calcutta Port Trust.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to make a statement showing—

(i) the total number of administrative and clerical appointments, respectively, under the Calcutta Port Trust; and

(ii) the different scales of salary prevailing in each of these two branches, together with the total number of officers on each such scale, and their nationality?

(b) Is it a fact that Indians are not admitted to any administrative appointments under the Calcutta Port Trust?

(c) What are the minimum qualifications necessary for admission to the administrative appointments of the different kinds under the Calcutta Port Trust?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. COWLEY:—

"(a) A schedule of establishment employed under the Port Commissioners, Calcutta, is placed in the library. It shows the number of administrative and clerical appointments, and the different scales of salary in each of these two branches. The nationality of the officers and servants of the Port Commissioners holding respectively the administrative and clerical appointments, is not shown in that schedule. The Hon'ble Member is also referred to the answer given in to-day's Council to unstarred question [No. XIII] by the Hon'ble Babu Brojendra Kishor Ray Chaudhuri.

(b) and (c) Administrative appointments the monthly salary of which is below Rs. 1,000 are not subject to the sanction of Government, and consequently Government have no information regarding them. In the case of posts of Rs. 1,000 per mensem and upwards, and in the case of a few posts like that of Secretary, and Chief or Deputy Chief Engineer, etc., there is no bar against the appointment thereto of suitable Indians.

The minimum qualifications necessary for admission to the several administrative appointments under the Port Commissioners, have not been laid down by Government."

XXVI.

The case of the Sindhubalas in Bankura.

(a) Is it a fact that the order for the arrest of Sindhubala of Bankura was passed by the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Intelligence Branch?
(b) Is it a fact that such orders are usually passed by this officer?
(c) Is it a fact that Mr. E. H. Corbett was officiating as Deputy Inspector-General of Police, Intelligence Branch, at the time when the said order was passed?
(d) Will the Government be pleased to state whether, beyond an expression of disapprobation, any punishment has been meted out to those officers who were responsible for the arrest and detention of the Sindhubalas?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) The order was passed on the authority of the Deputy Inspector-General, Intelligence Branch.
(b) The Deputy Inspector-General is in charge of the work of the Intelligence Branch, and generally all orders issuing from that Branch are issued on his authority.
(c) Mr. E. H. Corbett was temporary Deputy Inspector-General, Intelligence Branch, at the time.
(d) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the communiqué issued by Government on the subject."

XXVII.

The appointments of Inspector-General and Deputy Inspectors-General of Police.

(a) Is it a fact that Mr. E. H. Corbett has been appointed Deputy Inspector-General of Police, C.I.D. (Crime)?
(b) Is it a fact that the post of Inspector-General of Police has invariably been filled up by the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, C.I.D. (Crime), whenever the vacancy has been filled up by a non-civilian?
(c) Is it a fact that the post of the Deputy Inspector-General of Police, C.I.D. (Crime), is regarded as a position of greater advantage than that of the Deputy Inspector-General, Intelligence Branch?

Questions and Answers.

(d) Is it a fact that Mr. F. C. Daly, C.I.E., whom Mr. E. H. Corbett has succeeded, has taken two years' retiring furlough and that the post of the Inspector-General of Police is likely to fall vacant?

(e) Is it a fact that some officers senior to Mr. Corbett are still acting as Superintendents of Police?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) He has been appointed to officiate in the post during the absence of Mr. Daly, on leave, or until further orders.

(b) No. Since the post of Deputy Inspector-General (Crime) was created in 1906, three police officers have held the post of Inspector-General. Only one of these had previously served as Deputy Inspector-General (Crime).

(c) Both Deputy Inspectors-General draw their grade pay as such, and as a matter of fact, in the particular case of Mr. Corbett, the exchange is disadvantageous to him as regards pay till such time as he is confirmed as a Deputy Inspector-General. The Deputy Inspector-General (Crime) draws a house allowance of Rs. 250 a month. The Deputy Inspector-General, Intelligence Branch, draws a motor-car allowance of Rs. 150 a month, and is entitled to house allowance under the Calcutta house allowance rules.

(d) Mr. Daly has taken two years' leave, but it is not known whether he proposes to retire at the end of it. The post of Inspector-General of Police will, in the ordinary course, fall vacant in October 1919 when Mr. Plowden will attain the age of 55.

(e) Yes."

XXVIII.

Case of Jyotish Chandra Ghosh.

(a) With reference to my unstarred question No. LXXI asked at the meeting of Council on the 22nd January last, will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) whether by a separate cell, the Government meant a solitary cell;

(ii) whether there are two kinds of cells, solitary and separate; and

(iii) under what law and for what reasons was he confined in such a cell?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state whether, in passing or confirming orders of solitary confinement in the case of political prisoners, they take into consideration the probable effect of the order upon the bodily and mental health of the prisoner?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) and (b) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the statement that will be made by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler with reference to the resolution on the subject to be discussed at this meeting of Council."

By the Hon'ble BABU AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA :—

XXIX.

Case of Jyotish Chandra Ghosh.

(a) Are the Government aware that Jyotish Chandra Ghosh is an M.A. of the Calcutta University and that he was Professor in some college?

(b) Are the Government considering the advisability of framing written charges against men of such education and position and requiring them to make their statements in writing?

Questions and Answers.

The Serampore College Bill, 1918.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) Yes.

(b) For some time past written charges have been put to all persons arrested and they have been asked if they wished to make a statement in writing."

By the Hon'ble BABU AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA :—

XXX.

Case of Jyotish Chandra Ghosh.

(a) Is it true that Jyotish Chandra Ghosh is still feigning insanity and that his physical condition is satisfactory?

(b) Are the Government considering the advisability of appointing a Medical Board consisting of officials and non-officials—

(i) to ascertain definitely whether he is actually a lunatic;

(ii) to investigate into the causes of his physical and mental break-down;

(iii) to submit a report about the present condition of his health; and

(iv) if necessary, to consider what steps should be taken to improve his health?

(c) Are the Government considering the desirability of transferring him from the Berhampore Lunatic Asylum to the Calcutta Medical College for treatment?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" (a) On 5th February, 1918, Captain Hume, I.M.S., who was deputed to examine Jyotish Ghosh in consultation with the Superintendent of the Lunatic Asylum, reported that he was unable to state definitely whether the patient was insane or not and recommended a further period of observation.

(b) and (c) The Hon'ble Member is referred to the statement to be made by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler in the discussion on a resolution to this effect to be brought forward at this meeting of Council."

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEMS Nos. 2 and 3.

THE SERAMPORE COLLEGE BILL, 1918.

The Hon'ble SIR S. P. SINHA presented the Report of the Select Committee on the Serampore College Bill, 1918, and moved that the said Report be taken into consideration.

He said :—

" My Lord, on the occasion when I introduced this Bill, I placed before the Council quite fully the object and scope of the Bill, and I do not think it necessary, therefore, to say anything more at this stage. I may only mention that no alteration whatsoever was made in the Select Committee, except a merely verbal one, by which the words 'Calcutta University' were altered to 'University of Calcutta' ".

The motion was put and agreed to.

The Serampore College Bill, 1918.

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR moved that in lines 7 and 8 of clause 13 the following be omitted, namely :—

"the Government as defined in section 2(b) of the Indian Universities Act, 1904, in relation to."

He said :—

"My Lord, the preamble of the Bill in question clearly indicates that the constitution of the Serampore College be so amended as to authorise the Council of the said College to discharge the functions of the University, that is to say, that "a Faculty and Senate be constituted for the said College . . . . and that suitable standards be imposed in regard to any secular degrees that may hereafter be conferred by the said Council.

"Clause 13 of the Bill authorises the Council "to grant degrees in any branch or branches of knowledge and science other than theology" if certain conditions are fulfilled, i.e., if the Government as defined in section 2(b) of the Indian Universities Act of 1904 are satisfied that those requirements have been complied with. There is no Act of the Supreme Legislative Council as suggested in the Bill making it obligatory on the Governor-General in Council to make enquiries as to the adequacy :—

(1) of the establishment and equipment of the College,

(2) of the academic standard to be maintained, and

(3) of the financial provision made therefor.

"So that, in my view the Governor-General in Council, i.e., the Executive Government is not legally bound to act according to the recommendation of the Bengal Legislative Council. Legal obligation must be imposed by legal authorities. In my humble opinion the legislation of the kind contemplated in the Bill ought to be passed by the Imperial Legislative Council. Referring to the Indian Universities Act of 1904, 'the Government' means in relation to the University of Calcutta the Governor-General in Council and the sections by which the said Government are required to exercise their authority are sections 21(5), and 24(5), The latter section authorises the Government to sanction the regulations which are framed by the Senate under the Act. There is no section which authorises the Government directly to make an enquiry for their satisfaction as to the adequacy of the requirements laid down in the latter part of clause 13 of the Bill. On the other hand in section 21 of the Act we find that the University has authority at the first instance to enquire about those matters before any College is affiliated to it. This procedure is to be found in the Indian Universities Act of 1904 and has reference to the affiliation of a College to the University. So with regard to disaffiliation of the College—section 24,(5). The duties of Government are thus defined in the Universities Act, that is at the time of affiliation of a College to the University. If, therefore, a reference to the expression of Government be made in the Bill, the duties imposed by the Act cannot be lost sight of. I am, therefore, doubtful whether the authority given by the local Legislative Council can legally compel the Government or the Governor-General of India in Council to carry out the injunction laid down in clause 13 of the Bill. The Bill says "it shall satisfy the Government as defined in section 2, clause (b), of the Indian Universities Act". We must understand the meaning of the word as understood and explained in the Act itself.

The Serampore College Bill, 1918.

Dr. Howells.

"If my views are controlled by the those of the Council, may I not ask the Hon'ble Members to consider, whether a University sitting in Calcutta can successfully enquire as to the details laid down in clause 13 of the Bill and satisfy itself as to these details. The Governor-General in Council sits at Delhi or Simla. Serampore is 12 miles from Calcutta. If the Bengal Legislative Council has authority to direct the Governor-General to be satisfied as to the details stated in the clause, will it not be more convenient to the Calcutta University. The two Universities can act harmoniously as to the academic mode of the spread of education in Bengal.

The Hon'ble DR. HOWELLS, said :—

"My Lord, I have nothing to complain of so far as the general spirit of the amendment is concerned and in the way in which it was proposed. But it seems to me that on one or two grounds it is quite inadmissible. I do not want to follow or attempt to follow the legal intricacies referred to by the Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandre Mitra Bahadua—I am not in any way competent to do so but the matter has been very carefully considered by the highest legal authorities and I am content to leave it at that. But on more general grounds I should like to ask whether there is any demand whatever from the University of Calcutta in connection with, and in the direction of, what my Hon'ble friend proposes. The Calcutta University has had every opportunity to consider this question and after careful deliberation in the first place by the faculty of law and then by a full Senate the matter was decided and the Calcutta University felt that it would be unnecessary and unfair to interfere in any way with the progress of the Bill through the Council. The Vice-Chancellor is not here to-day otherwise he would support me in that statement. I am not aware that the Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur has any right here to represent the Calcutta University or anything that the Calcutta University stands for. I think the Hon'ble Rai Bahadur has some regard for the principle of representative Government and for the principle that Government should be in the interest of those that are governed. But he is introducing a somewhat dangerous principle, I think, by attempting to force on the Calcutta University something that it has no desire to get. So far as the issue of the matter is concerned, on its merits, it seems to me, it is absolutely essential in matters of educational administration, even in reference to Universities, that the supreme power should rest with the Government and while there should be a very considerable measure of independence to the University yet there should always come a time, there should always be a possibility of a time, when it is the right of the Government to intervene and set things straight. There is a power, even in educational matters when the broad interests of the country are concerned, higher than the Calcutta University and it is recognised in all University administrations in other countries—the Government steps in, for instance, and appoints a commission thereby manifesting its supremacy. It would be a dangerous thing, for instance, even in England in matters bearing on the extension of the University education, if the University of Oxford had been granted such a power in England as my Hon'ble friend proposes to give to the University of Calcutta in Bengal. I am afraid, looking on facts from a historical point of view, that if matters had been left entirely in the hands of the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge, there would not be an additional University in England at the present time. They would not have been the best judges when other persons and other interests were concerned. It would be a dangerous policy, I take it, to make the Calcutta University the arbiter of University education and University extension throughout Bengal. Calcutta is already overburdened and it is well known that there is very considerable discussion as to the desirability of extending University education by the foundation of Universities in other centres. But if the Hon'ble Rai Mohendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur's idea is maintained and the policy he stands for carried it would really make the Calcutta University the supreme judge and arbiter in all matters of this kind. From the point of view of an educationist it seems to me that it would be an unwise and dangerous policy. We must recognise in these matters the supremacy of the Government and it seems uncertain at any rate whether the University of Calcutta, even assuming that these powers might be given or that it might be desirable to give them, is really qualified to judge in these matters. At present the Calcutta University is itself being judged, a commission is sitting in regard to the University and all that it stands for and to come in at this time and say that the Calcutta University must decide matters of this kind will be putting into the hands of that body a power which it will not be qualified properly to administer. On these grounds it seems to me that the amendment proposed should be opposed."

The Serampore College Bill, 1918.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

The Hon'ble SIR S. P. SINHA, said :—

"My Lord, I fear that I did not succeed in removing the misconception which seemed to prevail amongst some Hon'ble Members of this Council, when the Bill was introduced. I stated then that at the present moment, the Serampore College has the right to confer not only theological degrees, but degrees in Arts and Sciences as well. Supposing this Bill is dropped to-day, they can, if they chose, manufacture as many B.-A's., and M.-A's., etc.. as they like ; there is nothing to prevent them. But the primary object of this Bill is to enable the College authorities to utilise the powers given to them under the Charter to confer theological degrees on students of all Christian churches and not merely of the particular denomination to which the College authorities belong, and this object was considered likely to be furthered if the denominational basis on which the College rests was modified by the creation of an enlarged Council and of a Senate, consisting of members belonging to the different Christian churches. That is the primary object of the Bill, namely, to enlarge the basis of the theological faculty which will confer the theological degrees, and that does not touch the existing powers to confer degrees in Arts and Sciences. There are no restrictions now existing on their powers, to confer such degrees ; but the Bill took the opportunity of imposing certain restrictions on these powers, namely, that as regards these other degrees, the Serampore College should not be able to confer them unless the Government was satisfied that in the matter of establishment, equipment and academic standard to be maintained and finance, adequate provision was made. The College authorities, have accepted that restriction, viz., that they should not confer these other degrees without satisfying the Government in these particulars. Now, what my Hon'ble friend, Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur proposes to do is to enact that the restrictions which they have agreed to accept, should be altered, and a restriction should be imposed upon them, which they have not agreed to, viz., that they should satisfy not the Government, but the University of Calcutta. Is that a reasonable proposal, viz., to impose upon them a restriction which does not exist and which they are not bound to accept, instead of the restriction which they have willingly accepted, viz., control by the Government? I venture to think that the Council will agree with me that it is not. But, further than that and without going into the questions which have been raised by the Hon'ble Dr. Howells, the Council will remember this that in all these matters, establishment and equipment of a college, academic standard to be maintained and the financial provision made for the College, the Calcutta University has not the power to order affiliation or disaffiliation so far its own colleges are concerned. The Calcutta University cannot affiliate or disaffiliate any college in Bengal, except under the control of the Government of India. Now, if that is so, and if in these matters the Calcutta University itself is subject to the control of the Government of India, is it reasonable, I ask again, that the Calcutta University should be made the controlling authority over a sister and a possibly rival University? Further, the difficulties which the Hon'ble Mover of this amendment has pointed out about the Government of India controlling, from a distance, the Serampore College are not likely to exist for very much longer. It is an open secret that it is intended to substitute as the controlling authority of the University of Calcutta the Government of Bengal. Therefore, there would not be any difficulty whatsoever in the Government of Bengal, satisfying itself as regards these particulars, if and when, any question arises as to the capacity of the Serampore College to confer such degrees. It is a contingency which, so far as I can judge, is not likely to arise for a long time to come, and I, therefore, suggest that the Council should not accept the proposed amendment".

The Serampore College Bill, 1918.

Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur.

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, in answer to the questions which have been raised by the Hon'ble Dr. Howells, I beg to submit to your Lordship that I am myself a lover of representative Government. But, when I put the matter before the Government, I put it on the ground that the two Universities might work together, i.e., in co-operation. I thought also that as the Calcutta University was quite close by, it would be in a position to examine the details required in clause 13 of the Bill. I have raised it also as a legal question, as the Hon'ble Sir S. P. Sinha, who is an eminent lawyer, will be in a position to throw light on it. I thought over the matter and considered it that I should put it before the Council so that the Council might be in a position to understand the difficulties which I pointed out.

"The Hon'ble Member in charge has stated to the Council that the suggestion made by me is not a reasonable one. I consider that it is a reasonable suggestion, because it will appear from the legal aspect of the question that when a reference is made to the Governor-General in Council or rather the Executive Government, they are under no legal obligation to do what is required under the provisions of clause 13. There is no Act of the Supreme Government to compel an Executive Government to do what is required in clause 13. The clause seems to be a request that something should be done but that has no legal force. That is the reason why I have submitted the matter to this Council. The Hon'ble Dr. Howells says that it will be introducing a dangerous principle I say that it will not certainly do so. I depend as I have said, upon the co-operation of the two Universities.

"I am glad also that the Hon'ble Member in charge considers that there are difficulties but he thinks that these difficulties might be obviated soon under certain circumstances. I have nothing further to say on this point, but I submit that on the principle of convenience, it will be far better if the Calcutta University examines these questions—questions of details. If the two Universities are to be considered as rival Universities, still I do not think that co-operation with each other will introduce a dangerous principle in the management of the Serampore College. The Council of the Serampore College sits in London and the management of the College is left in the hands of the managing Committee. The Council in London is not in a position to have a direct control over the managing Committee at Serampore. These, my Lord, are the difficulties which I have submitted to the Council. I do not think that even if the two Universities are considered rivals, co-operation will be of no use. In this view of the matter, I have submitted this amendment for the consideration of the Council."

The motion was then put and lost.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 5.

The following motion being consequential was not moved :—

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR to move that the words "University of Calcutta" be substituted for the word "Government" in line 1 in the proviso to clause 13.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 6.

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR moved that the following further proviso be added to clause 13, namely :—

"Provided also that the titles and marks of honour in respect of the degrees intended to be granted by the Council shall be different from those conferred by the University of Calcutta or any other Indian University."

He said :—

"My Lord, in moving this amendment my object is that when there are two universities, the degrees and marks of honour ought to be different, and so without any speech I submit that this proposal of mine should be accepted.

The Hon'ble SIR S. P. SINHA said :—

"My Lord, the Hon'ble Member is probably aware himself of the difficulty of suggesting other titles and degrees in making his amendment. Are they to be called α β γ—or something else ? In all Universities, they are called Bachelor of Arts or Bachelor of Science or Master of Arts or Master of Science. I do not think that the Hon'ble Member is seriously suggesting that the titles to be conferred by the Serampore University should be other than these. Of course, to avoid any confusion, we have now B. A. of the Calcutta University or B. A. of the Bombay University and so on ; and the same distinction will remain with regard to the Serampore College University. When there is anybody getting a degree from the Serampore College, he will be called B.A. of the Serampore College University ; that is the distinction. It can hardly be suggested that we should have to invent a name different from that which prevails in any other University in the world."

The Hon'ble DR. HOWELLS said :—

"My Lord, I beg to oppose the amendment on the ground that it is a direct violation of the rights we possess under our Royal Charter and in accordance with the treaty with the King of Denmark. The sixth statute reads as follow :—

'The first Council and their successors for ever' being authorized by the Charter 'to confer such degrees of rank and honour as shall encourage learning' in the same manner as other Colleges and Universities, they shall from time to time confer degrees in such branches of knowledge and science as may be studied there, in the same manner as the Universities in Denmark, Germany and Great Britain. In doing this the Master and Council shall ad libitum call in the aid of any or all the Professors of Serampore College. All such degrees shall be perfectly free of expense to the person on whom they may be conferred, whether he be in India, Europe or America.

Clearly if we are forbidden to confer such degrees as are now granted by the University of Calcutta or other Universities in the world, then this statute has absolutely no meaning. I, therefore, feel that it is a violation of the rights we definitely possess and rights which the Government are resolved to respect. The carrying out of this amendment would result in taking away such powers as we possess from us without our consent ; and I may say on behalf of the College that we could never agree to the carrying through of such a resolution or any modification of the Charter and statutes in the way proposed. The Bill carried through in such a form would be to us worse than useless, and we should certainly as a college appeal against it for its reversal."

" My Lord, the proposal which I have submitted is not against the terms of the Charter. On the other hand, I find by a reference to clause 13 of the Bill that the Council of the Serampore College will be in a position to grant such degrees as they think fit and proper with this restriction that the grant of the degree to the students must be confined to those who study in the Serampore College and also that certain requirements be fulfilled before the degrees are granted. So I do not see how my proposal is in conflict with the terms of the Charter. Then, again, whenever a University is constituted, it is in a position to confer degrees. With Your Excellency's permission I may be allowed to read section 16 of the Indian Universities Act of 1904 and there I find the following words :—' The Senate may institute and confer such degrees and grant such diplomas, licenses, titles and marks of honour in respect of degrees and examinations as may be prescribed by regulation.' When the Serampore University will be constituted, I am entitled to submit to the Council, that by law it may be enacted that the degrees which they may grant should be different from the degrees which are granted by the Calcutta or other Indian Universities. That is not inconsistent with the terms of the Charter and not inconsistent with the provisions of the law which are to be found in the Indian Universities Act of 1904. So when we are going to have a law as to the constitution of the University and also as to the powers given to the University for granting degrees, is it quite unreasonable on my part to press upon the attention of the Council that the degrees should be different and that the marks of honour should be different from those which are granted by the Indian Universities ? No doubt it has been pointed out by the Hon'ble Member in charge that the same degrees may be conferred by different Universities. Quite so. But still my contention is that there should be different degrees for different Universities. We have got different gowns, different marks of honour to indicate different Universities."

The motion was then put and lost.

BENGAL BUDGET FOR 1918-19.*

The Hon'ble SIR HENRY WHEELER presented the Budget of the Government of Bengal for 1918-19.

He said :—

"Sir, a memorandum drawing attention to various points connected with the Budget is already in the hands of the Hon'ble Members, and I trust that the notes therein are sufficiently clear in themselves.

"It will be remembered that among the resolutions moved at the previous meeting of the Council with reference to the Revised Financial Statement, two were carried. The first recommended a larger provision for the greater stimulation of work under the Co-operative Credit Department. I think the actual additional amount proposed to be allotted for that purpose was Rs. 50,000. Subsequently, we consulted the Revenue Department as to the amount which they thought they could usefully spend during the year in the direction of giving effect to the wishes of Council, and they told us that Rs. 12,000 was the amount which could thus be disbursed ; provision has been made accordingly in the Budget for that amount.

"The next resolution had reference to a hostel for railway students at Kanchrapara. That question is not in itself sufficiently advanced for us to have made a Budget provision for it. There are outstanding points, both in regard to the scheme and the incidence of the cost, which will now be worked out. Should it be decided to take action on the lines of the wishes of the Hon'ble Sir R. N. Mukherji, the cost will be debited to the ordinary Civil Works allotment of the Public Works Department, and therefore no special provision on that account need be made.

"These, Sir, are the two main points of fresh interest disclosed by the Budget as now presented.

"I would draw the attention of the Hon'ble Members to the last paragraph of the memorandum, and ask them to be so good as to extend to us their usual courtesy in giving preliminary intimation of any points of detail which they desire to raise during the debate on the 4th April, in order that information regarding them may be collected."

RESOLUTIONS.

(Under the Rules for the discussion of matters of general public interest.)

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI moved the following Resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that steps be taken to provide facilities, under proper safeguards, to those détenus who may desire to appear at the next University Examinations.

* The Budget is not included in these proceedings.

Resolutions.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

He said :—

"My Lord, before I speak on this resolution, I think, I should explain why I am late, so far as this year is concerned, in bringing this matter before the Council—as the Intermediate Arts and the Intermediate Science examinations for this year are over and the Matriculation commences on the 2nd April next. I expected that the cases of the unfortunate boys, arrested and detained either under Bengal Regulation III of 1818 or under the Defence of India Act, 1915, who were preparing for the University examinations, would be taken into consideration and facilities under proper safeguard would be afforded them for appearing at the University examinations But when I came to learn that no such arrangement was in the contemplation of the authorities, I submitted my resolution on the 20th February last, as far as I remember, with a request that I might be allowed to move it at the meeting of the Council held on the 5th March last as an urgent measure. Unfortunately, no earlier opportunity could be granted to me. However, I raise the question now with a hope that such concession may be granted to, and suitable arrangements made for, those who are still desirous of continuing their studies and appearing at the University examinations.

It is really a grievance, my Lord, that the boys, sometimes the only hopes of their aged parents or guardians and some of them only in their teens, should be snatched away by the rough hand of the police and kept in secluded cells, or when outside the jail, often in places infected with malaria and abounding in serpents—left to the care more of nature than of man—under the constant watch of those whose very sight is irritating to them as belonging to that same class of persons who are responsible for bringing them to this their sad plight. But I shall not deal with that aspect of the question as it is not within the scope of my present resolution. Worthier hands have already handled it in and out of the Council Chambers. Nor shall I deal to-day with any other subsidiary questions such as maintenance allowance, family allowance, health of detenus, places of domicile and so forth though there is much to complain of even in these. I take this opportunity, however, to congratulate the Government with a sense of relief and a feeling of gratitude on the rules, recently framed and published, for those who are detained within the jails. These rules will be greatly appreciated by the sufferers, and I hope similar rules and necessary arrangements will be made, without delay, also for those who are interned outside the jail under Government supervision and control.

If I have understood the Defence of India Act rightly, it provides only for a temporary detention. The persons arrested under its provisons are not convicts in any sense of the word though we sometimes hear that they are treated worse than the worst criminals. It is admitted that the materials available against them are not sufficient for a regular prosecution, and therefore we may take it that they may be guilty or may not be guilty of the offences with which they are charged. So, in the absence of a conviction in an open trial by Courts of Justice, when the period of detention will be over, these détenus will surely not be branded as convicts for the rest of their lives but they will be entitled to the full participation of all the rights and privileges equally with other citizens Is it reasonable, then, my Lord, that on mere suspicion their future prospects should be marred and they should be deprived of a chance of making themselves useful to society and to their families? I, therefore, suggest that the education of these unfortunate boys should not be interfered with, and every facility ought to be granted to them for continuing their studies even during the period of their detention, of course so far as circumstances permit. I might be permitted to refer in this connection to a very recent case at Rajshahi. A boy who was appearing at the I.A. examination this year was arrested during the course of the examination. He was not allowed to finish his examination : he had appeared only two days when he was arrested. Was an immediate arrest so very urgently necessary and unavoidable ? Was the boy really so very dangerous—like a plague or inundation—that he must be removed without a moment's delay lest he might contaminate the whole atmosphere with his foul breath ? Were the Government in immediate danger of being overthrown by that boy so that they could not allow him a respite of even three or four days just to finish his examination upon which his whole future life so immensely depended ? And even if his arrest was so very urgent why were not arrangements made for his examination at any place under proper safeguard ? What wonder that people will take the Defence of India Act to be an Act of Oppression. We are sometimes accused of embarrassing the Government by repeated Questions and Resolutions on the working of the Defence of India Act ! But I can assure Your Excellency that that is not so. Indeed, with very great pain we have to refer to those incidents with a hope that Government might clear up their position and rectify the errors, if any, of their subordinates—and has it not been proved by facts that there are errors ! The case cited by me above is not a solitary instance. There have been many such cases. Only the other day another candidate for the I.A. examination was arrested at Rajshahi and after enquiry he was let off just on the eve of the examination after a confinement of little over a week. Did not this boy suffer immeasurably owing to this interruption of studies ? I do not know if he has been able to appear at all at the examinntion. At least there must have been a serious obstruction to the continuity of study, not to speak of the shock he received. Everybody knows how valuable every minute of the days just preceding the examination is to an intending candidate. We, my Lord, understand it. But those with whom this task of arrests under the Defence of India Act is entrusted seem not to understand—they are callous enough. Supposing the boy who has been arrested during the course of the examination is set free after the usual enquiry, who, my Lord, will be responsible for this loss of one year, at the least, the boy has been compelled to suffer ?

Resolutions.

Sir Henry Wheeler ; President ; Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

"Here, my Lord, I may be permitted to observe that I do not understand why arrests are made before the enquiry. What is the enquiry that is made after the arrest ?"

The Hon'ble SIR HENRY WHEELER said :—

"Sir, I rise to a point of order. The question whether arrests are made before enquiry or afterwards has nothing to do with the Hon'ble Member's resolution."

The PRESIDENT said :—

"The Hon'ble Member must confine himself to arguments which bear upon the actual terms of his resolution. I have allowed him a considerable latitude ; but if he adduces arguments which have no actual bearing on the resolution, I must ask him to omit them."

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI continuing said :—

"My Lord, we shall perhaps be told that there are reasons for this unusual procedure which we cannot know as they are State Secret. But I think some explanation ought to be forthcoming.

"There are several other anomalies in the operation of the Defence of India Act which we do not understand. In passing, I may be permitted to refer to one of these, e.g., the question of allowance to détenus outside the jail."

Resolutions.

President; Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

The PRESIDENT said :—

"The Hon'ble Member should resume his seat when I rise to speak. I fail to see what bearing this argument on the subject of allowances to détenus has on the resolution."

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI continuing said :—

"Very well, my Lord, as I was saying, the Defence of India Act is a war measure and this somewhat ordinary application of Bengal Regulation III of 1818—which is also an extraordinary measure—is also made for the purposes of the war—we are told—both intended for vesting the executive with some extraordinary powers to be used only under extraordinary circumstances—viz., the power of periodical suspension, of the Habeas Corpus, of the natural civil rights of man as man—therefore of incarceration of men without trial—the application of both of these is a purely executive measure where courts of law cannot reach. But both are intended only for keeping those persons, whom the executive think to be dangerous, aloof, for the time being, from their usual surroundings. And, to my mind, the executive must stop there—I mean only to the extent of keeping such persons aloof—and should not proceed any further. It necessarily follows that these persons cannot be accorded the same treatment as is meted out to the convicts, and as far as possible they must be kept in the same state of life as they used to live. It also follows, as I have pointed out before, that they will again enjoy the same rights and privileges as they used to enjoy before their internment, after the period of detention is over—for they are not convicts. From this does it not follow that only such restrictions are to be placed upon such persons as are absolutely indispensable, that is to say, they should also be allowed to continue their usual vocations in life. Here, my Lord, the case of student détenus can be distinguished from other cases for even during their detention they can be allowed to continue their studies without any possible harm to the Government. Of course, they may not have the advantages of collegiate education, but they can pursue their studies at their places of internment. And is it not also practicable to allow them to appear at the college and University examinations? They can very well be examined at their places of internment or at any other place under proper safeguards. I do not really see, my Lord, the least possibility of harm to the Government in taking this course. On the other hand, if these boys are not allowed to go on with their studies—what is the result? The result is that when these persons are set free again they have to begin their life anew and perhaps they are then too old to begin their studies afresh. And though the Act does not intend to brand them as convicts, the operation of the Act in this country and more especially the methods of that hallowed infallible department known in this unfortunate country as the C. I. D., do as a matter of fact brand them as the worst set of confirmed criminals—for ever pursued by the Criminal Investigation Department wherever they go, resulting in this that these unfortunate persons are more miserable than ever, getting no employment, having no community because scaring away everybody—in short they are ruined persons—and what is the next thing they are likely to do? Either they must commit suicide, as some recent cases have shewn, or they will have to resort to unlawful acts for their bread and for the sake of some employment whatsoever. And who, my Lord, is responsible for this sad result? There is perhaps no escape from the unhappy conclusion that it is the Criminal Investigation Department or the operation of the Defence of India Act. Was this result intended by the Legislature? At least I do not think so. Is this also the way, my Lord, how the very serious problems of unemployment and discontent in this country are being solved?

With these words I commend this resolution to the acceptance of this Council."

Resolutions.

Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur; Sir Henry Wheeler.

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, the object of this resolution is a very simple one—that steps may be taken to provide facilities under proper safeguard to those détenus who may desire to appear at the next University examinations. If they are not allowed to appear at the next University examination the result will be that their future prospects will be marred. So that such facilities should be offered to them for appearing at the ensuing examinations. But if they are not allowed to do so, it will be found that their future prospects are all gone. In that view of the matter I support the resolution."

The Hon'ble SIR HENRY WHEELER said :—

"My Lord, I propose to confine myself to the subject of the resolution and not to stray beyond it into the contentious and perennial topic of the general merits or demerits of the police.

"The resolution has reference to the appearance of boys who are dealt with under the Defence of India Act at their examinations, and the subject is one regarding which the facts ought to be known to the Hon'ble Members of this Council as they were given in answer to a question on the 3rd July last. It was then stated :—

'In a few cases permission has been given to détenus to leave a domicile for the purpose of attending an examination, but it has been made perfectly clear to them and their relatives that permission to appear at the examination rests ultimately in the discretion of the Educational authorities. Where permission has been refused, it w s for the general reason that in the circumstances of the individual case it did not seem suitable that the privilege should be allowed.'

"That has been and is the position of Government in this matter; but it was found that in the past misunderstanding arose owing to the fact that orders had been issued saying that Government had no objection to such and such a boy appearing at his examination. Now, to appear at an examination under the regulations of the University, a candidate is required to have a certificate, firstly that he has attended a certain number of lectures, and secondly that the Principal of the institution in which he has been studying knows nothing against his moral character. It was assumed and argued in some quarters that these orders of Government meant that it was the intention and wish of Government that these conditions should be waived in the favour of the particular candidate. Obviously, this was an entirely erroneous impression. All that was meant was that, assuming that a boy was given permission by the University authorities to appear at an examination, Government might, if the case was a suitable one, suspend the disabilities that were imposed on him under the Defence of India Act, and thus enable him to go to the place of examination without committing a breach of the rules.

"The matter was argued in the Calcutta University last year in the case of a particular boy who was a détenu and who had been attending the Dacca College. The Principal of that college had refused to sign the certificate that he knew nothing against the moral character of the candidate. The question was raised in the Syndicate of waiving the regulations in favour of the boy, stress being laid on the argument, to which I have referred, that Government had said that they had no objection. The recommendation of the Syndicate was submitted to the Senate and was argued on two occasions. I have been unable to obtain a copy of the detailed discussion, which, I understand, has not yet been printed, though six or seven months have since elapsed; but I am told by those who were present that there was a considerable difference of opinion in the Senate, and eventually the resolution to the effect that the regulations be rescinded in this instance was withdrawn. That, Sir, is the position. A boy, quite apart from any action of Government, has to obtain a certificate of attendance at lectures and another as to his moral character; the fact that he has been interned will be an obstacle to both. Our position is as explained in the answer to a question which I have already quoted, namely, that if the Educational authorities allow a boy to appear at his examination, assuming that he is able to get these certificates, Government will then consider whether, looking to the circumstances of the case and the reasons for which he was interned, it is practicable to allow him to attend at the place of examination. That will be judged on the merits of the case. Permission may be granted or refused; it will altogether depend on what the facts of the case are. That being so, I am unable to accept the resolution which asks us to provide facilities regarding which, as I have explained, the initial difficulty is that of satisfying the requirements of the University, while even if that was met. there would still remain the consideration of the merits of each individual case."

The Hon'ble MAULVI A. K. FAZL-UL-HAQ said :—

"My Lord, although I have not been able to follow the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri who moved this resolution, I think it my duty, on reading the resolution on the agenda paper, to say a few words in support of it. I do not think, my Lord, that there is a single member of the Council who does not realize that we are passing through critical and anxious times, and that the Government have got the right in these extraordinary times to adopt extraordinary measures for the sake of public peace and tranquillity. The Defence of India Act from that point of view is certainly an extraordinary measure which the Government have adopted, and the only difference in the points of view of the people and the Government lies in the fact that in some cases at least the Act has been unnecessarily and harshly imposed. One of the general complaints which I have heard is that some of the détenus are not given permission, not to speak of facilities, for appearing at various examinations. From all that I could understand from the speech of Sir Henry Wheeler I find that in some cases Government did give permission to certain détenus and if they could not appear at the examination it was due to causes over which Government had no control. I take it, therefore, that the principle recommended in the resolution is acceptable to Government and in this view of the matter I would respectfully urge upon your Excellency's Government to consider if the matter could not be discussed with the University authorities and the resolution accepted in the form in which it has been moved in this Council. We all know that the Defence of India Act is only a preventive measure and that it has only been enacted for the preservation of public safety and tranquillity; and if my view is correct then it is only natural that we should expect that the Act should not be set in motion so as to cause more hardship than can possibly be avoided. We all know, and experience has taught us, that suspected guilty persons when they find their future almost blasted stray further and further from the path of virtue and ultimately become hardened criminals. Therefore, I submit that in the interests of society some of these détenus ought to be granted every facility for appearing at the examinations, so that after their release they may follow a useful career in life. With these words I commend this resolution for the acceptance of the Council."

The Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, I rise to support the resolution moved by my Hon'ble friend Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri. And in doing so, I assure your Excellency that I would confine myself to the terms of the resolution and the reply given by Sir Henry Wheeler. My Lord, it is unnecessary for me to impress upon your Excellency's Government that this subject has been a subject of much excitement and agitation in our community. My Lord, I am not entering upon the question of internment at all. On this subject there is of course difference of opinion. All that we are at present concerned with is to impress upon the Government the necessity of so dealing with the détenus who had been carrying on their studies in schools and colleges before their detention, that after their release they may not turn into hardened criminals and do mischief not only to society but to the Government as well. My Lord, it is admitted that these arrests are made on suspicion. I do not wish to enter into the question whether arrests on suspicion are justified or not. This is not the time nor the place. But after all when these youngmen are arrested on suspicion the Government should be benevolent enough to see that they are fairly and generously treated—although they are kept under restriction. Those of them who were students should be allowed to continue their studies under proper safeguards and to appear at the examinations if they desire to do so. The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has stated that permission has been given in certain cases, and every individual case was considered where permission was not given. My Lord, we submit that whatever the circumstances of individual cases may be—they are known to the Government alone—it would be doing no harm either to the Government or to society if these boys are allowed to appear at examinations. It is stated that there are difficulties so far as the University is concerned. I am sure, my Lord, if the Government is inclined to grant them facilities some arrangements can be made with the University authorities to allow these boys to appear at the examinations or to continue their studies even in the places of their confinement. If this is done the interest of society will be safeguarded and they will be brought up as loyal and law-abiding citizens because education will improve their mind and character. And this arrangement can be made under proper safeguards. It seems that in many cases of detention, education is abruptly brought to an end, and the boys are turned into a band of discontented youths. But if this suggestion is followed, it will allay much discontent; otherwise, when the détenus come out, they will come out in a state of mind which I regret to think will not be quite compatible with the character of good citizens. Some generosity ought to be shown to these boys, and this little act of generosity will be very much appreciated by the parents and relatives of the détenus, and I hope something may be done in this direction. I yet hope, my Lord, that public opinion will act upon the mind of the Government. I am not yet without hope. In this Council Chamber I had the honour of moving for an advisory board of non-official visitors for the détenus and it was opposed by Sir Henry Wheeler, but in the cool heights of Simla the suggestion which I made before this Council seems to have found favour. I yet hope that without in anyway interfering with the policy of the Government, without in anyway fettering the hands of the Government, something may be done for the education of these boys. I hope Sir Henry Wheeler will kindly consider it in his calmer moments outside the Council Chamber."

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI said :—

"My Lord, after what has been said by my friends, the Hon'ble Maulvi Faz-ul-Huq and the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, I think it is not necessary for me to add anything more to what I have already said in my previous speech. I appeal to your Excellency that something may be done for those boys, and I hope that the Council will accept my proposal by granting the necessary facilities."

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 10.

The Hon'ble BABU AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA moved the following Resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council the issue of an order prohibiting the accommodation in solitary or separate cells of any political prisoner arrested or imprisoned under the Defence of India (Criminal Law Amendment) Act, 1915, or Bengal Regulation III of 1818.

He said :—

"The views of the Indian public on the question of solitary confinement of political prisoners in cells have been brought to the notice of the Government on numerous occasions in this Council in the shape of interpellations. I do not propose, therefore, to make a lengthy speech on this occasion. I shall only state my objections ad seriatim. I protest against confinement in solitary cells because it is illegal. I protest against solitary confinement because according to medical opinion it is injurious to health, inducing mental break-down. I protest against it because we learn from Major Arthur George Frederick Griffiths, His Majesty's Inspector of Prisons, that some advanced thinkers have denounced the institution of separate cells as the greatest crime of the present age. I protest against it because the history of solitary confinement in Bengal for the last three or four years has established beyond doubt that the inevitable effect of such confinement in most cases is not only mental break-down, but also insanity in some cases. I protest against it because cloistered seclusion is an artificial condition quite at variance with human instincts and habits. I protest against it because Bengal Regulation III of 1818 lays down that due attention should be paid to the health of every state prisoner confined under that Regulation. I protest against it because apart from the express provision of the Regulation, the principle cannot be disputed that every political prisoner is the ward of the State, and the State is bound in law and honour to take proper care of his health. I protest against it because in spite of our repeated requests the Government have not yet told us why and under what law political prisoners are confined in solitary cells. Some time ago I asked for information why Jyotish Chandra Ghose was confined in a solitary cell. This question was a part of a larger question consisting of several clauses. All the other parts were answered, but no information was vouchsafed on this point. The question was simply passed over without giving any answer or reason. I seriously complain against this sort of procedure. My question was admitted by Your Excellency and I had a right to get an answer. But I thought the omission might not after all be intentional, and might possibly be due to an oversight on the part of the Secretary. The withholding of the information confirmed the suspicion of the public that the solitary confinement of Jyotish was absolutely indefensible. But I was still anxious that the Government should not be condemned unheard. With that object in view I repeated my question in a subsequent meeting, thus giving the Government an opportunity to explain their position and take the public into their confidence. But, my Lord, on this occasion the question itself was disallowed. I appeal to Your Excellency to consider whether this procedure is calculated to allay the discontent which nobody can deny exists in the public mind. My Lord, the public are thus quite in the dark as to the grounds and circumstances under which political prisoners are confined in solitary cells. I maintain the public have a right to know why such an extreme measure should be adopted by the Government with respect to political prisoners who after all are not ordinary criminals.

Resolutions.

Sir Henry Wheeler.

My Lord, I insist on justice and fair treatment for these people."

The Hon'ble SIR HENRY WHEELER said :—

"Sir, the resolution before the Council has reference to men falling under three categories : those who are detained under Regulation III of 1818, those who are arrested, and those who are imprisoned under the provisions of the Defence of India Act. In so far as the resolution touches upon men detained under Regulation III, these men are dealt with under the instruction and authority of the Government of India, who sign the warrants for their detention, and to that extent the question is somewhat outside the purview of the local Council. But, in so far as it has been raised, and certain arguments have been used which have also a bearing on men to whom the provisions of the Defence of India Act have been applied, and in so far as complaints of the character now adduced have been constant and persistent, we are glad enough to explain the facts in order, if possible, to dispel some of the suspicions which seem to weigh upon the minds of Hon'ble Members.

Resolutions.

Sir Henry Wheeler.

"In the first place, I may so far lighten the discussion by stating that persons who are convicted of any offences under the Defence of India rules are treated like ordinary convicts. That, therefore, merely leaves those who are dealt with under Regulation III of 1818, and those who are under detention under the Defence of India Act pending enquiry.

"The use of the word 'cells' has been taken advantage of to conjure up pictures which are not consistent with the actual facts. From the criticisms occasionally made it might be inferred that the cell in an Indian prison is some evil dungeon into which people are thrown, to be cast aside, forgotten by man and cut off from all communication with the outer world. The cell in an Indian jail is not, however, of that character; as doubtless those who are visitors of jails have seen, cells are separate compartments, usually in a row, either facing a common yard or, in some cases, separate yards in the form of small enclosures attached to them. The reasons why men dealt with under Regulation III are placed in cells are mainly three: In the first place if they are not placed in these cells, they would be grouped with ordinary convicts, and against that course there would certainly be complaints, and reasonably so. Secondly, by placing these men in cells, it is possible to afford them more favourable personal treatment in certain respects than would otherwise be the case. I will explain later how in certain matters these men are given special treatment. Thirdly, in the interests of jail discipline, it is impossible to allow these men unrestricted association among themselves. Many of them are dangerous characters; if they are allowed unrestricted association there is every reason for believing that they will conspire against the discipline of the jail and get into communication with the outer world. We have had examples to that effect in the past. I need merely remind the Council of the earlier days of the seditious movement when, by reason of a certain amount of laxity in supervision, revolvers were smuggled into a jail and a gross murder was committed. Hon'ble Members have also probably seen what recently happened at the Hazaribagh Jail, where prisoners connected with the seditious movement overpowered their warders and escaped in considerable number. It is essential, therefore, that we should have regard to the maintenance of jail discipline by exercising such precautions as we may consider necessary.

"I will now deal with the allegation that these men are held in solitary confinement—a statement which is often made; I assert that it is not true, and my answer to the Hon'ble Member's long category of protests is that these men are not treated in solitary confinement. Solitary confinement is a definite and defined thing, and I may explain to the Council what it means under our rules. There are three categories of confinement which are popularly called solitary confinement, namely, solitary confinement proper, cellular confinement, and separate confinement. These are defined as follows in our Jail Code:—

'Solitary confinement' is confinement in a cell, with or without labour, so as to entirely seclude the prisoner both from the sight of, and communication with, other prisoners.

'Cellular confinement' is confinement in a cell, with or without labour, so as to entirely seclude the prisoners from communication with, but not from sight of, other prisoners.

'Separate confinement' is confinement in a cell, with or without labour, so as to seclude the prisoner whilst in his cell from communication with, but not from sight of, other prisoners.

"That, Sir, is the description of solitary confinement as known to the Jail Code, and I presume it is not to be inferred that we have applied to these men a form of torture which is unknown to the Code.

Resolutions.

Sir Henry Wheeler.

"The treatment meted out to these men is as the poles apart from these classes of confinement to which I have just referred, and I will indicate some of the leading points in the rules, which have the approval of the Government of India, regarding the treatment of these men. In the first place, the rules provide, among other things, for special furniture to be placed in the cells, including lanterns, beds, mosquito curtains and mats. These men are allowed to wear their own clothes, and friends may send them extra clothing and bedding. If they themselves are unable to supply sufficient clothing and bedding, the deficiency is made good by Government. They receive at the jail expense the food to which they are accustomed in their own station of life; the bhadralok class receive the same quality of rice as is used in the jail hospital. At the discretion of the Superintendent and under the usual restrictions as to examination, friends may send in extra provisions, and, if desired, a reasonable supply of cigarettes and tobacco is provided. They are allowed interviews with their relatives and friends, a special day being set apart for that purpose, and they are allowed to write one or two letters every week. They are not allowed to read newspapers, but recently (they have always been supplied with news of the war) we have allowed them to see the Illustrated Edition of "The Times of India." They are allowed books, both vernacular and English, from the jail library and outside. Special grants have been made to jail libraries in order that books may be provided, and when a desire is indicated to read any special book the Superintendent tries to get it. It is laid down in the rules that, so far as practicable, facilities may be given to obtain any books which they desire. So much as regards their life in the cells, and we now come to the more particular point of the alleged solitary nature of the confinement. Our present rules lay down that all political prisoners shall take exercise outside their cells for a period of at least one hour each morning and evening and during this time they may associate, under supervision, with one another. Apart from this daily exercise, and subject to the ordinary jail routine, they are also allowed to associate together outside their cells except for the period during which they are locked up for their midday sleep. If they wish it, they are allowed to have a course of physical drill, and they are permitted and encouraged to practise carpentry and any other useful work which enables them better to pass their time, while books of instruction, tools and materials, such as wood, etc., are provided for the purpose. I may mention that when I visited the Dacca Jail I came across a person there of an artistic temperament who was busy painting.

"These are the rules which govern the treatment of these men, and I maintain that in no sense can that treatment be described as solitary confinement, but apart from the rules, I may also refer Hon'ble Members to an account which we have had both from the Superintendents of the Presidency and Alipore Jails as to what was actually done with reference to these men, even prior to the most resent amendments which have still further relaxations. It is a living record of what they did, and I will touch upon it briefly. Soon after daylight, about at 5-30 they were unlocked and allowed to exercise separately; after that they had their chota hazri at 7-30 A.M., and then they were allowed to associate with one another, the worst class being placed under some degree of supervision and limited to half an hour, but the rest not; during this period they were allowed to play cards, badminton or take any other reasonable forms of exercise. After this period of association the wrost class were allowed to exercise separately and sit outside their cells. They then had their breakfast. I have here details of the food that is given; they are allowed the privilege of cigarettes, fruits and other sweetmeats. At midday they retire to their cells, but in the afternoon, at 4-30, they were let out of their cells again and allowed similar association, after which they had their dinner and were finally locked up for the night.

Resolutions.

Rai Debendra Chandra Ghosh Bahadur; Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur; Maulvi Abul Kasem; The President.

The books of the Presidency Jail library number 482 volumes. Friends may send practically anything, such as clothing, biscuits, fruits, etc., subject to the Superintendent's approval. The special furniture provided for them includes mosquito curtains, table, chair and writing facilities. The account of the Alipore Jail is on similar lines and scarcely needs recapitulation.

"Sir, so long as it is necessary to deal with these men under Regulation III of 1818 and to place them in our jails, we cannot place them otherwise than in these cells, but to characterise that treatment as solitary confinement is, I submit, an absolute misrepresentation of the facts."

The Hon'ble RAI DEBENDRA CHANDRA GHOSH BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, after hearing Sir Henry Wheeler, I do not wish to say anything on this resolution".

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR, said :—

"My Lord, I wish to speak on this subject as public mind is agitating over this matter as we read in the papers. Some time ago I put a question in this Council as to the necessity of appointing a visiting committee to examine the condition of the détenus. I was told in answer that under the orders of the Government of India the District Magistrate visits these persons. I had an idea in my mind that non-official gentlemen should be allowed to go to the cells or places where the détenus are confined. Now if this procedure were allowed there would have been less agitation. The people are of opinion that the health of these persons has been injured. It is a question of fact—some people say "no", some people say "yes". But the whole question may be decided if non-official gentlemen are allowed to examine political prisoners and then they will be in a position to understand whether the rumour that is spreading throughout the country is correct or not. In this view of the matter I beg to support the resolution".

The Hon'ble MAULVI ABUL KASEM said :—

"After the statement of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, with reference to this resolution, I do not think I would be justified in speaking on it but at the same time I crave Your Excellency's permission to say a few words with reference to another matter altogether. My Lord, to-day is the last day that the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell sits on this Council—".

The PRESIDENT said :—

"Order, order. I think I had better explain here that the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem expressed to me a desire to give him an opportunity of saying a few words with regard to the departure of the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell to another province. I pointed out to the Hon'ble Member that without suspending the rules it would be difficult for me to do so and he suggested that he might be able to say a word or two in this connection upon one of the resolutions to be debated. I indicated or intended to indicate to him that I would not listen too strictly to what he said, but here he declares his intention of making a speech on an entirely difflerent subject. I am afraid I cannot stretch the rule sufficiently wide for that. I supposed the Hon'ble Member in the course of his speech would say that he was quite sure that Government always did their best to treat the détenus well and that with Mr. Beatson Bell as a Member of that Government there could indeed be no doubt of it, or something of that kind. But as it is I am afraid I cannot stretch the rule so wide as the Hon'ble Member requires"

Resolutions.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.

The Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, I am not speaking of Mr. Beatson Bell whom we ought to bid a respectful farewell as we are now living in solitary cells, but we may have occasion to do so after this item is finished. I have listened with great interest to the speech of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler. Whenever a lucid and clear explanation is given which satisfies the most inquisitive amongst us we are the first to come forward and thank the Government or the Member of the Government who gives us an opportunity of doing so. I thank Sir Henry Wheeler for the very lucid and interesting statement that he has made and the information he has given.

My Lord, he has quoted some of the jail rules and I am sure that when he himself visited some of the jails he found that these rules were being observed, but, my Lord, there is a widely different public feeling outside the Members of your Government and amongst the non-official visitors of the jails. When some of these visitors (I have been honoured with an appointment) expressed their desire to look into the condition of some of these political prisoners under the Defence of India Act they were told that it was not their function to do so and they are simply to look into the condition of the ordinary criminals. They had naturally to turn their steps in another direction. My Lord, I accept unhesitatingly the information given by the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, but as the Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur has said it would be much more gratifying to our community and to the people concerned if the non-official visitors were allowed the same opportunity of judging the condition of these prisoners and of seeing how they are treated there.

I think, my Lord, in this respect some orders may be isseud to the jail authorities. I have seen some cells in the jails provided with tolerably good furniture where, as far as I could see, Anglo-Indian and Chinese prisoners, were placed, but I have not seen the cells where political prisoners or prisoners under the Defence of India Act are placed and therefore cannot say anything about them. The Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler has visited some of these cells and we must accept his statement. I hope that some steps may be taken to give a larger opportunity to my countrymen to see the condition of these prisoners in jail."

The Hon'ble BABU AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA said :—

"My Lord, I have learnt with great pleasure that rules on the subject by themselves are nothing but desirable, but at the same time allow me kindly to say this, that if I have been able to follow the reply of the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler I do not think he has said anything with respect to that portion of my speech in which I said that as a matter of fact solitary confinement of the political prisoners have led in many cases to mental break-down and in some cases to actual insanity. I may take it that is a suggestion which it was not intended to be rebutted. If that is so, the rules, however good in themselves, can serve no useful purpose whatsoever. It is not the first time that I have made the allegation in this Council : the allegation has been made, if I remember aright, for more than a year in the press and if in spite of that representation and if in spite of the allegation that I made in my initial speech there is nothing to be said on behalf of Government, my submission is that the rules, however good they may be, cannot bring salvation. I am inclined to place very much value upon the excellence of the rules only if it is a fact that my complaint is based upon a mere misrepresentation and there is no such thing as solitary confinement in solitary cells of political prisoners. If that is so and if that is true then, my Lord, my submission is that I do not see why there should be any objection on the part of Government in accepting at all events that portion of my resolution which runs like this: "This Council recommends to the Governor in Council to issue an order prohibiting accommodation in solitary cells." I am deleting only these two expressions "solitary cells." Then so far as my resolution relates to solitary cells that may be accepted by the Government rejecting that portion which refers to "separate cells." If this is accepted by Government I am quite prepared to withdraw my resolution with respect to separate cells."

Resolutions.

Sir Henry Wheeler; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.

The Hon'ble SIR HENRY WHEELER said:—

"My Lord, I did not follow clearly part of the Hon'ble Member's remarks, but he seemed to contend that the statements, which he claims to have repeatedly made in this Council, that the mental condition of these men has been affected by the solitary nature of their confinement, have not been challenged and that he may therefore take it that these statements are correct and unrebutted; I can only point out that I have been endeavouring, for the last ten minutes or so, to explain that these men are not subjected to solitary confinement at all, and that whatever unfortunate results to their health may have happened, they cannot be attributed to that cause.

"As regards the suggested amendment of this resolution, I object, and I object on principle. A resolution is debated as it is framed, and to amend it after discussion is merely calculated to lead to misunderstanding as to what was, or was not, the attitude of Government. I have already stated that so long as these men are in our jails, they must be put in cells and that cannot be avoided; I am not prepared to accept any modification of the resolution which might afterwards be construed as an assurance that these men would not be placed in cells. Our contention is that they are not placed in solitary confinement in the ordinary acceptance of the term."

The resolution was then put and lost.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 11.

The Hon'ble BABU AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA moved the following Resolution:—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that a Medical Board be appointed consisting of officials and non-officials—

(a) to examine Babu Jyotish Chandra Ghosh who is now under detention under Bengal Regulation III of 1818 in the Berhampore Lunatic Asylum;

(b) to ascertain whether he is insane;

(c) if he is found to be insane, to investigate into the causes of his insanity;

(d) to submit a report about the present condition of his health; and

He said:—

"My Lord, there has been considerable discussion about this matter in the press which for the sake of argument, let me say, may be based upon absolute misrepresentation. But at the same time I do submit that in view of the persistent and prolonged character of that misrepresentation it is desirable in the interest of the Government, that it should be removed and that very useful purpose will be served by the Board which I have recommended in this resolution. The appointment of that Board will not do any injury to anybody. Their report may be bad or indifferent. And even if it is a bad report it will not bind the Government in any way. The personnel of the Board will be in the hands of the Government. But if a Committee is appointed it will show that Government is willing to conciliate public opinion so far as this particular matter is concerned. Therefore I hope Your Excellency's Government will see their way to accept this resolution.

Sir Henry Wheeler.

The Hon'ble SIR HENRY WHEELER said :—

"My Lord, in so far as this particular individual is being dealt with under Regulation III of 1818, the remarks which I made in connection with the previous resolution as regards the proper place for its discussion, are applicable, but for somewhat similar reasons, and especially having regard to the publicity which has been given to this case and the criticisms which have been made about it, we are glad to have this opportunity to explain here what the facts are.

"The first point, which I would like to make clear, is that, although this man is actually at this moment detained under Regulation III of 1818, it is merely on account of his health that he has not been placed on his trial for serious and grave offences. His prosecution for the grave offence of waging war against the British Crown and certain other cognate sections had been actually sanctioned in May last. The court which would have tried him had been constituted, and he would have been put on his trial had it not been for the fact that a mental breakdown supervened and he was certified by our medical officers as unfit to stand his trial. I think that this fact is little known to the outside world, when we are accused of having kept this man in jail without bringing any charges against him ; the facts are that he is in a position more akin to that of an under-trial prisoner.

"The general tenor of the statements and criticisms which have been made about this case—I am not particularly referring to what has been said in this Council, but to what we frequently read in the newspapers—is that it is owing mainly to the harsh and brutal treatment to which this man has been subjected that his mind is giving way, and that Government have dealt with his case callously and brutally. I hope to be able to show that this is not true.

"Ever since the mental condition of this man gave cause for anxiety, it has been carefully examined both by this Local Government and the Government of India, and I have here a bulky file of reports which have been submitted to the Government of India on this case. His mental state first gave cause for anxiety while he was in the Rajshahi Jail, and another prisoner was told off to keep him company. Early in April, Major Peebles, who is our recognised expert on mental diseases, was specially sent from the Berhampur Lunatic Asylum to examine the case. Orders were similarly issued by the Government of India at that time that the man should be given any amenities which could be safely allowed and which were likely to conduce to the restoration of his health. On the 6th March, at a time when he was merely suffering from melancholia and hallucination, the District Magistrate of Rajshahi definitely reported that he had no complaint to make about his treatment. That was when he was in the Rajshahi Jail. Subsequent to the visit of Major Peebles, he was transferred to the Berhampur Jail in order that Major Peebles might exercise constant supervision over him. That was in the beginning of May, and there again another prisoner was told off to keep him company. In June, we sent Col. Deare, who is one of the leading physicians of Calcutta, specially to see this man in consultation with Major Peebles. In August, after this man had been seen several times by Lieutenant-Colonel Buchanan, who although visiting the jail in his capacity as

Resolutions.

Rai Debendra Chandra Ghosh Bahadur; Babu Akhil Chandra Datta.

Inspector General of Prisons, is, as we all know, a medical man. he was transferred to the Berhampur Lunatic Asylum, on Lieutenant-Colonel Buchanan's advice that he would be better treated in the asylum than was possible in the jail. Subsequent to that, Major Peebles was transferred to the Lunatic Asylum at Ranchi and Major Moses came to Berhampur. Early this year we again sent up Captain Hume, attached to the Presidency General Hospital, to examine the case in consultation with Major Moses. Therefore, ever since February last, we have had constant and repeated examinations of this man by the best medical opinion available, and Government have kept in a constant touch with the various stages through which his case has passed. However, we have done more than this. Some time before we had notice of this resolution we decided to address the mother of the man to the effect that if it would tend to satisfy her apprehensions to call in a non-official medical man of her own choice, we would give him all facilities. She has since nominated Dr. Mrigendra Lal Mitra of this city and we have addressed him asking whether he is willing to go. If he is willing to do so, we shall constitute another Board probably consisting of him, Major Peebles, Captain Hume and Major Moses who is in charge of the case. We shall therefore again receive their opinion, and on its receipt we shall give it our full and careful attention in consultation with the Government of India. As has been previously stated in this Council, the substance of the reports that have been received at one time or another is to the effect that, whatever may be the case now, there are reasons for believing that this man began probably by malingering and feigning insanity; but it was pointed out even at that time that it was possible that he would induce a state of real insanity. Whether this has occurred or not, it is now for the Medical Board to say, but it is a question whether a state of melancholic stupor may not now have intervened. However, we shall have this further Board and we shall see what their opinion is.

"These, Sir, are the facts. If it is understood that what is being done covers what is intended by the resolution, I have no objection to allow the resolution to go as accepted, since it merely suggests steps which have been already taken."

THE Hon'ble RAI DEBENDRA CHANDRA GHOSH BAHADUR said:—

"My Lord, after what has fallen from the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, I do not wish to weary the Council by saying anything further. I am gratified to hear that Government is prepared, as I gather, to accept the resolution."

THE Hon'ble BABU AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA said:—

"My Lord, as far as I have been able to follow the Hon'ble Sir Henry Wheeler, he practically accepts my recommendations. In view of this decision I have only to express my gratefulness to him and I have nothing more to add."

The motion was then put and agreed to

The Council was then adjourned to 11 A.M., on Thursday, the 4th April, 1918, at Government House, Calcutta.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, BENGAL.

Special Forecast of the Wheat Crop of Bengal, 1917-18.

(Note.—On an average of the five years ending 1915-16, the area under wheat in Bengal has represented some 0·4 per cent. of the total area under wheat in India. The ratio of irrigated wheat acreage to total wheat acreage in (a) British India and (b) in the territory now reported on has, in the five years ending 1915-16, averaged (a) 39·1 per cent. and (b) 15·9 per cent., respectively.)

Explanatory.—This forecast shows the final acreage and yield of the wheat crop of Bengal and is published as a special case under orders of the Government of India in the Department of Revenue and Agriculture. The usual final forecast will be published in May as in previous years.

Character of the season.—The crop is most important in Malda, Murshidabad, Nadia and Pabna covering more than two-thirds of the area in the Province. In these districts considerable damage was done by prolonged drought and the outturn reduced in consequence. In the rest of the Province the outturn is generally reported as fair.

Area sown.—The total area sown this year is estimated at 123,800 acres against 128,800 acres reported in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Outturn.—The estimated percentages of outturn in the important wheat-growing districts are as follows :—Nadia 58, Murshidabad 67, Pabna 70 and Malda 60.

According to the estimates of the district officers. the Provincial outturn works out to 67 per cent. of the normal against 81 per cent. reported in the corresponding and final forecasts of last year.

Taking the normal yield to be 10½ maunds per acre, the total yield for the Province is estimated to be 31,993 tons against 40,241 tons last year, or a decrease of about 20 per cent.

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Nadia ...	23,100	15,600	13,800	68	58	March. Normal.	The weather has not been favourable for want of rain. The damage to some extent was done by drought in thanas Kumarkhali and Doulatpur of the Kushtia subdivision. Owing to want of timely rainfall, the outturn is below the normal.
Murshidabad	69,300	34,900	31,000	92	67	March to April. Normal.	The decrease in area was due to unfavourable weather at sowing time. Want of rain has affected the growth of the crop and the damage caused is expected to be about 33 per cent. of the normal.
Jessore ...	2,300	1,100*	1,100*	59	75	March. Normal	The weather has been fair. The growth of the crop has not been quite favourable. The drought has caused damage to the extent of about 25 per cent. The outturn is below the normal for want of sufficient rainfall.
Burdwan ...	1,800	2,000*	2,000*	92	83	Middle of March	The weather has not been favourable. The growth of the crop has been affected owing to want of winter showers. The extent of damage caused by drought is about 17 per cent.
Birbhum ...	5,000	5,000	4,100*	83	83	End of March. Normal.	The weather has been fair. Owing to want of rainfall, the outturn is below the normal.
Bankura ...	3,600	3,600*	3,600*	83	83	March. Normal	The weather and general condition of the crop has been fair.
Midnapore ...	1,200	1,200*	1 200*	90	100	1st week of April. Slightly late.	The rainfall in October was on the whole unfavourable. Otherwise the outturn would have been above the normal.
Hooghly ...	2,400	1,700*	1,700*	67	50	Middle of March. Late.	The weather has not been favourable. Owing to drought the outturn is much below the normal.
Rajshahi ...	8,500	7,800*	7,800	80	70	End of March ...	The absence of rain throughout the cold weather has hampered the growth of the crop. Hence the low outturn.
Dinajpur ...	1,000	1,400*	1 400*	45	52	First week of March. Normal.	The weather has not been favourable owing to drought from sowing time. Up to date the outturn is expected to fall much below the normal.
Jalpaiguri ...	1,000	900*	500†	80	75	Middle of March. Normal.	The weather has not been favourable owing to absence of rain. The growth of the crop has been poor owing to continued drought.
Darjeeling ...	4,500	2,500	2,500	54	92	Beginning of April.	The weather has been fair. The outturn is below the normal by about 8 per cent. owing to damage caused by hail in places.
Rangpur ...	3,000	3,400*	3,400*	100	100	First week of March. Normal.	The weather has been favourable and the outturn is anticipated to be normal.
Pabna ...	16,000	12,000	12,000	80	70	End of March. Normal.	The weather conditions have not been favourable and the condition of the crop is not good for want of rain since the sowing time.
Malda ...	60,000	35,000	35,000	80	60	Second week of March. Normal.	There has been no rain since the submission of the second forecast, which has hampered the growth of the crop and has caused considerable damage.
Faridpur ...	2,700	2,700*	2,700*	82	82	March. Normal	The weather has not been favourable. Want of rain has affected the growth of the crop. Hence the outturn is below the normal.

CALCUTTA, the 15th April 1918.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 11th April 1918.

Summary.—During the week light scattered showers fell in a few districts of the province. More rain is needed for preparatory operation and for the growth of the standing crops. Sowing of jute and autumn paddy is proceeding, but progress is being retarded for want of rain. The average price of common rice for the province has fallen by about 0·78 per cent., as compared with that of the previous week.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATIONS.

No. 14T.R.—The 20th April 1918.—The following revised rules for the appointment of Sub-Registrars in the Registration Department are published for general information, in substitution of those published under Notification No. 5925Regn., dated the 20th June 1914, at pages 1205-07 of Part I of the Calcutta Gazette of the 24th idem :—

Rules for appointment in the Registration Department.

1. The number of probationers to be appointed in the Registration Department will be determined each year by the Governor in Council. The number of appointments to be made and the authorities by whom nominations for these appointments will be made will be notified in the Calcutta Gazette as soon as possible after the 1st August of each year.

2. Ordinarily 75 per cent. of the appointments will be made on the nomination of the Commissioners of Divisions, and 25 per cent. on the nomination of the Inspector-General of Registration. The Governor in Council reserves the power to make appointments in exceptional cases without calling for nominations.

3. Candidates nominated by the Commissioner of a Division must ordinarily fulfil the following conditions :—

(a) they must belong to families resident or domiciled in the division ;

(b) they must be of good character ;

(c) they must be of sound health and robust constitution ;

(d) they must not be under 20 or over 25 years of age on the 31st December of the year to which the nominations relate ;

(e) (i) they must have passed the I.A. or the I.Sc. Examination of the Calcutta University or the corresponding examination of any other recognized Indian University, or have qualifications declared by Government to be equivalent to passing such examinations ; or

(ii) they must have passed the higher standard or the final examination of the Arabic Department of a recognized Madrassa, and have sufficient knowledge of English for the proper performance of the duties of a Sub-Registrar ;

(f) they must be able to read with facility documents written in Bengali.

4. Candidates nominated by the Inspector-General of Registration must fulfil the conditions (b) to (f) in rule 3.

5. The Commissioners of Divisions and the Inspector-General of Registration are not precluded from nominating persons who may not be eligible under rule 3 (d) and (e), but whose claims appear for particular reasons to deserve special consideration, and who have sufficient knowledge of English to enable them to discharge efficiently the duties of a Sub-Registrar.

6. (a) For each appointment allotted to the division, every District Registrar will submit to the Commissioner, on or before a date to be fixed by the latter, the names of two candidates belonging to families resident or domiciled in his district. In submitting these he will give in Form I, appended to these rules, a brief statement of the grounds of his recommendation in each case. Form I should be accompanied by a certificate of character and conduct from the Principal of the institution at which the candidate last studied for not less than one year, or from some responsible officer of Government, a medical certificate in Form II appended to these rules, and evidence of the candidate's age and educational qualifications.

(b) The Commissioner and the District Registrars in his division will meet on a date to be fixed by the Commissioner, and will consider the claims of all the candidates nominated. They will also call the candidates before them and see and converse with them so as to form an opinion regarding their suitability. The Commissioner will then select two names for each of the appointments to be made on his nomination and submit them in order of preference to Government by a date not later than the 1st October, stating his reasons for the preference given. With his report submitting these names the Commissioner will submit Forms I and II for all candidates, entering in each case in the last column of Form I his own opinion as to the suitability of the candidate.

(c) In making nominations special attention should be paid to social qualifications and family status and influence, to services rendered by the candidate's father or his family, to the claims of backward communities, and to the possession of a robust constitution.

7. The Inspector-General of Registration will submit to Government in Form I, on or before the 1st October in each year, two names for each appointment to be made on his nomination.

8. Each probationer will get an allowance of Rs. 30 per month. Appointments in grade V of Sub-Registrars will be given to approved probationers as vacancies in the cadre occur. Probationers will, as far as possible, be posted to offices in the division to which they belong, but after confirmation they will be liable to transfer at any time to any office in the province at the discretion of Government.

9. The Governor in Council may, in special cases, declare the period of probation to be unnecessary and may also make direct appointments to the higher grades of Sub-Registrars.

FORM I.

AN
TO

Provide that silver held on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council or the Governor General in Council may, if so held in the United States of America or in course of transmission therefrom, be deemed to be part of the reserve referred to in section 19 of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1910.

WHEREAS an emergency has arisen which makes it necessary to provide that silver held on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council or the Governor General in Council may, if so held in the United States of America or in course of transmission therefrom, be deemed to be part of the reserve referred to in section 19 of the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1910;

Now, therefore, in exercise of the power conferred by section 72 of the Government of India Act, 1915, the Governor General is pleased to make and promulgate the following Ordinance :—

ORDINANCE No. I of 1918.

Short title.

1. This Ordinance may be called the Indian Paper Currency Ordinance, 1918.

Definition.

2. In this Ordinance—

"Silver" means silver coin or silver bullion.

Power to direct that silver held in the United States of America or in transmission therefrom may be deemed to be part of the Paper Currency Reserve.

3. Notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1910, (II of 1910) the Governor General in Council may, by order in writing, direct—

(a) that silver held in the United States of America on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council or the Governor General in Council shall be deemed to be part of the reserve referred to in section 19 of the said Act; or

(b) that silver in course of transmission from the United States of America, which is, at the commencement of such transmission or at any period thereafter, held on behalf of the Secretary of State for India in Council or the Governor General in Council for transmission to India, shall, during the period it is so held, be deemed to be a part of the reserve referred to in section 19 of the said Act.

No. 24.—The following Statute is published for general information :—

MILITARY SERVICE ACT, 1918.

[7 AND 8 GEO. 5, CH. 66.]

An Act to repeal sub-section (3) of section 3 of the Military Service Act 1916, and to provide for the cancellation of certificates of exemption from military service granted on occupational grounds.

6th February, 1918.

BE IT ENACTED by the King's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :—

6 & 7 Geo 5, c 15.

Repeal of s. 3 (3) of 5 & 6 Geo 5 c 104.

1. Sub-section (3) of section three of the Military Service Act, 1916, as amended by section six of the Military Service Act, 1916 (Session 2), is hereby repealed, and accordingly the Military Service Acts, 1916 and 1917, shall, as respects any man whose certificate of exemption for any reason ceases or has ceased (whether before or after the passing of this Act) to be in force, have effect as though the provisions repealed by this section were not included in those Acts.

Power of Director-General of National Service to withdraw exemptions.

2. (1) The Director-General of National Service may at any time by order withdraw any certificate of exemption from military service to which this section applies as from such date, not being less than fourteen days after the date of the order, as may be specified in the order, and as from that date any certificate to which the order applies shall cease to be in force.

(2) This section applies to any certificate of exemption from the provisions of the Military Service Acts, 1916 and 1917, whether granted before or after the passing of this Act, and whether granted by a tribunal or by or under the authority of a Government department, where the certificate was granted or renewed on occupational grounds, and also applies to any certificate so granted or renewed on such grounds to a man who has voluntarily attested, notwithstanding that the certificate has not statutory force.

(3) An order under this section may be made applicable either to individual certificates granted by Government departments, or to certificates granted to any class or body of men specified in the order (whether or not dependent on the obtaining by those men of individual certificates), or to certificates granted to men of any class or description specified in the order, and, as respects any class or body of men or men of any class or description, may be made applicable only to men falling within such limits of age or fulfilling such other conditions as may be specified in the order, and may contain such exceptions and supplemental provisions as the Director-General thinks fit, including giving the right of making an application to a tribunal in exceptional cases.

An order under this section may be revoked, extended, or varied, by a further order of the Director-General, as occasion requires.

(4) Where and so long as an order under this section is in force, then except as otherwise expressly provided by the order—

(a) no application shall be entertained for the grant or renewal of a certificate, and no certificate shall be granted or renewed where the certificate, if it had been operative at the time at which the order was made, would have come within the terms of the order; and

(b) no application shall be made by or in respect of a man whose certificate comes within the terms of the order for the renewal of the certificate except on grounds which are not occupational, or for the grant of any certificate on occupational grounds, and no such application if already made shall be proceeded with, and no certificate shall be renewed or granted on any such application; and any certificate granted or renewed in contravention of the foregoing provisions shall be invalid, but save as aforesaid nothing in this section shall affect any right of a man, whether unattested or attested, whose certificate has been withdrawn under this Act to apply for a renewal of his certificate which he would have had if this Act had not been passed.

(5) An order under this section (other than an order applicable to an individual certificate) shall be laid on the table of both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after it is made, and if either of those Houses within fourteen days after the order has been so laid presents an address to His Majesty praying that the order, or any part thereof, should be made annulled, His Majesty in Council may annul the order or such part thereof, and it shall thenceforth be void without prejudice to the validity of anything done in pursuance thereof: Provided that section one of the Rules Publication Act, 1893, shall not apply to an order made under this section.

56 & 57 Vict. c. 66.

(6) Where an order under this section applicable to an individual certificate is made, notice thereof shall be served on the man effected thereby and may be served by sending it to him by registered post to his last known address.

(7) For the purposes of this section a certificate shall be deemed to have been granted or renewed on occupational grounds which was granted or renewed wholly or partly on any of the grounds specified in paragraph (a) of sub-section (1) of section two of the Military Service Act, 1916, or (in the case of voluntarily attested men) on any similar grounds, or which, in either case, was granted or renewed by or under the authority of any Government department; and if any question arises whether a certificate was granted or renewed on occupational grounds, the question shall be referred to the Director-General, whose decision thereon shall be final.

Short title and citation.

3. This Act may be cited as the Military Service Act, 1918, and the Military Service Acts, 1916 and 1917, and this Act shall be construed together and may be cited together as the Military Service Acts, 1916 to 1918.

[N.B.—The scale of fees as given in this prospectus is payable by students admitted to the College from the beginning of the Session 1916-17 and will not apply to old students who will continue to pay the existing rate of fees.]

MEDICAL COLLEGE OF BENGAL.

RULES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF STUDENTS SEEKING ADMISSION.

1. Three classes of students are admitted for study in the College :—
   (a) " Regular ", or those who enter for the full University course.
   (b) " Casual ", or those who enter for selected or isolated subjects.
   (c) " Military Class " (only students of European or Eurasian parentage are admitted to this class). (See separate Prospectus for Military students.)

The admission to this class is regulated by the Director-General, Indian Medical Service.

2. The minimum preliminary qualification for admission to the—
   (a) " Regular Class " is the I. Sc. Pass certificate of the Calcutta University.

NOTE.—In 1917 and 1918 only in addition to the I. Sc. Pass certificate, the I. A. Pass certificate of the Calcutta University and, in the case of the six scholarship-holders nominated by the Government of Bihar and Orissa, the Matriculation Pass certificate will be accepted as a minimum qualification for admission

   "(b) Casual".—The Matricultion or Entrance Pass certificate of the Calcutta or other Indian Universities, or the Pass certificate of an examination equivalent to the Marticulation or Entrance Examination.

3. The session commences on the 15th June.

4. All new students must apply for admission to the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, in the prescribed form available in his office before the 25th May, except in the case of Biharis, Uriyas, Chota Nagpuris and Assamese students, who should apply to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of their respective provinces for admission within such date as the latter may prescribe.

Selected candidates must pay the following fees on or before the 10th June, failing which their names will be struck off the selected list :—

	Rs.	A.
Admission fee	20	0
Fees for Summer term	62	8
Athletic Club fee	1	0
Total ...	83	8

5. The number of regular students to be admitted each year is generally 120, but the Principal may, at his discretion, increase or decrease this number. Preference for admission will usually be given to candidates who have superior qualifications, but the final selection lies entirely with the Principal.

Of the total number to be admitted, twelve candidates will be nominated by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Bihar and Orissa and six candidates by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Assam. These candidates must possess the qualifications mentioned in rule 2 (a). In addition, the Bihar and Orissa Government will nominate six scholars, who, after 1918, must possess the I. Sc. pass certificate. These nominations must reach the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, before the 10th June in each year, failing which the Principal will fill up vacancies with local candidates.

6. Female students of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Assam and Burma, belonging to the Calcutta University will be admitted to the College, provided they possess the requisite preliminary qualification and provided there is a vacancy in the Surnomoyee Hostel in which all female students must reside.

7. Failed students must apply for admission and pay fees before the 15th May, otherwise their prior claim lapses.

8. All Regular students must pay an annual fee of Rs. 125 in two instalments, viz., Rs. 62-8 for the Summer term and Rs. 62-8 for the Winter term. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

9. The fees for each term are to be paid in one instalment. Except in the case of new students, the fees for Summer term are due on the 15th June, and those for the Winter term on the 1st November, and must be paid on those dates or on such subsequent dates as the Principal may direct, after which a daily fine of annas 4 will be levied along with the fee in each case of default.

10. All Regular students must pay an annual fee of Re. 1 to the Medical College Athletic Club along with the fees for the Summer term.

11. Muhammadan students are required to pay the entrance fee of Rs. 20 and half the annual College fee in two instalments, the remaining half fees being charged to the Mohsin Fund.

12. Students relegated to a further course of study after their failure at the Preliminary Scientific M. B. and at the First M. B. Examinations shall pay Rs. 80 for the whole session in one instalment by the 1st June.

13. Students taking up subjects outside the curriculum of the year in which they are studying shall pay Rs. 30 for each such subject, including lectures and practical classes.

14. The fees for Casual students or for certificates issued to Regular students leaving the College before completing their study or for those issued to Military students shall be Rs. 40 per each course of lectures and practical classes and Rs. 30 for every three months of hospital Practice.

15. Students who fail at the Final M. B. Examination shall pay fees for the whole session at the following rates in one instalment by the 1st June :—

	Rs.
For one subject	25
„ two subjects	50
„ three or more subjects	75

16 In calculating the sum to be paid under rule 12 by a Regular student, the amount of College fees paid by him, or in the case of a student enjoying a stipendiary scholarship and free tution, the amount which would have been paid by him, had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

17. The fees payable by a Muhammadan student requiring certificates in the same way will be calculated on the same principle, i.e., he will be allowed a deduction for the full annual fee, half of which has been paid by himself and half by the Moshin Fund.

18. Students of the Military class requiring certificates in the same way will be required to pay the rate of fees laid down in paragraph 12 for the full curriculum or for such portion as they have attended. No deduction will be made in this case as they are not free students in the sense in which that term is defined in Bengal Government Resolution (Education) No. 601 of the 7th December 1880.

19. No fees are payable by female students.

20. Holders of a stipendiary scholarship of a value less than Rs. 20 per mensem are not required to pay the annual fee of Rs. 125 for the year in which they hold a scholarship. All other scholarship-holders shall pay the same fees as Regular students.

21. The following are the curricula of the College :—

REGULAR STUDENTS.

Hospital Practice (12 months), to be followed by the Second M. B. Examination.

22. The following are the scholarships and rewards obtainable by students :—

(a) Ten Junior College scholarships of Rs. 8 each, tenable for one year, together with free tuition and refund of first year's fees, are awarded to ten students on the result of the Scholarship Examination at the end of the First-year class, provided such students also pass the Preliminary Scientific M. B. Examination of the Calcutta University at the first attempt.

(b) Ten Junior College scholarships of Rs. 8 each, tenable for one year, together with free tuition, are awarded to ten students on the results of the second year's Test and Scholarship Examination.

(c) Ten Senior scholarships of Rs. 12 each, tenable for three years, together with free tuition, are awarded to ten students on the results of the Honour Examination of the Third-year class, provided such students also pass the First M. B. Examination of the Calcutta University at the first attempt.

(d) A Government scholarship of Rs. 20 per month is awarded to all female students of the Regular class who do not get the Dufferin Fund or other scholarships.

(e) Special scholarships for Bihari and Uriya students—

Six scholarships of Rs. 12 each to six students from Bihar and Orissa, tenable for six years from the date on which the students enter the College, are awarded by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Bihar and Orissa.

23. A student holding a Senior scholarship, who fails to pass the Test Examination of the Fourth-year to the satisfaction of the Principal, will forfeit his scholarship which may be awarded for two years to the student of the Fifth-year class who stands highest in the results of the fourth year's Examination and is not the holder of a scholarship.

24. Senior and Junior scholarships will not be awarded to any student who has gained the Durga Charan Laha Scholarship of Rs. 30 per month or any other scholarship

25. Regular students, who at any time preferred for a second year of study in all the subjects of one curriculum, are thereby rendered ineligible for any of the stipendiary scholarships, Junior and Senior. They are, however, eligible for the special scholarships and class prizes and medals and Certificates of Honour of the College.

26. Certificates of Honour, to the number of three in each subject, may be awarded by the Professors, subject to the sanction of the Principal, to such students who have not obtained the medal, but are deemed worthy of it.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.,

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, published under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible, after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

Gazetted officers in Bengal districts.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) the number of Gazetted British officers in each of the districts of this Presidency in January, 1914, and in January, 1918; and (ii) the amount paid as salary to them?

(b) Will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) whether there has been a reduction in the number of such officers;

(ii) whether they have been replaced by Indians; and

(iii) the amount paid as salary to them in January, 1918?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"A statement* giving the information required is laid on the table."

By the Hon'ble MAULVI A. K FAZL-UL-HAQ :—

Telephones in the Chief Presidency Magistrate's Court.

(a) Is it a fact that there are two telephones in the private chamber of the Chief Presidency Magistrate of Calcutta at the Bankshall Street Police Court—one having a general line of communication and another having a direct line of communication with the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta?

*(b) If so, what is the cost to Government for maintaining—

(i) the general line of communication, and
(ii) the special line of communication?

(c) On what matters do the Commissioner of Police and the Chief Presidency Magistrate communicate with each other over the special line?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a) There are two telephones in the Chief Presidency Magistrate's room, one connected with the Bengal Telephone Company's Exchange and the other a direct line to the Commissioner of Police.

(b) The cost is as follows :—

	Annual cost. Rs.	A.
Exchange telephone	187	8

(c) On questions affecting the criminal administration of Calcutta."

By the Hon'ble MAULVI A. K. FAZL-UL-HAQ :—

*3.

Report rooms of the Commissioner and the D. Commissioners of Police.

(a) Is it a fact that the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, formerly heard the reports of all police cases at Lal Bazar in a room to which the public were admitted?

* Vide Appendix A.

Questions and Answers.

(b) Is it a fact that the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Southern District, Calcutta, hears the reports of all police cases in his report room at Fenwick Bazar to which the public are admitted?

(c) Is it a fact that the Deputy Commissioner of Police, Northern District, Calcutta, hears the reports of all police cases in his report room at Jorabagan to which the public are not admitted? If so, why?

(d) Is it a fact that the pleaders appearing for parties are sometimes admitted and sometimes not admitted into the report room of the Deputy Commissioner, Northern District?

(e) Is it also a fact that the pleaders and other people are not provided with seats either inside or outside of the Deputy Commissioner's report room at Jorabagan, and that they have to wait for hours in crowded corridors before they can gain admission to the report room?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

" The public and pleaders appearing for the parties are ordinarily admitted while reports are being heard, but the hearing of reports is not a judicial proceeding, and the public and members of the legal profession have no claim to admittance as of right. This practice was followed when reports were heard by the Commissioner personally, and is continued now that they are heard by the Deputy Commissioners. There is no difference between the practice in the Northern and Southern Districts, but in the Northern District, the report room is so small that only a limited number of the public can be admitted at one time. Seats are provided in the report room, and the Bar Library and Counsels' waiting-room is only fivey ards away."

The case of Raj Lakhi Dasi.

(a) Is it a fact that Mr. D. S. Maclure, Deputy Commissioner of Police, Northern Districts. Calcutta, ordered the detention of a girl named Raj Lakhi Dasi in the " Refuge " in Bow Bazar Street, Calcutta, in November last?

(b) If so, under what provision of law was she ordered to be so detained?

(c) Is it a fact that a Deputy Commissioner of Police in Calcutta has legal authority to order the detention of any person in a " Refuge "? If so, what is that authority?

(d) Is it a fact that the girl Raj Lakhi was not charged with any offence before she was ordered to be detained in the " Refuge "?

(e) Is it a fact that a Deputy Commissioner of Police can only order the detention of offenders with a view to their being brought before a Presidency Magistrate?

(f) Are the Government considering the desirability of having the girl immediately released from detention?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR KERR :—

" The facts of the case are as follows :—

The girl Raj Lakhi Dasi, who is about 13 years of age, was kept as a prostitute in a common brothel by a woman who claimed to be her mother. The girl states that she ran away from the brothel on account of the woman's ill-treatment and fell into the hands of certain Jews from whom she was rescued by the police. As the girl expressed her unwillingness to return to her alleged mother, the Deputy Commissioner arranged for her to be received at the "Refuge" in Bow Bazar. The woman thereupon filed a complaint under sections 341 and 342 of the Indian Penal Code and under section 13 C (c) of the Calcutta Police Act against the Deputy Commissioner and the Superintendent of the "Refuge." The Second Presidency Magistrate caused the girl to be produced before him, and then dismissed the complaint under section 203 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. An application was filed in the High Court for the revision of the Magistrate's order, but the High Court refused the application. In these circumstances, Government do not propose to interfere in the matter."

Holidays in the Bengal Secretariat.

(a) Is it a fact that certain Departments of the Bengal Secretariat remained open on the 11th March, 1918, Sivaratri day, an important Hindu festival?

(b) Is it a fact that Sivaratri day is considered a local holiday?

(c) Are the Government aware that representations were made by the Hindu assistants to observe the day, but to no effect, and that even a half-holiday was not given to them?

(d) Will the Government be pleased to state which Departments were kept open on that day?

(e) Are the Government aware that the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell from his seat in Council declared on the 4th September, 1916, that such holidays can be given to clerks on religious grounds?

(f) Are the Government considering the desirability of making an inquiry as to why this principle was not adhered to in these particular cases?

(g) Is it also a fact that Hindu holidays are not always given to Hindu assistants? If so, are the Government considering the desirability of issuing instructions for the closer observance of these days in future?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR DONALD :—

"(a) Yes.

(b) It is a local holiday in most districts of the province.

(c) In certain Departments no representation was made. In others a request was submitted for a half-holiday, as in previous years, and it was granted in all cases, except in the Legislative Department, where there was a heavy rush of work for the Legislative Council.

(d) All Departments except the Public Works Department.

(e) and (f) The Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell, in his remarks on the 4th September, 1916, referred only to holidays announced by Local Governments and not to local holidays. Local holidays are not announced by the Local Government and are given at the discretion of local officers. Clerks in the Secretariat are allowed a full, or half, holiday on the occasion of the Sivaratri day, subject to the exigencies of urgent work, and this principle was followed this year.

(g) Hindu assistants are permitted to avail themselves of Hindu holidays save in exceptional cases when there is urgent work to be done. It is inevitable that weight should be given to the latter consideration."

I.

Conduct of a head-constable of police at Bakarganj.

(a) Are the Government aware that the head-constable of thana Muladi in the district of Bakarganj recently removed a notice, in Bengali. inviting subscriptions for the help and support of the Muhammadan internees and their families, which was posted on a board, and hung up at a hât in village Gachina?

(b) Is it a fact that the said head-constable told the people that the movement was anti-Government?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. KERR :—

"(a) From enquiries which have been made, it appears that the head-constable, who had been deputed to Kalika hât on the 7th February to keep order and to prevent hât-looting, found a man carrying a notice-board and beating a drum to attract the attention of the public. On the notice-board were notices in Bengali and Persian inviting subscriptions to be used to obtain the release of certain Muhammadan détenus. The man who was carrying the notice said that he was unaware of its contents and that he had been ordered by his master to display it in the hât. In view of recent disturbances at hâts, the head-constable thought it undesirable that any such demonstration should take place. He accordingly took away the notice-board and directed the man not to beat the drum.

(b) No."

House rent allowance of the Bengal Secretariat Assistants in Darjeeling.

(a) Will the Government be pleased to state—

(i) when the rate of house allowance of Secretariat assistants at Darjeeling was fixed; and

(ii) whether it is a fact that house-rent in Darjeeling during the period when the headquarters of the Government are located there, has abnormally risen of late years?

(b) Are the Government considering the desirability of raising the rate of house allowance at Darjeeling for Secretariat assistants?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. DONALD :—

"(a) (i) In 1891.

(ii) It is understood to be the case that the prevailing rates of house-rent have risen in recent years.

(b) The question has not been considered."

Assessment of income-tax in Noakhali.

(a) what was the total amount of income-tax demand as assessed in the district of Noakhali in 1914-15, 1915-16, 1916-17 and 1917-18, year by year; and

(b) whether there has been any appreciable improvement in the economic condition of the people of Noakhali since 1914?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR DONALD :—

" (a) The demand for each of the years in question is noted below :—

	Rs.
1914-15	22,745
1915-16	23,918
1916-17	36,986
1917-18	47,000

Construction of a drainage khal for the water-logged area in police-station Dulai in Pabna.

(a) Are the Government aware that the inhabitants of Kabarikola, and nearly 20 adjacent villages under the police-station Dulai, in the district of Pabna, have, for many years, been in the grip of malaria and cholera due to the stoppage of drainage of a number of big bhils, which together form a vast sheet of water extending over 2,000 bighas of land in the said locality?

(b) Is it a fact that in November, 1898, the people of the aforesaid locality submitted a petition to the then Collector of Pabna stating their grievances and praying for the construction of a khal for the purpose of draining off the excess water of the bhils into the Atrai?

(c) Is it a fact that on the above petition a preliminary survey was made in 1899, and that the people of the locality paid the cost thereof, and that an estimate of the probable cost of the construction of a khal, as prayed for by the people, to drain the bhils was also made by the District Engineer?

(d) Is it a fact that since then no fruther action has been taken in the matter, although later Collectors of Pabna admitted the urgent necessity thereof, and supported the scheme of the construction of a khal to drain off the excess water of the aforesaid bhils?

Answer by the Hon'ble MR. O'MALLEY :—

"(a) Government have no information.

(b) It appears from inquiries made from the Collector that a petition on the subject was submitted to his predecessor in office in 1898.

(c) The District Board records show that a sum of Rs. 75 was deposited by the petitioners for preparing a plan and estimate for the scheme. A preliminary survey appears to have been made under the supervision of the District Engineer, but the plan and estimate then prepared cannot be traced

(d) No further action was taken until the submission of a petition on the subject on the 15th January, 1918, which is now under inquiry. There is nothing in the records of the Pabna Collectorate to show that successive Collectors of Pabna held the opinion attributed to them."

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1918.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 2.

THE BENGAL VILLAGE SELF-GOVERNMENT BILL, 1918.

The Hon'ble SIR S. P. SINHA moved for leave to introduce a Bill to extend Village Self-Government in Bengal.

HE said :—

"The introduction of the Bill I now lay before this Council marks a most important advance in local self-government in this Presidency.

To some of us, whose minds are engrossed with speculations on self-government in a wider sphere, this event may seem of small significance, but for my part, I am convinced that this attempt to make the villager a vital link in our system of Government is an experiment of supreme importance and fraught with the promise of most beneficial and far-reaching results.

It is because of this belief that I desire, before discussing the provisions of the Village Self-Government Bill, to sketch briefly the genesis and development of its underlying principles, to touch on the evils it is designed to cure, and to suggest the promise of progress, which it bears within it.

Many competent observers have deplored the ever-increasing gap which separates the Government of Bengal from the village population, forming some 90 per cent. of the people over which it rules, and few will differ from the dictum of Sir George Campbell that "the task of really governing India down to the villages and the people is too great for the British Government."

The stir of ideas in England in the Seventies which led to an elaborate overhauling of the system and machinery of local government did not pass unnoticed in India, and it was not strange that Sir George Campbell's penetrating judgment led him to regard the resuscitation of local authorities or institutions as the only feasible means for making good those gaps and defects in the administration, which were so patent to his fresh and vigorous mind.

The ancient institution of village watchmen had fallen greatly into decadence and the new system of village police, which the Chaukidari Act of 1870 had introduced, had not yet proved itself. The Lieutenant-Governor had again been "repeatedly struck by the great want of drinking water in many Bengal villages and by the efforts of the people to obtain it and by their not unfrequently expressed readiness to contribute to its cost."

It was in 1870 also that the English legislature recognized the obligation on the State to provide elementary education and Sir George Campbell was of opinion that "many villages might be willing to co-operate with Government to re-establish that ancient indigenous institution of Hindu villages, the guru or village schoolmaster." The necessity of taking measures for the better sanitation of villages was also recognized by him.

With the more advanced system of local self-government in towns, which already existed in 1870 and which Sir George Campbell desired to elaborate and extend, it is unnecessary for me to deal; we are now concerned with a measure designed, as I have already stated, to bring the villager into the system of Government. I need hardly point out that the division of the labour of administration between the State and local authorities is not a clean-cut or uniform division; it varies in important matters in different countries. But the history of communal institutions in India very clearly points to two spheres of activity, in which the use of local authorities seems essential to efficiency and progress—I refer to the village watch and ward and to the exercise of municipal functions in rural areas.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1918.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

I will deal first with the village watch and ward, and I trust that I shall succeed in commending to your approval the changes contemplated by this Bill. The maintenance of the ancient village watch rarely ceased during the last century to be an object of solicitude to the Government of Bengal.

Lord Hastings in 1815 described it as "the foundation of all possible police in this country." Sir Thomas Munro in 1824 protested strongly against its absorption into the regular police system, and the Police Commission of 1902-03 declared that it was necessary to Government, and also necessary from the point of view of the people. The Village Chaukidari Act (VI of 1870) re-affirmed the principle which previous Acts had embodied. What I may term the "municipalisation" of the village police, i.e., its recognition as a village institution, supported by and responsible to the village community.

The "Statement of Objects and Reasons of the Chaukidari Act" declares that "the provisions of the Bill, while maintaining the responsibility of all landlords to report crime, are based upon principles which have been recognised as applicable to these Provinces: first, that it is just and expedient that the people at large should pay for their own protection; and, secondly, that it is the duty and policy of the Government to leave as much as possible of the business of the country to be done by the people themselves."

The panchayet were empowered to fix the number and the wages of the watchmen, they assessed and collected the necessary funds, and they had power to appoint and dismiss watchmen. The Act did not prove a success; the villagers were reluctant to serve on the panchayet and their assessments were often inequitable. How far the unpopularity of a panchayeti work was due to the growing interference of the police and how far such interference was necessary in the interests of efficiency, we need not consider, but Act I (B.C.) of 1886 tended to discountenance the village municipal system, while Act I (B.C.) of 1892 transferred to the Magistrate the power of fixing the number and salary of the chaukidars and what was more important the power of appointing, dismissing and punishing them.

"The municipal theory, however," in the words of the District Administration Committee's report, "although for the most part ignored, has never been abandoned," and the President system introduced in 1905 "was designed with the object of freeing the panchayets from police influence and of emphasising the essential character of the chaukidar as a village servant, while leaving him subject to the control of the Magistrate and the police in regard to his police duties."

Some officers have since advocated the complete departmentalization of the chaukidar, with the corollary that he should be paid from provincial revenues and the proceeds of the present chaukidari tax diverted to purely village purposes.

This proposal, however attractive, is not financially possible, and the evolution of the village watch in other provinces, where the communal principle has real vitality, suggests that it is still possible and advantageous to retain in Bengal a close association and inter-dependence between the village community and the village watch.

The salient feature of the present Bill is the combination or amalgamation of the panchayet and the Union Committee. If we succeed in breathing life into the village communal authority, we may confidently anticipate that the intimate local knowledge which this authority will possess will render the rural police a more efficient power for the detection and prevention of crime than is at present the case.

The Bengal [illegible] Bill, [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] areas. I [illegible] of disappointment with [illegible] rural [illegible] which the last 50 years has produced in [illegible] been no want of anxious thought and earnest endeavour on the part of [illegible]ment; the problem has been clearly visualized for many years, its paramount importance freely acknowledged and remedies suggested and [illegible] discussed. Money or rather the want of it has been the [illegible] stumbling block.

As Sir George Campbell pointed out in 1871, there was [illegible] inequality in the provincial assignments made under Lord Mayo's scheme of financial decentralization. But apart from that there were already at that time, in every other province, large revenues raised for local purposes, [illegible] cesses in addition to the land revenue being levied on the land for local [illegible], local police and popular education.

In Bengal, the funds raised locally for roads and bridges were confined to the receipts from tolls on roads, ferries and canals. Local funds have since grown—the District Board revenues and the income of [illegible]—but the improvement of rural areas is still blocked by a want of funds. In strong contrast is the system in Madras, where in 1913-14, [illegible] Union Panchayets spent nearly 9¾ lakhs of rupees, of which only [illegible] came in grants from the District and Taluk Boards. Over [illegible] was raised by the house-tax; and over Rs. 6 lakhs were expended on [illegible], street lighting and sanitary measures.

Now we have nothing like that in Bengal; thus in 1912-13, 61 Union Committees, were able to raise only about Rs. 3,600 by local taxation. Nevertheless, there is proof of the growing sense of the Union Committees' power for good in the fact that in 1916-17, 67 Committees raised Rs. [illegible] by local taxation.

The financial problem has always in Bengal barred the path to progress; but if Bengal is to become "civilized" in the modern sense, if the ordinary amenities of life are to be available to all—I will go further, if the evils which menace health and life itself are to be overcome—we must by some means or other surmount the financial difficulties, which have always hemmed us in. On the need of rural sanitation I need say little. The Imperial Gazetteer of India (Volume IV. page 468) does not exaggerate when it describes the general sanitary condition of Indian villages in the following words:—

"The village house is still often ill-ventilated and over-populated; the village site dirty, crowded with cattle, choked with rank vegetation, and poisoned by stagnant pools; and the village tanks poluted and used indiscriminately for bathing, cooking and drinking."

We have our Sanitary Commissioner, whose post was created with the best intentions and high hopes in 1864, but unless we can give him an agency to carry out reforms, his expert advice must lose half its value. Government may frame model rules of village hygiene, but in the absence of machinery,—a large executive agency—they remain a dead letter. This problem can only be attacked, if we organize the people, and they can only be organized for public work by the will and with the sympathetic encouragement of Government.

[illegible] who took great interest in local self-government, said [illegible] is perhaps still true), "Without the people the [illegible] the people will do nothing." [illegible] administer the innumerable villages of [illegible] internal economy except with the help of the people themselves, and those who are conversant with the history of Union Committees in the last 10 years will agree with the District Administration Committee that for several years to come the success of representative village institutions must depend in some measure on the sympathetic guidance they receive from Government officers.

I have indicated two directions in which the co-operation of the village community is required for the amelioration of the conditions under which it lives. But there is yet a third branch of administration, in which we believe that the rural population can, with advantage to itself and to Government, participate more actively in the management of its own affairs.

I refer to the administration of justice. I realise that it is this portion of the Bill which lends itself most readily to criticism, and I look forward eagerly to helpful constructive criticism enabling us to simplify the procedure and popularise the administration of justice in rural areas.

At this stage I shall content myself with a few general observations indicating the motives which have influenced Government in its decision to revive the old village Courts.

The Council is aware that the Decentralization Commission recommended that panchayets should be given civil and criminal jurisdiction in petty cases arising within the village; the Indian Police Commission of 1902-03 had made a similar suggestion in respect of petty criminal cases; and village Courts created by the legislature have for many years been in active operation in other provinces. Now we are well aware that the present system of justice is not an ideal one from the point of view of the villager. In his petty civil disputes, the proceedings are usually costly, slow and harassing. In criminal cases, the tribunals are often too remote, remands are frequent and the production of witnesses a costly and troublesome business. But the Decentralization Commission did not intend that the village Courts should merely afford relief to the regular tribunals or give petty litigants the opportunity of settling their disputes by a simple and inexpensive procedure near their homes; the main purpose of these Courts is in the words of the District Administration Committee to be "educative to develop the sense of communal responsibility within the Union, and to teach the people to manage the affairs of their own villages. At the same time it was hoped that the creation of these village Courts would enhance the influence of the panchayets and strengthen and encourage them in the performance of their other duties, thus gradually paving the way to the exercise by them of higher powers."

And here let me state more generally that, in the experiment which I am describing to you to-day, Government is influenced by two main motives, of which one derives from self-interest, while the other may be termed altruistic.

As I have already suggested, the administration of Bengal, so to speak down to the ground, is too great a task for any centralized Government, and the co-operation of the people is essential for advance.

But if I were not convinced that there was another mainspring to this legislation, I should feel at any rate less pleasure and confidence in introducing the Bill than is now the case.

What we hope is that this experiment will give free play to a new motive power in Bengal—the interest and influence of the rural population in, and on, the management of their own affairs. If we can evoke that interest and engage that influence in the system of Government, I believe we may tap enormous reserves of energy, common-sense and natural shrewdness, and lay well and truly a foundation on which the superstructure of the future may securely rest.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1918.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

But I have dealt at sufficient length with the underlying principles of the Bill and before turning to its provisions, I wish briefly to sketch the history of Union Committees in this Presidency since 1885.

It is an open secret that the Local Self-Government Act of 1885 as first drafted, in accordance with Lord Ripon's memorable resolution of 1882, contemplated the creation of a net-work of Union Committees throughout Bengal as the basis of local self-government. They were to be the successors of the old simple type of petty municipality, known as Municipal Unions of which there were 54 in Bengal, when this type of local authority was abolished by the Bengal Municipal Act of 1884. By way of anticipation, Mr. Westmacott was placed in 1883 on special duty to prepare the way for the introduction of the new law, and he actually formed 180 unions in 7 sub-divisions of the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions and in the subdivision of Munshiganj in Dacca.

Local Boards ordinarily conterminous with the subdivision were to control the Union Committees, which were to be elected by the villagers themselves, and to be entrusted with the management of primary schools and pounds within the Union and of its roads, water-supply and village conservancy.

Above the Local Boards, with general powers of control but not of administration, was to be the Central Board—a paid body sitting in Calcutta somewhat resembling the Local Government Board in England.

In this scheme, there was no place for the District Board. But the Bill as finally framed entirely transformed this scheme of local self-government.

The District Board replaced the Central Board, but became the real unit of administration instead of a Committee of Control; the Local Board became the mere dependant of the District Board, subsisting by its charity, while the Union Committees—in the words of the District Administration Committee—became "merely optical appendages of the superior bodies."

In fact local self-government was begun at the top instead of from the bottom.

As we all know the District Boards became fairly efficient bodies, but the Local Boards starved and suffered from anæmia and Union Committees were still-born. In 1904, there were 58 such Committees, disposing of Rs. 18,000; they had raised only Rs. 339 by local contributions since the date of their creation.

Act V of 1908 made some important amendments in the Local Self-Government Act of 1885; but little use was made of these enlarged powers.

In the last few years an effort has been made to vitalize these bodies, with, I am glad to say, some considerable success.

In 1916-17 there were 156 Union Committees, which last year spent Rs. 1½ lakhs, including about Rs. ½ lakh raised by local taxation. At the end of 1917 there were 198 Unions. There are exceptions, but on the whole these Committees are showing that practical good sense and closeness to the life of the people, which gave the ancient village communal institutions their vital force and their authority.

In connection with the recent advance made by Union Committees, I may refer to the fact that much useful spade-work has been done in preparing the way for their fusion with chaukidari panchayets.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1918.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

New Union Committees have been given a jurisdiction co-extensive with that of chaukidari unions, and so far as practicable, the personnel of the chaukidari panchayet and the Union Committee has been made identical. There is no reason to anticipate any friction or difficulty in developing the existing Union Committees into the Village Committees to be constituted under the Bill.

The object of the Bill is to build up a system of self-government from the bottom by the creation of village authorities, vested with the powers and duties necessary for the management of communal village affairs and entrusted with powers of self-taxation necessary for the purpose.

The new Village Committee, as the village authority will be called, will be constituted on an election basis, not less than two-thirds of the members being elected. It will elect its own Chairman, will exercise a general control over the dafadars and chaukidars of the village, and will be vested with power to provide for village sanitation, conservancy and drainage, to deal with the erection of buildings, water-supply, village roads and bridges and to manage primary schools and dispensaries. It is also proposed to give power to Government to confer jurisdiction in petty civil and criminal matters on all or any members of the Village Committee, the tribunals which it may constitute for the trial of criminal cases being designated Village Benches and those constituted for the trial of civil suits Village Courts. The Committee will be grouped in Circles under Circle Boards. The chief work of the Circle Board will be to superintend the working of the Village Committees in the Circle and, subject to the direction of the District Board, to distribute any general grants made to them by that body. It may further, at the request of the District Board, supervise the management of any institution and the execution of any work or the performance of any duty entrusted by the District Board to any Village Committee within its circle. On the constitution of Village Committee and Circle Boards in any district the existing chaukidari panchayets, Union Committees and Local Boards established under the Bengal Chaukidari and Local Self-Government Acts will be abolished.

I may state that it is intended that the new system should be introduced gradually in districts where the Circle System has been introduced and Circle Officers are available to assist the Village Committees. The number of Circle Officers is at present limited, but, as I recently informed the Council, it is hoped to increase it very largely, so that we may have Circle Officers in every district. The Committees will, as proposed by the District Administration Committees, be grouped in Circles under Circle Boards, on which they will be represented. The chief work of the Circle Boards will consist in supervising their operations and co-ordinating their plans, and in seeing that different Village Committees have fair treatment in the distribution of grants given by the District Board to a Circle. The Circle Boards will form an important electoral agency for the District Boards, and the basis of the elective system will be broadened, as the Local Board constituted for each subdivision will be replaced by a number of Circle Boards constituted for different parts of the subdivision.

It is, I think, unnecessary for me to refer in much detail to the clauses of the Bill which are clearly summarised in the statement placed in the hands of Hon'ble Members.

I may refer first to the definition of "village," which will actually be a group of villages, united under one jurisdiction and coinciding with the chaukidari union. Not less than two-thirds of the 6 to 9 members, of which the Village Committee will consist, is to be elected, subject to the District Magistrate's approval. The municipal powers of the Committee will correspond generally with those already vested in Union Committees, but are somewhat wider in their scope.

The Bengal Village Self-Government Bill, 1918.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

In reproducing the relevant sections of the Chaukidari Act, the opportunity has been taken to eliminate some unpopular provisions, in particular the personal responsibility of the members of the panchayet for the salary of the chaukidars.

In addition to grants made by the District Boards, the Committee will administer the village rate reserved for the execution of works and the compulsory chaukidari tax, of which a portion can be devoted to the pay and equipment of the dafadars and chaukidars and to the salary of a Secretary and also to the execution of works of public utility.

The Committee will fix its assessment according to circumstances and property, but subject to revision by the District Magistrate.

The provisions regulating the exercise of judicial powers by the Committee will be permissive and the ordinary courts will have concurrent jurisdiction.

It will be possible to constitute individual members as a village tribunal for the trial either of petty civil or of petty criminal cases or both, or if experience shows that the whole Village Committee may safely be entrusted with such powers, they may all serve on the tribunal.

In the case of civil jurisdiction, moreover, it is proposed that the Local Government should have power to confer judicial powers by instalments, so that the Village Courts may begin by trying the simplest kinds of suits, their jurisdiction being extended according to the measure of success obtained. As recommended by the Decentralization Commission, the procedure will be simple; parties will generally appear in person, legal practitioners being debarred from appearing for clients; appeals will not be allowed, but in the case of criminal trials the Subdivisional Magistrate or the District Magistrate, where there is no Subdivisional Magistrate, and in the case of civil suits the District Judge may order a retrial if there is a serious failure of justice.

The primary function of the Circle Board will be to superintend the work of the Village Committees and subject to the direction of the District Board to distribute any general grants made by that body. It is important to remember that it will be a supervising and in no sense an executive agency, like the present Local Boards. The Circle Board will consist of 15 members, of whom 10 are to be elected and five appointed by the Commissioner and a Chairman will be elected by the members from among their number.

The Bill gives the Divisional Commissioner specific powers of control over the Circle Boards and the District Magistrate will occupy a similar position as regards the Village Committees.

These officers may, e.g. provide for the performance of duties in which the local bodies may make default, and may supersede them in case of incompetency or wilful neglect. They may also suspend the execution of orders and resolutions, and the District Magistrate may in cases of emergency provide for the execution of works required for the public service or safety.

The Bill will now be published and circulated for criticism. I have already said that Government welcomes constructive criticism. Let there be no suspicion that there is in any quarter any desire to thwart the beneficent intentions of Government to foster and develop local self-government. Both efficiency and economy demand that the municipal functions of Government should be performed by the people themselves and that this is the only means of making the people self-reliant, public spirited and imbued with the highest sense of civic responsibility. I have the fullest confidence in the capacity of the Indian peasant. In the words of Sir H. Risley, the Indian peasant is no fool. He has his limitation like his class all over the world, but within the range of his knowledge and within the compass of his own village he is just as shrewd a person as one could wish to meet. Comparing him with the English rustic of the countries, he was much inclined to think that the Indian was the sharper of the two.

The want of funds, hitherto such a formidable obstacle in the way of rural progress, has to a great extent been mitigated by the surrender of the Public Works Cess to the District Boards. The Hon'ble Mr. S. N. Ray considers these 29 lakhs sufficient for water-supply, village sanitation and for the purpose of combating malaria. In any case, the people are increasingly willing to tax themselves, if they know how the money is spent.

The future is full of hope and promise, but if local self-government is to be a success, it will only be by the consistent co-operation of the Government and the people. Let us determine that it shall be a success, and I am sure it will be so.

The motion was put and agreed to.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 3.

DISCUSSION OF THE BUDGET OF THE GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL FOR 1918-19.

The Hon'ble NAWAB BAHADUR OF MURSHIDABAD said:—

"MY LORD, I shall content myself with a brief review of the present Budget, which affords neither provocation nor excuse for lengthy observations. In fact, I would be right in anticipating that the Finance Member will be the recipient of a chorus of congratulations for the manner in which he has husbanded the resources during a period of extreme difficulty.

"So far as the Province is concerned, the Finance Member has been loyally anxious to obey the mandate of the Government of India to keep the provincial expenditure within the limits of the income of the year, and that policy has been so sedulously pursued by him that the results even in times of peace would be regarded as remarkably satisfactory.

"In nearly every case, the conditions reveal a state of prosperity and advancement that are extremely encouraging for the future. The receipts have exceeded our expectations. The revenue has shown considerable expansion, particularly under Excise and Income-tax, which together account for a decent increase of 25 lakhs and 50 thousands. So large an excess may, of course, mean an under-estimate of the revenue of the last year's Budget, but there is every apology for conservative anticipations at a time like this. The framing of the estimate under the head of Income-tax receipts, which show unusual increase owing mainly to the unprecedented prosperity in the jute-trade, is very difficult, we are told, in view of the varied effects of war on trade.

"There has been also a notable increase under 'Forests,' 'Courts of Law,' 'Jails' and 'Scientific and Miscellaneous Departments.' The last two heads have been swelled by larger supplies to the Military and other departments. The stamp revenue, on the other hand, shows a decrease of about 11 lakhs. I doubt very much whether this fall in 'Stamps' can mean any improvement in the litigious propensity of the public. On the expenditure side there is a saving of over 25 lakhs and-a-half chiefly under 'Police' and 'Education.' The net result of these changes is that the closing balance of the current year is estimated to be better by 61 lakhs and 94 thousands.

Discussion of the Budget.

Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad.

"This is very good in all conscience, but I cannot help remarking that though the declining figures for 'Excise' last year seemed to have all the appearance of the first step towards reform, the ground then gained appears to have been since lost. The opinion is again forming that the measure has not been productive of the advantage expected to be derived from it. Whether the increase under this head is or is not open to the objection of insufficiently discouraging immoderate use of spirituous liquors and drugs, it can hardly be seriously argued that the present system is fostering a habit of temperance among the people.

"There is a temporary reduction in the Police expenditure, but the police will continue to be a heavy burden where the population expect to be protected and cannot stir a finger to help themselves. It is time that Government should provide a means with which the people may be in a position to guard themselves in case of emergency.

"The savings under 'Education' and 'Sanitation' really mean losses if we understand the consequences rightly.

"The income for the year 1918-19 is estimated on the assumption that no great increase in the receipts can be expected over that of the current year. It is anticipated that there will be a recovery under 'Stamps.' To the expenditure side, on the other hand, the most outstanding feature of the Budget presented in the Council is the provision that has been made for carrying on war against malaria and other preventible diseases. This provision, we note with satisfaction, is only the initiation of a larger campaign against that fell disease in rural areas. By a wise, thoughtful and ingenious distribution of funds, Your Excellency has given to the country an earnest of a much-looked for improvement in the public health of this Province. When we bear in mind that the toll of victims exacted by malaria in Bengal comes up to nearly 400,000 every year, it is no figure of speech but simple truth to say that no language can adequately describe the actual state of sanitation in rural tracts. It is groundlessly alleged that Government are not alive to the situation, but the state of the finances prevented anything being done. We have it from Government that no longer is it possible to restrict expenditure on sanitary works within the narrow limits of recent budgets. It is indeed a happy augury for the future when we observe that none is more sensible than Your Excellency of the paramount necessity of freeing Bengal of that terrible scourge. Local administrations must now work out their own salvation in the matter of sanitary progress. It is very much to be regretted that the improvement of the Bhagirathi river finds no place in the estimate. I have endeavoured on several occasions to bring this subject prominently to the notice of Government. As a way of communication the Bhagirathi may well be left out of consideration in view of the development of railway lines on both of its banks. But for the supply of potable water and the question of health of the large population of all the riparian villages from its entrance to Nadia, the urgency of its improvement cannot be over-estimated. No private efforts can meet with any measure of success in this direction, and it is expected that Government will take up the subject with as little delay as possible.

"The amount provided for the dismemberment of the Midnapore district is by no means a negligible one—an expenditure permitted by the Government of India on the express understanding that a beginning be made. There are in the scheme special reasons of public advantage that need not be impracticable for its costliness. The public, on the other hand, desire no sort of new experiment at these difficult times or until the conclusion of the war, now being waged, all local questions should be held in abeyance. It is not a clumsy attempt on the part of the public to prolong the discussion, but an honest belief that there is no urgency whatever for the work to be proceeded with in view of the present financial stringency. I do not, however, wish to minimise the advantages or the prospects of that project.

Discussion of the Budget.

Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad; Raja Hrishikesh Laha.

"The personal and family allowances to the détenus are absorbing not an insignificant portion of public revenue. It is undeniable that the murmurs about the internment method and the treatment towards the détenus are beginning to make themselves heard very loudly. I, however, assert my cheerful belief that the attitude of the Government of India as expressed in reply to the resolution recently moved by the Hon'ble Mr. Surendra Nath Banerjee in the Imperial Council will have a sobering effect on the public mind.

"The normal balance of trade has been upset by the new conditions created by the war. The trade is not able to absorb the raiyats' crops, which has been peculiarly embarrassing to the export business of the country.

"Under the stress of war conditions new industries are springing up and old industries are showing themselves capable of hitherto unsuspected powers of production. It is only right that advantage should be taken of the period as far as possible to develop the position of industrial importance to which this Province is destined to rise But with all our major programme of education and sanitation cut down to a third of its proper dimension and with an enforced neglect of the industrial and agricultural needs of the country, we are resolved to readily part with such a large amount as our contribution to the successful prosecution of the war permits."

The Hon'ble RAJA HRISHIKESH LAHA said :—

"YOUR EXCELLENCY,

The Budget for 1918-19; though it still bears the impress of the war, presents some agreeable features which clearly prove that the Government has at last made up its mind to grapple with the anti-malarial problem in right earnest. We hope the surveys of Harihar, Balli Bil, Bhairab, etc., for which small sums have been allotted, will be taken in hand at once, and that the Jamuna and the Arul Bil schemes will make considerable progress during the course of the year. It is also gratifying to observe that an additional sum of Rs. 22,89,000 has been granted for the anti-malarial scheme in connection with the flooding of the Banka Valley, as it has caused immense havoc in the district of Burdwan. According to Dr. Bentley, flooding has a beneficial influence on malaria-stricken tracts, but care should no doubt be taken that the natural drainage channels are improved a great deal to prevent the stagnation of water. It is also noticeable that Rs. 25,000 has been provided for observations to be made regarding the possible deterioration of the Mathabhanga and Bhagirathi rivers.

"As I had anticipated last year, the receipts under the heading of sale of general stamps had fallen off. and I do not believe there will be a strong recovery, when conditions are not very different, in the current year also. We, however, hope for the best and trust the estimated amount may be realised.

"It is satisfactory that the augmentation grant to District Boards has been raised from Rs. 4,30,000 allotted last year to Rs. 7,87,334 for the present year. This desirable increase will certainly stimulate the District Boards to greater exertion and there can be no doubt that steps will be taken to supply good drinking water in places where none is now available. In some places tanks have been repaired or excavated, but a great deal more remains to be done and the problem of maintaining a pure water-supply has not as yet been successfully tackled.

Discussion of the Budget.

Raja Hrishikesh Laha.

"Education has not been neglected as the grants-in-aid have been raised from 20 lakhs in 1917-18 to Rs. 23,29,000 in 1918-19, while a further provision of Rs. 5,50,000 has been made for the development of primary education. I am not sure whether it would be possible to make primary education at once compulsory, but I would suggest that before compulsion is resorted to in rural areas, the Local Boards and the Deputy Inspectors of Schools may be directed to establish new schools where there is a demand for them, and as the people of many villages are now eager to give their boys some sort of training of the right sort, there will be no difficulty in the establishment of such schools with the support of the people. Coercion has its disadvantage in that the majority of the cultivators will try to evade compulsory education under the exemption which permits the boys to help their parents and guardians in carrying on their hereditary arts and occupations. This, I trust, will engage the attention of Government. Moreover, schools cannot be established in any great number without the co-operation of teachers, which is greatly wanted ; and I hope Government will remove this want by holding out better prospects to the teachers.

"After a long waiting we are at last to have a Director of Industry, but his attention will, I believe, be mainly confined to the existing industries. as the floatation of new companies for industrial purposes has been prohibited by the Government of India. Indigenous Joint Stock Companies are still in their infancy in Bengal, and it will require all the tact and judgment of the Director to prove that it will be as easy to make money by investing in industrial enterprises as by investing in zemindaries or in money-lending transactions. He will now have to direct his attention to cottage industries and introduce co-operative methods for supply, distribution and sale or the advances of scientific tools and implements of production on a hire-purchase system as is being done in some European countries. There is a further provision of Rs. 1,50,000 for the development of industries. Is it meant that indigenous industries are to be encouraged by grants, subsidies and advances, as many are now in a declining state for want of funds and encouragement. The Director will have to do much up-hill work in order to make his department successful.

"I may also point out that there has been an allotment of Rs. 29,000 to Commercial Schools. Although this sum is not large enough, it may well be utilised for grants to non-official commercial institutions that are now developing in this city, as for example, the Polytechnic Institute recently started by Captain Petavel under the auspices of the Maharaja of Kasimbazar, which is doing useful work in this direction.

"Under the heading of Agriculture, we find that 'a provision of one lakh for the widespread distribution of improved varieties of paddy and jute-seed' has been made. If this is widely made known to the cultivators in every part of the Province, I have no doubt it will be largely availed of by them, and if the peasants in the fields find that the improved varieties of seeds are yielding a more abundant crop, there will spring up a strong demand which the department will find it very difficult to meet. The seventeen field demonstrators that are to be newly appointed would help a great deal in making demonstration work successful. They must bring home to the cultivators the advantages that may be derived by improved varieties of seeds, scientific manures and improved methods of cultivation. While on this subject, it may not be out of place to suggest that the two new Deputy Collectors to be appointed under the Registrar of Co-operative Societies be directed to turn their attention principally to the establishment of primary Agricultural Societies, of which only 1,547 exist in Bengal (vide the Report of the Committee on Co-operation in Bengal, page 16). The cultivators will then learn and appreciate the value of thrift and will gradually be weaned from their extravagant habits.

Discussion of the Budget.

Raja Hrishikesh Laha ; Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

"Large sums will no doubt be spent on anti-malarial measures or sanitary improvement, but this is mostly confined to the Burdwan district. It would have been more in consonance with the insistent demands of many other districts if a larger provision than five lakhs had been made under this head. It could have been easily done by reducing a little the free balance of Rs. 81,09,000 which has been set apart for future years over and above the closing balance of Rs. 3,37,32,000 which cannot be touched under the orders of the Government of India. I only hope that for improving the sanitary condition of other districts which has for some years been such an imperative necessity, the free balance will be utilised for the purpose as far as possible.

"I should observe that only Rs. 20,000 has been allotted for the Munsifs' Courts and residences. The sum is very insignificant in consideration of the difficulties which the Munsifs feel, especially with regard to housing in the mufassal. They are a lot of hardworking officers, and for want of suitable residences, they are often obliged to live in houses which are damp and unhealthy ; and these houses are often built with mud and bamboo splittings and quite unsuitable for human habitation. I think some means would be found to increase this amount with a view to supply to these indefatigable officers of Government the elemental comfort of a decent house accommodation, and I think the increased amount may be provided from the free balance which the Government have got in hand."

The Hon'ble BABU SURENDRA NATH RAY said :—

"MY LORD—We find the following in paragraph 4 of the Amended Draft Financial Statement for the year 1918-19 :—

"The orders of the Government of India for the preparation of the Budget directed that, as in the previous two years, the provincial expenditure should be limited to the income of the year, but it was found impossible, after providing for the urgent essential requirements of the administration, to meet any expenditure on urgent public works without drawing on the balances, and the Government of India were requested and have agreed to allow us to draw on our balance to the extent of Rs. 40,20,000.

"The total income for the year is estimated at Rs. 6,90,84,000 and the expenditure at Rs. 7,31,04,000. And this deficit is to be met by drawing upon the balances to the extent of 40 lakhs of rupees.

"I need hardly say that it would not have been necessary to draw upon our balances to the extent of nearly 30 lakhs of rupees out of this 40 lakhs if the amount necessary for the partition of the districts of Mymensingh and Midnapore or the amount of extra and additional increased expenditure under the head of the 'Police,' were not included in the items of expenditure. I have every reason to believe that the income would have been adequate to meet the expenditure.

"It appears from the Budget estimates of 1918-19 that out of a closing balance of Rs. 3,39,32,000, Rs. 2,56,23,000 are earmarked for special purposes, viz., Education, Sanitation, etc., leaving free a balance of Rs. 83,09,000, which could be spent in future years. It is necessary that this free balance should be always as large as possible, so that we may be prepared for such contingencies as famine and other unforeseen contingencies.

Discussion of the Budget.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

"It is a matter of great satisfaction that there will be an additional recurring expenditure of Rs. 45,900 under the heading 'Medical' on such items as diet allowance of both the Medical College Hospital patients and of Campbell Hospital and mufassal hospital patients, etc. It is also a matter of congratulation that provision has been made and there is actually a scheme for the admission of more students in the Campbell Medical Schools both in Calcutta and at Dacca, and also such a large amount as Rs. 1,62,000 has been included in the Budget to meet the costs of buildings of the Belgatchia Institution.

"For the last two years very little has been done to carry out some of the necessary sanitary projects. The Budget Estimate of Rs. 8½ lakhs for works of sanitary improvement, though not adequate to meet the costs of the projects which have been recommended by the Sanitary Board and which have received the administrative approval of Government, will be welcome as sufficient to meet the costs of some of the urgent and pressing sanitary improvements, such as supply of filtered water to some of the municipal towns. I am glad to see that the town of Krishnagar is at last going to have a supply of filtered water, and that there is a provision of one lakh of rupees in the Budget on that head.

"Your Lordship has inaugurated a new era in tackling the question of malaria in rural areas. For the last few years we have brought up before your Lordship's Government the question of opening out the silted up rivers in order to drive out malaria from places which were once healthy and wealthy but which have now literally become depopulated on account of the malarial scourge. Speaking of malaria your Lordship was pleased to observe at the conference held in this Council Chamber on the 29th January last—'The particular disease with which I propose to concern myself to-day is malaria. It is the only disease that I desire you to help me to fight; but it is, perhaps, the most widespread and the most virulent of all the diseases which afflict the people of Bengal.' We, therefore, welcome this provision which, to quote the words of Sir S. P. Sinha, represents the beginning of a new campaign which Government are anxious to initiate on a large scale against malaria in rural areas. With reference to at least one of the schemes, I mean the Mani Khati scheme, I take a personal interest because I first brought the question forward before the District Board of the 24-Parganas and I spoke to Mr. Adams-Williams about it more than a year ago. With reference to the other schemes I know the places very well and I can very well anticipate the great benefit which the people of the district of the 24-Parganas, Nadia and Jessore will derive when the Jamuna and the Arul Bhil schemes are carried out.

The Government have already solved the problem of the supply of drinking water, and of sanitation in the rural areas by making over the public works cess to the District Boards. If the amount of the public works cess be properly utilised by the District Boards, supplemented by contribution from Government, I think there will not be any difficulty in placing these important matters on a firm basis.

"We are grateful to the Government of India for making a recurring grant of 5½ lakhs of rupees for primary education. Though this amount will not be enough to carry out a scheme of primary education throughout the country, yet we need hardly say it will go to some extent to carry out a project in which the people of this country are vitally interested.

"There is one point in connection with the expenditure on education which we are sorry to notice. It appears from the Budget estimates that the sanctioned estimate on education for the year 1917-18 was Rs. 98,13,000, whereas the revised estimate was only Rs. 81.14,000. We are told that this decrease in expenditure of Rs. 16,99,000 was due to savings in the imperial grants and in the grant for Calcutta hostels. We are sorry to see that of all items of expenditure there should be savings on this item of expenditure in which, I need hardly say, the people are so much interested. We hope and trust that due care will be taken to properly utilise the sanctioned estimate of Rs. 97,51,000 this year.

Discussion of the Budget.

Babu Surendra Nath Ray.

"I moved a resolution on the Financial Statement the other day in this Council to delete certain items of expenditure from the Budget which related to the police. There has been unfortunately some misapprehension on the part of some of the members of this Council as well as on the part of the press that I wanted to curtail the expenditure on this head. What I moved for and what I still ask the Government to reconsider is not to incur additional increased expenditure on the police. For the last few years the expenditure on this head have increased by leaps and bounds, i.e., the expenditure has increased from Rs. 83,99,859 in 1912-13 to Rs. 1,37,85,000 in 1918-19, i.e., there has been an increase of about 54 lakhs in six or seven years. That the police have done good work nobody denies.

"About two years ago there were a number of dacoities and murders in and near Calcutta. The people were in constant dread and they did not know who amongst them would be the next victim. The timely action taken by the Government restored order, and life and property became safe. We all know that this was due to the prompt action on the part of the police. The police were strengthened, and for the last two years, at least for the last 12 months, there has not been any fresh outbreak of lawlessness. If the strength of the police as it stood in the beginning of 1917-18 was sufficient to put down lawlessness and detect crimes, we cannot understand the necessity for the additional increased expenditure to the extent of nearly 15 or 16 lakhs of rupees on this head in the Budget for 1918-19, some recurring and some non-recurring, when normal state of things have been restored. Then we find that the sanctioned estimate for 1917-18 was Rs. 1,34,38,000, whereas in the revised estimate we find Rs. 1,22,84,000, i.e., there was a saving of Rs. 11,44,000, i.e., the present normal state of things was brought about with an expenditure of Rs. 1,22,84,000. Why then spend Rs. 1,37,85,000, i.e., incur an additional increased expenditure of about 15 lakhs of rupees. If it is necessary to give increment to some of the police staff why not wait till the return of normal times.

"We find that some of the items are put down as—

(ii) Increase of temporary force for District Intelligence Staff Rs. 2,13,446.

(iii) Temporary Establishment for Motor Vehicles, Arms Act and Passport and Press Departments of the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta. Rs. 16,164.

(iv) Temporary Boat Establishment Rs. 5,193.

"These have been put down now as temporary arrangements, but I think there will be permanent recurring charge of nearly Rs. 3,39,111 per annum besides other recurring charges. If this increased expenditure has at all to be incurred we should like to have an assurance from Government that these items of expenditure will not be made permanent.

"There is one subject upon which I should like to say a few words. It is about the Sibpur Engineering College. It is a matter of great satisfaction to learn that the college in all probability will not be removed from its present site. I understand, however, that on account of want of accommodation in the college large number of students cannot get admission there. Probably the matter has not been formally brought to the notice of Government by the Principal of the College. If, however, it be a fact that larger accommodation is necessary I hope and trust Government will provide the same without delay."

Discussion of the Budget.

Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur.

The Hon'ble RAI MAHENDRA CHANDRA MITRA BAHADUR said :—

"My Lord, I beg to congratulate the Government on the aggregate increase of revenue and feel disappointed that it has not been applied to schemes of social reform or the development of any beneficial service. I am aware that the satisfactory revenue position is due largely to favourable agricultural conditions and the unusually large profits earned by jute companies and miscellaneous mills in 1916-17. I wish it had been found possible to devote the major portion of the money thus received to purposes of lasting benefit to the people. Sanitation, Education and Industrial Improvements are subjects on which we feel keenly.

"The sanitary condition of Bengal is nothing, if not deplorable. Only the other day Your Excellency referred to the baneful influence of malaria and said : 'Every year there occur in Bengal from 350,000 to 400,000 deaths from this cause alone. But a mere enumeration of the deaths gives but a faint idea of the ravages of the disease. It is probable that at least a hundred attacks of malaria occur for every death and it is estimated that this disease alone is responsible for 20,000,000 days of sickness in the Presidency every year.' Though fever is the great killer of Bengal we have also to consider the prevalence of cholera in rural areas. It is idle to deny that both malaria and cholera are preventible diseases and it only requires the adoption of necessary measures to uproot these evils which are responsible for many disagreeables in a great part of Bengal. The sanitary condition of Bengal cries aloud for the adoption of a vigorous policy involving the expenditure of large sums which must be found.

"In the matter of education also the sum allotted is inadequate. I will first of all speak a few words on primary education. It is now considered to be the duty of every civilised Government to provide free primary education for the people. And it is deeply to be regretted that in this matter even some of the important Native States have adopted a policy which we in Bengal demand in vain. In Bengal, in 1916-17, the number of primary schools for boys was 31,617 with 11,168 pupils. The expenditure on them was Rs. 37,40,699, of which Rs. 17,95,596 was from fees ; so the Local Government and the Local Bodies between them paid only Rs. 19,45,103 or a little over Rs. 5 per school per month. This is wholly inadequate to attract really competent men to the profession. I understand in the Imperial Legislative Council the Hon'ble Sir Sankar Nair has submitted a statement showing improvement in this matter. But I regret I have not been able to get a copy of that statement. The Government of India have, I am glad, made a special recurring grant of £200,000 for the development of primary education and the Hon'ble the Finance Member has made a conditional promise to allot a further sum for that purpose. But the Government of Bengal has not proved as liberal as the Government of India. I deplore the attitude taken up by the Government of Bengal towards an important institution like the Mahakali Pathsala. Its usefulness cannot be gainsaid : and a non-recurring grant would have saved it from that financial embarrassment on which it is now likely to suffer shipwreck. In 1916-17 while 44·56 per cent. of the male population of school age were at school, the percentage of females was only 8·58. The disparity is depressing ; and an earnest effort should be made to remove it. Hence institutions which are instrumental in spreading female education deserve special attention. And I once more hope the Government will find it possible to help the Mahakali Pathsala.

"Bengal cries aloud for industries other than the universal, but insecure industry of agriculture. We had prosperous industries. And some of them are still capable of revival. Bernier in his account of travels in the Mogul Empire during the latter part of the seventeenth century wrote ; 'Bengal abounds in sugar with which it supplies the kingdoms of Golconda and the Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur; Mr. Altaf Ali.

Karnatic, where very little is grown, Arabia and Mesopotamia through the towns of Moka and Basra and even Persia by way of Bendor-Abbase'. That industry is now in a moribund condition. When the war broke out we hoped that the opportunity for its revival had come. In reply to a question in the Imperial Legislative Council the other day a statement showing the estimated outturn of date sugar in Bengal was submitted :—

Year.	Tons.	Year	Tons.
1913-14	97,300	1915-16	99,200
1914-15	96,500	1916-17	101,100

The increase is microscopic.

"In reply to a question asked by my friend, the Hon'ble Babu Brojendra Kishor Ray Chaudhuri, the Government admitted that suitable brine for the manufacture of salt had been found in the Chittagong side of the Bay of Bengal. In view of the recent disturbances due to the abnormal rise in the price of salt would it not be proper for the Government to help the establishment of the salt industry in Bengal?

"Materials for the manufacture of pulp for papers are not wanting in Bengal. These should be utilised. And in the matter of establishing new industries Government help is indispensable.

"I hope the Government will see its way to give an impetus to the desire on the part of the people to take to industrial pursuits. It has often been said that the rich in Bengal are content to grow richer as they sleep and their placid slumber is seldom disturbed by disquieting dreams of the responsibilities of wealth. But that charge can no longer be levelled against them. They are realising the responsibilities of wealth, and capital is coming out of the safe shelter of the iron box. But without Government help nascent industries cannot prosper so as to withstand the competition of foreign industries.

"The expenditure on police is extravagant. We all feel the necessity of improving the police of the province. But mere expenditure of huge sums cannot improve the morâle of a service. The subject has been so often and so fully discussed on various occasions that I refrain from discussing it any further.

"There is only one other point on which I wish to speak to-day. The partitioning of the districts of Midnapore and Mymensingh in the teeth of public opposition where cases have not been made out for such redistributions cannot be supported. Such partitioning involves huge expenditure and in some cases their utility is questionable. We are all along looking forward to the grant of responsible Government. In introducing the Financial Statement for 1918-19 in the Imperial Legislative Council, Sir William Meyer said : 'We have under consideration, * * * in connection with the scheme of constitutional reforms, a material advance in the direction of separating Imperial and Provincial finance'. That indicates that the reforms will soon be introduced. And I earnestly hope that all schemes of redistribution of territories should be kept in abeyance till responsible Government with independent resources consider such schemes on their merits."

The Hon'ble MR. ALTAF ALI said :—

"My Lord, it is my pleasant privilege to congratulate Your Excellency's Government on the general financial position of the Presidency. In the words of the Hon'ble Mr. Donald, 'our receipts have exceeded our expectations,' and this is no small thing at a time when money is so scarce as the inevitable result of the European war. While I say this, I cannot help observing that 10 lakhs of this increased income have been derived from Excise. I am sorry to say that this fact discloses a lamentable state of things. This increased sum of 10 lakhs, if it points to anything, points to a corresponding increase in the drink habit of the people. My Lord, I can conceive of no evil more revolting than the habitual drinking of spirituous liquor. It is inconceivable how people, who have not the wherewithal to feed and clothe themselves, can afford to consume such a large quantity of licit country spirits. My Lord, it behoves every well-wisher of the country to try his best to put a stop to this growing evil and thereby improve the moral condition of the people. Certainly it is not too much for me to hope that Your Excellency's Government will not be unmindful of their responsibility in this direction and would pass such orders as may be deemed necessary to prevent the grant of increased number of licenses to stockists of foreign liquor and to manufacturers of country spirits. It is stated in the Revised Estimate that income tax has contributed fifteen-and-a-half lakhs to the aggregate increase of revenue amounting to Rs. 53,33,000 and this is due to the unusually large profits earned by jute companies and miscellaneous mills in 1916-17. Nobody should object to the increase of income tax as it bespeaks financial prosperity of the people and affects only the well-to-do classes. More than 18 lakhs of the increased revenue came from the sale of quinine to the Military and other Departments. The Law courts contributed Rs. 2,25,000 chiefly from fines in Magisterial Courts. I am glad to find that there is a considerable falling off under 'Stamps,' which means that the people were less litigious during the year under review.

"On the expenditure side I find that there are savings mainly under the heads of Police and Education. It is, indeed, satisfactory that police expenditure was reduced, but I cannot view with satisfaction the decrease of expenditure under the heads of Education and Sanitation amounting to Rs. 17,87,000. Everybody knows and admits that these two are by far the most important matters calculated to promote the welfare of the people. The most potent scourge of life in Bengal is its appallingly bad sanitation. As a matter of fact, there is practically no district in Bengal which can boast of being free from the ravages of malaria, cholera and other malignant diseases.

"My Lord, while Your Excellency's Government have not done justice to the Departments of Sanitation and Education, they have found means in this critical time to provide for such measures of dubious utility as (1) the construction of steam launches for the River Police in Eastern Bengal, (2) the re-organisation of the Eastern Bengal Police, (3) the construction of launches for river patrol arrangements for Calcutta Port Police, (4) the increase of a temporary force for District Intelligence Staff, (5) the raising of the proportion of the ordinary reserve of head-constables and constables, and (6) the proposal for raising the pay of head-constables. Although I mention only six items of objectionable expenditure, I am able to extend my catalogue to thrice as many. My Lord, although from the list of items I have criticised just now, it may appear that I have attacked only one Department of Government, namely, the Police, I wish to make myself clear that I am not one of those who in season and out of season cry down the Police. I only meant to point out that the measures are not so urgent in their nature as not to be deferred till next year to make room for measures of such public utility and urgency as supply of drinking water, schemes for the check of epidemic diseases and spread of education amongst the masses. My Lord, these are the real requirements of the public at large. Not to speak of rural areas, in which people practically drink mud at this time of the year in order to quench their thirst, there are several municipal towns in which pure drinking water is a luxury to all intents and purposes. I am aware for instance, of the existence of a large number of filthy tanks within the municipal area of the Tangail subdivision. As there are very few wells in the locality, people have no other alternative than to drink the foul water which these tanks contain with dire consequences. While I am glad to find that grants of Rs. 38,600 and Rs. 10,000 have been made for the water-works at Nator and Rajbari, respectively, I cannot but make an appeal for a system of water-works to be installed at each municipal town as early as possible. This, indeed, would give real relief to thousands of people throughout Bengal.

Discussion of the Budget.

Mr. Altaf Ali; Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray.

"My Lord, as a representative of the District Boards, I am grateful to Government for practically accepting my resolution on the subject of appointing non-official Chairmen at the last Dacca session of the Council. While I appealed for the appointment of non-officials as Chairmen, Government have very kindly conferred upon five Boards the franchise of electing their own Chairmen. In fact, Government gave more than what I wanted. I might take this opportunity of reminding Government that my own Division, namely, Rajshahi, has been left in the lurch—perhaps forgotten. Emboldened by the success of my resolution above referred to, I take this opportunity of requesting Government to introduce the elective system into the constitution of our District Boards. I shall come up with a resolution at the next session; but I trust Government will take this as a timely hint and forestall my resolution by granting the concession before we meet again in Council.

"In conclusion I would like, my Lord, to make an appeal to Your Excellency on behalf of and in the interest of the poor agriculturists who have been hard hit by the effects of the war. These mute millions who toil in the open fields year in and year out, and produce our foodstuffs by the sweat of their brow, care little for politics and much less for those higher avocations of life in which the upper classes are engaged. All that they want are two full coarse meals a day and a few yards of rag to clothe themselves with. Even this has well nigh been denied to them. Rice and jute markets having gone down and the price of salt and cloth—two indispensable necessaries of life—having been abnormally high, they are now practically involved in a hopeless struggle for existence. It is difficult for them to keep their body and soul together any longer. To make matters worse, a sort of panic is prevailing amongst them by reason of the recent looting of hâts in several parts of the Presidency. My Lord, I pray, with all the emphasis that I can command, for Your Excellency's personal intervention in the matters above referred to, with a view to stop this sad state of things as far as circumstances permit."

The Hon'ble KUMAR SHIB SHEKHARESWAR RAY said:—

"My Lord, last year, on this occasion, I drew the attention of Your Excellency's Government to the huge sum of Rs. 21,00,000 sanctioned for settlement operations. I further pointed out that it was a kind of expenditure which was neither immediately productive nor of such an urgent and necessary character that it could not be put off for some time. These operations not only cost the Government an outlay of such a big sum but a like sum probably had to be spent by the landlords and tenants to supervise these operations so far as they affected their rights. I prayed last year that at least fresh operations might be put off till the end of the war but it appears that I prayed in vain. I find that this year too, a sum of Rs. 22,00,000 has been provided for settlement operations; this means that war or no war these operations are to proceed in full force. My Lord, it is true that three-fourths of this expenditure would be realised from the landlords and tenants in subsequent years and so ultimately the net cost to the Government would be only about five lacs and presumably

Discussion of the Budget.

Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray.

this is the chief reason why the Government are not inclined to put a stop to this unnecessary extravagance even at a critical period like this. But the terrible strain that it means to the financial resources of the districts affected can be better imagined than described. The situation may be briefly summarised as follows :—

(1) The Government intend to spend a sum of Rs. 22,00,000 on district settlement operations which are entirely unproductive and unnecessary and not at all of an imperative character.

(2) The landlords and tenants shall have to spend a sum of about Rs. 22,00,000 for supervision and superintendence of those operations.

(3) The Government have decided to recover this year Rs. 18,00,000 from the landlords and tenants as cost of past settlement operations.

"In other words it means that at a terribly hard time as the present, the Government and the people have been called upon to spend a sum of Rs. 62,00,000 on a work of more or less doubtful utility and I beg to submit that had the advisers to the Government been prudent enough in the past and stopped the settlement operations immediately on the outbreak of the war, this vast sum would have been to-day, at the disposal of the Government for helping the cause of the war ; but all this advantage is now lost. But yet much could be done by the Government if they stop the work wherever possible, even now. If it be possible to postpone operations involving an outlay of say ten lacs, it would also mean a saving of ten lacs to the people immediately and a further sum of Rs. 7½ lacs in the immediate future. My Lord, Government have not imposed any fresh taxation and have even restrained the flotation of new companies solely with a view that the new War Loan and War Charities might not suffer but these settlement costs are surely a kind of burdensome tax, and cannot but seriously affect the subscription to the War Loan in the districts concerned. I therefore appeal to the Government that as far as possible settlement operations might be put off during the continuation of the War and I hope that a serious attention would yet be given to this subject both by the Imperial and Local Governments. It has been urged by some that if the settlement operations are stopped, an efficient and experienced staff consisting of kanungos and amins would have to be disbanded and consequently trained men would not be available when the work would be resumed with the return of normal times. But I do not think that there is much force in this argument. Those kanungos and amins cannot vanish away from the face of the earth and would surely be available to the Government in any number, whenever necessary.

"My Lord, owing to war conditions there is no market for jute and the price of food-grains is also very low and consequently our collections have considerably fallen off. In fact it has become an acute question with many of us as to how to make the two ends meet. The Government could considerably help us to tide over the difficulty if they realised this year 50 per cent. loss of what has been budgetted for recovery as being our share of settlement costs. The balance might be realised next year or year after. These costs in many estates far exceed their revenue and consequently great difficulties are being experienced by the zamindars in paying this extra tax at an extremely difficult period of financial depression like the present. I hope this fact too would engage the sympathetic attention of Your Excellency's Government in adjusting the revised Budget. As I have pointed out before, if the Government postpone some of the settlement operations, they might easily help us without in any way disturbing their financial position.

"My Lord, now I turn to the police expenditure. The colossal amount budgetted for expenditure on the police has been very much engaging the attention of the public and I am afraid my constituency would not be satisfied if I do not say a few words on this subject. It is by far the most expensive department of the Government. Even at a time when every endeavour is being made to curtail expenses in other departments, the police expenditure is really on the increase. As a zamindar I can easily realise the position of the Government in this matter. The stability and reputation of the Government depend on the amount of safety that they afford to the people under their charge and so any department which helps to secure this state of affairs would undoubtedly receive the best attention. In our zamindaries, too, my Lord, the department of law receives our best attention. So long as this department is well organised and we are in a position to take prompt and adequate legal measures against our offending neighbours and tenants, we are respected as strong and efficient zamindars and left undisturbed and so even in worst years we hardly curtail our expenses here. The expenses we hasten to curtail are those which affect the most inarticulate subjects, as for instance the Deva-seva. Similarly the Government have proceeded to curtail those expenses which affect the most inarticulate section of the public, as for instance the expenses on rural sanitation and agriculture. My Lord, as a zamindar I really do not murmur at the attitude taken by the Government towards the police department in preference to others. But, my Lord, I beg to submit that in our zamindaries it sometimes happens that too much attention to the department of law brings about the ruin of the zamindari itself. To avoid this catastrophe, good managers periodically revise the law budget and effect a good deal of economy by having recourse more to sweet reconciliation and compromise than to legal frightfulness. I therefore venture to suggest that the Government might make a thorough examination of the police expenditure and see if any reduction is possible by adopting some other methods in regard to the police.

Discussion of the Budget.

Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Ray ; Mr. Mackenzie.

"My Lord, speaking of the police, I find that an important item on account of village police involving receipts and expenditure, each well over half a crore of rupees, has no place in our Budget. From my personal knowledge I might say that the administration of Village Police Funds is far from satisfactory. In my humble opinion the income and the expenditure on this head might be provincialised and shown in the Budget, and the Government should also devote more attention to the efficient administration of this department. Sir Satyendra Sinha introduced this morning the Village Self-Government Bill, and I find that the Village Police Funds are to be properly supervised by the villagers themselves. In that case I think, my request comes too late. But I make the suggestion for what it is worth. In this connection, my Lord, it strikes me as an anomaly that while we, the people in the mufassal, pay a police tax of over half a crore of rupees, those in urban areas do not pay anything towards the maintenance of police forces in those areas, and I take this opportunity to suggest that the Government might take steps to rectify this anomalous distinction between the rural and urban population."

The Hon'ble MR. MACKENZIE said :—

"My Lord, the rules which govern the general discussion of the Budget in Council provide that the discussion shall be limited to those branches of revenue and expenditure which are under the financial control of the Local Government, and the Secretary to the Council in the Circular which he addresses to non-official members in anticipation of the discussion is careful to warn members that observations and suggestions which are not distinctly related to the Budget statement may be held to be out of order. I trust I will not be held by Your Excellency to be out of order if I refer to an item of expenditure which, although not, strictly speaking, coming within the category referred to, is nevertheless an item of expenditure which might be curtailed with advantage to all concerned. I refer to the expenditure of time in the discussion of resolutions on the financial statement.

Discussion of the Budget.

Mr. Mackenzie.

If I am permitted to refer to this matter I hope I shall be acquitted by my colleagues on the Council of any desire to read the Council a lecture as it were. Even were I qualified, which I am painfully aware I am not, that is the last thing I should desire to do, and I hope therefore no offence will be taken where none is intended. I merely wish to say how it strikes the average business man and I am sure my friends on the other side of the house representing the Bengal Chamber of Commerce will bear out what I say. The Hon'ble the Maharajadhiraja of Burdwan referred to the matter at the discussion which took place a year ago almost to a day. Referring to certain resolutions on police expenditure, he said that after the declaration by the Government that the money budgetted under that head could not be diverted any business man would have said that many of the resolutions that followed ought to have been dropped. The same thing cannot have failed to strike any impartial observer in connection with the discussions which took place on the Revised Financial Statement which occupied the time of the Council for three whole days. I take it we are all here to see in what way we can best advance the interests of this great Presidency, and I cannot help feeling that this cannot best be done by the policy which there seems a tendency in some directions to adopt of 'flogging a dead horse'. Such a policy, in my opinion, can only tend to alienate sympathy from even a good cause. Time is money and it is just as essential therefore that the expenditure under this head as under any other head should be kept as low as possible. This is necessary in the interests of the Members of this Council as a whole and particularly in the interests of the Members in charge of the different portfolios and the hard-worked Secretaries of the various departments on whom special war measures, added to the already onerous task of administering a large province like this, have placed a special strain which it is our duty to lighten as far as lies in our power. I feel confident that only by working together in this way and by avoiding the policy of 'pin prick' we shall best advance the interest we all have at heart.

In this connection a suggestion has been made by another non-official member of the Council that the proceedings might be materially curtailed, if in dealing with resolutions the Government member followed the mover in the debate.

After hearing what the Government member had to say it would not infrequently be unnecessary for others to prolong the discussion. I do not know if it is possible or if possible, in all cases advisable, to adopt this procedure, but I have noticed it is sometimes followed with satisfactory results.

Another suggestion which has been made is that the practice of requiring that the names of those who wish to speak should be handed to Your Excellency beforehand might be discontinued, and that it should be sufficient for anyone wishing to speak to catch Your Excellency's eye.

I must confess I put forward this suggestion with a certain amount of trepidation as I fear, if adopted, it might have the effect of prolonging rather than shortening the discussions, but it would at all events give an opportunity of speaking to those who might not at the start of a debate wish to take part but who might find reason at a later stage for wishing to interpose.

And Your Excellency could always conveniently turn a blind eye when, in Your Excellency's opinion, the discussion had proceeded far enough.

Discussion of the Budget.

Mr. Mackenzie.

I have to offer Government my congratulations on the successful resistance offered to the numerous attacks on the schemes for the partitions of Midnapore and Mymensingh. We find in business that when a thing gets too big for efficient control by an existing organization we have either to increase our establishment or be prepared to lose money. It is hardly necessary to say which alternative we adopt. I have no doubt the same thing applies in the management of a province or a division, and I have equally no doubt in my own mind that the partition of those heavy districts will prove to be a productive work of the first magnitude not by any means the smallest portion of the benefit going to those whom, as I gather, the partition was primarily designed to benefit, namely, the people of the district themselves. I hope that the opposition to these schemes has now been finally laid to rest, and that before long in pursuance of the policy of partitioning the large districts with a view to the more efficient administration of the Province we shall shortly have another new headquarters division at Asansol. I understand that a memorial has already been presented to Your Excellency in this connection by those interested, and I hope it will receive early and favourable consideration.

Referring to expenditure on the Police which has formed the subject of much adverse comment, I may say that I am not one of those who hold the view that all is well with that particular force. That they have done excellent work in many directions no one will deny, but there must be some grounds for the very general feeling of distrust in regard to them which is evidenced by the non-official Indian Members of this Council. I would strongly urge upon Government, therefore, that they should endeavour to unearth the causes which lie at the root of this distrust with a view to their elimination. I do not blame the superior officers of the force although recent unfortunate events, to which it is perhaps unnecessary to refer again, have shown that like other people they are liable to make mistakes. I believe, however, they are doing their best in the face of much opposition with very indifferent material, and I can only hope that time will show that the apprehensions of our non-official Indian friends that the continuous and ever increasing expenditure on Police reform is out of all proportion to the results achieved are not well founded. I note that a considerable portion of the expenditure to which exception has been taken is in connection with the River Police in Eastern Bengal, and while no one will deny that the efficient policing of the great rivers of the Province is a matter of urgent reform, it is of equal importance that the rivers themselves should receive more systematic attention than they do at present at the hands of Government. And that brings me to a suggestion I have to make, which might be taken into consideration before another year, and that is the formation of a Waterways Trust somewhat on the lines of the Calcutta Port Trust, which will charge itself with the improvement, regulation and conservancy of existing waterways and will suggest such schemes as may be considered advisable for the development of river-borne traffic. The question of water carriage has received a great deal of attention during recent years on the continent of Europe, the United States and last of all in the United Kingdom.

I might at this point appropriately quote the recent views of two eminent British Engineers on this question. The quotations are from the Minutes of Proceedings of the Institution of Civil Engineers issued in October last which have just come into my hands.

Speaking in a discussion on the Keadby Bridge on the Great Central Railway, Sir John F. Griffith said inter alia :—

'One of the lesson of the war has been the importance of inland navigation; it is to be hoped that the country will profit by that lesson, and will, at an early date, take advantage of its natural waterways and improve both them and the canals, to suit them to modern requirements and form a useful supplement to the road and Railway system.'

Discussion of the Budget.

Mr. Mackenzie.

Mr. J. A. Sanor, who followed Sir John Griffith in the discussion, concluded his remarks as follows :—

'I desire to emphasise the remarks made by Sir John Griffith as to the great importance in all cases where navigation or canals are crossed by Railway or road bridges, of preserving the waterways as fully as possible for the use of the traffic. Everyone now realises that had the proposals of the Royal Commission on Canals and Inland Waterways been carried into effect, there would have been much less congestion on the Railways at the present time, and that a large portion of the cost of the reconstruction and alteration of the waterways would have been actually saved and refunded during the past two years.

If these views emphasise one thing more than another it is that we should avoid the mistake that was made in the United Kingdom of throttling the waterways. I do not think there is any danger of our doing so; at the same time the onus of upholding the rights of a free waterway should not devolve on private carriers, but should be on a suitably constituted Trust including representatives of the carriers.

The value of water transport has long been recognized in France, Germany and Belgium as being of enormous importance, and huge sums have been spent in perfecting communications between the various large centres. Water transport has its place as a department in the State economy of each of these countries and various schemes for developing the resources of the nation are subjected to the closest scrutiny of experts on waterways or water transport.

From the number of questions put in this Council regarding the improvement of rivers and khals I am glad to think that opinion in this country is awakening to the importance of the problem of improving waterways not only from the point of view of transport, but also from the important point of view of sanitation. If attention to waterways is found necessary in the interests of the State when dealing with the limited resources of the United Kingdom how much more would it appear desirable to place the magnificent waterways of India under an Executive which should have their protection and development as an exclusive trust. There is at present in existence a Standing Waterways Committee, but it lacks one important factor, authority. It can advise, suggest, object or criticise, but it cannot act, and is thus incapable of vigorously addressing itself to the many important questions which arise from time to time in connection with waterways and water-borne traffic. In making the suggestion for a Waterways Trust I wish it to be clearly understood that I am not for a moment suggesting that the Government of Bengal are not fully alive to the importance of this subject. The Local Government through their Public Works Department have done much towards improvement of waterways and have initiated valuable schemes, and I would like to take this opportunity of bearing testimony to the ready sympathy which any project that has been put forward has always received at the hands not only of the Member in charge but at the hands of men like my hon'ble friend Mr. Cowley and Mr. Addams-Williams. I consider, however, that a Waterways Trust is none the less necessary for the reasons I have given and in this view I believe I am strongly supported by such important bodies as the Bengal Chamber of Commerce and the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta. It is not perhaps too much to hope therefore that a Trust such as I have indicated will before long find a place in the State economy of this country. I do not think the formation of such a Trust would involve any great expenditure at the outset, and once it were got into proper working order it would, I feel quite sure, be self-supporting, while the benefits to the country at large would be enormous. I feel sure, my Lord, that if more had been known in Delhi and Simla regarding the waterways of these parts, the types of vessels plying on them and the way in which the business is conducted, many of the muddles that were made in the early days of the campaign in Mesopotamia in connection with the inland water transport would have been obviated.

In this connection I should like—if I am in order in so doing—to refer to the remarks of the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell in replying to a resolution moved by an Hon'ble Member from Chittagong regarding the improvement of the Chaktai khal at the meeting before last. The proceedings of the meeting have not yet been published, but I think, if my recollection serves me rightly, the Hon'ble Member in charge said that in this case the Government proposed to try a small experiment in local self-government and by way of so doing proposed to notify the khal under the Canals Act and give the merchants who used it permission to improve it themselves. I think he also said that Government would not be justified in spending the rate-payers' money for the benefit of the few merchants who used the khal. Knowing Mr. Beatson Bell's keen sympathy with waterway projects, I was rather surprised at the time that he should have taken such a narrow view of Government's obligations in a matter of this kind, but I was unable to say anything at the time as I believe I had not the right to speak. I would like to put on record however that I do not agree that the benefit in such cases accrues only to those who make use of a waterway.

Rivers and khals are as much highways as roads or any other means of communication—in fact are the natural highways of the Province—and it is as much the duty of Government to conserve and improve them for the benefit of the community at large as it is their duty to maintain roads.

I am aware that the Inland Steamer Companies have accepted a similar measure of self-government at Serajganj, but they have done so not because they think it right but because, for the time being, they are unable to do better.

At the discussion of the Budget last year the Hon'ble Mr. Eden made reference to the Grand Trunk Canal Project, and expressed the hope that nothing would be allowed to interfere with its consideration and early adoption.

Mr. Eden referred to the great benefits that would accrue to practically all sections of the community from the construction of the Grand Trunk Canal, so that it is not necessary for me to do so again.

Replying to Mr. Eden the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell gave the assurance that Government had not the least intention of pigeonholing the project, but proposed, as soon as normal conditions were resumed, to take it up and push it through. There, so far as I am aware, the matter rests, and I take it that considerations of Imperial finance still prevent anything being done. While realizing that these considerations are paramount I cannot help regretting that it seems impossible to make a move of any kind. We shall welcome a beginning however small. I do not think the menace of the rapid deterioration of the present steamer route viâ the Sunderbans, as pointed out by Mr. Addams-Williams, is sufficiently realized. The whole of the river-borne traffic of Eastern Bengal and Assam is dependent for its exit from and entrance to the Hooghly on one river, the Dooagra, which, in the opinion of Mr. Addams-Williams, must inevitably be closed entirely before many years. If this closure takes place before the alternative route is available, is it realized what a calamity it would involve to the trade of this and neighbouring Provinces? It would be bad enough at any time, but, at the present time, with Railways unable to cope with the traffic offering and the trade of these Provinces dependent in a greater measure than usual on river transport for an outlet, it would be nothing short of a disaster. I think the mercantile community of Calcutta are fully alive to the menace I have referred to, and would strongly support me in urging that a beginning should be made as an earnest of the Government intentions that the scheme will be pushed through. I quite realize the difficulty about funds, but would it not be possible to make a start by utilizing the large number of Turkish prisoners for which I understand the Government of India are anxious to find employment. The Government of India have been pressing these prisoners on the attention of Calcutta for some time, and experiments are now being made with a view to their employment in collieries. But after all coal cutting is a business that requires a certain amount of skill, and it is by no means certain, either that the experiment will be a success or that the collieries will be able to absorb all the men available.

Discussion of the Budget.

Mr. Mackenzie; Khan Sahib Maulvi Aman Ali.

It seems to me that more congenial employment might be found for them in connection with this Canal project while Government would be getting some return for the large sums they are spending on their keep. I have not consulted any body about this suggestion, and merely make it for what it is worth in my anxiety to see a start made.

My Lord, I am sorry to have taken up so much of the time of this Council and I am afraid, after what I said in the early part of my speech, I may be accused of inconsistency or worse. My Lord, I plead the rules. I would have been very glad to have had my speech taken as read, but the rules specifically provide that no speech will be taken as read, thereby placing a premium on the waste of time of which I complain."

The Hon'ble KHAN SAHIB MAULVI AMAN ALI said :—

" My Lord, Your Excellency's Government have again assembled amidst the sufferings and trials of this world-war to discuss the Budget. The Finance Member essaying the difficult task of limiting the Budget expenditure within the resources of the provincial revenue deserves the support of all in his arduous task. This year the task proved almost impossible, and the Government of India allowed the Local Government to estimate for a deficit of Rs. 40,20,000. The very necessity of being compelled to frame a deficit Budget shows paucity of funds and the amount of anxious care, bestowed on the Budget, by the Member in charge. But I regret to be unable to congratulate the Hon'ble Member on the appropriations of revenue to the different requirements of the Presidency. While framing the Budget the Finance Member evidently forgot the Chittagong Division. This oversight will leave the needs of this district unattended to during the next 12 months. If in future years the non-official members are permitted to offer suggestions as to particular needs of their districts to the Member in charge of the Budget beforehand, a repetition of the oversight may be avoided.

The Budget teems with large provisions for the Police. Notwithstanding retrenchment in all directions, the provision for the district police has been increased by nearly Rs. 40,00,000 during the last six years. Similar liberal treatment has been extended to other police forces. In the expenditure under Public Works Department large sums are provided for the police both urban and mufassal. Unfortunately the morale of the force, so magnificently treated, has not improved. Notwithstanding their motor cars, motor launches, palatial barracks and stately offices, the Sub-Inspector and his constables are as diligent in hunting for lucre as in the days of the John Company. The remedy seems to me to appoint educated influential people as panchayats and associate them with the police in all important cases of police investigation. Another remedy lies in enlisting educated men of birth to the police service and to hold out to them good prospects. I may state that the police has dealings with the real people, and a European high police officer, however well intentioned, often finds it well nigh impossible to unravel the toils of his unscrupulous underlings. Induce Indians of the right type to join the police force, my Lord, and in a decade the service will undergo magical transformation.

My Lord, I am glad that the provision for the sanitary improvement of the Presidency has been fixed at Rs. 11,71,000 against Rs. 5,98,000 of the previous year. But even here the case of my neglected town has entirely been overlooked. Chittagong is a growing port town. The Government of Lord Carmichael, rightly recognizing pure drinking water as the first step towards sanitary improvement of a town, granted the magnificent donation of 2 lakhs with a loan of an additional lakh and-a-half for water-works. Thus my native city embarked on its career of new usefulness equipped with the most interesting water-works of India. It may be added that our type is being copied at Puri and in the Punjab. But unfortunately the war intervened and the machinery, oil and coal quadrupled in price. To meet the emergency the Commissioners increased taxes, reduced pressure at the mains and tried various other means. To add to their difficulty the law courts declared that the motors should be provided at the cost of the Municipality. This has threatened the Municipality with financial ruin. I, therefore, take this opportunity of appealing earnestly to Your Lordship for a small grant in aid to the Chittagong Municipality. The sum may be obtained from Rs. 1,52,000 provided as 'special grant at the disposal of the Divisional Commissioners.'

The medical provision has practically remained stationary, i.e., Rs. 26,86,000 against Rs. 27,75,000 of the previous revised Budget. Under this head large sums have been provided for urban medical institutions. No special grant has been received by the Chittagong district.

Provision under this head is Rs. 1,03,01,000 against Rs. 98,13,000 of the previous year. In education, as in sanitation, the bulk of the money has been given away to institutions in or near Calcutta, leaving a small balance to be doled out to different districts. When distributing this dole the Chittagong district has, as usual, been entirely ignored. I may add that the needs of our local college and attached Muhammadan hostel are really great, as is acknowledged by the Government, in the Hon'ble Mr. O'Malley's reply to my questions on the 22nd January, 1918.

My Lord, I beg to appeal to Your Lordship for a small grant to improve the Chaktai Khal of Chittagong from provision under 'Irrigation—Minor Works and Navigation.' Chaktai is the centre of commercial activity of the town, and its improvement is bound to accelerate the growth of Chittagong as a commercial city.

My Lord, the war with its attendant inevitable evils has brought one message of hope to us. I mean that it has offered an opportunity to the Indians to develop their industrial resources. Chittagong is very happily situated so far as industrial activity is concerned. In days of yore the Chittagong sailors sailed in their home-made boats to Burma and other ports of India. The old industry is not yet dead and numerous boats are locally built even in these days. State patronage and encouragement may be extended to this and other indigenous industries. If the Government desires that Indian produce and Indian minerals should not be exploited by foreigners at the expense of the children of the soil, no better opportunity offers than the present to support infant enterprises and create new ones."

"My Lord, I could not catch every word of what the Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie said, but I have had an opportunity since of glancing through his written speech. And I want to say a few words about it. The Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie has referred to the expenditure of time for moving resolutions in this Council. I certainly think that there is a considerable expenditure in that direction. May I ask is there not talk in the gretest legislative assembly of the world—the Parliament and how long and protracted—are the debates ! It would be a sad day for India, if we turned mute and our feelings, wishes and aspirations are choked up. But, my Lord, I think it is necessary to state on behalf of the non-official members who moved resolutions—I myself did not move any resolution at least this session—that there is a great deal of difference in this respect between the European and Indian non-official members. My non-official European friend may know a great deal—which we cannot know—and also gets what he wants without moving any resolutions from his jatbhais who are members of a bureaucracy whom he meets at dinners and other social functions. There is natural sympathy and community of feelings between the two sections of the European community. A very distinguished member of the Government of India, afterwards a member of the Cabinet for some time, once told one of my ancesters that the fate of India is decided at the dinner table. Matters are more satisfactorily settled at dinner table between the official and the non-official Europeans. But we Indians have no opportunity of settling things in this way, and, my Lord, although we sometimes take up the time of the Council we cannot help doing so, because we must have some opportunity of expressing our views in this Council and pressing them upon government.

My Lord, for years past I have been urging upon the necessity of the appointment of a standing finance committee to consider all financial questions, examine the departmental budgets, recurring and non-recurring expenditures, appropriations and transfers, and to find out ways and means for new and pressing schemes, whether suggested from official or non-official quarters, by a close and intimate acquaintance with the details of administration—a knowledge which under the present system the non-official members are precluded from acquiring. I again respectfully ask Your Excellency to yield to our request otherwise the budget discussion becomes academic, uninformed, unprofitable and stale, and leads to a waste of time and energy. In the standing finance committee any non-official member of Your Excellency's Council will have the privilege to submit any scheme for consideration, and if it is approved by Government or the Legislative Council the question of funds may be investigated in the finance committee. The committee shall be presided over by the Vice-President of the Council or the Financial Member, and its proceedings shall be subject to the approval of the Legislative Council. I have outlined a scheme. It is doubtless capable of improvement. Whatever the scheme may be, we want a standing finance committee—a closer association with the details of the administration instead of infructuous debates and ornamental shows. Last year the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell said, in reply to me, that the proposal was not in accordance with the constitution. My Lord, the time has changed, the constitution must be changed along with it. The 'old antediluvian' system as Mr. Montagu has said must give place to a more popular and up-to-date one, otherwise misunderstanding and dissatisfaction will continue to exist. On the other hand, if the non-official members are taken into confidence they will understand the difficulties of administration and become a powerful ally of Government.

I regret to see that no progress has yet been made with the scheme for improvement of primary education in Calcutta. Truly the wheel of the Government's coach moves very slowly. Some three or four years ago a special officer was appointed to report on the condition of primary education in Calcutta. He submitted his report which disclosed a deplorable state of affairs which ought not to be tolerated for a day. Surely, it is high time that something should be done to establish primary education on a satisfactory footing. The Corporation of Calcutta has offered to co-operate, but the Government are not yet ready with the scheme. Not only in Calcutta, but throughout the province the present state of primary education is, in the words of Mr. Hornell, 'profoundly' unsatisfactory. He assured the Council that practical proposals would be put forward, but we have not yet seen any indication of them. But I am glad that a grant of 5½ lakhs has been made which, I hope, will be spent in removing partially the cause of the reproach. There is a great want of good schools for secondary education in Calcutta. The leading collegiate schools are all overcrowded and a number of private secondary schools have come into existence which, however inefficiently, are meeting the public wants to a certain extent. But they are all struggling with their slender means. Their want is chiefly good accommodation and the Director of Public Instruction would do a great public service if he would provide them with funds for suitable school buildings. Of the many regrettable things in the control and conduct of the secondary education, the most glaring is that, while the Imperial grant of lakhs was not made timely and proper use of by the Directorate, fresh cause of suffering, discontent and smarting has been given by the speedy issue and hasty use of a reactionary circular notorious as 'the Turner Circular'. The Hastings House school is a useful institution in its way, but the charges are so high that they preclude men of moderate means from taking advantage of superior education and training in this institution. The Director of Public Instruction said the school is not merely intended for the wealthy, but is established to meet the needs of those who want for their boys a training which the ordinary high school does not provide. But can this laudable object be gained by the imposition of a fee of Rs. 100 for boarders and Rs. 25 for day-scholars. The charges are prohibitive and quite beyond the means of the people, except the wealthy. Surely, the Government have not established this institution at the cost of the public exchequer for the few most wealthy members of our community.

May I inquire what steps are being taken to foster technical education in this Presidency? There is comparatively too much of University education and too little of technical education. To begin with, cannot provision be made for the introduction of manual training in Government schools such as drawing, carpentry, smithy and leather work, etc.?

A very useful grant was generously made to Mr. H. K. Banerjee for training in a railway workshop. Cannot an annual sum be budgetted for the training of young Indians in technical branches of Government and railway service and new avenues of employment opened to them? The tax-payers' money cannot be better spent than in this direction.

Although the expenditure under the head of the police is increasing beyond all limit, still I am sorry to say that the subordinate rank of police officers, who are all Indians, have not met with the attention they deserved. They are a body of faithful, loyal and hard-working servants, but they bemoan their lot that they are not so kindly looked after by the Government. For instance, the pay of head-constables and writer-constables in the Calcutta police are fixed at Rs. 18 rising to Rs. 26. They belong to the bhadralog class and are generally men of education similar to the clerks in Government and mercantile offices. Why should they receive such a miserable pay? I submit that their pay should not be less than Rs. 30 and the more meritorious amongst them should be promoted to the rank of Sub-Inspector, so that they may gradually rise up to the higher grade of the service. I cannot conclude my remarks with regard to the police without thanking the Government most heartily for having promoted a deserying and highly meritorious Indian officer, Rai P. C. Lahiri Bahadur, to the post of Deputy Commissioner of Calcutta police. I hope the appointment will be made permanent, and that similar encouragement will be given to other Indian officers of the police service. While congratulating the Commissioner of Police, Mr. Clarke, on the increase of his salary, I feel I must acquaint Your Excellency of the apathy of the police in regulating the traffic in the northern part of the town, especially in the crowded Indian mercantile quarters, where the police is supremely apathetic, and the obstruction is so great that one can hardly move from one end of a street to the other in less than an hour. The carters obstruct the streets and the footpaths without the slightest compunction and become insolent when asked to move, and the disconcerted traveller wonders whether Mr. Clarke has ceded this part of the British territory to the bail-gariwallas.

Discussion of the Budget.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

The Union Committees now being established in some parts of Bengal, and which will multiply in number, should be provided with larger funds. The recommendations of the Decentralization Committee on the subject should be given effect to. A part of the cesses levied within the area of each union should be given to it to carry out sanitary improvements within the area. The question of water-supply in rural areas has been to the fore for several years past. The re-excavation and provision of reserved tanks for drinking purposes are the crying necessities of the country. A systematic programme should be prepared for the purpose of supplying pure drinking water in rural areas. Coming nearer home may I inquire what is the fate of the scheme for water-supply of riparian municipalities near Calcutta about which we heard much some years ago? A number of Health Officers and Sanitary Inspectors have been appointed under the new Act in some of the municipalities. In my opinion it is a move in the right direction. There should be a sanitary service and Health Officers and Sanitary Inspectors should be attached to all populous Municipalities in Bengal, and the Sanitary Commissioner of Bengal should give them proper guidance to improve the sanitation of the areas entrusted to their charge. It would be interesting to know the effect on the general health of the municipalities where these Health Officers have been working. I do not know whether Health Officers have been appointed in the outlying municipalities near Calcutta. It is important that the sanitation of these municipalities should be well looked after, for the outbreak of an epidemic in these areas would not only work local havoc, but affect the health of Calcutta. With the progress of the operation of the Calcutta Improvement Trust people would be moving outside the city. The suburban municipalities should be rendered healthy and attractive to them. Considerable structural improvements as well as improvements in drainage and water-supply and communications must be made to make the suburbs suitable for residential purposes. The Government should make separate grants for the purpose, as these municipalities are too poor to contribute like Calcutta to the improvement of their areas. It is proposed to take up the improvement of Howrah; I have no objection to it. It ought to be improved. There should be a separate Trust with a separate engineering staff and with local members to form a Board, and a separate fund should be assigned to them instead of over-burdening the Calcutta Trust and draining its resources, which are intended solely for the improvement of Calcutta. This is the deliberate opinion of the Indian members of the Trust. However anxious our able Chairman,

Discussion of the Budget.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur.

Mr. Bompas, may be to extend his raj separation of the local Trust will work more expeditiously and satisfactorily than the over-burdened and over-worked Calcutta Trust. May I inquire in this connection what is the fate of a permanent Howrah bridge? A sum of fifteen thousand and seven hundred rupees have been budgetted for payment to the expert, Mr. Basil Mott. May I inquire what is his advice, and whether the permanent bridge will be a reality within a measurable distance of time? Speaking on sanitation in Calcutta I desire to draw Your Excellency's attention to the abominable condition of the canal on the Eastern boundary of Calcutta. The canal is in a most filthy condition and the water is no better than poisonous sewage. The Corporation have spent several lakhs in the improvement of the fringe area. It is now an excellent area with new broad roads and well-sanitated houses. But the canal is a perpetual menace to the health of the locality. Is there no one responsible for it?

I find that the pay and allowances of the Collector of Income-tax and also of the Collector of Calcutta is to be raised. It is to be regretted that while the emoluments of the Collector of Income-tax are increased the other officers under him upon whom devolve the stupendous work of assessment and the additional work in consequence of the changes in the Income-tax Law have been passed over. Their responsibilities are great and they certainly deserve well of Government, and I hope they will be granted a proportionate increase to their pay and allowances.

In this connection, I would draw attention to the present block in promotion in the Executive branch of the Provincial Civil Service. The block seems to be the result of the action of Government in adding considerably to the number of posts in the lower grade of the service, leaving the higher grades just as they were. Promotions to the higher grades become in consequence much rarer than they were before, and the block has not only continued for years, but it seems it is growing more acute every year. Naturally there is disappointment and discontent in the service.

I understand that the lowest pay of the ministerial establishment in East Bengal is Rs. 30 which was fixed by the Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam, while the lowest pay in West Bengal is Rs. 25. This disparity has created great discontent and Rs. 25 is not a living wage to an honest family man. May I appeal to Government to equalize the pay by raising the lowest pay from Rs. 25 to Rs. 30 in re-united Bengal? My Lord, we are passing through a period of exceptional hardship and strain. We are all hard hit by the war, and none more so than the poorer bhadralog class and the bulk of your ministerial officers come from this community. Living has become exceptionally dear. Every commodity has gone up in price and the wearing apparel, especially the cloth, has gone up in price beyond the avarice of the keenest speculator. There is much distress in the country. I appeal to Government to consider whether a war allowance cannot be granted, say, at the rate of 10 per cent., to all Government servants drawing salaries below Rs. 100.

In the Post and Telegraph Departments under the Government of India, as well as in most Railways, ministerial officers have been granted a temporary increase on their pay on account of high prices. The Bombay Government is also considering the desirability of granting such allowances. I submit, therefore, my suggestion for a war allowance to the underpaid officers under Your Excellency's Government is worthy of consideration.

In this connection I would draw the attention of Government to the fact that peons and orderlies in Calcutta and mufassal offices under the Government of Bengal are paid a monthly salary of Rs. 8 and Rs. 6, respectively. It is well known that the pay of domestic servants in Calcutta has gone up to Rs. 10 and Rs. 12 and in the mufassal to Rs. 8 and Rs. 10. It is hardly possible in these hard times for these poor people to subsist on Rs. 6 or Rs. 8, the present low salary, not to speak of maintaining their family. A small increase to their salary will be an act of bare justice. It would also go to some extent to check corruption, which inevitably follows in the wake of low pay and want of means.

Discussion of the Budget.

Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari.

Before I leave this subject, I desire to draw Your Excellency's attention to the case of the reporters of this Council. For the Bengal Legislative Council with 53 members, there are only three reporters on Rs. 200 rising to Rs. 300, whereas for the Imperial Legislative Council with 64 members, there are six reporters on Rs. 400 to Rs. 600. The work of this Council is not less onerous and heavy, and I hope that the Hon'ble the Vice-President will take this into his kind consideration.

Speaking on the subject of high prices it is satisfactory to note that the Government have begun to tackle the price of salt. Much more serious is the price of cloth, and the people have been very much affected by the extraordinary rise. The Government cannot increase the supply, but it can and ought to put a stop to all profiteering speculation. We do not know the amount of stock in cloth. We are prepared to bear hardships incidental to the devastating war, but the Government should see that this troublous time is not seized upon by manufacturers and middlemen for making extraordinary profit to the misery of the people."

The Hon'ble DR. DEBA PRASAD SARBADHIKARI said :—

It is a matter of satisfaction that the privilege of making general observations in connection with the Budget still continues, though the privilege of moving separate resolutions in this connection previous to the debate, as well as of moving resolutions connected with questions of importance from time to time still continues. Some are inclined to look upon this as a remnant of pre-historic times when the Budget debate was the only occasion open to Members to refer to questions of public interest unconnected with the various Bills brought before the Council from time to time by the Government. From this point of view some are inclined to curtail this privilege. others are in favour of doing away with it altogether. It strikes me that the time-limit of 15 minutes is as much of a curtailment as might be reasonably insisted on and that no further curtailment ought to be thought of, at least at the present stage.

The various resolutions moved in connection with the Budget touch different questions or different aspects of the same question, and a general debate like this assists in comprehensive survey of the whole situation. It is a matter of gratification that sanitation and education—two outstanding questions of public importance and interest—have engaged most of the attention of the Council. There has been some slight non-official success at the Council debate in connection with these resolutions, which shows that when Members are able to bring forward practical suggestions upon which agreement among non-official Members is possible, it is possible to carry a resolution even without a division as was notably illustrated in connection with an important resolution of Sir Rajendra Nath Mukherji.

It is a matter of great concern to us that the original educational figures were reduced in the revised statement. No reason for this was put forward except war conditions. War conditions prevailed even when the first draft statement was prepared and a more generous educational allotment was made. But, as during the last year, at the last moment the provision is cut down on the plea that all the expenditure that can be put off should be stopped. Why education should come under this category is not very clear, and I claim that readiness for post-war reforms will largely depend upon how we shape our education to-day. There is room for expenditure for the whole of the amount originally provided and much more. Here at all events there can be no question of absence of definite schemes, for schemes we have in abundance which can be fully matured within a short time and some are quite mature. We want money for bettering our State and State-aided schools and colleges, we want money for bettering our unaided schools and colleges, we want money for strengthening University education and for nursing industrial education, we want money for placing female education on more assured basis, all of which would absorb more than the amount of reduction. We realize that owing to war conditions this is only a temporary set-back, and sincerely hope that as soon as the times improve the amounts held back will be forthcoming for the various ear-marked purposes. But even during the war and really for the purposes of the war. industrial education has to be fostered more than ever. And movements like those terminating in the Bengali Regiment, the Bengal Light Horse, and the Calcutta University Corps might well be financed to a certain extent from the provincial point of view though they have a distinctly Imperial point of view also. The good name of Bengal as a military recruiting ground can be revived at a comparatively small cost. and one notices with disappointment that no provision towards this end finds place in the Budget.

Discussion of the Budget.

Dr. Deba Prasad Sarbadhikari.

It is noticeable that under education there was a decrease of Rs. 5,30,000 last year, which is said to be due to savings under grants-in-aid and Imperial grants. This is a saving of a very questionable nature with so many urgent schemes waiting for support. Such a saving has been attempted this year also, for at page 5 of the Amended Draft Financial Statement we are told the decrease of Rs. 16,99,000 is due to savings in the Imperial grants and in the grant for the Calcutta hostels. As a matter of fact the whole of this is not savings strictly speaking, but is either ear-marked and is awaiting expenditure or has been held up.

The reference to the grant for Calcutta hostels is in regard, I suppose, to the sum of Rs. 3,35,000, which the Government of Bengal have long been under obligation to pay to the University towards its new hostel schemes. It may be in the recollection of some Members that on a previous occasion the Government of India had made a grant of Rs. 10,00,000 for Calcutta hostels which was not, therefore, applied for the purpose of these hostels but was diverted to various purposes, into the details of which it is unnecessary now to go. There was a subsequent grant of Rs. 10,00,000 by the Government of India to the University direct for the erection of the long-deferred hostels. It was thereupon arranged as a result of a conferrence that the balance in the hands of the Government of Bengal out of the previous grant amounting to Rs. 3,39,000 should be paid towards the University hostels and a scheme was accordingly prepared. In the preparation of this scheme, a somewhat liberal estimate was framed, according to the standard of the Public Works Department, and it was expected that the whole of the Rs. 13,39,000. Rigid economy and close personal supervision, however, enabled the University during the last four years to construct these hostels at a lower expenditure, in spite of the rise in prices due to the war. The work was tested at every step by the Public Works Department, and has been passed as satisfactory. In regard to the preparation of the scheme and supervision we had considerable assistance from Your Excellency's Public Works Department and from the Government Architect, which obligation I take this opportunity of acknowledging. It shows how good work can be secured cheap if the requisite goodwill prevails among those concerned, and though I am unable to state yet what the actual savings will be, I have reasons to believe that the savings will not be inconsiderable. I claim again, as I have often claimed already, that these savings ought to be devoted to the construction of hostels for students who are not ordinarily admitted to the general hostels owing to caste reasons. The authorities are naturally anxious that effective steps should be taken to reconcile all points of view, and that the strength of the hostel scheme, as a whole, should not be neutralized by reason of this weakness. The Director of Public Instruction has been good enough to inform me that he will be prepared to finance temporary hostels for Namasudras, Jogis and Sahas, and that is an acceptable relief so far. But the whole thing will have to be placed on a permanent basis, and it can only be done by constructing permanent hostels for these classes, as well as for our Buddhist students. The savings that we have been able to effect, and other sums, will be necessary, and I hope they will be forthcoming. It is, therefore, with some surprise that I read at page 4 of the Amended Draft Financial Statement some words which used not to figure at this place formerly. I suggest that the Rs. 3,39,000 which is shown as 'saving' is intended for the purposes that I indicate and not for a hostel for the Bethune College as the words I complain of, would indicate. As a member of the Governing Body of the Bethune College, and as one devoted to the cause of female education, no one is more keenly interested in a hostel for the Bethune College than I am. As an occassional Inspector of the College I have often pressed this on the authorities, but on no account could we consent to the diversion of any portion of this Rs. 3,35,000 for the Bethune College; that has to be constructed out of other funds of the Government and not out of the funds which have all along been intended as we understood for building hostels for private colleges.

I would once again very strongly appeal for the restoration of the grant to private colleges which, though nominally provided in the Budget for the last three years, has not been paid except in small driblets for special purposes. When the University Regulations were framed it was fully recognized that the colleges out of their own resources could not possibly effect the improvement insisted upon by the University, and in full view of this, the special grant to private colleges was provided, as well as the grant for the University mess scheme, for enhancing which I unsuccessfully appealed to the Council. Though my resolution for the larger mess grant failed, I trust some further relief will be given towards the scheme out of the private college grant, as has recently been done for special purposes like furnishing the new hostels. I would assure the Council once again that the University mess scheme cannot be properly run with the limited grant now given. In this connection I desire to acknowledge the efforts of the Government for placing the messing scheme of medical students on a better footing. The medical students had so long escaped the requirements of the residence law and it was only last year that by constant pressure the matter was taken up. We have difficulties in the case of law students also, but these we are trying to overcome because the generosity of the Government to the Law College still continues. It is distinctly reassuring to have a large grant for aiding primary education, and, if a proper scheme be prepared and the public be taken into the confidence of the Government, a good scheme with great results may be achieved during the next few months. It is unfortunate, however, that the scheme for bettering the status of the professors and teachers as a whole, sympathetically referred to by His Excellency the Viceroy, is practically in abeyance, and till this scheme matures neither primary education nor secondary education will be on a sound basis.

We are gratified to be reassured in connection with the Budget resolution and in other connections that the questions of bettering the prospects of the members of the Subordinate Judicial Service and of the Subordinate Provincial Educational Service are engaging the attention of Government. We trust tangible results will soon be forthcoming. The recommendations of the Public Services Commission in connection with the educational service have been exhaustibly considered by a special committee, which Your Excellency recently appointed, and the recommendations of that committee also are before Government. There can, therefore, be no reason for delaying the schemes for bettering the prospects of members of the Educational Service in the different branches. With regard to the Judicial Service it is needless to say anything further after what has been said here on behalf of the Government and we can only hope for the best.

The reassurance about the schemes for allaying the effects of Damodar Floods is also welcome. It is doubly welcome to be reassured that a sum of Rs. 20,000 is expected to achieve very large results. We trust this is not too optimistic a view. In the meantime the minor works provided in the Budget in connection with the scheme will bring some relief. I was concerned to hear from the Hon'ble Mr. Cowley in connection with some resolution before this Council that even this minor scheme might be delayed. I sincerely trust that this will not be delayed, and we hope that before long the people, though accustomed to long suffering, will have to stand no further trials. The village that honoured itself by being the birth-place of Raja Rammohan Ray is about to be honoured by having a suitable memorial of the great Raja raised after many years. This is making Radhanagar a centre of attention not only in many parts of this country, but of the wider world where the Raja's labours are known and appreciated. Now, more than ever, is the time for protecting the village and its neighbourhood from devastation of flood.

There is an acceptable increase of revenue, amounting to over Rs. 52,00,000, which has probably assisted in easing the situation to a certain extent. Rupees 9.00,000 of this sum, however, comes from Excise. The increase was originally estimated at Rs. 10,00.000, but according to the Revised Financial Statement it is Rs. 9,00,000. We do not know the basis either of the one or the other estimate, and are told that the increase which is chiefly in Calcutta, is due to the prevention of dilution and the fixation of maximum prices. This is said to have contributed to a larger increase in the consumption of licit country spirits.

If the suggestion is that there is a certain number of ill-conditioned people, who would prefer diluted and cheap liquor, and who ordinarily indulge in liquor of illicit manufacture, they have probably been given the chance of improving their taste by dilution being stopped and by prices being raised. It has been a complaint on the part of Temperance workers that too high license fees, while to a certain extent discounting the inordinate increase of shops, has the corresponding evil effect of compelling shop-keepers to force and canvass for better sale, so that they may not be put to loss or what they consider as loss. We have had a recent illustration of how these high license fees must recoil on the situation. There was, within what is now going to be the 'dry educational area'. a shop in Maniktala Street—a comparatively obscure locality—and as soon as this shop was dislodged, owing to the requirements of the dry area, it was shifted to a very prominent and attractive position in a public thoroughfare, declared as such by the municipality, viz., Beadon Street. There has been strong public protest against this location. Residents of the locality and Christian ministers of the Church, educationists, professional men and the general public have strongly protested against this site, and have pointed out less objectionable sites down some lane; but the site selected by the department will flourish, though within close proximity of bazars, educational institutions, theatres and places of public worship. The increased license fees paid monthly by the vendor will have to be made good and the thoroughfare from which other public pests had been removed is to have a grog-shop planted on it because the other side of the road happens to be the legal boundary of the dry area. It stands to reason that the dry area can be only nominally so with so much wet in its immediate neighbourhood and it would hardly be a matter of surprise if the increase of Rs. 9,00,000 which we are having to-day may be more during the next year. It would be no answer to say that the increase is in country liquor and the shop in question has probably no license for sale of country liquor. Public protests like this have gone in vain before. My Muhammadan colleagues will remember how fruitless have their and our exertions been to remove the grog-shop in Wellington Street opposite the Muhammadan hostel in Bowbazar. We are very thankful for the experimental dry area scheme and I trust such scheme will be given a real chance. They may well be extended in Calcutta and the mufassal. In speaking of the efforts of the Temperance workers last year, the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell with his usual candour said that they need not lay to their heart the flattering unction that the decrease in excise revenue last year was due to their efforts or to the appreciation of their efforts. He practically said that the defect would correct itself at the earliest possible opportunity and we see that that opportunity has not been long in coming. While we recognize that the Government policy in the matter of excise has been steadily progressing for the better of late, there are unpleasant features which make one anxious. and some of the matters that I have just referred to are but a portion of those unpleasant features. We must not forget what is being done in England and America towards excise reform in the larger interest of humanity, and Government here must make up its mind to do without excise revenue in time. And in the meantime they have to put down such revenues as much as possible, consistently of course with the need also of putting down licit manufacture and traffic. The All-India Temperance Conference during the last cold weather emphasized the need of reform in important directions to which I would earnestly draw the attention of this Council. All friends of the country and of the Temperance cause must insist that excise revenues should not be lightly allowed to increase and that all possible steps should be taken to control the evil. We do not say that the Government deliberately takes steps to force larger sales. At the same time, we cannot shut our eyes to obvious results which makes one uneasy and anxious. Our insistent appeal must be for reduction of consumption all round. One obvious suggestion that ought to be acceptable to the department would be reduction of the time during which hostels and restaurants are kept open. 9-30 P.M. is an hour suggested by Temperance Workers as has been done in Great Britain and as the hour bell reminding me that my time is up has just been rung I close my remarks with the suggestion for time-limit. Let us have this, at least as a war economy."

Discussion of the Budget.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI said :—

" My Lord, though I am one of the sinners in the direction complained of by my friend the Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie, I do not wish to take Your Excellency's time by adding anything to what has already been said by my friend the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur. The only explanation is that I do not know in what other way we may make known the grievances of our constituents to the authorities other than by a discussion in this Council. I now proceed to make some observations on the Budget.

The year 1917-18 has been estimated to end with the largest closing balance shown since the year 1912-13. This result, however, is not due to the rise of ordinary revenue but to a pretty large sale of quinine and other materials for war, and to a large saving in expenditure, mainly account for the gain over the estimated closing balance of Rs. 3,15,58,000. The net gain Rs. 61,94,000 consists of—

	Rs.
(i) rise in opening balance	12,85,000
(ii) net increase in revenue	21,53,000
(iii) net decrease in expenditure	27,56,000

Discussion of the Budget.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

The explanation given in regard to the Revised Budget is quite insufficient for thoroughly realizing the nature of the changes. I wish a separate explanatory sheet giving the details and the reasons for the alterations were attached to the Financial Statement. I hope this will be done in the future. I may be permitted here to explain the reasons of my complaint. There was a provision of Rs. 98,13,000 for educational expenditure in the Budget for 1917-18. In explaining the Revised Estimate it is stated that under head 'Education' the original Budget was reduced by Rs. 16,99,000 due to saving in the Imperial grant and the grant for Calcutta hostels (page 3). At page 22, however, in showing how the Imperial grants of Rs. 30,15,000 are likely to be expended in 1917-18, it is shown that the probable expenditure in 1917-18 would amount to Rs. 20,81,000 under 'Education' and a sum of Rs. 1,15,000 under 'Public Works Department' and that the saving in the Imperial grants would amount to Rs. 8,19,000. It is also explained at page 21 that the decrease of Rs. 16,99,000 is due to the fact that the Imperial grants, especially the grant of 9 lakhs, for improving the pay and training of teachers, and the grant of Rs. 3,39,000 for Calcutta hostels were not fully utilized and to the transfer of certain grants. Excluding the Imperial grant of Rs. 30,15,000 the original Budget provision for Education under several sub-heads amounted to Rs. 67,98,000 and the revised provision under these heads amounted to Rs. 81,14,000. So there was an excess expenditure of Rs. 13,16,000 only. How these Rs. 20,81,000 of the Imperial grants could be spent is not at all clear. Whatever expenditure out of the Educational grant is incurred under the Public Works Department either by transfer, or as original provision, ought to be clearly shown or noticed in connection with the Educational grant. In the absence of these informations it is very difficult for us to get an insight into the Budget and our criticism must necessarily be prefunctory and it may not be to the point.

The question naturally arises why of all other subjects Education should suffer so heavy a loss or, in other words, why it should thus be neglected, Out of a grant of Rs. 98,13,000 allotted to Education, Rs. 16,99,000 or Rs. 15,84,000, after deducting Rs. 1,15,000 provided under Public Works Department, could not be spent within the year. To my mind it is a public grievance and the public has a right to demand a satisfactory explanation as to where the difficulty arises in spending the sum allotted and with whom the responsibility lies, for its non-fulfilment. We, the non-official members are the people's representatives, and have been crying hoarse in this Council for a larger grant and for greater facilities for Education which is at its lowest ebb in this country. The illiteracy of the masses is rather apalling as compared with the progress of Education in other civilized countries. For want of funds no educational arrangements have yet been made to make the best use of the vast resources of the country and its dying industries, and yet the Education Department, so well organized and well qualified, is unable to spend the sanctioned sum of Rs. 98,13,000. If, however, for some reason or other the whole allotment could not be spent within the year, the unspent balance ought to have been re-allotted for the very use for which it was originally intended. We are told at page 4 that it has been impossible to provide for the re-grant of unspent balances of Imperial grants for Education and some other heads, as under the orders of the Government of India, the provincial balances are not available for expenditure without special sanction. Sanction, however, was sought for and granted for utilizing Rs. 40,20,000 of this unspent balance and a list is appended to show how this sum is proposed to be spent. Three Educational grants are mentioned in the list but it appears that they are met from the ordinary allotment of the year. My complaint is that the whole unspent balance of the Educational grants ought to have been given for the expenditure which could not be undertaken or finished within the year 1917-18. We are grateful to the Government of India for the lump provision of 5½ lakhs for the development of Primary Education. The sum, however, is very inadequate but I hope the best possible use of this grant will be made as early as possible and the much-needed arrangement for Compulsory Primary Education, at least in selected areas, may be given a start.

I moved a resolution unsuccessfully on the Budget this year for reducing the rates of the fees to those previously obtaining in the Government colleges. I hope Government will reconsider this matter as I have every apprehension that this increment is very likely to affect the spread of high education which is so much needed in this country.

The question of the annual exodus to Darjeeling was discussed at length last year during the Budget debate by the Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray. A resolution for curtailing the exodus expenses was unsuccessfully moved at the Dacca meeting of this Council in August last. The question, however, is well worthy of serious consideration of Government. Is it really beneficial to the work of Government and does it tend to increase their efficiency, as the Hon'ble Mr. Lyon put it in the last Budget debate? If necessary at all, why not restrict it to one summer trip only? The Autumn trip at least can safely be curtailed. A stay of over three months at Darjeeling during the summer ought to be considered sufficient to renovate the energies of the Secretariat staff. The Puja vacation may be utilized by those who have a special fascination for the bracing hill climate of September or October. Public revenue should not suffer for that. Circumstances, my Lord, demand the strictest economy on all possible sides.

The most noticeable feature in the Budget is that the police expenditure is gradually expending. The ever-growing police expenditure is not only a menace but a positive obstacle to the development of other branches of the administration. It is really scandalous that Government should turn a deaf ear to the popular clamour against it. Police and police buildings have swallowed up 24 per cent. of the entire revenue for the year. With due deference to the Government view and the opinion of some of the non-official members on the subject, I am bound to say that this heavy expenditure at the present moment has no justification. It is high time, my Lord, that a special committee of this Council, both official and non-official, should enquire and consider how to check this growing demand of the Police Department. As I have shown above, a large saving under Education has been encroached upon by the police in the new Budget.

I am glad to notice that agriculture and sanitation have received more attention this year. The Calcutta University also has recognized the importance of agricultural education and has created a Faculty for Agriculture along with one for Commerce. I hope greater attention would be paid and Agricultural Demonstration Farms would be widely started and the result of these farms would also be widely circulated in vernacular and field demonstrators in agriculture would render all possible help to the agriculturists.

North Bengal is specially infected with malaria and the death-rate from fever there is abnormally high in comparison with Calcutta. Pure drinking water and proper drainage are absolutely necessary for an effective check upon the ravages of malaria. The river Atrai and the Chalan Bhil in the Rajshahi district should be thoroughly investigated. I am glad Government also feel the need for the same. The water-works for the Natore Municipality have been provided this year and the town is sure to be benefited by the project, but side by side proper drainage of the town should also be taken up.

It is a matter of regret my Lord, that India with its vast resources should be dependent upon foreign countries for its ordinary necessities of life. A very vast area is under cotton cultivation in India, but we are to depend upon foreign countries for even the clothes of ordinary use. Enormous quantities of jute grow in the country, but the jute-growers are in extreme proverty for the want of a market on account of shipping difficulties. With full development of industry, commerce and agriculture and educational facilities. India is sure to be self-contained and altogether independent of foreign help. That surely is the paramount aim of Government and that is the aspiration of every Indian patriot."

Discussion of the Budget.

The Hon'ble MR. PROVASH CHANDRA MITTER said :—

"My Lord, I should like to offer a few preliminary remarks about the position of the general revenues of the province. If we turn to the first page of the Civil Budget Estimate, which was circulated. we find that the total revenue of the whole province comes to Rs. 2,363 lakhs and odd and out of that the appropriation of the Imperial Government amounts to Rs. 1,666 lakhs and odd and that of the Provincial Government is only Rs. 696 lakhs and odd. If we turn to the account for 1916-17 we find that the total revenue was Rs. 2,074 lakhs and the appropriation of the Imperial Government was Rs. 1,412 lakhs and odd, whereas the appropriation of our Government was Rs. 662 lakhs and odd. Now, my Lord, in drawing attention to this my only object is to have an investigation for the future as to how our contributions compare with those of the other provinces. I am fully aware that Imperial expenditure on heads like Army and Navy, General Administration and other necessities of Imperial concern must have precedence, but the point for consideration is whether the different provinces bear their share properly and legitimately. Now, my Lord, looking at the total figures of 1915-16 of the Imperial Government I find that out of a total revenue of 85 million pounds the Provincial revenue is 30 million pounds and the Imperial revenue 55 millions. If we work out on this basis we find that our province is contributing about a crore of rupees more than other provinces. I may be mistaken in my figures, but I would respectfully ask the Government and my colleagues to investigate the point further as a question of future importance, and the question may be one of very great importance in view of the coming reforms with regard to the future settlement or surrender or contribution of revenue after those reforms. My Lord, the Imperial Government gets a net revenue of 15 crores and odd after meeting an expenditure of 1 crore and odd out of a gross income of 16 crores and odd, whereas Your Excellency's Government gets only 6 crores and odd. With those preliminary remarks about the situation of the general revenue of the province I desire to pass on to some of the important items of our Budget, and before proceeding with my criticisms and suggestions I should like very shortly to indicate some of the heads on which I beg to offer my respectful congratulations to the Government.

The most notable of these heads are certain items provided for education, for sanitation, for agriculture and for certain items of miscellaneous and scientific departments. My Lord, these are expenditure which go towards the development of the people and they are of great importance in nation-building in the true sense of the word.

As regards the contribution on the head of Education, I desire to point out that the provision of Rs. 27,67,000 in the place of the actuals of 1916-17—Rs. 20,62,000 with regard to the expenditure for Government schools is a very commendable increase. Then, my Lord, there is the grant of Rs. 5,50,000 on primary education to which some of my Hon'ble friends have drawn the attention of this Council.

Then about sanitation some of the notable items are set out at page 24, sub-paragraphs 4 and 5. One about Rs. 2,25,000 for the Government contribution regarding the Aruil Bhil in Jessore and the other of Rs. 1,50,000 for the Jabuna in the 24-Parganas are items which I believe will prove very beneficial to the people. I happen to know, My Lord, some part of the country and I venture to assert with confidence that if the scheme can be properly taken up and worked by the District Board it will alleviate the preventible misery to a great extent and the people will be greatly benefited by the latter contribution.

Discussion of the Budget.

Mr. Provash Chandra Mitter.

The next item on which I venture to felicitate the Government is for the provision of Rs. 1 lakh for the distribution of Kakai-Bombai jute and Indrasal paddy as also an increased staff in the Agricultural and Co-operative Departments which were all set out in the Budget. These again, are expenditures which will help in the development of the resources of the country, from which the raiyats will derive great benefit and from which all sections of the community will ultimately be greatly benefited.

Lastly, there is a small item of Rs. 20,000 for the extension of Cinchona cultivation which I venture to think will lead to very good results, but I have certain suggestions and criticisms to offer with regard to this point and I will deal with it later.

My Lord, I have one more important item, namely, the provision of full augmentation grants to District Boards. I believe that the District Boards will take full advantage of this further sum placed at their disposal and I only hope that the regrettable experince of 1913 to 1916 will not be repeated again. When, my Lord, the large sum of Rs. 29 lakhs was set free in favour of the District Boards for rural sanitary improvements, the improvement of water-supply, etc., the general public expected, and I venture to think they had every right to expect, that the District Boards would take advantage of the sum which was placed at their disposal, but unfortunately past history shows that they had not their schemes ready and that instead of spending this sum of money for the sanitary improvement of the locality within their jurisdiction they increased their closing balance. In one year the closing balance amounted to Rs. 51 lakhs out of a total income of Rs. 107 lakhs and next year to Rs. 13 lakhs out of Rs. 1 crore. The public complained through their representatives in the Council Chamber. I ought to point out, however, after the issue of certain Government circulars matters have improved. I should like at this stage to express the hope and to warn that the District Boards (at any rate those which have non-official Chairmen) should take full advantage of the augmentation grant.

My Lord, these are the points on which I have ventured to congratulate the Government. Now I proceed to make certain suggestions and criticisms with regard to the Forest revenue and the administration of the Forest Department. Certain figures are helpful. I find, my Lord, in the Moral and Material Progress of India the total forest area is 10,612 square miles, out of that 4,871 is reserved, 1,711 is protected and 4,030 is enclosed forest. The estimated gross revenue is only Rs. 16 lakhs and odd and the estimated gross expenditure is Rs. 7,56,000. My Lord, a simple calculation will show that the gross revenue yields about one pice to the acre. I am not an expert, but is there good reason why the yield is so small, as it is a matter of common knowledge that the price of fuel, wood, timber and other necessaries of life have gone up considerably. I venture to think that there is something wrong somewhere. There is some want of organization, there is some want of touch between the consumers and the Department and my only object in drawing attention of Your Excellency's Government to this point is, that I hope that the matter will be investigated and that a large area of 10,612 square miles in a populated province like that of ours with its splendid water-ways and with its splendid railways should be properly developed and our forest revenue increased.

Discussion of the Budget.

Dr. Abdulla-al-Mamun Sukrawardy.

Then there is the item of chincona cultivation which I referred to before. The reports of your Lordship's Government show that there are two plantations and that the total area of these two plantations is 2.300 acres. Both these plantations are in the district of Darjeeling; under favourable conditions, due to military requirements, they yielded last year about Rs. 8 lakhs, but the average income was Rs. 5 to Rs. 5½ lakhs. For half square mile (half square mile really means only 400 square yards or thereabouts) if an income of Rs. 5 to Rs. 8 lakhs could be derived, there must be other localities in that district near about these plantations with similar conditions, where by the extension of the chincona cultivation, under the experts' advice, something like 8 or 10 square miles, a total income of about half a crore could be secured. Here again, I speak with a good deal of diffidence because it is a matter pre-eminently for experts, but at the same time, knowing the climatic conditions of the district as I do, I believe that similar localities can perhaps be found and my only object in drawing the attention of the Government to this matter is that there may be further investigations about it. It is hardly necessary for me to dilate on the great importance of the extension of the chincona cultivation in a malarious-stricken province like Bengal apart from its financial importance.

With regard to the Budget for Education, I venture to think it is somewhat regrettable that the Rs. 9 lakhs which are allotted for the improvement of the training and pay of teachers were not fully utilized last year. Under the heading of total probable expenditure in 1917-18 only Rs. 2,14,000 was spent. I realize that on the first year of the working of the grant there might have been difficulties, but I do hope that in the current year the full amount will be utilized.

The Hon'ble DR. ABDULLA-AL-MAMUN SUHRAWARDY said :—

"My Lord, the general features of the Budget have already been discussed by other Hon'ble members and they do not call for any further comments from me. But there are a few topics of special interest to me and my community which justify my making a few observations. Last year I dwelt at some length on the importance of Technical and Commercial education to Muslims. Since then the matter has assumed increasing importance. The University of Calcutta has realized the urgent need of opening new lines of study and new careers for the young men of Bengal, and has just submitted its recommendations to His Excellency the Chancellor to provide for the Bachelor's Degree Examinations in Agriculture, Technology and Commerce. There are departments of Government, like the Department of Agriculture, which require in candidates for employment, special qualifications in some of the subjects indicated above. Consequently, Muslim candidates, lacking the necessary technical knowledge, are debarred from obtaining appointments in these departments, despite Government circulars for the increasing employment of Muslims in every branch of the administration. The paucity of Muslim students in Government professional colleges is obvious from the statement laid on the table in answer to a question put by me at the Council meeting of the 4th September last. It appears from the statement that in the Calcutta Medical College, for instance, out of 1,040 students there are only 45 Muslims. Strenuous and earnest efforts, my Lord, should undoubtedly be made in the first instance, by prominent Muslims to bring the Muhammadan students into line with the students of other advancing communities which have early read the signs of the times. Otherwise they will find themselves once more hopelessly beaten in the battle of life and wake up too late in the day to find positions of power and influence already occupied by others. At the same time nothing substantial is likely to be achieved without Government support and encouragement. The crime of the Muslims, my Lord, is their poverty. Without a liberal award of Government stipends and scholarships it would be difficult to induce an increasing number of Muslim students to undergo the long. arduous and expensive course of study required in professional schools and colleges. I earnestly trust that Your Excellency's Government will reserve special scholarships for Muslim students in the professional schools and colleges. and afford them facilities for admission by reserving for them a number of vacancies in these institutions. Whilst on the subject of education, my Lord, I may be permitted to invite Your Excellency's attention to a just grievance of Muslim students studying in the I. A. and B.A. classes in such Calcutta colleges as do not provide for the teaching of Arabic and Persian. In order to satisfy the University authorities, these students have to attend a course of lectures in Arabic and Persian at the University. Apart from the inconvenience of attending lectures experienced by students of colleges at a distance from the Senate House all of them have to pay an extra monthly fee to the University in addition to the fee they have to pay to their respective colleges. The result is, that in some cases, poor Muslim students have to give up Arabic and Persian and study Sanskrit and Pali instead. I hope the University authorities will see their way to reduce or remit the extra fee which they realize from these Muslim students.

Discussion of the Budget.

Dr. Abdulla-al-Mamun Suhrawardy.

My Lord, there is another matter connected with the University which is of the utmost importance to students of History. The foundation of a Chair of Oriental History and Culture is one of the foremost needs of the premier University in the East. The Carmichael Professorship of Ancient Indian History and Culture has partially supplied the need. I hope before long Government will be in a position to make a substantial grant to the University for the creation of the Ronaldshay Professorship of Islamic History and Culture.

My Lord, the extension of hostel accommodation for Muslim is also a matter to which I invite the attention of the authorities. The building in Mirzapore Street in which Muslim law students are miserably housed offers a striking contrast to the grand structure close by with electric installation and other conveniences for Hindu law students. I trust the university will adequately recognize the claims of Muhammadan students and provide better hostel accommodation for them.

Last year, my Lord, I invited the attention of Government to the sovereign importance of the encouragement of female education amongst Muslims. I fail to discover in the Budget estimate any special provision for its promotion and encouragement. As the Secretary of the Suhrawardy Muslim Girls' School I have to experience the usual difficulties which beset the path of workers in the cause of female education, and I assure Your Excellency that without generous assistance from Government all private efforts in the direction of education of Muslim girls are doomed to failure. One of the chief obstacles in the way of progress is the difficulty of getting trained teachers. There is a Training School in Calcutta for Hindu female teachers, and it is high time for Government to establish a similar school for Muslims. The intellectual regeneration of Muslims, I repeat, can never be achieved unless we lift up the veil of ignorance which separates the Zenana from the world of light.

My Lord, as the Philological Secretary of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, I welcome the allowance to it of Rs. 9,600 for standard and useful works and I avail myself of the present opportunity of expressing my grateful thanks to Government for sanctioning the renewal to the Society of a grant of Rs. 3,000 for a further period of five years for the publication of Arabic and Persian works of historical interest.

Discussion of the Budget.

Maulvi Abul Kasem.

"My Lord, from the answer to a question put by me it appears that on the 1st June 1917 the number of prisoners in the jails of this Presidency was 14,509. Of these 8,660 were Muhammadans, 5,422 were Hindus and Sikhs and only 79 were Christians. In the jails, the Muslims have the unenviable distinction of occupying a position of bad eminence. I need hardly say that some efforts should be made to improve this state of affairs. Two Chaplains are attached to the Alipore Central Jail for the benefit of the very few Christian prisoners there and a sum of Rs. 1,200 is set apart in the Budget estimate as the allowance of the Roman Catholic Chaplain attached to the Central Jail. I find no such provision for any Hindu Priest or Muslim Maulvi attached to any jail in Bengal. I invite the attention of Government to this anomaly and wonder why in this case the first should be last and the last first.

My Lord, I now pass on to a subject which has engaged the earnest attention of Your Excellency In your address to the District Boards on the 29th January last Your Excellency has described in eloquent terms the grim tragedy disclosed by your enquiries into the nature of malaria. An unhappy victim to the fell disease, I add my testimony based on personal experience in support of its description as 'the most virulent of all diseases which afflict the people of Bengal.' A cold shiver passes through me at its very mention, and the gaunt spectre of death flits before my eyes. In the words of Your Excellency 'it gnaws steadily and relentlessly into the vitality of the people.' It cuts off many a valuable life, blasts many a bright career, prevents many a man from fulfilling the promise of his early years. To combat such a disease is one of the ambitions of Your Excellency and I have no doubt that Your Excellency's name will go down to posterity and be cherished and remembered with gratitude as that of one of the great benefactors of humanity. Like Your Excellency, I am impatient of delay at the slow progress made in the fight against the ravages of Malaria. Not to speak of rural areas the disease is rampant in its most malignant form in places so near Calcutta as Tollygunge and Garden Reach. I hope and pray that with the termination of the world-wide war which is devastating Europe and Asia, it would be possible for Government to devote an adequate sum of money for the speedy extirpation of this scourge in Bengal.

In conclusion, I invite the attention of Government to a matter already mentioned by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, viz., the desirability of improving the pay and prospects of the silent victims of our eloquence—the Reporters of the Council who take down our speeches, audible and inaudible, under trying conditions."

The Hon'ble MAULVI ABUL KASEM said :—

"My Lord, we have arrived at the last stage of the Budget, and according to the practice of this Council, we are permitted to express our opinions on general questions of the administration. Representing, as I do, my constituency in the Burdwan division, I feel it my duty to express the heartfelt thanks of myself and countrymen to Your Excellency's Government for the provision made in the Budget for protective measures for the mitigation of the effects of the floods of the Damodar and the Ajai. We all owe Your Excellency a deep debt of gratitude for the personal interest Your Excellency has taken in the matter and the sympathy Your Excellency has shown to the afflicted people. I hope and trust that the measures which will be adopted by the Department of Public Works will give relief to the suffering cultivators and save their crops and their villages from devastation and ruin. In this connection, my Lord, I have to make an appeal to Your Excellency's Government and that is—in 1916 there was a terrible flood on the banks of the Ajai as well as of the Damodar and Government granted gratuitous relief as well as some agricultural loans to the suffering people of these parts of the district. The agreement was that the money was to be repaid after a year and as misfortune would have it, there was a flood again in 1916; the poor raiyats have had as yet no crops to reap since 1916 and they are now in a position worse than that they were in the days when gratuitous relief and agricultural loans were granted to them. They have approached Your Excellency's Government with petitions praying for a suspension of the realisation of these loans and the matter is now under enquiry. I hope and trust, my Lord, that the question will receive favourable consideration at the hands of Your Excellency's Government. I regret, however, to inform the Government and this Council that while these petitions are pending enquiry some zealous subordinate officials in the district are realising, by all means they can, from the suffering tenants the dues and some of these poor tenants had to sell their homestead land to pay off this money.

My Lord, much has been said already about the educational wants of this Province and for a larger grant on education. I think I express the feelings of many people interested in education when I say that a proportionately larger amount of money is spent by the Department of Education on inspection rather than on instruction, and it has been said that there are more grains in the stables than there are horses to feed.

The want of industrial schools has also been felt. We want more money for education and sanitation. That commercial institutions are wanted or that industrial education should be given an impetus will be a cry in the wilderness. Your Excellency, in closing the Budget last year, expressed a desire that some means would be found for raising the money for meeting those requirements. I am afraid that the financial stress through which we are passing at the present moment will unfortunately continue for some years to come and it will not be possible for Government to meet the increasing demands of education and sanitation and I venture to suggest that Government may find some means for raising the money by taxation even to supply the funds for education and sanitation. Certainly, direct taxation is not very welcome to the people, but the needs of sanitation and education are so great that I think our people will readily submit to it so far as the Mahommedans are concerned. There has been a complaint from all sides that we want more money for Mahommedan education and certainly we do, but, my Lord, we stand in this happy position that we try to get this money by taxing ourselves. My friend, the Hon'ble Maulvi Fazl-ul-Huq, submitted a Bill, by which we wanted to tax the Mahommedan communities to provide funds for Mahommedan education. Unfortunately for us the Government of India have thought fit not to allow its introduction. They are under the impression that no community should be taxed simply because it professes a particular faith. Whatever may be our opinion with regard to this, I hope Your Excellency's Government will introduce some form of new taxation or allow some non-official members to do it, because I personally think that the needs of sanitation and education are so pressing that we cannot wait any further and money must be found for them whether we pay it by direct taxation or get it from the Government revenue.

My Lord, more than two years back I moved a resolution in this Council for the establishment of a Government college in my native town Burdwan which is the only district where there is no model school started and maintained by Government. The then Director of Public Instruction, Mr. Hornell, very gracefully accepted the resolution on behalf of Government and expressed an opinion that a school was very badly needed for Burdwan. Since then, a site has been selected, but I regret to find that although we are spending large sums of money on different school buildings and school houses, still there is absolutely no provision made for this much-needed institution at Burdwan.

Discussion of the Budget.

Maulvi Abul Kasem.

I have to repeat another complaint with reference to the Education Department and it is that the number of text books and the variety of subjects taught in the lower classes of our secondary schools and in the primary schools unnecessarily tax the memory and the brain of our young lads.

"My Lord, much has been said about the abnormally larger expenditure on the police, and I also feel it my duty to join the general chorus of complaint. We think that the police expenditure is disproportionate to its efficiency. A complaint has been raised by the Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie that we have spent a good deal of time or wasted a good deal in discussing the Budget and in trying to decrease the police expenditure. My Lord, we, the non-official Indian members of this Council, occupy a very enviable position—rightly or wrongly our constituents believe that we can do them a good deal of good which we unfortunately cannot. They expect too much of us and we feel that we would be shirking our duty and would be called upon to explain our conduct if we do not, in this Council, ventilate the grievances of our countrymen and our constituents and place them for the consideration of Government and the Council. When we do so, we are supposed to be hostile critics of Government and following the pin-prick policy which we certainly do not. From our place in this Council we try to place the opinions which are held and formed by our people and we do it with a sincere desire that the matter may receive due consideration. My friend to my right (the Hon'ble Khan Sahib Aman Ali) has said that if you introduce the proper sort of men to the police service, all the evils of the department will disappear. Unfortunately, I disagree with him on this point. However much we may raise the pay of the police officers we cannot change the morale of the service or improve its efficiency unless and until we find that the people are taken into confidence and their opinion is respected in the matter of the conduct and procedure adopted by the police. It is not reasonable, my Lord, to suppose that we, the Indian members are hostile to the police, that we do not want that law, order and peace should be preserved in the country, but I think we are more interested in the preservation of peace, order and law than the administration itself. The administration wants the police to be efficient for the sake of the inhabitants and nothing else, and if the people are always looked upon with some amount of distrust when they criticise the conduct of the police officers, I am sure the police cannot be reformed or improved. It has been our unfortunate experience to observe that whenever a complaint has been made by the public or a section of the public against the police or individual officers of the police, the superior officers of the police have always felt it necessary to support their subordinates and try to defend them or to explain away their conduct. That is the grievance which our countrymen feel on this point.

My Lord, a reference has been made to the administration charges on account of the partition of the districts of Mymensingh and Midnapore. The Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie says that when a district has become too large for administrative purposes it is necessary that it should be partitioned. Certainly, with regard to that point what myself and other Hon'ble Members in this Council on this side mean is that this partition could have waited a year or two more as they have gone on so long. Well, speaking of Midnapore the Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie stated that at an early date a district would be formed with headquarters at Asansol. My Lord, as I belong to the district of Burdwan, I feel it my duty to protest against any proposal for partitioning Burdwan. Unfortunately, Burdwan is a large district like Midnapore or Mymensingh. What the people of Asansol really want is a Subordinate Judge's court and not an independent district altogether. Asansol has got a member of the Indian Civil Service as its Subdivisional Officer and it will not certainly improve its position simply if it gets a Civilian of standing of two or more years to rule over it. I hope and trust that for the convenience of the princes of the mining industry and for the general public as well, efforts will be made to have a court-house there and locate a Subordinate Judge as it will facilitate civil business and relieve their needs.

My Lord, of late there has been a tendency on the part of administration to build residential quarters for high officials of Government. I think that is a move in the right direction, but I regret to find that the offices of Rural Sub-Registrars are now located sometimes in rented houses and sometimes in thatched houses of all sorts and it is not infrequent that theft of documents and papers occur from these offices. I think that the building of offices for Sub-Registrars where they can keep valuable documents should have a priority over the building of residential quarters for officers of Government. I hope and trust, my Lord, that this matter will receive the attention of Government.

With reference to the Department of Registration I observed sometime ago that a hope was held out to the ministerial staff of the Registration Department that their pay and prospects would be considered, but that hope has not been fulfilled. They are as much hard-worked as other ministerial officers in Government offices, and I see no reason why they should be ill-paid as they are at present.

My Lord, sometime ago one of my predecessors in Council referred to the accommodation for the District Judge's office in Burdwan. Since the floods in 1913, the record-rooms and the District Judge's offices are in a miserable condition. Papers are kept in dark holes and the time has surely arrived when a suitable building should be constructed for the location of the office of the District Judge of Burdwan."

[At this stage the Hon'ble Member had to conclude his remarks, he having reached the time-limit.]

The Hon'ble BABU AKHIL CHANDRA DATTA said :—

" My Lord, there are some points in the Budget on which the Hon'ble the Finance Member may well be congratulated. But those who spoke before me had already dealt with those points. I do not propose, therefore, to take up Your Excellency's time by going over the same grounds again.

My Lord, last year I submitted and insisted that the Budget should be based on the feelings and wishes of the people, and that it should reflect the popular wants. But this counsel of perfection was not acceptable to those whose proud privilege it was to frame the Budget of this great province.

But robust optimism must be the guiding principle in politics and in spite of the rebuff we received last year, we ventured to place the wishes of the people this year again for acceptance by the Government. We again pleaded for arresting the onward march of the steadily increasing police expenditure, we again insisted upon the suspension of the cost of partition of districts, we again pleaded for increasing grant in education, sanitation and other matters affecting the well-being of the people. On this occasion also our protests have shared almost the same fate. The persistent and insistent appeal of the people conveyed in the numerous resolutions, moved at an earlier stage of the debate, to make slight alterations in the Financial Statement, has been dismissed. I know that the Government in this country is not a responsible government—I know that the Government is not bound to consult the wishes of the people—the Government, I know, can ride roughshod over their feelings, if only they choose to do so.

But, my Lord, we are on the eve of a great change—great changes are coming, and great changes are bound to come. We are sure that the hope encouraged and built upon a Parliamentary declaration, will not be allowed, and cannot be allowed to remain unredeemed. The whole country is awaiting with palpitating heart the scheme of Mr. Montagu which he is now elaborating in collaboration with the Viceroy. But, is there any reason, my Lord, why, pending the introduction of the reforms, the voice of the people should be ignored? Responsible government has been declared to be the goal of British rule in India. Quite apart from the question of the whole hog we can legitimately hope that there should be a beginning made and the people's voice should be respected, at least in matters of small details. It is neither wise nor graceful that while the British Parliament and the Secretary of State for India are seriously discussing responsible government for India, the popular representatives should be looked upon as the fifth wheel to the coach in the matter of the Budget.

My Lord, my complaint is that the Budget under discussion is no improvement upon its predecessors in the matter of recognition of the force of public opinion. I am not insensible, my Lord, to the fact that the resolution of my Hon'ble friend, Mr. P. C. Mitter, has been given effect to. Small as the concession is, I am profoundly thankful to Your Excellency's Government for this. But, I for one entertained the hope that after the solemn declaration of the 20th August, the Government would turn over a new leaf, that they would bow down to the policy enunciated therein, and that the Budget under discussion would be remarkable improvement upon the Budget of the last year, and that greater respect would be shown to the popular demand as formulated in the resolutions moved on the 14th March and the two succeeding days. But, my Lord, allow me to observe that it has a disappointment to me to find that the official benches have not budget from their usual attitude. It is a matter of profound regret to the people that the declaration of the new policy have failed to make any impression upon the Budget. My Lord, as an elected representative of the people in the Council, it is my imperative duty to convey popular feelings to Your Excellency.

Apart from the declaration of the new policy, I am anxious, my Lord, to submit another aspect of the matter for Your Excellency's consideration. It must be accepted as a fundamental principle of all civilised Governments that the money disposed of by the Budget belong in the last resort to the people, and the Government is a trustee of that money. The control of the Government over the money should not be more than that of a trustee, and should be governed by all the recognised cannons of trust and guardianship. The Government has no doubt the legal right to dispose of the money in any way they like, the control of the Government is no doubt absolute. But the people feel that their interest should, after all, be the supreme consideration in the disposal of the money. Whenever the Budget goes against their interest—at all events whenever the people feel that it is going against their interest—they raise their protest in the Council through their representatives, and I respectfully but emphatically submit that their feelings and wishes are entitled to the greatest consideration.

There is another feature of to-day's Budget debate to which I feel bound to invite Your Excellency's attention. It must have occurred to Your Excellency that to-day's discussion is purely of an academical character. The Budget is already final. No discussion, however wise and informed, no criticism, however sound and sensible, will lead to any changes in the Budget. We are not permitted to move any resolution in regard to any complaint we may have to make at this stage. We, of course, have not the right to vote on the Budget. A friend of mine was telling me the other day that the final Budget debate is a splendid example of "Nishkam Dharma" inculcated in the Bhagavat Gita. But I should not be misunderstood—I have no complaint—I cannot have any complaint, against Your Excellency, because that is the regulation now in force. But at the same time I feel compelled to appeal to Your Excellency with all the earnestness that I can command to consider whether we have not the cart placed before the horse. I appeal to Your Excellency to consider whether this is a profitable employment of time to have any discussion on the Budget after it has made final. Why should valuable public time be wasted for nothing? The debate sometimes becomes acrimonious, and leads only to bitterness of feeling without any countervailing advantage. My Lord, can it be denied that such a procedure is calculated inevitably to lead to discontent of a serious character? It is high time, my Lord, that the rules on the subject should be amended, in the interest both of the Government and the people.

I should like on the present occasion to content myself with these general observations. As regards increase in police expenditure and other matters against which I wanted to raise my voice of protest I find that the Hon'ble Members who preceded me have all forestalled me. I feel I cannot profitably take up the time of the Council by a discussion of those matters.

The Hon'ble MAULVI FAZL-UL-HAQ said :—

"My Lord, to-day is the 4th of April, and I feel tempted to wish that we had begun the proceedings just three days earlier, so that these final discussions on the Budget might have taken place on the 1st of April. This would have been quite in keeping with the comic absurdity of discussing a Budget already in operation, and would also have conveyed both to members of Council and the outside public some idea of the real nature of the proceedings in which we are engaged to-day. The non-official members would then have realised that in spending their eloquence on such items of expenditure as Police allotments (Heaven save the mark!), they are only taking part in one of these pleasant ceremonies which custom and tradition render appropriate for the celebration of that particular day in the year. Moreover, things would then have been seen in their true perspective, and while non-official members would hardly have been tempted to take the situation quite seriously, heads of departments would also have easily realised that our eloquence can no more control the Government in its career of even reckless expenditure than the Ochterlony monument in the Calcutta maidan can control the traffic in Chowringhee. Further, instead of leaving bitter memories behind, these Budget discussions would have been looked upon by all concerned as a pleasant and innocent function well-fitted to mark the close of the labours of all the members of the Council before the Government took their annual flight to the hills.

My Lord, years ago when I was a boy at school, I first learnt the meaning of the English phrase 'putting the cart before the horse.' Little did I know that at some period of my life I would be destined to take some part in proceedings which seems to be based on an attempt to translate the idea conveyed by the phrase into actual reality. Frankly speaking, I cannot conceive of a more glaring instance of the policy of 'putting the cart before the horse' than is afforded by these annual budget discussions in Council. This is so obvious and so well known to every member of this Council, that I do not wish to take up Your Excellency's time by labouring this point, but nevertheless I will briefly set forth the rules for our Budget discussions, so that the public at large may be able to realise our position as it really is. The Provincial expenditure annually amounts to nearly 7 crores of rupees, and it is obvious that a much larger sum would be required to meet the legitimate demands of the Provincial Administration if all possible schemes of public utility and benefit were taken up in the interests of good and efficient administration. Naturally, therefore, the Government have to consider the relative importance of all projects brought forward by the various heads of departments, and then decide upon abandoning some altogether and taking up others, or taking them up on a reduced scale, the reduction again being effected on a consideration of relative importance and urgency. In arriving at these decisions, Government might act on their own unaided judgment, or might propose to consult non-official opinion. Government have wisely selected the latter course, but, unfortunately, the consideration takes place not before but after the Government have finally made up their mind and arrived at a practical unalterable decision. A glance at the rules relating to the Budget discussions will make this clear. The annual Budget is prepared in the form of what is technically called 'The Draft Financial Statement'. which is presented to the Council some time towards the end of February, although we are privileged to make our first acquaintance with the document a couple of days previous to its first introduction in Council. The Draft Financial Statement is then provisionally revised by the local Government in the light of instructions received from the Government of India, and the revised figures are presented to the Council under the name of 'The Amended Draft Financial Statement.' Further alterations may be made by Government, and the revised financial statement is then presented to the Council, embodying the proposals of the Government regarding contemplated expenditure. It is important to realise that the figures in the revised financial statement are practically unalterable, and represent the final decisions of the Government on the various items of expenditure. It is at this stage, when the Budget has assumed an almost immutable shape, that we are asked to make our suggestions by moving resolutions in Council. And herein lies the true humour of the situation. Resolution after resolution is brought forward by non-official members embodying their suggestions, but it is a matter of common knowledge that Government try to meet almost every suggestion with an uncompromising negative. And the reason is obvious. If we suggest that money should be spent on a particular item of expenditure not provided for in the Budget, we have to indicate the source from which the requisite money can be drawn. In other words, we have to suggest that the expenditure or some of the allotments might be reduced or stopped, but all such suggestions are generally met by Government with the reply that the allotment in question relates to some work of absolute urgency, which may have been already begun or is otherwise indispensable. It is true that we have the power of dividing the House on any question raised by our resolutions, but it is well known that, owing to reasons which need not be discussed here, the non-official members can seldom carry the House against the wishes of Government. Although, therefore, Government consult public opinion, they do so at a stage when consultation is meaningless or unnecessary. It would be obviously more consonant with commonsense if the consultation took place before matters were finally decided, rather than after the decisions had been arrived at. Under present conditions non-official members may take it as an insult to be invited to discuss a Budget already accepted, or to offer suggestions at a stage when suggestions are utterly meaningless. If, however, no such insult is meant, the whole procedure is a glaring and practical illustration of the policy of 'putting the cart before the horse.'

Discussion of the Budget.

Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq.

My Lord, one necessary result of this policy of 'putting the cart before the horse' has been the utter futility of the efforts of non-official members in putting a brake on an item of expenditure which is condemned by all shades of public opinion in this country. I mean the allotments under the head of the Police Department. Let us consider for a moment the following figures :—

Year		Total Provincial expenditure.	Police expenditure.
		Rs.	Rs.
1912-13	... ...	5,69,48,131	83,99,859
1913-14		6,16,60,630	94,71,081
1914-15		6,67,60,684	1,03,72,545
1915-16		6,28,01,186	1,09,03,783
1916-17		6,01,87,132	1,16,57,283
1917-18		6,49,64,000	1,22,84,000
1918-19		7,36,54,000	1,37,85,000

Discussion of the Budget.

Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq.

Making every allowance for the importance of the department, it can hardly be regarded as a matter of surprise that the public at large look upon this expenditure as extravagant. We all agree that a large expenditure is necessary to raise the pay of the rank and file in the department in order to open up a career which would attract a much better class of men than are now disposed to join the force. But we do not admit that the abuses prevalent in the department would be removed by spending lakhs of rupees in providing costly buildings for the men and officers of the department. Crores have been spent since the Indian Police Commission submitted its proposals, for police reform, but the major portion of this money has been taken up in building costly houses for the residence of constables and head-constables, or erecting police-station buildings at enormous costs, creating highly paid posts for European officers in the higher ranks of the police, purchasing steam-launches and other miscellaneous items, which have no more to do with the reform of abuses than the Howrah Bridge has with the sale of opium or ganja in the country. The Indian Police Commission summed up the situation in the following weighty words :—

'Everywhere the demand of enlightened opinion is for the reform of the station house officer. He must be more intelligent, more respectable, better trained and better supervised. This is the most urgent need of the police . . . . One cause of the unsatisfactory work of the police is the inadequate supervision exercised over them.'

With these observations every sensible man must be in perfect agreement, and if the huge expenditure on the department had been meant to carry out these objects, mainly if not solely, there could have been no reasonable cause for any comment or complaint. An efficient and well-organised police is as much a blessing as a corrupt and inefficient police is a curse. But one looks in vain through the Budget allotments, bristling with profuse expenditure on almost every conceivable item of comfort and luxury, for adequate provision for a scheme of well-ordered supervision of the work of investigating officers. It is well known that the Commission recommended the creation of the class of officers known as Deputy Superintendents, as well to impart a healthier tone to the Indian element in the service as to secure a close supervision of the work of investigating officers, by the members of a provincial service, whose superior status would be a sufficient guarantee of their honesty, probity and freedom from corruption. There can be no doubt that if these Deputy Superintendents had been utilized for the purpose of the supervision of the work of their subordinates, corrupt practices amongst investigating officers would have gradually diminished, even if they did not actually disappear. But it is well known that the number of Deputy Superintendents is not large enough to supply the requisite proportion of officers for carrying on the work of supervision, and even amongst those that exist, very few are employed on work which ought to have been made the principal part of their duty. It is notorious that Deputy Superintendents at the head-quarters of districts are generally employed on office work, and are no better than glorified clerks or office superintendents. The supervision of the work of investigating officers is, therefore, as unsatisfactory as ever. The European Assistant Superintendents are practically useless for purposes of supervision, in consequence of their ignorance of the vernacular of the country, and the absence of a free and unrestricted social intercourse between them and the general public. The Superintendents and Additional Superintendents have their steam-launches and motor cars at the expense of the public money, but their supervision is also no better than those of other European officers. While these conditions exist, Government seek to reform the police and remove abuses by building palaces to be used as station-houses, and gorgeous residential quarters for the rank and file of the police force. Public money could hardly have been more wasted and more ill-spent, and it is against this policy of pampering the members of a force, already spoilt by undue indulgence, that the public have hitherto been raising a persistent though ineffectual protest.

Discussion of the Budget.

Maulvi Fazl-ul-Haq.

My Lord, the friends of the Police are apt to maintain that the moral tone of the service has now been considerably raised and matters are gradually improving so as to render abuses less frequent than before. It is true that there has been a slight improvement as compared with the state of things before the Commission, but the improvement is mainly due to the spread of education amongst the masses, which has taught people the inesteemable lessons of manliness and self-reliance, and rendering them better able to resist oppressions than before. The abuses that still exist are appalling enough, and are still a discredit to the Government, and involve great injury to the people of the country. If these abuses are to be removed, the root causes for such abuses must not be allowed to exist, and remedies are to be applied which are appropriate to the disease. It is no use building houses, or providing policemen with a splendid uniform, while the investigating officers continue to be recruited from a class who do not hesitate to enter service in the expectation of making substantial additions to their salary by preying upon the general public. It is no use dividing the province into police ranges and creating numerous Deputy Inspectors-General, while the work of supervision of investigating officers remains as unsatisfactory as ever. The Superintendents of Police must learn the language of the country and try to exercise a closer control over the work of actual investigations than they do at present. 'The ignorance of the vernacular,' said the Commission, 'and want of touch with the people generally are the most serious defect amongst Superintendents. These officers are also too often inclined to support their subordinates in an unreasonable manner and to receive complaints or strictures on police work in a hostile spirit.' This criticism holds good to-day as it did in the days of the Commission. The same remarks apply in a greater degree to the Assistant Superintendents and the European Additional Superintendents of Police. Steps should be taken to remedy these defects, not by building palatial houses or purchasing steam-launches, but by insisting on Police Superintendents taking a livelier interest in their work than they do at the present day. The Deputy Superintendents of Police should be utilised in closely supervising the work of their subordinates on the spot, and not by being made to lighten the routine work of the Superintendents of Police by signing papers of the Police office. Above all, suggestions and criticisms should be welcomed and duly considered, instead of being resented at or received in a hostile spirit. The oppressions committed by the Police during the investigations of what are known as the hat-looting cases are perhaps unparalleled in the history of abuses in any civilized country. The matter turned to be a public scandal, and it was the duty of Government to have at once started thorough and searching enquiries into the allegations, and taken such steps as would have been justified by the results of inquiries. This was not done, and when I moved a resolution in Council praying for such enquiries, the suggestion was not accepted by Government. And when, later on, I complained that my resolution had been unjustly negatived. Sir Henry Wheeler rose to say that Government had made enquiries through District Magistrates. The attitude of Government towards my resolution and the remark of Sir Henry Wheeler gave the public an incorrect idea as to facts. It is not true that Government even moved their little finger to save people from oppressions or bring their oppressors to justice. The only place where the District Magistrate made any enquiries was at Noakhali, and this was done, not under orders of Government, but because my friend the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem and myself went over to Noakhali and insisted on these enquiries being made. It is noteworthy that even at Noakhali the Magistrate at first refused to believe in the complaints made against the Police, and only yielded because we would take no denial.

The result of the Noakhali enquiries has shewn that the complaints were well-founded. If proper enquiries had been made elsewhere, these pets of Government (who are no better pests to the public) would have been shewn in their true colours elsewhere also. Government should have been ashamed of having backed up the disreputable members of a force already proved to be dishonest and corrupt. Instead of that, they try to vindicate their position by taking credit for a course of conduct which at first they refused to adopt and which was practically thrust upon them by my friend Mr. Abul Kasem and myself. This is hardly the way to reform the Police, and hardly the way to win popular sympathy.

My Lord, I am sorry that the time at my disposal has almost come to an end, but I cannot resume my seat without referring to the reprehensible neglect with which the claims of Muhammadan education have been treated in the framing of the Budget. The proposal for the establishment of a Muhammadan Arts College appears to be practically shelved, and there is hardly any provision for building hostels for Muhammadan students either in Calcutta or in the mufassal. Only the other day the Director of Public Instruction remarked that the needs of the community in the matter of hostels for Muhammadan students in Calcutta do not exist, and he ventured to state in a spirit of pride and self-satisfaction that the Government can claim to have done their duties towards Muhammadan students in this matter. I reserve for a future occasion what I have got to say in reply to the claim thus put forward on behalf of Government, and I content myself at the present moment by saying that I challenge the accuracy of the statement of my friend the Director of Public Instruction, when he says that the Muhammadan students in Calcutta have been duly provided with accommodations in recognised messes and hostels. I would only point out to him the accommodation which exist for Muhammadan law students in Calcutta. Most of them at present live at No. 2, Mirzapur Street, and I wonder if the Director of Public Instruction has ever visited this building and seen for himself how the law students pass their days there. He could not then have failed to notice, casting his eyes on the other side of the tank at the Hardinge Hostel, how the munificence of a Hindu nobleman has been liberally supplemented by generous contributions from University Funds and Provincial Revenues for the benefit of Hindu students; while, right on the other side of the tank, the disgraceful pigeon-holes of No. 2, Mirzapur Street (where Mussulman graduates congregate for shelter during their law studies in this city) bear eloquent testimony to the poverty of the community and the neglect with which the authorities treat the interests of Muhammadan students in Calcutta."

The Hon'ble DR. NILRATAN SARKAR said:—

"My Lord, the total sum provided for the engineering education of all grades is Rs. 3,24,000, and the total amount provided for vocational education of different sorts, such as agriculture, commerce, technology, etc., is Rs. 1,04,500. So, altogether, there is a total of Rs. 4,28,500 provided for engineering and industrial education—a sum about 4 per cent. of the total expenditure on education. We are passing through critical times in regard to industry. We cannot afford to wait in a state of unpreparedness at the present moment when great changes are taking place in the world, not only in the political sphere but also in the sphere of industries. It is time that we should mend matters. We are in a helpless state of unpreparedness, and our helplessness merges into a state of utter despair when we find that Government offers us help only to this extent; that is, by spending a sum of Rs. 4,28,500 on engineering and industrial educational development in

Discussion of the Budget.

Mr. Cumming.

Bengal. I know an additional sum of Rs. 1,50,000 has been provided for some item in this Budget; but a much larger sum is needed for industrial education. In the near future we must try to divert the channel of education from the ordinary routes of law and literature to the channels of technical and industrial education like agriculture, technology and commerce, so that our young men may assert themselves in life as the competition of other people in the world. One by one all our markets are being occupied by foreigners. It is time that we should try to develop our own resources. Bengal has got an unlimited supply of raw materials. There is also capital in the land and intellect too. I believe, under proper guidance and proper instruction, Bengalis will be able to hold their own against any other people in the field of industries. The first steps towards such an end would be to organise engineering education and the vocational education in different branches in all standards.

My Lord, I deeply appreciate the increase of grant to medical schools on account of the increase of students from Rs. 1,30,000 to Rs. 1,48,000. Having regard to the condition of Bengal this extension of medical education is one of the most important questions. The urgency of this question increases every day. I hope Government will try to solve this difficult question either by starting additional medical schools or by subsidising privately-started medical schools. But whatever may be the method, the question cannot be put off for a much longer time.

In this connection, I may draw the attention of the Government to the question of medical education of female students. The class for female students was started in 1884, but recently, after 30 years of its existence, it has been practically closed. New admissions have been refused on one ground or another. Whatever may be the reason of closing the class, adequate provision should be made for medical education of women in Bengal. The question has been raised that the students who applied for admission did not possess the requisite qualifications. No wonder, when Government spends only Rs. 51,000 on collegiate education of women and when only Rs. 3,30,000 or about one-thirtieth of the sum spent on education is budgetted for female education. What is wanted is more money, more attention, and, if I may be permitted to observe, more sympathy. There is no reason why female candidates in Calcutta should be refused admission into the Calcutta Medical College and advised to go to Delhi. Delhi may have one or more medical colleges for women but the needs of Calcutta are quite different. There is no reason why our daughters and sisters should be compelled to reside in Delhi for five years in order to have a medical education when there are at least two Government medical Institutions in Calcutta. What I would urge is this: that provision should be made for the education of female medical students in Calcutta either in the Medical College or in any other institution. As regards Delhi the matter should be left to their choice.

I am deeply grateful for the increased sanitary grant from about four lakhs of rupees to eleven and-a-half lakhs of rupees. I am also grateful for the recent measures that have been adopted in connection with the sanitary improvement of certain parts of Bengal. We hope that, with the help of our energetic Sanitary Commissioner, we shall be able to make steady improvement in sanitation."

The Hon'ble MR. CUMMING said:—

"My Lord, it now devolves upon me to offer to the Council some remarks on the subjects which, for administrative purposes, are placed under the Departments of Revenue and Public Works; and in doing so, I shall endeavour to make such remarks as short as possible, notwithstanding the temptation to follow some members who strayed beyond the limits of the present Budget.

Discussion of the Budget.

Mr. Cumming.

Under the head of Revenue, I propose to deal with the subjects of Settlement Operations, Agriculture and Forests. The Hon'ble Kumar Shib Shekhareswar Roy has repeated the arguments which he previously made against the continuance during war time of settlement operations. As the expenditure is wholly Imperial, it is doubtful whether the Hon'ble Member is strictly in order in discussing the subject in a debate on provincial expenditure. However, the matter has been discussed before; in 1915 the Hon'ble Mr. Beatson Bell gave a convincing reply to similar arguments; and on the present occasion I have really nothing more to add beyond saying that it is hardly correct to argue that no modifications have been made during war time. On the contrary, the normal programme for four survey and four settlement parties has been reduced to a programme sufficient for three survey and three settlement parties. Then, again, the estimate of Rs. 22 lakhs. to which the Hon'ble Member takes exception, has been cut down from the original estimate of Rs. 29 lakhs; and the proposed recoveries of Rs. 18 lakhs have been cut down from an earlier estimate of no less than 26 lakhs. It is rather late in the day to discuss whether district settlement operations are useless or unnecessary, as he urges. The battle on this question was fought out no less than a quarter of a century ago. Moreover, the payments made towards settlement costs are for value received in the shape of the copies of the records and of the maps which are furnished to the parties concerned.

Under the head of Agriculture, I have pleasure in thanking the Hon'ble Raja Hrishi Kesh Laha and the Hon'ble Mr. Provash Chunder Mitter for their appreciation of the progress made in the distribution of paddy seed and jute seed, and also in connection with the extension of cinchona cultivation. The Hon'ble Mr. Mitter made a request that a further enquiry in connection with such extension should be made. I am happy to inform him that at the present moment there is a very competent officer on special duty for this very object.

Then, under the head of Forests, the Hon'ble Mr. Mitter made another suggestion that with proper organisation the forest revenues ought to be considerably increased. This opens up a very wide subject of discussion as to the development of our commercial properties, with which it is not possible to deal adequately on the present occasion. It is true, however, that Forests form one of the few really satisfactory among the naturally expanding sources of revenue in this province. In this connection I should like to mention that the late Revenue Member of the Government of India, Sir Robert Carlyle, publicly stated in London about a year ago that there was practically no limit to the development of this source of revenue, namely, Forests; but, he said, forests required a bold outlay of expenditure, not only expenditure on personnel, but also capital expenditure on mechanical agencies, on communications in the opening out of roads, and in the distribution of the produce.

I now turn to the other main head of Public Works, under which I propose to deal with the subject of Irrigation. In connection with this subject, I desire to thank the Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie and the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem for their appreciation of the work of certain officers of the Public Works Department. The Hon'ble Khan Sahib Aman Ali and the Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie allude, in particular, to the Chaktai khal in Chittagong. With Mr. Mackenzie's views, if they refer to the main arteries of communication, Government are, of course, in full accord; but I do not think that this particular khal, for the improvement of which a request has been made, is one which can strictly be called a navigable channel in the ordinary sense.

The Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie has suggested the formation of a Waterways Trust somewhat on the lines of the Calcutta Port Trust: the formation of such a special Waterways Department or Trust to deal with waterways has not been overlooked by Government, but in the opinion of many qualified to judge, its materialisation is associated with the completion of the Grand Trunk Canal project. I find, moreover, in the literature on the subject a considerable amount of vagueness as to the precise lines on which such a Trust is to be formed in Bengal; as to how it is to be financed; and as to how it is to be administered. I would welcome any definite constructive suggestions on these points.

Discussion of the Budget.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

As regards the Grand Trunk Canal project, I can say, on behalf of Government, that it is not the intention of Government to pigeonhole it. The consideration of its numerous problems has continued to occupy the attention of responsible officers during the past year. The opinions of public bodies concerned have been obtained and are being considered in detail.

The Hon'ble Mr. Mackenzie has also drawn attention to a certain channel on the outer boat route through the Sunderbans, namely, the Doagra channel, regarding which it is urged that its deterioration is probable, if not certain. I am able to inform the Council that in the present year a sum of half a lakh of rupees has been set aside to make a new cut in that vicinity, by which it may not be necessary for steamers to use this channel at all in the near future.

Under the head of Irrigation the Hon'ble Nawab Bahadur of Murshidabad has stated that the improvement of the Bhagirathi finds no place in the estimates. I am sure the Council realise that the flow of the Bhagirathi through the Murshidabad district must depend entirely on the position of the main stream of the Ganges; and if the Ganges refuses to come down the Bhagirathi, it is humanly impossible to force it to do so. All that human agency can effect in this matter is to render conditions in the Bhagirathi suitable for inducing a flow from the Ganges down its bed, when the main channel of the big river has reverted to its most southernly position. At the present moment, I am sorry to say, the Ganges main stream has cut off the head of the Nadia rivers.

These, Sir, are all the remarks I desire to make on the several points that have been raised in the course of the debate to-day; but there are some other points to which the attention of Government has been drawn by Hon'ble Members. These have been noted, and Hon'ble Members may rest assured that their consideration will not be overlooked."

The Hon'ble SIR S. P. SINHA said:—

"My Lord, it devolves upon me to deal to with such criticisms as have fallen from Hon'ble Members with regard to the Departments of Education and Sanitation which are in my charge and I think the surest way in which I can deal with them is to take first the general criticism with regard to education and sanitation; then deal with such specific matters to which attention has been drawn by individual Members, and, thirdly, to deal with some matters which, though not referred to specifically, are referred to more or less in general terms, and I am classifying the subjects under these three heads.

My Lord, two charges that have been repeated by several Members with regard to education and sanitation are that in the Revised Estimates we have shown savings which actually mean loss; that is to say, the monies allotted, which ought to have been spent, have not been spent with regard to such important matters as education and sanitation. But I think I shall be able to satisfy the Council without much trouble that it proceeds from a misconception. If Hon'ble Members will turn to page 21, dealing with the charges under the head of Education, there are two matters which I think will be clear to them: firstly, that education, so far from being neglected, has been receiving increasing attention of Government. We have there the actuals of 5 years, 1912-13 to 1916-17, and then we have the Budgets for 1917-18 and 1918-19. The expenditure in 1912-13 was 73 lakhs and odd; next year it was 81 lakhs that is, nearly 8 lakhs increase. Next year, that is the year before the war, it was 92 lakhs or an increase of 11 lakhs; then by reason of the war there was a drop in 1915-16, and we came down to 84 lakhs or very nearly 85 lakhs, that is, 7 lakhs less than the previous year; then there was a further drop in 1916-17 to 76 lakhs for the same reason, namely, that we are not allowed to spend except for urgent and productive purposes; but it will be noticed that in 1917-18, it went up to 98 lakhs, exceeding the educational grant for any previous year. The Budget for 1918-19 is 103 lakhs. Therefore, it will be seen that, so far from education not being given its proper share of the public revenues, the money allotted to education has been increased by—I won't say leaps and bounds, but very substantial amounts during all this time and notwithstanding the war; I think that is a point which is clear from this statement.

Discussion of the Budget.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

There is another general complaint about the allottments not having been spent, and that arises with regard to the year 1917-18. Although for that year, the original figures were 98,13,000, in the Revised Budget estimates they were reduced to 81,14,000 from which Members conclude that 17 lakhs, which were at our disposal and which ought to have been spent, had not been spent. I say that is due to a misconception; first of all, it is not correct to say that the 17 lakhs have not been spent. The figures represent the actuals for the first 9 or 10 months of the year and the estimates for the remaining two or three months. These estimates are based on the expenditure of the previous 9 or 10 months and do not take into account the fact that the expenditure during the last two or three months, so far as the average is concerned, is very much larger than during the previous 8 or 9 months. Therefore, it is not correct to assume that 17 lakhs remain unspent; actually, a great deal of that has been spent. But it is correct that some portion has not been spent and for the following reasons. This sum of 98 lakhs includes the 9 lakhs grant from the Imperial Government. We sent up a scheme to the Government of India for the expenditure of this 9 lakhs and the items are as follows. (Council will pardon my going into these details at a little length because a greater part of the charges is levelled against us with regard to this unspent balance or savings therefrom). Now those 9 lakhs consisted of 11 items:—

	Rs.
(1) Cost of improving Government high schools	3,00,000
(2) Cost af improving Government middle English schools ...	6,120
(3) Aid for Municipal high schools	12,072
(4) Grants for aided and unaided high and middle English schools.	1,19,382
(5) Grant of local allowance to Assistant Headmaster of 5 vernacular training schools.	1,200
(6) Honoraria of the teaching staff of three high schools for work in connection with the Dacca Training College.	1,350
(7) Enhancement of pay of teachers of primary schools ...	1,94,000
(8) Enhancement of the pay of teachers in girls' primary schools.	35,560
(9) Grant to the Midnapur District Board for an increase of the allowance of teachers of primary schools.	15,000
(10) Inauguration of the scheme for the training of teachers in boys' primary schools.	1,55,440
(11) Construction of buildings for training schools for primary teachers.	50,000

All these items make up 9 lakhs of rupees. It was not until October 1917 that the Government of India sanctioned our spending about 2½ lakhs only out of these 9 lakhs, and with regard to the rest they told us that those items formed part of larger schemes which required the sanction of the Secretary of State and we were not, therefore, allowed to spend them. So, it is not correct to say that having the money at our disposal we have kept it in our cash box and not spent it for the purpose of education. We have got a promise of 9 lakhs, and we are allowed to spend 2½ lakhs; with regard to the remainder, we are told that we must wait for the sanction of the Secretary of State for larger schemes. That disposes of the 6½ lakhs, out of the 17 lakhs which was supposed not to have been spent.

Discussion of the Budget.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

Then there is another sum of Rs. 3,35,000, which also appears, as the Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari has pointed out, as unspent out of the balance for hostels, etc. A good deal of it has been spent and all the bills have not come in yet and until they come in we cannot say how much has been spent out of it; probably, 2 lakhs will go from that. There will remain 2½ lakhs and that is due to the fact that the scheme which was expected to cost 13½ lakhs will cost about 12 or 12½ lakhs. Similarly, there are monies which appear in our Budget as savings not because we have not spent them but because they have been spent through the Public Works Department, so that the whole of this 17 lakhs which we are charged with not spending though at our disposal are not spent either because we are not allowed to spend them or because they were spent through the Public Works Department, or because the bills for the actual expenditure have not yet come in, though they will come in later. Therefore, the Council should be disabused, of any impression they might be under that the money at the disposal of or in the coffers of Government and available for the purpose of education were not spent for that purpose.

I think the same can be said with regard to the supposed saving of 1½ lakhs in the matter of sanitation; that is not a saving at all, because although it does not appear in our account, it appears in the account of the Public Works Department, as having been made over to the Public Works Department for the construction of sanitary works. Therefore, both with regard to education and sanitation, the Government have been spending more and more; and some Hon'ble Members have, I am glad to say, congratulated the Government on the increased expenditure on sanitation which has risen from less than 4 lakhs to 11½ lakhs in the present Budget.

These, I think, are the general complaints which were made with regard to matters of education and sanitation, and I now propose to deal with the specific complaints or recommendations which have been made by individual members in the matter of education.

The Hon'ble Rai Mahendra Chandra Mitra Bahadur charges us with not having come to the rescue or succour of the Mahakali Pathsala in Calcutta, which he says, is likely to be financially ruined for want of such help. I think the charge is unfounded. Mr. Hornell, on the last occasion, promised that, if the Mahakali Pathsala authorities would apply to the Government for such help as they wanted in the matter of their building fund or anything else, that would receive the consideration of Government; and Council knows that that meant that the Mahakali Pathsala would have to satisfy the Education Department that they had complied with the rules which were made by that Department for the purpose of making grants-in-aid to schools. They would have to show certain amount of efficiency; and they would have to satisfy the Education Department in every way as to the necessity for the money. They never applied, presumably, because they did not expect to be able to satisfy the authorities as regards either the efficiency or the necessity. I venture to think that on these facts the Council will see that the Government have not unduly withheld help from a deserving institution for female education.

The Hon'ble Raja Hrishikesh Laha has recommended for assistance the Polytechnic Institution, over which Captain Petavel presides and which is assisted by the Hon'ble Maharaja of Cossimbazar. With regard to that also, I may say that the matter is under consideration of the Director of Public Instruction; and provided he is satisfied as to the necessity and the efficiency of the school, I have no doubt that the aid will be forthcoming.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

The Chittagong College and Hostel have been mentioned by the Hon'ble Khan Sahib Aman Ali. As regards that, I may state that, so far as the college authorities are concerned, there has not been, to my knowledge any application for any increased grants; but the Director of Public Instruction hopes personally to visit the Chittagong College and to find out what is necessary. And the Hon'ble Member may be sure that if it is found necessary to increase the college or hostel accommodation, steps will be taken to supply the want.

The Hon'ble Babu Surendra Nath Ray has mentioned that with regard to the Sibpur College there is a want of accommodation which prevents students applying for admission from getting admittance. Well as regards that, I have made enquiries, since: by his courtesy, I got a copy of his speech, from the Principal; and I find that though there have been more applicants than admissions, there has been no rejection so far on the ground of want of accommodation, and it is only on the ground of fitness that students have been rejected. I can assure the Hon'ble Member, however, that if, in fact, there is such a demand for engineering education and the accommodation in the Sibpur College is not sufficient to take in all these students, steps will be taken as early as possible to remedy such defect.

With regard to the Hon'ble Maulvi Abul Kasem's request for the proposed Burdwan School, I am sorry he did not send in any information to me with regard to this matter, or I should have made enquiries. Neither Mr. Wordsworth, the Director of Public Instruction, nor I have been able to find out anything about the proposed school, but I shall certainly look into this and see if anything can be done in the matter.

Now I come to the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal's criticisms with regard to various matters. Taking the Hastings House School, I may tell the Hon'ble Member that the whole question of the organisation of the Hastings House School is under consideration. The object never was, so far as that school was concerned, that it should be merely a school for the sons of wealthy citizens. No doubt, the fees are high, but if you want a particular kind of education and a particular kind of accommodation, you have got to pay for them. That, again, is a matter which has to be considered with reference to the necessity of the people and how far they are able to pay for it. I personally think that the fee has been fixed probably a little too high and that if the school is to be made much more available for the general community, the fee will have to be reduced. But, as I have said, the whole matter is under consideration, and I trust that a scheme will be evolved which will make the school very much more useful. I may tell the Hon'ble Member that, so far from its being the intention that the poor should pay for the rich, the promoters of that school proposed that they should guarantee the expenses of the school—the whole of it if necessary—provided the control of the school was made over to them, but the Government did not agree to such a proposal. There is not likely to be any such loss, as my friend probably apprehends, because the number of students at Hastings House School now is certainly not much less than the school can accommodate; there is only accommodation for 40 boys and there is about that number in the school.

There are two other matters which the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur mentions: firstly, the question of primary schools in Calcutta; and secondly, perhaps it is not germane to this particular point,—the question of the inclusion of Howrah in the operations of the Improvement Trust.

As regards the question of primary education in Calcutta, I think the Hon'ble Member probably forgot for the moment as to how the matter stands. The Calcutta Corporation, when asked as to what they were prepared to do to promote the educational organisation of Calcutta, said that they could not take the responsibility for the provision and maintenance of schools; but they would consider the possibility of undertaking a larger expenditure than they now incurred if there was a proper scheme made out for Calcutta schools. For that purpose, Mr. De first, afterwards Mr. Roy and lastly Mr. Dunn were put on deputation and it is only two days ago that Mr. Dunn's final report reached the hands of the Director of Public Instruction suggesting what the educational needs of the different parts of Calcutta are and how they can be met. Now, it is from the nature of things impossible that Government can deal with that report or have any communication with the Corporation of Calcutta within the short time that has elapsed since the report has been in our hands—it was not possible to do anything within these two days. But, as soon as possible, that report will be dealt with and the matter will be discussed with the Corporation of Calcutta; and I trust that before long we shall be able to give effect, at any rate, to some portions of this report which certainly discloses a very undesirable state of things in Calcutta.

Discussion of the Budget.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

Taking the other criticism about the Calcutta Improvement Trust taking up Howrah, here again probably the Hon'ble Member is not aware of all that has passed between the Government on the one hand and the Municipality of Howrah and the Improvement Trust on the other. The Hon'ble Member suggests that the Improvement Trust should not take in hand the improvement of Howrah. The Howrah Municipality, on the other hand suggests that the Calcutta Improvement Trust should do so. In considering this matter the Government was advised that as the law stood the Calcutta Improvement Trust could not take up the matter in hand without an amendment of the law; and before undertaking any legislation for that purpose the Government asked not very long ago the Improvement Trust to inform them as to whether they would be prepared to take up the work of improvement in Howrah if the law was amended and as to what provision, financial or otherwise, should be made for that purpose. All these are matters which have been actively engaging the attention of Government and are at the present moment the subject matter of correspondence between them and the Improvement Trust. Therefore, there is no reason to think that we have not been vigilant in this matter. The Hon'ble Member asked for some other information and he seems to be under the impression that though we have promised to take action in this matter nothing has been done, namely, with regard to the appointment of health officers and sanitary officers in municipalities in and around Calcutta and elsewhere. I think if the Hon'ble Member will look at the notification of the 14th February 1916, he will find that in exercise of the powers conferred under section 349(d) of the Bengal Municipal Act the Governor in Council has fixed the class and number of the sanitary officers to be appointed for each of the principal municipalities mentioned in the notification which includes Maniktala, Bhatpara, Cossipore-Chitpur, South Subarban, Baranagore and so on, in and around Calcutta. So action has been taken and health officers have been appointed by these municipalities in these places. If they have not appointed them, the fault certainly does not lie with Government. I would like to draw the attention of the Council to the report of the Municipal Department for 1915-16, paragraph 28, where it is pointed out :—

There are signs of a tendency to avoid appointing the staff pending the receipt of grants-in-aid from Government. Municipalities must recognise that they are now under a legal obligation to appoint these officers irrespective of the receipt of assistance from Government and that this constitutes a necessary charge on municipal finances. Assistance from Government towards the pay of sanitary inspectors can only be expected when a municipality has shown both its readiness to make the appointment and its inability to meet the charge notwithstanding a reasonable incidence of taxation without prejudice to the efficiency of other departments of the municipal administration.

The question of technical education is also raised by the Hon'ble Member. I would remind him of the debate in Council the other day on a resolution that was moved by the Hon'ble Sir Rajendra Mukerji where a scheme for the education of mechanical engineers was dealt with. There is only a portion of a very much larger scheme, and that as well as other schemes for the purpose of advancing technical education in Bengal, are now under consideration. Naturally we have got to wait for any new schemes for the reports both of the University Commission and the Industrial Commission that are now in progress. Hon'ble Members will also remember with reference to the remark of the Hon'ble Dr. Nilratan Sircar that though the allotment for vocational education is comparatively small—a little over 4 lakhs, having regard to the fact that before we can have vocational education, we must have either primary or secondary education, or probably both, and it is only a limited sum that we have at our disposal we are unable to spend more than we do, but the amount is increasing, and I hope that when we have got proper schemes, money will be found for advancing such schemes as will be feasible.

Discussion of the Budget.

Sir Henry Wheeler.

There is one other matter that I may refer to in this connection, and that is Dr. Suhrawardy's complaint that there is no provision for teaching Arabic and Persian for the Intermediate and Bachelor of Arts Examinations in Government colleges. No doubt, that is correct to a certain extent, but our experience with regard to that is somewhat unhappy. Under pressure from the Muhammadan community, classes for teaching those languages were opened at the Krishnagar College and affiliation was obtained from the University for that college. The result has been somewhat disappointing, because there has been one student so far and the cost per month for that one student is Rs. 125 a month ; so that it does not appear that there is any very great demand that has got to be met, and my friend's apprehension that students have to take up Pali and Sanskrit because of the want of provision for Arabic and Persian teaching seems somewhat contrary to facts. The Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari reminds me that the University has classes for Intermediate and Bachelor of Arts Persian but I think the Hon'ble Dr. Suhrawardy mentioned that point and what he said was that the students could not afford to meet the additional fees. Anyhow, I hope and trust that so long as provision cannot be made in Government colleges, provision at any rate might be made for giving facilities to Muhammadan students in joining these classes at the University and I have no doubt that if representations are made to my friend the Director of Public Instruction for that purpose and if on enquiry he is satisfied that there is a genuine need, he will do all he can towards satisfying the community in that matter.

My Lord, I think I have met the specific requests or recommendations, as best as I could. If I have omitted any points I can assure Hon'ble Members that they shall be noted and kept in view and that when the occasion arises during the next year we shall endeavour to give effect to such of them as can possibly be given effect to.

There is one other remark which I should like to make though it really comes under Sir Henry Wheeler's portfolio, and that is that several members have said that the debate to-day is more or less a farce. But if that is so, and I dare say it may be and I won't contradict them, then is it not the best way for the Hon'ble Members in order to get rid of any such comicality to abstain from taking part in this debate. Surely it is in the hands of Hon'ble Members themselves to prevent this absurdity."

The Hon'ble SIR HENRY WHEELER said :—

"Sir, as the Department, of which I have the honour to be in charge, is more especially concerned with the general financial interests of the province. I may be permitted to preface my remarks with some comments on a few of the wider aspects of the Budget, as distinct from certain departmental points of detail with which I will deal l[illegible] But in these wider aspects, I do not propose to include an answer to the mournful diatribes of some of the later speakers among the non-official Members, who, regardless of the changes that have been made in recent years, regardless of the opportunities which have been thereby given to them to influence the policy of Government, and regardless of the fact, which can be demonstrated, that these debates and the speeches of non-official Members of this Council do influence the policy of Government, persist in regarding all those opportunities of co-operating in this Council with the Bengal Government as a meaningless delusion and a sham. I do not admit the accuracy of the picture that on the one side we have the non-official Members laboriously toiling and trying to bring forward proposals all calculated to accelerate the advent of the millennium, only on the other, to see them turned down without rhyme or reason by a callous and contemptuous Government. But, apart from the correctness or otherwise of that picture, the essence of these comments is really to be found in the desire that the position of this Council vis-a-vis the administration should be different from that which it is, particularly in financial matters, under the existing Parliamentary statutes and the rules and regulations made thereunder. Such arguments fall within the field of discussion of larger constitutional issues which are occupying attention elsewhere, and which are more properly discussed on other occasions than in connection with the provincial Budget, and I therefore propose to confine myself to our budget as it is and its consideration under our procedure as it is.

The first point to which I would draw attention, is the practical use of the present debate. That is a matter about which there are two permissible points of view. On the one hand, that it is a useful continuance of an old tradition, and on the other, that, under the modern conditions of resolutions, questions and the like, subjects which have been debated to-day could all have been brought forward, and have in many cases been brought forward, previously with the result that this debate is largely an echo of old discussions, while bringing up again a multitude of subjects which can only now be dealt with cursorily and in the briefest outline. These two views are quite arguable though personally I am inclined to the one which would see the debate done away with, but that is merely my personal view. The Council may have observed that the Government of India have recently made a difference in their procedure in this respect, altering the date of the general discussion so that it should precede, and not come after, the detailed resolutions on the Revised Financial Statement. I propose to ascertain what precise changes have been made in the rules of the Imperial Council, and I think it may possibly be of interest, in the light of these changes, to ascertain the views of Hon'ble Members as to whether we too might not advantageously modify our procedure, although there is no desire to make any alterations which may not commend themselves to the majority.

But as a substitute for the debate we have, it is true, the solution put forward by the Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur, that we should appoint a Standing Finance Committee, which will peacefully and amicably discuss the allocation of funds throughout the year, thus rendering all subsequent discussions in this Council unnecessary. I fear his ideal is utopian, and I cannot conceive of any committee which is likely to be able to distribute our resources in a way that will commend itself to all Hon'ble Members. But, apart from that, the suggestion, which is advanced in the guise of a minor modification in existing procedure, is really a proposal for a large constitutional change in the position of the Council towards the financial expenditure of Government. That being so, it falls rather within the larger field of discussion to which I have already alluded.

As another general point, we have the criticism of the Hon'ble Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri that the Budget notes are not so clear as might be desired. That is an old complaint, and it has been the constant policy of the Finance Department to give more and more information in connection with the Budget. I think Hon'ble Members who have had long experience of this Council will recognize that the information now given is much fuller than what it was in earlier years. If I remember rightly, we now give references to statistics of more former years, while we give detailed schedules of new schemes, and this year have also placed in the hands of Members the Civil Budget Estimates. The memorandum which accompanies the Budget is nothing but a brief note, and it does not purport to be anything else, while it is supplemented by the speeches which are made by different official Members. But I am quite willing to agree that the form of the memorandum might be improved. The point attracted my attention during the course of the preparation of the present Budget. The notes have become somewhat stereotyped, and can possibly be improved upon, and I hope to take the matter up during the current year.

Lastly, as a general question, I would refer briefly to a very interesting point which has been raised by the Hon'ble Mr. P. C. Mitter, namely, the distribution of the provincial revenue as between the Imperial Government and the province itself. That is a point of great theoretical and practical importance, and in the light of the remarks of the Hon'ble Sir William Meyer which have been quoted by an Hon'ble Member to-day, it will obviously very shortly come into considerable prominence. I cannot enter into it at length now, but I must point out that the figures given by the Hon'ble Member are calculated to convey a somewhat false impression. I gather from the general outlines of his argument, which he has evidently taken from the third page of the Civil Estimates, that whereas the Imperial Government takes something like Rs. 16 crores out of a total revenue of Rs. 23 crores, the provincial Government gets only Rs. 6¾ crores approximately. That is not, I think, quite accurate. If the Hon'ble Member will look at the figures again he will see that under Imperial we find such large heads as Opium, 4½ crores, Salt, 1 crore 31 lakhs, Customs, nearly 6 crores, Interest, 11¼ lakhs, and Receipts in aid of Superannuation, approximately 1¾ lakhs; these items cannot fairly be classed as solely provincial revenue. Opium is obviously not so; much of the salt that comes through the port of Calcutta goes to Bihar and Orissa and Assam, and obviously many articles on which customs duties are paid are intended for places throughout Northern India. I would like to feel that the contention was correct, as it would give us a chance of asking for more in any fresh financial settlement, but I am afraid it is not so. I feel bound to warn the Council that it is not probable that in any differentiation between Imperial and Provincial finance we shall be able to lay hands upon some cache of revenue which so far the Government of India have been improperly enjoying, whereas it should have been retained by the province. Neither is it likely to be the case that we shall find that, in comparison with other provinces in the matter of contributions to the Government of India, Bengal has been unfairly treated. I think it is more likely to be found that other provinces attack us as coming under the most favoured provincial clause.

So much for general points, and coming to departmental details I would touch first on that department which among my own particular "white man's burden," is most exposed to attack, I refer to the police. We have heard again to-day in familiar accents of the colossal and extravagant heights to which expenditure on the police is mounting with leaps and bounds, and the inference is left to be drawn that we are wantonly squandering upon an effete department vast sums of money apparently with no better object than the troubling of the people. Some Hon'ble Members have grown almost lyrical about the magnificent treatment which is accorded to the police in the matter of motor launches, motor cars, palatial buildings and what not; but I would point out that motor launches are merely a reasonable incident attaching to the geographical circumstances of the province, the use of which really means a saving of officers' time and allows of stricter supervision than in older days when officers toured in green boats, slowly fighting against the tide. Motor cars are ordinary facilities, particularly in large cities, adding to the efficiency of administration. While as for the palatial buildings of which a picture has been drawn, I am afraid it would scarcely be admitted by those who have a wider experience of the uncomfortable hovels in which so many of our police are housed.

Discussion of the Budget.

Sir Henry Wheeler.

As regards particular items which have been attacked in the Police Budget, I have given answers in detail on a previous occasion, and I do not propose to supplement those remarks. On the general question I will again say that it turns on two main considerations. In the first place, we are making up in the matter of police much leeway. Secondly, in connection with a large labour force, which practically the police is, the modern increase in the cost of living, which entails the giving of higher wages, is bound to entail a heavy outlay. Where so many men are employed as is the case in the police, any small addition—even the addition of a single rupee to constables' pay—involves a very large total, and it is largely to this fact that the increase in the Police Budget is due. I have previously endeavoured to point out that the Budgets of other departments exhibit the same feature of rising expenditure, and it is inconsistent constantly to attack the Police Department for misdemeanors and simultaneously to criticise the expenditure by which it is sought to effect improvements in the force. I should say that three main things are especially necessary in the police. We require to attract a better type of men, and that is dependent on the offer of better prospects and the according of better treatment in the matter of housing and the incidents of living. Secondly, better supervision is needed, and this is closely connected with the provision of motor cars and motor launches which has been alluded to as a defect, while thirdly the police should be given a fair chance, and I am sceptical whether in the atmosphere of attack and, frequently, calumny in which the police live, move and have their being, they are having that fair chance upon which the getting of good work out of any human being so largely depends.

A few incidental points have been raised on the kindred subject of chaukidars, and the suggestion has been made that the chaukidari collections should be included in our provincial Budget. I did not understand the Hon'ble Member to press the point, and obviously it will not tend to increase the efficiency towards which he is aiming; nor is there any better reason for putting chaukidari collections in our Bugdet than, say, for including the receipts from municipal taxation.

As regards the alleged anomaly that the rural population pay for the chaukidars employed by them, while the urban population is exempt from all contribution torwards the police employed within their boundaries, I am afraid the Hon'ble Member who raised this point has resuscitated rather ancient history. The old municipal police charges in this province were done away with in 1882, with the sole exception of those levied in Howrah and certain minor contributions, and even these disappeared in 1898 by common agreement that the arrangement was in every way inefficient and unsatisfactory.

Turning to another sphere, we have had some interesting remarks on the matter of industrial development, and the hope has been expressed that progress in this direction might now be more rapid; that is a hope which we all share, and we are only awaiting the report of the Industrial Commission in order to make a start. Some Hon'ble Members have asked us the meaning of the provision for Rs. 1½ lakhs in the Bugdet for industrial development. This is a lump provision, made in anticipation of the development of schemes, in which we are getting much help from the new Director of Industries, Mr. Peterson, while the war is giving a great stimulus to the encouragement of new industries. Probably the greater part of that sum will be spent on an experimental research tannery, for which, I understand, a scheme is practically ready.

Discussion of the Budget.

Sir Henry Wheeler.

The next large subject with which I am concerned is Excise, and although I am afraid I cannot possibly deal with it fully, yet recognising the strong feeling which is entertained in many quarters, and quite rightly too, on the subject of temperance, I would like to make one or two comments. I take the item of country spirit to which, particularly, temperance reformers pay attention. In the first place it is not correct that the consumption of country-spirit during 1917-18 was markedly greater than that of the years preceding; in fact it was less. What really happened was that after years of fairly high consumption, e.g., 1913-14, which showed a total of 823,063 gallons we had a sudden drop in the three succeeding years, running down to 626,451 gallons in 1916-17. Last year the figures took an upward turn, but they are still below those of 1914-15, and very much below the level of the two years preceding that. The increase has been most marked in Calcutta, though there again the figure for 1917-18 is practically only equal to that of 1915-16, and appreciably less than that of the three earlier years; and in Calcutta the Commissioner of Excise attributes the increase, partly to the high price of imported liquor, which may have led some consumers to take to country-spirit, and partly to the prohibition of dilution. The matter of dilution is technical, and I gather that the Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari rather doubts whether it can affect the question. But the stopping of dilution does increase consumption for the simple reason that it prevents the shopkeeper from cheating the customers, in so far as he cannot palm off a weaker spirit as strong spirit. The prevention of dilution has been recognised by various authorities as a reasonable and desirable incident in Excise administration, and it is only part of the efforts that have been made in Calcutta in recent years, for instance, by separating the vend of country-spirit and foreign liquor, to tighten up the Excise administration and to render it more efficient. It was recognised that the prohibition of dilution would increase consumption, but it is justified both in fairness to the consumer and by the desirability of our having an exact knowledge of the circumstances of the liquor trade so that we can properly adjust taxation. But in anticipation of this increased consumption we have taken two distinct steps to check it. In the first place in all previous years license-fees were fixed for the year; in 1917-18 they were varied month by month, so that if consumption in a shop increased we could put up the license-fees and thereby introduce a deterrent; secondly, we have not only fixed higher prices originally, but on two occasions have raised the selling price and the duty, the net result being that a gallon 25° U. P. is costing now 14 annas more than it did on the 1st April 1917. These are all very definite steps designed to deter an undue increase in the consumption of liquor, and in fact it can be shown that the incidence of taxation per proof gallon has gone up considerably from Rs. 8·1 in 1912-13, to Rs. 11·5 in 1917-18. I think this result is one which commends itself to all temperance reformers. Again it is contrary to fact that the proportion of revenue derived from license fees in Calcutta is increasing, thereby exposing us to the criticism that we are practically encouraging sales. In 1915-16, 36·9 of the revenue from country spirit was realised in the form of license fees; in 1916-17 the proportion rose to 40 per cent., but in 1917-18 it had fallen to 16 per cent. I can give the Hon'ble Dr. Sarbadhikari some figures regarding the shop at Maniktala Street to which he has alluded, from which he will see that the license fee was Rs. 2,025 a month in 1915-16, whereas the average monthly license fee fell to Rs. 697 in 1917-18.

The Hon'ble Mr. Altaf Ali seems to be equally under a misapprehension that we are increasing the number of licenses. Excluding wholesale licenses and licenses for hotels, restaurants, bars, railway refreshment rooms, steamers etc., but including all those in which foreign liquor can be sold retail for consumption off the premises, in 1914-15 there were 97 shops in which foreign liquor could be consumed on the premises, and 192 places at which it could be purchased for consumption off the premises. In 1916-17 these figures fell to 13 and 176. If we take retail shops for the sale of country liquor we find that they were reduced from 1,292 in 1912-13 to 1,158 in 1916-17; while in the latter year the average area per shop was 64 square miles and the average population served by that shop 39,124. In the light of these statistics, I think, it can fairly be urged that we are not studding the country with grog-shops to the detriment of the people.

There remain, Sir, sundry miscellaneous items on which I can only touch very briefly. The Hon'ble Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur has referred to the inadequacy of the pay of ministerial officers, and although we have not been able to do anything special as yet for them, it may interest the Council to know that we have submitted a proposal to the Government of India which is designed to give relief to subordinate servants on Rs, 12 and under.

As regards the matter of female medical education raised by the Hon'ble Dr. Nilratan Sircar, I can give him the satisfactory information that the order debarring the admittance of female students to the Medical College has been rescinded. The reason for its having been passed was that the accommodation available was severely strained, even in taking in a proportion of the male students desiring to be instructed there, while the accommodation could have been materially improved if the Sarnamayee Hostel could have been vacated. The position was explained in detail in answer to a recent question in which it was stated that the opinions of the outside public were invited; practically no such opinions were sent in, but after discussion with the new Surgeon-General, we have decided to modify the order without waiting further.

I have notes of other points of detail raised in the course of this debate, but I am afraid that time is too short to permit of my elaborating them.

To revert to the general financial position I fully admit that it is somewhat tantalising. We have large balances and we have many useful purposes to which we would like to devote our money, but we are not allowed to touch the balances. I am afraid that in connection with provincial finance I may be regarded as somewhat of a Jonah. When I was Financial Secretary in 1909-12 we had no money; now we have money but we cannot spend it. I hope, however, that on that account the Council will not throw me overboard, because it is well-known that the position is due to circumstances over which we have no control. It is due, of course, to the war, and in so far as by economising we can help the resources of India as a whole, the resulting inconvenience and disabilities will no doubt be borne with the same cheerfulness and fortitude as far greater hardships and far greater disabilities are being borne by men in all parts of the Empire at the present time."

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM No. 4.

RESOLUTIONS.

(Under the rules for the discussion of matters of general public interest.)

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI moved the following resolution :—

This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that the Government Order No. 21 T.—Education, dated Darjeeling, the 23rd April, 1917, defining the limit of promotion of officers in the Subordinate Educational Service, be cancelled.

Resolutions.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

He said :—

"My Lord, the principles laid down by the Government in Resolution No. 1281, dated the 30th March, 1897, as regards promotion, are :—

(1) The factors determining promotion are (a) efficiency ; (b) nature of work, (c) capacity for higher responsibility and (d) seniority.

(2) Holding of a higher post does not imply promotion but only indicates fitness.

The Hon'ble Mr. Hornell, Director of Public Instruction, thought, however, that the holder of a higher post may or may not get promotion but as holding of a lower post indicates unfitness, so until a post indicating fitness be held there will be no prospect of promotion after a certain limit. The difficulties of the Director of Public Instruction in promoting officers are, according to him :—

(1) The Subordinate Educational Service, as constituted at present, consists of heterogeneous elements possessing different qualifications and doing different works.

(2) It is difficult to balance the claims of different officers at the time of promotion.

(3) Unless the terms are defined everyone considers that he has a grievance when he is superseded.

Need for a definite pronouncement about promotions is, therefore, keenly felt by the Director who, he holds, is competent to deal with individual cases but cannot alter the terms of service without the sanction of the Government. The Director, therefore, suggested remedies which have been accepted and embodied in the Government Circular and which define the prospects of promotions of the various classes of officers in the Subordinate Educational Service in the following way :—

Officers eligible for promotion up to Classes I and II.

Lecturers (including Lecturers of the Oriental Department of the Sanskrit College).

Demonstrators.

Headmasters and Headmistresses of Government High Schools.

District Deputy Inspectors of Schools (including the Deputy Inspectors of Schools, Calcutta).

Superintendents of Technical Schools and the Assistant Head Master of the Dacca School of Engineering.

Foremen Instructors who are ordinarily appointed to Class II.

Two senior teachers of each of the European Schools who can be temporarily entrusted with the duties of the Headmaster and Headmistress.

The Librarian, Presidency College.

Deputy Keeper, Art Section of the Indian Museum.

Head clerks of important subordinate offices such as the offices of all Inspectors of Schools (including the Inspector of European Schools) and of the Principals of the Presidency, Dacca and Civil Engineering Colleges.

Officers eligible for promotion up to Class III.

Assistant Headmasters and Assistant Headmistresses of high schools.

Deputy Inspectors of Schools other than District Deputy Inspectors of Schools.

Resolutions.

Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

Head clerks of the offices of all Principals of Colleges (other than those mentioned under Classes I and II above) and of the Principal, Calcutta Madrassa.

All Assistant Teachers of European Schools other than those mentioned under Classes I and II above.

Senior English Teachers of reformed Madrassas.

Assistant Maulvis (Arabic teachers) of Madrassas.

Assistant Masters of the Dacca School of Engineering.

Laboratory Assistants.

Teachers of the Government School of Art.

Officers eligible for promotion up to Class V.

Assistant Masters of High Schools.

Headmasters of Middle English Schools and Assistant Masters of Technical Schools.

Drawing Masters (other than those employed in the School of Art).

Sub-Inspectors of Schools.

Drill Masters.

Pandits (teachers of Sanskrit).

Maulvis (teachers of Arabic and Persian).

Clerks, other than those mentioned under Classes I, II and III.

Cashiers.

Draftsmen.

Librarians of Colleges other than the Presidency and Dacca Colleges.

The remedies, my Lord, do not make any consideration whatsoever of the qualifications, for, among Assistant Masters, there are M. A.'s, M. Sc.'s, B. A's and B. Sc.'s sometimes with B. T. or L. T. as additional qualifications. The remedies brand the teachers of High Schools as a class doing less important work and consequently they must not rise above Rs. 100.

Then, again, there is another Circular of the Director of Public Instruction No. 188, dated 9th November, 1916, laying down that graduates must begin on Rs. 35 and M. A.'s and M. Sc.'s on Rs. 50. Thus the teacher of a secondary school must fare between the minimum of 35 and maximum of 100, for all assistant masters—no matter whether they are graduates or Masters in Arts or Science—will never get the chance of becoming Assistant Headmasters or Headmasters.

The number of posts in the first three classes being much less than the number of officers eligible for promotion (under the new circular), by the time when those of the inferior branch will become eligible by virtue of their appointment to superior posts of greater responsibility, there will not only be no room for them in the higher grades, but they will never have any chance as they will evidently have to retire earlier than those who are younger in age. An examination of the list of officers in the Subordinate Educational Service corrected up to 1st October, 1917, will show that the number of officers eligible for promotion up to Classes I to III is 251, while in Classes I, II and III there are available only 107 posts. Not less than 163 are recruited directly in classes varying from V to II. The time taken by an Assistant Master to rise up to Class V, in favourable circumstances, is seldom less than 16 years. Now when a very fortunate Assistant Master finds himself eligible for a higher post he understands perforce, to his great dismay, that his eligibility is after all a dead-sea-apple, for the fortunate juniors have not only monopolised all the higher grades but for want of breathing space threaten to knock him down from and block his way to even Class V. The terms of service were determined by the Secretary of State and the Government of India, and require, it seems, their sanction for any alteration.

Resolutions.

Sir S. P. Sinha.

As head of the Education Department it ill-becomes a Director of Public Instruction to say that the teachers of High Schools as a class are doing less important work than others included in the heterogeneous staff.

I think, my Lord, it is deplorable on the part of the Director and cruel and insulting to the teachers that in the face of a consensus of opinion and a definite pronouncement by the Imperial and Provincial Governments, that the teachers of secondary schools are an underpaid and overworked sulky lot—that there should be a circular limiting the promotion of some of them simply because by accident, and not by agreement, these persons are now holding less important posts. It is glaring unkindness and flagrant injustice to give a fresh cause of irritation and disappointment to school masters who are already in the worst condition—social, economic or otherwise—at a time when the Government themselves recognize the desirability of enhancing the grants on Education to bring immediate relief to this suffering class of public servants. A Director of Public Instruction ought to know that the best way, perhaps, of improving the efficiency of the workers in a particularly important sphere is not to brand them as inferior or unimportant and to discourage them by limiting their already too meagre prospects and by damaging criticisms. Surely, my Lord, this sort of treatment does not secure devotion to work in the already too-tightly bound subordinate members of the service.

I would like to give here a few hard cases :—

(1) Babu Tariniprasad Mukherjee (Class II of the Subordinate Educational Service, Assistant Head Master, Hindu School, has been superseded by Mrs. P. Chakrabarti and P. Brahmachari, who are junior to him by two years and four years, respectively. Immediately before or since the circular came into effect he was not offered any Head Mastership. Now, after 33 years of faithful service he has been kindly informed that a brand-new experimental circular has debarred him from promotion.

(2) Babu Kalidas Banerjee, Assistant Master, Sanskrit Collegiate School, after 21 years of good service has been superseded by—

(ii) Mr. K. N. Bhattacharjya, junior by 16 years.
(iii) Mr. Dundakar, junior by six years.
(iv) Babu Debendralal Datta, junior by eight years.

(3) Mr. Abdul Halim, Sub-Inspector of Schools, officiating Deputy Inspector of Schools, and Babu Girija Kanta Bagchi, officiating Assistant Head-master, Barrackpur High School, have also been superseded.

Before long there will be a regular crop of similar cases, and the Director of Public Instruction will have the serene satisfaction of seeing his department detested by all self-respecting and worthy men.

Under these circumstances, my Lord, I think the circular complained of should be cancelled.

With these observations I commend this resolution to the acceptance of the Council. I may be permitted to add that if the Government be pleased to accept my proposition, the cases of the officers already superseded under the circular may be kindly considered."

The Hon'ble SIR S. P. SINHA said :—

"My Lord, as the Government have decided to accept this resolution and cancel the circular of which the Hon'ble Member complains, it would perhaps have been sufficient if I merely stated that and nothing else. As it might raise false hopes and give grounds for misconception, I think it necessary to put before the Council the reasons why this circular is going to be withdrawn. The fact is that the nature of the circular is altogether misunderstood, but whether that is right or whether that is wrong, the fact remains that the circular has caused and continues to cause a great deal of discontent in the Subordinate Educational Service as they consider that it puts a definite block in the way of promotion and makes their position worse than it was. The officers of this Service unfortunately are already labouring under a sense of grievance because of the very small pay and the poor prospects therein. Ever since I joined this Government it has been a matter of serious and anxious consideration to me as to whether the circular should continue or not, and before we received the notice of this resolution we had decided that the circular should be withdrawn because of the misapprehension which exists with regard to it and the discontent which it fosters. But I may explain that the circular does not do the injustice that the Hon'ble Mover of the resolution considers it does. It is designed to give effect to two fundamental principles :—first that promotion from one class to another will not and cannot be determined by seniority alone; and secondly, that though the promotion of an officer to a post of greater responsibility will not necessarily imply promotion to a higher class on higher pay, increase of responsibility will have due weight in the determination of promotions.

Resolutions.

Rai Radha Charan Pal Bahadur; Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri.

"So far as the circular is based on these two principles, I may say at once that there is no intention whatsoever to depart from the principles embodied therein. They would be still applied in considering the question of promotion, and I do not propose to fetter the discretion of the Director of Public Instruction in any way whatsoever in the matter of promotion, after the circular is withdrawn, any more than it was before it was withdrawn. I also wish to mention that the Hon'ble Member should not be under any misapprehension as to this, as he has stated that the circular has caused hardship in several cases. I think he is entirely mistaken. If a man is superseded—to use his own language—it is not necessarily because of this circular; there may be other reasons and in the cases to which he referred there are other reasons which led to the supersession such as it is; and the withdrawal of the circular will not therefore give rise to any claim on the part of any officer to have that question re-opened and re-considered. While withdrawing the circular for the reasons which I have already mentioned, I cannot promise that there will be any departure whatsoever from the two essential and fundamental principles governing promotion, viz., that seniority alone shall not give any claim for promotion and that higher responsibility, though it does not necessarily mean higher pay, shall receive due consideration as a factor in determining promotion."

The Hon'ble RAI RADHA CHARAN PAL Bahadur said :—

"I desire to associate myself with the observations that has fallen from my Hon'ble friend, Babu Kishori Mohan Chaudhuri, and I wish to thank the Hon'ble Member in charge for treating the resolution in a sympathetic spirit. I quite agree with the Hon'ble Member that seniority alone should not be the only test for promotion. He has laid down another principle that higher responsiblity does not necessarily mean higher emoluments. I do not know whether that principle is accepted in all departments of Government and in all services, covenanted and uncovenanted. I for myself think that higher responsibility should carry some increase of salary. I think that is an accepted principle in Your Excellency's Government, and if that is so I do not see any reason why that should not also be accepted in the Education Department and I do not see why seniority should be the only test in that Department."

The Hon'ble BABU KISHORI MOHAN CHAUDHURI said :—

"I am grateful to Government for the kindness shown in respect of my resolution that the Circular should be withdrawn. I never meant that seniority alone should govern promotion. Other circumstances should also be considered. I fully appreciate that special consideration should be shown to those doing responsible work. If that circular be withdrawn of course the departmental heads will consider whether there should be any supersession. But on this I have no quarrel with the department. I am grateful to Government for the concession."

Resolutions.

Maulvi A. K. Fazl-ul-Haq; The President.

The resolution was then put and agreed to.

LIST OF BUSINESS—ITEM NO. 5.

The Hon'ble MAULVI A. K. FAZL-UL-HAQ was to have moved the following resolution :—

"This Council recommends to the Governor in Council that a committee, consisting of officials and non-officials, be appointed to inquire into the cases of alleged oppression committed by the Midnapore Zamindari Company on cultivators in various parts of the Nadia district."

He said :—

"My Lord, since I gave notice of this resolution, I have been advised by several of my friends, whose opinions I greatly value, to ask Your Excellency's permission to wtthdraw this resolution. I acceded to their request, but in doing so I hope I shall not be misunderstood. I still adhere to my right to place before the Council whatever information I possess as regards the alleged cases of oppression committed by the Midnapore Zemindari Company on their tenants in Nadia district, and I certainly think that when I have placed these facts before Government no time will be lost to give these people redress and justice. I also think that although I had ample materials at my disposal to unfold before this Council a tale of untold misery and hardship, I will not do it in the face of the advice of my friends and I will not take up Your Excellency's time any longer over this resolution. Besides, Sir S. P. Sinha has told us that if we look upon these proceedings as absurdities, not to take part in them. To take part in absurdities is another absurdity. I accept his advice also and I think that the best way to avoid absurdity is not to take part in it. Therefore, my Lord, I ask permission to withdraw this resolution."

The resolution was then, by leave of the President, withdrawn.

The President's Speech.

The PRESIDENT said :—

"Gentlemen, though I shall not be so inconsiderate as, at the end of a somewhat long and sultry day, to inflict a long speech upon a long-suffering and probably mutely-protesting Council, yet I think it is fitting that at the close of the session, the President should briefly review the work which has been achieved. I think we may look back upon the past session with a sense of tolerable satisfaction. We have placed upon the Statute Book certain Bills, which, if they are not of a sensational character, are at any rate measures of advantage to those in whose interest they have been conceived. Among them are the Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, the Bengal Tenancy (Amendment) Act, and the Bengal Aliens Disqualification Act, while a fourth —the Serampore College Bill—has been passed by this Council and is now awaiting the sanction of the Viceroy. But in addition to these Bills, which have now become or are about to become Acts, we have started on their way other measures of a more ambitious character. We have given a send-off to two Bills which deal with the question of self-government in different spheres.

Resolutions.

The President.

The Calcutta Municipal Bill is now awaiting the comments and criticisms of the Corporation and of other public bodies. and I can assure the Council that when the views of the these different bodies have been submitted, they will receive from Government careful and earnest attention. The other Bill, to which I refer, is the Bill for placing on a broad basis the whole system of village self-government which was introduced in a speech of great lucidity by the Hon'ble Sir S. P. Sinha at the commencement of our proceedings to-day. We shall now look forward with interest to the views which the public may hold with regard to that measure, and I confess that I shall follow its career myself with an interest and solicitude which, I think, I may describe as being almost of a paternal character. At any rate, if I cannot claim to be the actual father of the Bill, I think I may claim that since my arrival in Bengal, I have played towards it the part of a foster-father. I had hoped that this Bill would have been able to make its début amongst you long before now. So far as the Bengal Government are concerned, we had completed our work upon it within four months of the time when I first assumed office, and I have sat with folded arms consumed with such patience as I could summon, as I watched the passage of the eight months which, as events have shown, have been necessary for obtaining the sanction of the higher authorities to its introduction. But, at any rate, the Bill has at last made its appearance and it is our hope that it will receive from the public sympathetic and favourable consideration. Constitution-making is at the present moment a rather fashionable pastime, but it seems to me that some of the architects of new constitutions in their anxiety no doubt to build an attractive and ornamental top storey to their buildings have been a little prone to forget the necessity of laying a broad and firm foundation upon which to raise up their structure. The Village Self-Government Bill is the contribution of the Bengal Government to that most necessary part of the edifice. For my own part I am delighted to be able to say that from personal experience which, from time to time, during the past year I have had of the working of union committees, even under the existing law, defective though that law is, I look forward with hope and with confidence to seeing in this Presidency in the years that are to come, growing up a net-work of comparatively small self-governing units looking after their local needs, imposing the necessary taxation with the assent of the taxed, because the taxed themselves will see that the taxes which they pay are spent to their own interest and advantage.

"Now, those, as I have said, are the more ambitious measures which we have launched upon their way; but I must not omit to mention three other Bills with which the Council has also concerned itself. We have had introduced to our notice two Bills by private Members—the Bengal Juvenile Smoking Bill and the Bengal Primary Education Bill. What the views of the public may be with regard to those proposals, we do not yet know; but it is gratifying to find that private members of the Legislative Council are taking a keen interest in measures of social reform of this kind, and whatever may be the ultimate fate of these two particular measures, I hope that they will not be discouraged in their endeavours. The only other Bill which has been introduced during the present session is, I believe, an old and rather familiar friend, namely, the Calcutta Hackney Carriage Bill, which is still struggling to find its way on to the Statute Book. So far as the Government are concerned, in this case also we are still waiting for the opinions of the public upon our proposals. But our energies have not been occupied solely with legislative projects. During the course of the past session no less than 60 starred and 408 unstarred questions have been asked and answered. On the Financial Statement, the record number of 49 resolutions have been dealt with, and upon subjects of general public interest and importance, 46 resolutions have also been disposed of in the Council.

Resolutions.

The President.

"May I just say one word with regard to the rules under which we work? We are a young body, we have no great volume of tradition behind us to look to for guidance. We are indeed engaged ourselves in making our own traditions and it behoves us, therefore, to walk warily and to guard against creating precedents which may prove a source of embarrassment to our successors in the future. Some Hon'ble Members sometimes make requests to me that I should stretch the rules under which we work in order to suit their convenience. On several occasions, for example, resolutions had been sent in too late for admission and discussion at a meeting of the Council, and Hon'ble Members have written to say that they knew that they were sending them in a little too late; but would I make an exception in their case and allow them to be discussed at the coming meeting. If one makes an exception in one case, one must make exceptions in all cases, and if we have a rule at all, the rule must obviously be observed. Hon'ble Members will see for themselves that if we make an exception in the case of one Hon'ble Member, it will be unfair to the other Members of the Council. It may be, of course, that some event of great public interest and importance may arise unexpectedly and it is desirable that it should be discussed at the earliest possible opportunity in this Council. Under such circumstances I should consider it perfectly legitimate to make an exception to that particular rule. But the cases to which I have referred have never had behind them the support of reasons of that kind, and I have, generally speaking, found it necessary to refuse them.

"Then again I would give you one other example. Take the case of the rules with regard to questions. I think Hon'ble Members sometimes forget to read rule 5 which deals with the asking of questions; that particular rule says that a question should not be of undue length and secondly that it should not contain arguments or inferences. Well, I have sometimes found fault with questions on the ground that they violated that rule. I do not know whether it is due to their legal talent and ability that Hon'ble Members unconsciously drift into argument, or if so that we must attribute it to the fact that there are so many eminent members of the legal profession on the Council that this rule is not always adequately observed. But for the reason which I have already given, namely, that we are now really creating traditions which will be looked back to by our successors for guidance—for that reason we should be most careful in observing as strictly as possible the Rules of Business which are laid down. And where there may be no specific rules to guide us, it has been always my practice to follow, so far as possible, the procedure followed in the House of Commons. Hon'ble Members will no doubt agree that the procedure of the House of Commons is the best model which we can take on which to frame our own.

"Now, I have only a few words to say with regard to the subject matter of some of the resolutions. We have had resolutions moved on many matters of interest and importance, resolutions on questions of sanitation, questions of education, questions of administration generally, and I think we have had our fair share of resolutions on the administration of the Defence of India Act in particular. With regard to that measure, Government have been criticised both in this Council and outside it, and I can at least express my gratification that the criticism which has been directed against us within the walls of this Council has not shown that lack of restraint which I have sometimes noticed in the criticisms which are directed against us from less responsible quarters outside. Well, I would like to point out to Hon'ble Members that it is very easy for a man who bears no burden of responsibility to criticise those who do and after all it is upon the Government that the responsibility rests and in particular the responsibility for the prevention of crime. It is quite true, no doubt that a moral responsibility rests upon all public men to do what they can to assist the Government in the prevention of crime; and I have not the slightest doubt that I can rely upon every Hon'ble Member of this Council to do what he can to bring home to the public at large that moral responsibility which rests upon them. But the actual and ultimate responsibility does and must rest upon the executive Government. So far as the Defence of India Act is concerned, we stand to-day where we have always stood. We exercise our powers under it with one object and one object only in view,—the object, that is to say, of preventing crimes. When I was addressing the Council at the opening meeting of this session, I travelled widely over the ground and I do not propose on this occasion to repeat my excursion, but there are two points to which I would briefly refer. We decided, as I told the Council on that occasion, that there were cases when in our judgment men who had been guilty of crime in a lesser degree only could be released from internment without further endangering the public peace, and I told the Council that it was the policy of Government, to quote my own words—'the policy of Government deliberately adopted with a full knowledge of all the facts to release such men as could in our judgment be set free without endangering the safety of society and the public peace.' And I explained that men who had been guilty only in a minor degree and for whose behaviour security could be obtained, would, under those circumstances, be set at liberty. We have not receded from that policy; we have continuously pursued it, and it may be of interest to the Hon'ble Members of this Council to know that up to the present time in pursuance of that policy, we have released in round numbers—I do not pledge myself to an absolute number because this process is a continuing process—since this Act came into force upwards of 225 men who have been interned under the provisions of the Defence of India Act or under the provisions of kindred measures. In addition to that, we have relaxed restrictions upon upwards of a hundred men who were interned away from their homes, and have allowed them what is known as 'home domicile', that is to say, we have allowed them to go back to their own homes subject to that small amount of surveillance which is necessary to see that they do not re-engage in their previous undesirable activities.

Resolutions.

The President.

"Well, there is one other point in connection with our administration of this measure. It is a point to which I referred also in the speech which I made at the opening of Council at the beginning of the present session. I said that the Government was satisfied that such safeguards were provided as would reduce to a minimum the possibility of error in our administration of this Act. But I admitted that there might be some persons who do not possess the knowledge which Government possess and who might legitimately desire that there should be some additional safeguards over and above those which we had already provided, and I made that statement in these words :—

> If, however, it is suggested that a small Judicial Committee would be regarded a more satisfactory form of safeguard against possible errors on our part, we shall be prepared in future, to submit our cases against all persons whom we proposed to place under restraint under the Defence of India Act, Ingress Ordinance, or Regulation III of 1818, to such a Body consisting of two Judges, for their opinion.

Well, I am bound to say that I was rather surprised and a little disappointed that my offer on that occasion met with such a cold welcome. I looked in vain among the speeches of public men on the platform and in the columns of the Press for any expression of opinion that this would be a satisfactory safeguard from the point of view of the public. I can assure Hon'ble Members that I found very little; on the other hand, I found a good deal of scorn and a good many remarks that a Committee of this sort would be worse than useless. That was not very encouraging. It is true that four months after I made the offer, an Hon'ble Member of the Imperial Legislative

Resolutions.

Adjournment.

Council raised the question in that Body and elicited a similar offer to the one which I had made, or one which was somewhat similar, at any rate, from the Government of India. Then, I find to my astonishment that even this offer on the part of the Government of India has not met with any very cordial assent. It is true that in some quarters a mild expression of approval is to be found in the Press; on the other hand, in other quarters the proposal, if I may use a homely expression, has been damned with faint praise. What I want to submit to the Council is this: that these offers on the part of the Bengal Government and on the part of the Government of India were made under the belief that they would prove acceptable to public opinion. If we have been mistaken, if these offers are not acceptable to public opinion, if they are to be treated with scorn, if we are to be told that a Judicial Committee of this kind will be worse than useless—as we have been told on more occasions than one—then I say that the whole point of making these offers at once disappears. If the public do not wish these additional safeguards which have been proposed then upon the head of the public the responsibility must lie, if they do not receive them. It may be that public opinion has not had full time since the recent speech of the Home Member to express itself. But to be quite frank with the Hon'ble Members of this Council I must confess that a good deal of the opinion which has so far been expressed by public men on this offer, has not been of a character which leads me to suppose that, if the offer is put into force, it will prove acceptable to them. It remains for the public themselves to make it clear one way or the other whether they desire a machinery of this kind or whether they do not.

"I began my remarks by saying that I would not be so inconsiderate as to inflict upon the Council a long speech; but I am afraid that I have already rather transgressed the limits which I intended to impose upon myself. In bidding the Members of this Council an official farewell until our next meeting, I would once more congratulate them on the useful work which this Council has achieved during the past session. I would commend to their careful and sympathetic consideration those proposals which the Government of Bengal have now submitted to them; in the first place, in connection with the Calcutta Municipal Bill and, secondly, in connection with the Village Self-Government Bill. I hope it may be found possible without any undue delay—we have no desire whatsoever to curtail the time which may be thought necessary to give adequate consideration to these measures—for us to obtain the considered opinions of the Hon'ble Members of this Council and of the public generally upon our proposals.

"The Council now stands adjourned sine die."

ADJOURNMENT.

The Council was then adjourned sine die.

APPENDIX B.

(Referred to in the answer to Question No. X.)

Nos. 1604—1612A., dated Calcutta, the 3rd March 1905.

From—R. W. CARLYLE, ESQ., C.I.E., Offg. Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

To—The Commissioner of

IT appears to the Lieutenant-Governor, from the perusal of a large number of Confidential Reports, they are frequently useless, or at all events not nearly as useful as they might be, on account of the vague language in which they are couched.

2. There is not much harm in saying that an officer is "good," because it may be taken to mean that a reporting officer has really no criticism to offer, and that the officer reported on has given satisfaction. At the same time, if an officer has any particular good quality worth mentioning, it may be of great advantage that it should be specially mentioned in the report. For example, it may be useful to the Government to know that a man is "tactful," or "energetic" or "sound in judgment," when it is necessary to choose an officer possessing any of these qualifications for any special duty.

3. It is distinctly more objectionable to use a vague phrase like "bad" or "unsatisfactory" or "useless" in reporting unfavourably of an officer. It is essential to know, if possible, wherein the badness consists. The report should state whether the officer is "perverse," "untrustworthy," "perfunctory," "lazy," or whatever the particular unfavourable characteristic of his work may be; and in the case of a seriously bad report, it is a good thing, if possible, to illustrate very briefly the unfavourable trait.

4. The essential point to be kept in view in reporting on officers is that the report should be so full as clearly to show special merits or defects, so that those who have to peruse the reports may be able to form a correct and definite judgment as to how the services of the officers concerned may best be utilised.

5. It is right that an officer who is badly reported on should be informed of the fact. This is desirable, not so much to enable him to defend himself (and certainly not to enable him to enter into a controversial correspondence), but rather that he may be warned and have an opportunity of giving his attention to the curing of the defects which have been brought to notice. It is useless to send vague reports to an officer for his information, but when any particular defect is pointed out, he should be told that the defect has been brought to notice, and that he should set himself to cure it.

6. This does not apply to cases where the defect pointed out is one which cannot be cured by the officer concerned and where it could only give him pain if he were informed. It may, for instance, be desirable that Government should know that an officer is not very intelligent, but the officer concerned could not benefit by being told this. At the same time it may be necessary, in the interest of fairness of dealing, to communicate the report.

7. Wherever benefit may result from communicating an unfavourable report, or where fairness demands its communication, the officer reported on must be informed of the contents of the report; and the fact that he has been so informed must be noted for the information of Government. Where Government thinks that a report withheld should have been communicated, it will repair the omission.

APPENDIX C.

(Referred to in the answer to Question No. X.)

Nos. 5489—5504A., dated Darjeeling, the 26th June 1916.

From—THE HON'BLE MR. J. H. KERR, C.I.E., I.C.S., Chief Secretary to the Government of Bengal,

To—(1) All Commissioners of Divisions: (2) the Inspector-General of Police; (3) the Inspector-General of Prisons; (4) the Chief Presidency Magistrate, Calcutta; (5) the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta; (6) the Director of Land Records; (7) the Director of Surveys; (8) the Director of Agriculture; (9) the Registrar, Co-operative Societies; (10) the Inspector-General of Registration; (11) the Secretary, Board of Revenue; (12) the Commissioner of Excise and Salt.

I AM directed to forward, for your information and guidance, a copy of a Resolution by the Government of India, Home Department, Nos. 1568-95, dated the 14th September 1915, in which they lay down the principles which should be observed in communicating to subordinate officers in civil employ unfavourable remarks made by their superior officers.

2. The two main principles laid down by the Government of India are:—

(1) that only those defects, which are remediable and concerning the existence of which no doubt can exist, should be pointed out to the officer at fault; and

(2) that the manner and method of communication should be such as to secure the maximum benefit to the officer, having regard to his temperament.

3. With reference to the question of the authority by whom the unfavourable remarks should be communicated to the officers concerned, it is important to notice that the Government of India have directed that when a report is built up on the individual opinions of different departmental superiors in gradation, it is only the opinion as accepted by the highest authority which need be considered from the point of view of communication. In view of these orders, the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that an unfavourable report shall not be communicated to the officer concerned except by, or under the orders of, the authority which submits the report to Government or the Board of Revenue, namely, the Commissioner, the Head of the Department, or the District Judge, or, in the case of the Public Works Department, the Chief Engineer. His Excellency in Council leaves it to these high authorities, who have first-hand knowledge of the work of the officers reported on, to decide, with reference to the principles laid down by the Government of India, in which cases it is desirable to communicate unfavourable remarks to the officers concerned, and whether the communication should be verbal or written, and whether it should be made direct to the officer concerned or through an intermediate authority or through his immediate superior.

4. I am further to point out that the orders contained in paragraph 3 of the Resolution refer only to annual reports, and do not in any way affect the right and duty of an officer to admonish his subordinates with a view to the eradication of faults which come to his notice in the course of his ordinary work. When a defect has already been pointed out in this way, it may not be necessary, on the occasion of the submission of the annual report, to communicate further with an officer concerning his defects. Each authority should, therefore, in reporting the existence of remediable defects in an officer, note the action which has already been taken or which it is proposed to take to cure them, so as to enable superior authorities and Government to decide whether any further action is necessary in connection with the annual report.

5. The orders now issued supersede those contained in paragraphs 5, 6 and 7 of Government Circular Nos. 1604-12 A., dated the 3rd March 1905.

RESOLUTION ON THE BUDGET ESTIMATE OF INCOME AND EXPENDITURE OF THE HOWRAH BRIDGE FOR 1918-19.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

MARINE DEPARTMENT.

CALCUTTA, THE 17TH APRIL 1918.

RESOLUTION—No. 993Marine.

READ—

Letter from the Vice-Chairman of the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, No. 9997, dated the 12th March 1918, submittting the Budget Estimate of Income and Expenditure of the Howrah Bridge for the year 1918-19.

Receipts.—The receipts for the year 1918-19 are estimated at Rs. 3,35,000. This estimate is based on the revised estimate of receipts for the current year, viz., Rs. 3,35,000, as compared with Rs. 3,28,000 of the original budget estimate.

Expenditure.—The renewals to the Bridge structure having been completed in the course of 1917-18, the estimate of expenditure for the year 1918-19 has been taken at Rs. 2,64,217 against the revised estimate of expenditure of Rs. 4,07,519 for the year 1917-18. The estimated surplus balance of Rs. 70,783 will be utilized in reducing the debt on the Bridge, which, it is estimated, will stand at Rs. 6,02,294 on the 31st March 1919.

2. The Governor in Council approves the Budget Estimate of Receipts and Expenditure under section 21 of the Howrah Bridge Act.

By order of the Governor in Council,

F. A. A. COWLEY,

Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

MONTHLY WEATHER AND CROP REPORT OF BENGAL FOR MARCH 1918.

I. Character of the Season.—Light to moderate rain fell nearly throughout the province during the last two weeks of the month under report. The usual rainfall statement is appended.

II. Progress of Agricultural operations.—Planting of sugarcane and harvesting of spring crops were in progress. Bhadoi sowings were somewhat delayed for want of timely rainfall. Sowing of jute and autumn paddy was commenced in the eastern and northern districts during the latter part of the month when some rain fell.

III. State of standing crops.—The standing spring crops suffered considerably from drought. Subsequent rainfall was a little too late.

IV. The prospects and probable outturn.—Outturn of the standing spring crops is anticipated to be much below the normal.

V. Damage to standing crops.—The spring crops were damaged to some extent by drought.

VI. Condition of Agricultural stock.—The condition of agricultural stock was fair. Cattle disease was found to be prevalent in parts of the following districts:—24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Khulna, Burdwan, Birbhum, Hooghly, Darjeeling, Chittagong and Tippera.

VII. Failure of pasturage and fodder.—There was no insufficiency of fodder anywhere.

VIII. Prices of food-grains.—During the second fortnight of the month under review the prices of common rice rose in two districts, fell in nine and remained stationary in the rest. It varied from 10 seers 8 chitaks a rupee at Howrah to 16 seers a rupee at Khulna.

IX. Condition of Agricultural people.—The condition of agricultural people was reported to be fair.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS

For the week ending on the 18th April 1918.

Summary.—Moderate rain fell during the week almost all over the province. The fall has considerably helped the sowings of autumn paddy and jute, which are now in progress. More rain is, however, wanted in places, chiefly Burdwan and Rajshahi Divisions. Boro paddy and other standing crops are doing fairl, well. The average price of common rice for the province has remained almost stationary with a slightly downward tendency.

REGISTRATION.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 4000 Regn.—The 30th April 1918.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 24 of the Bengal Muhammadan Marriages and Divorces Registration Act, 1876 (Bengal Act I of 1876), and in supersession of all previous rules made under sections 18 and 24 of that Act by the Government of Bengal or by the late Government of Eastern Bengal and Assam, the Governor in Council is pleased to make the following rules for all the districts of the Presidency of Bengal:—

Local Advisory Committee.

1. The Inspector-General of Registration shall, in accordance with principles approved by Government, appoint, in each district other than Calcutta, a Muhammadan Advisory Committee to assist in selecting candidates for the post of Muhammadan Registrar.

Selection of candidates for Muhammadan Registrarships.

2. (1) On the occurrence of a vacancy in the post of a Muhammadan Registrar or on the creation of a new office, in any district other than the district of Calcutta, the District Registrar, in consultation with the Local Advisory Committee formed under rule 1, shall select for such vacancy or office two candidates and shall submit the nominations to Government through the Inspector-General of Registration.

Qualifications of candidates.

(2) Candidates selected for the post of Muhammadan Registrars must possess a sufficient acquaintance with the Arabic language and Muhammadan law of marriage and divorce, and be of good moral character.

Local candidates to be preferred.

(3) In selecting candidates the Local Advisory Committee and the District Registrar shall, so far as may be practicable, give preference to the claims of local men of respectable character and suitable attainments.

Functions of the Permanent Committee.

3. The Permanent Committee shall advise the Inspector-General of Registration in regard to the selection of candidates for appointment as Muhammadan Registrars in Calcutta. They shall also advise the Inspector-General of Registration on such general questions as may be referred to them and shall assist in conducting the Departmental Examination of Muhammadan Registrars.

Form of application.

4. Each nomination submitted by the District Registrar shall be accompanied by the original application of the candidate in the following form together with a certificate of good moral character, and (unless the applicant holds a certificate of qualification from any Madrassa) every candidate shall be required to furnish a certificate that he possesses sufficient acquaintance with the Arabic language and the Muhammadan law of marriage and divorce, signed by two Muhammadan gentlemen of respectability and position:—

Name and usual signature of candidate, date of application and address in full	Age.	Profession or present employment of candidate, with present salary or pension.	Father's name and profession. 5. The limits within which a Muhammadan Registrar shall be licensed to act shall coincide with the limits of a sub-district under the Indian Registration Act, or with the jurisdiction of one or more police-stations or parts thereof as the Governor in Council may from time to time direct. The headquarters shall be at some convenient place within those limits.

Jurisdiction.

6. (1) Every candidate selected for appointment as a Muhammadan Registrar shall at first be appointed on probation and shall not be confirmed until he has passed the prescribed examination.

Examination.

(2) The said examination shall be held annually in each division in June at a convenient centre under the superintendence of a District Registrar or a gazetted officer of Government, to be nominated by the District Registrar.

The centre shall be selected by the Inspector-General of Registration in consultation with the District Registrars.

(3) The examination shall consist of two papers, the first in Muhammadan Law, especially the Law of marriage and divorce, the second comprising questions on the Bengal Muhammadan Marriages and Divorces Registration Act, 1876 [Bengal Act I of 1876], and the Kazis Act, 1880 (Act XII of 1880), and rules framed thereunder by Government.

(4) Probationers being passed students of the Arabic Department of a Madrassa shall be required to present themselves for examination in the second only of these papers.

(5) The papers shall be set by one of the members of the Permanent Committee or by a person appointed by the Permanent Committee, who shall also examine the papers and mark them and submit the results to the Permanent Committee for approval. The Committee shall decide which of the candidates should be considered to have passed.

(6) Every probationer shall be allowed to appear twice, provided that no probationer shall be compelled to appear within less than six months from the date of his appointment. Any candidate who fails to pass within three years from the date of his appointment shall be removed from his office.

7. Licenses to qualified persons who have been approved of as Muhammadan Registrars shall be granted in the following form :—

(2) By examining the two witnesses who were presented at the marriage.

Procedure before registration of divorce other than khula.

27. The Muhammadan Registrar shall satisfy himself whether or not a divorce, other than the kind known as khula was effected by the man by whom it is represented to have been effected by examining that man; and if he be of the Shia sect, by also examining the two witnesses to the divorce having been effected.

Procedure before registration of khula.

28. The Muhammadan Registrar shall satisfy himself that a divorce of the kind known as khula was effected by the persons by whom it was represented to have been effected in the following manner:—

(1) By examining the parties to the khula, provided that if the woman be a pardah-nashin, her duly constituted vakil shall be examined instead of the woman.

(2) If the man be of the Shia sect, by also examining the two witnesses to the divorce having been effected.

Identity of witnesses

29. The Muhammadan Registrar shall satisfy himself of the identity of persons appearing before him as witnesses of a marriage or divorce, unless they are personally known to him, by examining at least one witness to the identity of each person so appearing.

30. In the case of any person appearing as the representative of the man or woman (whether he appears as guardian or vakil), the Muhammadan Registrar shall satisfy himself of the right of such person to appear by examining such person. If a vakil so appear, the Muhammadan Registrar shall further examine witnesses to the fact of the vakil having been duly authorized to appear.

Appearance by a representative.

31. When the entry of the marriage or divorce has been made in the proper register, it shall be read over by the Muhammadan Registrar to the persons who, by section 11 of the Act, are required to sign such entry. If they admit its correctness, the entry shall then be signed by them.

Entry to be read over.

32. When a person who cannot write signs his name by means of a mark, his name shall be recorded at length, and the writer shall also sign his name in attestation that the mark was affixed in his presence.

Mark.

33. (1) The parties to a marriage or divorce appearing before the Muhammadan Registrar, or the lawful guardian or vakil, as the case may be, appearing respectively on behalf of a minor or pardah-nashin woman, shall, in addition to signing their names or making their marks if they are unable to write, imprint the mark of the left thumb in the Registers A, B or C on the right or left, as may be convenient, of the space provided for the signature:

Thumb impression

Provided that if the left thumb of any person be defective or injured, the right thumb or any other digit may be used. But in that case a note shall be made in the Register mentioning the particular digit used.

(2) The said mark shall be made by a slightly rolled impression of the person's left thumb (or other digit, as the case may be) taken in printer's ink off a flat piece of tin properly prepared for the purpose.

(3) To prevent confusion, the signatures of the persons to each ceremony registered whose thumb marks are thus taken should be marked 1, 2, 3 .... and the same numbers shall also be put against the corresponding thumb mark in the Register.

(4) Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, a Muhammadan Registrar may, in his discretion, dispense with the taking of thumb impressions in the case of persons of position regarding whose identification there can be no doubt or room for suspicion.

34. (1) If a Muhammadan Registrar discovers any error in the form or substance of any entry of a marriage or divorce made by him, he may within one month next after the discovery of such error, in the presence of the persons married, or, in case of their death or absence, in the presence of two other credible witnesses, correct the error by entry in the margin, without any alteration of the original entry, and shall sign the marginal entry and add thereto the date of such correction, and he shall also make the like marginal entry in the copies thereof.

Correction of error.

(2) Every entry made under this rule shall be attested by the witnesses in whose presence it was made.

(3) In case a copy has been already sent to the Registrar, the Muhammadan Registrar shall make and send another copy thereof, containing both the original erroneous entry and the marginal correction therein made.

35. No erasures shall be made in any register, book or record, but mistakes shall be corrected, when necessary, with the pen, and shall be invariably attested by the registering officer. Corrections shall not be obliterated or blotted out so as to be illegible, but a line shall be drawn through erroneous words with the pen, so that they may remain legible.

Erasures.

36. The circumstances under which registration of a marriage or divorce shall be refused shall be as follows:—

Refusal to register.

(1) If the marriage or divorce was not effected within the jurisdiction of the Muhammadan Registrar to whom application for registration is made.

(2) If the application is not made by the persons specified in section 8 of the Act.

(3) If application has been made after the expiry of one month from the date on which the marriage or divorce was effected.

(4) If all the persons required by section 11 of the Act to sign the entry in the proper register fail to appear within the time limited for such appearance by the Muhammadan Registrar under rule 25.

(5) If the Muhammadan Registrar is not satisfied that the marriage or divorce was effected by the person or persons by whom it is represented to have been effected.

(6) If the Muhammadan Registrar is not satisfied as to the identity of the persons appearing before him and alleging that the marriage has been effected.

(7) In the case of any person appearing as the representative of the man or woman (whether he appears as guardian or as vakil), if the Muhammadan Registrar is not satisfied as to the right of such person to appear.

(8) If one of the parties applying for registration of marriage, or if the man applying for the divorce, appear to be of unsound mind.

Refusal deferred

37. In the case referred to in clause (2) of rule 36 the order of refusal shall ordinarily be deferred till one month has elapsed from the date on which the marriage or divorce was effected: but if the parties declare their inability to comply with the requirements of the law, or for any other reason wish that registration should at once be refused, this may be done.

Grounds of refusal to be recorded.

38. The reasons for refusal to register to be recorded under section 20 of the Act shall be concisely and clearly stated in each particular case. When registration is refused under clause 5, 6 or 7 of rule 36, the Muhammadan Registrar shall record the grounds of his decision.

In what cases fees may be refunded

39. Fees paid under section 9 of the Act shall not be refunded unless registration is refused under clause (1), (2), (3) or (8) of rule 36. Fees and travelling allowances paid for the attendance of Muhammadan Registrars at the celebration of marriages shall be refunded only in cases where the Muhammadan Registrar does not attend. Fees paid for searches in the registers and indexes, or for copies of entries, shall be refunded only when the searches are not made for the copies not given.

Manner of refund

40. The refund of fees paid to a Muhammadan Registrar shall be made by him at once on application, and he shall take and file a receipt for the amount of such re-payment from the person to whom it is made.

Certificate of closure of volume

41. When a register is closed, a certificate to that effect shall be appended at the close of the written portion, and a certificate showing the number of pages written upon shall be entered on the first page.

Language to be used.

42. The registers and indexes shall be kept in Bengali, and copies under sections 12, 15 and 22 of the Act shall also be prepared in Bengali.

Meaning of "Year".

43. The "year" referred to in section 7 of the Act shall be a year of the Christian era, commencing on the 1st January and ending on the 31st December.

Indexes.

44. The index to marriages and divorces shall be prepared from Registers A, B and C, and shall contain the following particulars:—

1. Name of party.
2. Father's name.
3. Residence.*
4. Place of registration.
5. Date of registration.
6. Serial number for the year.
7. Book.
8. Volume.
9. Page.

* Residence includes village or town, police-station and district

45. Names shall be indexed according to their first letter, and shall be arranged in the order of the Bengali alphabet. A mere title or designation of race shall not be taken as the index word.

Indexing how to be made.

Thus, Shaikh Ramzan will be indexed Ramzan, Shaikh; Mir Aulad Ali, Aulad Ali, Mir.

46. A catalogue in form given below, shall be kept up and permanently preserved in every Muhammadan Registrar's office, and on the occasion of every transfer of records the officer receiving charge of the records shall compare them with the catalogue and certify therein that he has found them correct. Whenever any of the records are transferred to the district office, the fact shall be noted in the column of remarks, together with the date of transfer :—

HARDWARE LIST.

Hardware is taken to include all articles of base metal which are not:—

(1) Materials used for constructional purposes, such as plates, bars, angles, rods, etc., which are not sold in the retail trade.

(2) Articles highly manufactured of a special character, such as complex machines, scientific instruments, etc.

The following articles which will be found in their alphabetical order in the preceding list, are here grouped for convenience under the heading of Hardware.

*The General Licenses permitting the importation of these goods are now revoked. Goods in transit direct to the importer before the 31st January 1918, will be admitted under the General Licenses now withdrawn.

Adaptors for electric lamp holders.

Addressograph machines, parts of, such as metal drawers, wooden stands with metal attachments and iron stands.

Advertising signs—complete with letters, figures and frames.
Agricultural implements and parts thereof.
Air fittings (used by dentists).
"Alaska" handles for boiler doors.
Anvils.
Apple paring and coring machines (hand and power driven).
Apple peelers, (household appliances).
Armature magnets for use in electric motors or dynamos.
Armatures for electric motors.
Ash trays, base metal
Auto-kot, variant of hand ambulances.
*Awl blades.
Awls, stitching.
Axes, safety, pocket.

Bag tyers, wire ties.
Balances, sash.
*Bale ties, wire, for hay and paper.
Baling or strapping machines (hand).
*Ball bearing bolts.
*Ball bearings.
*Ball retainers.
Band saw setting machines (hand driven).
Band saws, steel.
Band steel.
Banquet candle castings and fittings.
Barbed wire.
Barber's pole, Parker's revolving.
Bar folders (tinsmith's machines).
Bathroom accessories, i.e. :—
Metal baskets.
Metal racks.
Metal soap and sponge holders.
Metal towel racks.
Metal tumbler holders, etc.
Bath showers, brass or copper.
Battery pressing machines (hand driven).
Bayonets.
Beading machines (tinsmith's machines).
*Bearings, ball.
Bee smokers, base metal.
Bellows and sprayers for powders (hand).
Bells and buzzers, all sorts.
Belt couplings, steel.
*Belt hooks (for use on belts of sewing machines).
*Belt hooks, steel (for binding machinery belting).
Bending machines for chain.
Bending machines for wood hoops (hand driven).
Bicycle accessories.
Bicycle forgings.
Bins and balers, steel, for waste paper.
Bits, auger.
Bits, expansion.
Bit snaps.
Bits, wood boring.
*Blades, awl.
Blades, circular, for paper slitting machines.
Blades, for boring belting.
*Blades, back saw.
Blanks, steel, for safety razor blades.
Block fasteners, spring, for shoe lasts.
Blowers and forges, portable.
Blow lamps and parts thereof.
Bolt croppers.
Bolt-headed screws or coach screws.
*Bolts and nuts of all kinds.
Bolts, door.
Boot button fasteners.
Boot protectors (made of wood and metal).
Bottle closing device (brass, nickelled).
Bottle corking machines (hand).
Bottle corking and crowning machines (hand or treadle driven).
Bottle wiring machines.
Box catch fastening and punching machines (hand power).
Boxes, metal, of all kinds.
Brackets, implement.
Bracket lamp or bulb holders, nickelled (electrical accessories and appliances).
Braid, wire.
Brass component parts for electric lighting.
Brass or metal leaf (imitation gold leaf).
Brass or phosphor bronze cloth.
*Brass strip.
*Brass tape.
Brazing lamps.
Bread crumbing machine (hand and power).
Bread making machines (hand driven).
Bricklayers' and plasterers' trowels, as Mason's tools.
Bronze leaf.
Bronze powder.
Brooch joints, pins and catches (base metal).
Brushes, laminated.
Brush holders, carbon (not for motor cars).
Brush holder spring.
Buckles and tie fasteners.
Buckles, brass.
Buckles for braces.
Buckles, metal, for ladies' belts.
Buckles, papier-mâché, with metal bar prong.
Bullet moulds (G. L.).
Bull rings, copper.
Bunion springs.
Burners, gas or oil.
Burning outfits, "Hauck" blow lamp.
Burnishers, chain.
Burring machines (tinsmiths' machines).
Bushings, bronze.
Button covering machines (hand).
Button, sewing on, machines.
Button moulds, metal, fillings and backs.
Butts, steel.
By-passes, brass.

Cabinets, seed, steel lined.
Cable cash carriers, parts of.
Cables, insulated.
Calendar frames.
*Callipers.
Can cleaning machines.
Canisters, tin.
Can keys, and can openers.
Caps, brass.
Caps, made of tinsel, with wads and discs, for bottles.
Caps, metal, for electric lamps.
Caps, metal, for milk bottles or toilet powder tins.
Capsules, lead foil.
Card fasteners, with brass sockets attached for screwing blocks to wood lasts.
Carriage heaters.
Carriage tyring machines.
"Cary's" fasteners, seals and clasps.

Casters, furniture and truck.
Castings, machine bronze.
Castings, phosphor bronze.
Catches, joints, and pins for brooches.
Catches, plated (for drawers).
Catches, tin (used in the manufacture of radiator boiler castings).
Cattle dehorners.
Cattle leaders.
Ceiling shades, enamelled iron.
Cellar drainers.
Chafing dishes.
Chain, iron, weldless.
Chains, chronometer fusee.
Chains, elevator.
Chains, sherardized steel for hanging sashes.
Chaplet plugs, taper.
Chaplets (copper) used in manufacturing radiator boiler sections.
Chaplets, perforated tin.
Chart discs, steel.
*Chasers (screwing tackle).
Cheese presses ("Gang").
Cheque protectors.
Chiropodists' appliances:—

Cabinet instrument steriliser.
Chair metal and leather.
Instrument stands.
Wash bowl and accessories.

*Choppers and hatchets.
Choppers, food.
Chromel resistance wire.
Chronometer fusee chains.
Cigar cutting machines (hand driven).
Cigarette cases (base metal).
Circuit breakers.
Circular blades (for paper slitting machines).
Circular knives.
Clamp for use with stitching awl.
Clamps, brass, with steel screw and nut (for connecting rubber and canvas hose to couplings).
*Clamps, iron or steel, as engineers' tools.
Clasps, "Cary's."
Clippers, hair.
Clippers, horse.
Clips, copper, test (for use in testing electrical instruments).
Clips, fountain pen.
Clips or clamps for wire rope.
Clips, paper.
Clips, spring, for bottle caps.
Closing machines (see Tinsmiths' machines).
Cloth, brass metal or phosphor bronze.
Clothes line reels, metal cases.
Cloth, woven galvanised iron wire.
Coach screws or bolt-headed screws.
Cocktail mixers, electro-plate.
Coffee grinding machines (hand driven).
Coffee making machines.
Coffee roasting machines (hand driven).
Coil holders, metal.
Coil lacing, wire.
Coke forks for gasworkers' use.
Combination tool "Austral."
Combs, curry.
Commutator copper segments.
Commutators for electric motors.
Containers or founts (oil used for ordinary oil lighting or heating lamps).
Contractors for electric meters.
Controller parts, gas, brass.
Coolers, cylindrical, for dairies.
Copper blanks for electric cranes.
Copper foil.
Copper plates or sheets, cut to shape and size for engraving.
Copper rollers.
Cork pressers, roller.
Cork pullers.
Corks, sprinkler.
Corset busk cutting and tipping machines (hand driven).
Cotter pins.
Counters for marine indicators.
Counter weights, suspension, pulley, and rings.
Couplings, belt, steel.
Covers, oil hole.
Covers, spring lubricating.
Crank, shaft forgings.
Crown cork openers.
Cuecutters.
Cups, grease.
Cups, metal, collapsible.
Cups, oil.
Curling tongs for waving hair.
Curry combs.
Curtain rings, brass.
Curtain rods, metal.
Curvimeters (map measures).
Cutters, bench metal (hand driven).
Cutters, cue.
Cutters, for card and lead.
Cutters, glass.
Cutters, pipe.
Cutters, rod.
Cutters, rule.
Cutters, white metal and brass, pattern makers.
Cutters, steel, for grooving wood.
Cycle alarms "Root-a-tooter."
Cyclometers.
Cylinders, steel, for oxygen.
Cylinders for acetylene gas.
Cylindrical coolers for dairies.

Damper knobs, nickel plated, for use on boilers.
Damper regulators, for water and steam boilers.
Dating and numbering machines (hand), all kinds, manufactured largely of metal.
Dating or name stamps, i.e., metal or wood with rubber type.
*Deacon's welt ploughs (shoemaker's tool).
Dentists' accessories (G. L.).
Diamond dies for wire drawing.
Dictating machines, parts and accessories. (G. L.)
Die heads.
*Dies and die stocks.
Dilver rods.
Discs, metal, for centre of rubbers.
Discs, steel, for manufacture of adaptors.
Discs, valve.
Door bolts.
Door catches (stove fittings).
Door hangers, sliding.
Double seaming machines (tinsmith's machines).
Dovetail bits.
Dovetail (stove fittings).

Drafting machines.
Drainers, cellar.
Drawing pins.
Draw plates for wire drawing.
Drift forgings.
Drill sleeves.
Drilling machines, railway track (hand driven).

NOTIFICATION.

THE following orders of the Government of India, in the Department of Education, are published for general information :—

Under section 22, read with section 21, sub-section (3) of the Indian Universities Act (No. VIII of 1904), the Government of India are pleased to sanction the extension of affiliation of the Anandamohan College, Mymensingh, in English to the B. A. Honours standard, and in Economics to the B. A. Pass standard, with effect from the commencement of the session 1918-19.

P. BRÜHL, Registrar.

SENATE HOUSE, the 24th April 1918.

[N.B.—The scale of fees as given in this prospectus is payable by students admitted to the College from the beginning of the Session 1916-17 and will not apply to old students who will continue to pay the existing rate of fees.]

MEDICAL COLLEGE OF BENGAL.

RULES FOR THE GUIDANCE OF STUDENTS SEEKING ADMISSION.

1. Three classes of students are admitted for study in the College:—

(b) "Casual", or those who enter for selected or isolated subjects.

(c) "Military Class" (only students of European or Eurasian parentage are admitted to this class). (See separate Prospectus for Military students.)

The admission to this class is regulated by the Director-General, Indian Medical Service.

2. The minimum preliminary qualification for admission to the—

NOTE.—In 1917 and 1918 only in addition to the I Sc. Pass certificate, the I. A Pass certificate of the Calcutta University and, in the case of the six scholarship-holders nominated by the Government of Bihar and Orissa, the Matriculation Pass certificate will be accepted as a minimum qualification for admission

"(b) Casual".—The Matricultion or Entrance Pass certificate of the Calcutta or other Indian Universities, or the Pass certificate of an examination equivalent to the Marticulation or Entrance Examination.

3. The session commences on the 15th June.

4. All new students must apply for admission to the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, in the prescribed form available in his office before the 25th May. except in the case of Biharis, Uriyas, Chota Nagpuris and Assamese students, who should apply to the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of their respective provinces for admission within such date as the latter may prescribe.

Selected candidates must pay the following fees on or before the 10th June, failing which their names will be struck off the selected list:—

	Rs.	A.
Admission fee	20	0
Fees for Summer term	62	8
Athletic Club fee	1	0
Total ...	83	8

5. The number of regular students to be admitted each year is generally 120, but the Principal may, at his discretion, increase or decrease this number. Preference for admission will usually be given to candidates who have superior qualifications, but the final selection lies entirely with the Principal.

Of the total number to be admitted, twelve candidates will be nominated by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Bihar and Orissa and six candidates by the Inspector-General of Civil Hospitals of Assam. These candidates must possess the qualifications mentioned in rule 2 (a). In addition, the Bihar and Orissa Government will nominate six scholars, who, after 1918, must possess the I. Sc. pass certificate. These nominations must reach the Principal, Medical College, Calcutta, before the 10th June in each year, failing which the Principal will fill up vacancies with local candidates.

6. Female students of Bengal, Bihar and Orissa, Assam and Burma, belonging to the Calcutta University will be admitted to the College, provided they possess the requisite preliminary qualification and provided there is a vacancy in the Surnomoyee Hostel in which all female students must reside.

7. Failed students must apply for admission and pay fees before the 15th May, otherwise their prior claim lapses.

8. All Regular students must pay an annual fee of Rs. 125 in two instalments, viz., Rs. 62-8 for the Summer term and Rs. 62-8 for the Winter term. Fees once paid cannot be refunded.

9. The fees for each term are to be paid in one instalment. Except in the case of new students, the fees for Summer term are due on the 15th June, and those for the Winter term on the 1st November, and must be paid on those dates or on such subsequent dates as the Principal may direct, after which a daily fine of annas 4 will be levied along with the fee in each case of default.

10. All Regular students must pay an annual fee of Re. 1 to the Medical College Athletic Club along with the fees for the Summer term.

11. Muhammadan students are required to pay the entrance fee of Rs. 20 and half the annual College fee in two instalments, the remaining half fees being charged to the Mohsin Fund.

12. Students relegated to a further course of study after their failure at the Preliminary Scientific M. B. and at the First M. B. Examinations shall pay Rs. 80 for the whole session in one instalment by the 1st June.

13. Students taking up subjects outside the curriculum of the year in which they are studying shall pay Rs. 30 for each such subject, including lectures and practical classes.

14. The fees for Casual students or for certificates issued to Regular students leaving the College before completing their study or for those issued to Military students shall be Rs. 40 per each course of lectures and practical classes and Rs. 30 for every three months of hospital Practice.

15. Students who fail at the Final M. B. Examination shall pay fees for the whole session at the following rates in one instalment by the 1st June :—

	Rs.
For one subject	25
,, two subjects	50
,, three or more subjects	75

16 In calculating the sum to be paid under rule 12 by a Regular student, the amount of College fees paid by him, or in the case of a student enjoying a stipendiary scholarship and free tution, the amount which would have been paid by him, had he been a paying student, shall be deducted.

17. The fees payable by a Muhammadan student requiring certificates in the same way will be calculated on the same principle, i.e., he will be allowed a deduction for the full annual fee, half of which has been paid by himself and half by the Moshin Fund.

18. Students of the Military class requiring certificates in the same way will be required to pay the rate of fees laid down in paragraph 12 for the full curriculum or for such portion as they have attended. No deduction will be made in this case as they are not free students in the sense in which that term is defined in Bengal Government Resolution (Education) No. 601 of the 7th December 1880.

19. No fees are payable by female students.

20. Holders of a stipendiary scholarship of a value less than Rs. 20 per mensem are not required to pay the annual fee of Rs. 125 for the year in which they hold a scholarship. All other scholarship-holders shall pay the same fees as Regular students.

21. The following are the curricula of the College :—

A. H. CLAYTON, Collector.

Chittagong, the 4th April 1918.

Advertisement of Sale.

NOTICE is hereby given that the undermentioned plots of land, no longer required by Government, situated along the Eastern Bengal Railway in the district of Nadia, will be put up to sale at 12 o'clock on 8th May 1918.

The purchasers of the several plots of land will be subject to the following conditions :—

1st.—The purchasers will have no power to make any excavations on the land nearer than fifteen feet from the railway boundary, or to plough the land nearer than three feet from the same.

2nd.—If the amount of purchase-money does not exceed Rs. 100, the whole amount must be paid down at once.

3rd.—If the amount of purchase-money exceed Rs. 100. one-fourth of the amount must be immediately deposited. If the balance be not paid by noon of the fifteenth day after the sale, reckoning the day of sale as one, or if that day be a close holiday, then by noon of the first succeeding office day, the sale shall be cancelled, the sum deposited being forfeited to Government, and the lot again put up for sale at the risk of the defaulting purchaser, after issue of advertisement, as in the case of original sale.

4th.—The plots of land will be sold revenue-free to the highest bidders.

5th.—The sale will become final on receipt by the Collector of the orders of the Commissioner confirming it and a regular conveyance will then be granted to the purchaser.

Notice.

THE Bengal and Madras Service Family Pension Fund which is provisionally managed and assisted by Government has for its object the provision of monthly pensions for the maintenance of the widows and children of subscribers and is open, with certain exceptions, to all active and pensioned members of the Uncovenanted Service of Government (except those serving under the Government of Bombay), and to Local Fund servants earning pensions from Government. Some of the special features of the Fund are—(1) that widowed daughters incapable of remarriage or children labouring under such mental or bodily infirmities as incapacitate them from earning their livelihood or preclude the possibility of marriage (in case of a daughter) are admitted to its benefits ; and (2) that subscribers to the Widows' and Daughters' branches are entitled to a refund of 30 per cent. of the premia paid, should the nominees predecease them after five years of admission. The Fund is now of ten years' standing and has a balance of over three and-a-half lakhs with Government on four per cent. interest. For forms of applications and rules of the Fund apply to the Comptroller, India Treasuries, Imperial Secretariat Buildings, Calcutta.

THE INDIAN LAW REPORTS.

Published in FOUR SERIES, viz.,

CALCUTTA, MADRAS, BOMBAY AND ALLAHABAD.

THE Indian Law Reports, [illegible]ed under the authority of the Governor-General in Council, are printed in monthly Parts, which are issued, as soon as possible, after the first of each month, at Calcutta, Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

The Reports comprise four Series—one for the Calcutta High Court, a second for the Madras High Court, a third for the Bombay High Court, and a fourth for the Allahabad High Court.

The cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from each High Court are reported in the Series for that High Court. Cases heard by the Privy Council on appeal from Provinces in India not subject to any High Court are reported in the Calcutta Series.

The Calcutta Series is distributed by the Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt: and the Madras, Bombay and Allahabad Series are distributed direct from Madras, Bombay and Allahabad, respectively.

Persons desiring to subscribe for or purchase the Reports should apply to—the Officer in charge, Bengal Secretariat Book Depôt, Calcutta, or the Superintendent, Government Press, Madras, or

the Superintendent, Government Central Press, Bombay, or the Curator of Government Books, United Provinces of Agra and Oudh, Allahabad.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL.

LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

NOTIFICATION.

No. 9T. L., dated the 27th April, 1918.—The following Act, passed by the Legislative Council of the Governor of Bengal, received the assent of His Excellency the Governor on the 3rd April, 1918, and having been assented to by His Excellency the Viceroy and Governor General on the 17th idem, 1918, is hereby published for general information:—

BENGAL ACT NO. IV OF 1918.

THE SERAMPORE COLLEGE ACT, 1918.

CONTENTS

BENGAL ACT NO. IV OF 1918.

THE SERAMPORE COLLEGE ACT, 1918.

An Act to supplement, and in certain matters to supersede, the Royal Charter of Incorporation and the Statutes and Regulations of the Serampore College.

Preamble.

WHEREAS, on the 23rd day of February, 1827, the institution established in Serampore, Bengal, and known as the Serampore College, was incorporated by Royal Charter granted by his late Danish Majesty, King Frederick the Sixth, with the powers and privileges in the said Royal Charter set forth, including the power of conferring upon the students of the said College degrees of rank and honour according to their proficiency in science;

And whereas by Article VI of the Treaty of Purchase, dated the 22nd February, 1845, transferring Serampore to the British Government, it was provided that the rights and immunities granted to the Serampore College by the said Royal Charter, as translated and contained in Schedule I to this Act, should not be interfered with, but should continue in force in the same manner as if they had been obtained by a Charter from the British Government, subject to the general law of British India;

And whereas Statutes and Regulations for the better government of the said College and management of its concerns, as contained in Schedule II to this Act, were, on the 12th day of June, 1833, made and established under the powers conferred by Article 4 of the said Royal Charter;

And whereas, under the provisions of the said Royal Charter, the Council of the College consists of a Master or President and two or four members elected as provided in the said Statutes and Regulations, and the management of the College and its general order and government is vested in the Master and Council, and the said power of conferring degrees of rank and honour is vested in the first Council and their successors for ever;

And whereas it is considered that in order to give effect, under the conditions now existing, to the intentions of his late Danish Majesty and of the founders of the said College, that is to say, to promote piety and learning, particularly among the native Christian population of India, the amendment of the constitution of the College, by the enlargement of the Council on an interdenominational basis, with power to delegate some of its functions, in manner hereinafter appearing, is required;

And whereas the present Council of the said College consists of the Reverend George Pearce Gould, M.A., D.D., Master and President, George Barclay Leechman, Esq., Sir George Watson Macalpine, LL.D., the Reverend Robert Forman Horton, M.A., D.D., and the Reverend George Howells, M.A., PH. D., Principal of the College;

And whereas it is deemed expedient by the Governor in Council, with the consent of the said

The Serampore College Act, 1918.

(Sections 1—6.)

Council of the Serampore College, that a Faculty and Senate be constituted for the said College in manner hereinafter appearing and that suitable standards be imposed in regard to any secular degrees that may hereafter be conferred by the said Council under the terms of the said Royal Charter;

And whereas it is necessary to make provision for the above purposes by subjecting the said Royal Charter, Statutes and Regulations to an Act of the legislature under the general law of British India in accordance with the terms of the aforesaid Treaty;

And whereas the previous sanction of the Governor General in Council has been obtained to the passing of this Act;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

Short title.

1. This Act may be called the Serampore College Act, 1918.

Constitution of the Council.

2. (1) The Council of the Serampore College as constituted by the Royal Charter of the 23rd day of February, 1827, shall be enlarged so as to consist of not less than five nor more than sixteen ordinary members, including the Master, as the Council may from time to time determine. The first Council constituted under this section shall include the present Master and President and the other present members.

(3) The Master shall be the President of the Council.

(4) The Principal of the College, if not an ordinary member, shall be an additional member of the Council ex officio during his term of office as Principal of the College.

(5) Until otherwise determined by by-law made under section 14, three members of the Council shall form a quorum.

Resignation of Members.

3. Any member of the Council may at any time resign his office by notice in writing to the Master, provided that no such resignation shall be deemed to take effect so long as the total number of members of the Council shall by reason thereof be less than five.

Election of Master.

4. On any vacancy occurring in the office of Master the remaining members of the Council shall elect another person, whether one of their number or not, to fill his place.

The College Faculty.

5. The Council shall, within one year from the date of the commencement of this Act, constitute and appoint in the manner prescribed in section 6 a body to be known as the College Faculty.

Constitution of the College Faculty.

6. (1) The Faculty shall consist of the Principal (who shall be its President) and such of the professors and other officials and functionaries of the College as may be appointed by the Council in accordance with by-laws made under section 14.

The Serampore College Act, 1918.

(Sections 7—12.)

(2) The Council shall from time to time prescribe and declare by order in writing the powers and duties of the Faculty, and may remove any member thereof.

Delegation of Council's powers and duties.

7. The Council may delegate to the Faculty all or any of the powers and duties of the Council and Master, which concern only the internal management of the College and its general order and good government.

The Senate of the College

8. The Council shall, within one year from the date of the commencement of this Act, constitute and appoint in the manner prescribed in section 9 a body to be known as the Senate of the College.

Constitution of the Senate

9. The Senate shall consist of the Principal (who shall be convener) and not less than twelve nor more than eighteen persons as the Council may from time to time determine, to be appointed by the Council:

Provided that—

(a) at least one and not more than three representatives of each of the following Christian denominations, viz., Anglican, Baptist, Congregational, Lutheran, Methodist, Presbyterian and Syrian, shall, as far as practicable, be members of the Senate ;

(b) at least two-thirds of the members shall be persons other than professors, officials or functionaries of the College ;

(c) not less than one-sixth of the members shall be members of the College Faculty.

Term of office of members of the Senate

10. (1) Subject to the provisions of clause 11 of the Statutes and Regulations of the College, which shall be deemed to apply to members of the Senate, each member of the Senate shall hold office for a period of five years, at the expiration of which period he shall retire, but he shall be eligible for re-appointment :

Provided that the Principal shall not, during the term of his office as Principal, be subject to retirement, unless he becomes disqualified under the provisions of clause 11 of the Statutes and Regulations.

(2) Any member of the Senate may, by notice in writing to the Master, resign his membership at any time.

Duties of the Senate.

11. The Senate shall frame courses of study and make rules for the conduct of examinations, and shall, subject to the control of the Council, determine the qualifications for degrees and diplomas, and do and perform all other matters and things necessary or proper for or relating to the determination of the eligibility of candidates for degrees, diplomas and certificates to be conferred by the Council.

Power of the Senate to make rules and regulations.

12. Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Senate shall make rules and regulations for the convening of its meetings and for the proper conduct of its business.

The Serampore College Act, 1918.

(Sections 13, 14.)

Granting of degrees.

13. If, at any time, the Council shall intend to grant degrees in any branch or branches of knowledge and science other than theology, such degrees shall be confined to students who shall have received regular instruction at the Serampore College; and before the Council proceeds to grant such degrees, it shall satisfy the Government as defined in section 2 (b) of the Indian Universities Act, 1904, in relation to the University of Calcutta as to the adequacy—

VIII of 1904.

(1) of the establishment and equipment of the College;

(2) of the academic standard to be maintained; and

(3) of the financial provision made therefor:

Provided that the said Government, on ceasing to be so satisfied, may withdraw their approval of the granting of such degrees.

Power of the Council to make by-laws.

14. Subject to the provisions of this Act and of the said Royal Charter, Statutes and Regulations, so far as they are not inconsistent therewith, the Council shall make by-laws providing for and regulating the following matters, namely :—

(a) the convening of meetings of the Council;

(b) the quorum to be required at meetings of the Council and the conduct of business at such meetings;

(c) the appointment of members of the Council, Faculty and Senate;

(d) the duties to be performed by the Faculty under the direction and control of the Council;

(e) the conferring of degrees, diplomas and certificates on the recommendation of the Senate;

(f) the terms and tenure of appointments, duties, emoluments, allowances and superannuation allowances of the Principal, Professors, Fellows, Tutors and other officers of the College and of its servants;

(g) the finances and accounts of the College and the investment of its funds;

(h) the person or persons by whom, and the manner and form in which, contracts by or on behalf of the College may be entered into, varied or discharged, and deeds, agreements, contracts, cheques, and other negotiable instruments and documents may be signed or executed on behalf of the College, and minutes and proceedings of meetings of the Council, Faculty or Senate may be authenticated or evidenced so as to bind the College and be receivable in evidence in accordance with the provisions of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872;

I of 1872

The Serampore College Act, 1918.

(Section 15.)

(i) the custody and use of the common seal: and

(j) generally all such other matters as may be required or authorized under this Act and the said Royal Charter, Statutes and Regulations, so far as they are not inconsistent with this Act.

Effect of Act

15. The provisions of the said Royal Charter and of the Statutes and Regulations made thereunder, so far as they are contrary to or inconsistent with any of the terms of this Act, shall be deemed to be superseded from the date of the commencement of this Act:

Provided that nothing in this Act shall render invalid any acts performed, duties imposed or liabilities incurred prior to the date on which this Act comes into force in accordance with the terms of the said Royal Charter, and of the Statutes and Regulations made thereunder.

The Serampore College Act, 1918.

SCHEDULE I.

[See Preamble and sections 2 (1), 14 and 15.]

Charter of Incorporation of the Serampore College.

WE Frederick the Sixth, by the Grace of God King of Denmark, the Venders and Gothers, Duke of Slesvig Holsten, Stormarn, Ditmarsken, Limessborg and Oldenborg, by these writings make known and publicly declare, that whereas William Carey and Joshua Marshman, Doctors of Divinity, and John Clark Marshman, Esq., inhabitants of our town of Fredericksnagore (or Serampore) in Bengal, being desirous of founding a College to promote piety and learning particularly among the native Christian population of India, have to secure this object erected suitable buildings and purchased and collected suitable books, maps, etc., and have humbly besought us to grant unto them and such persons as shall be elected by them and their successors to form the Council of the College in the manner to be hereafter named, our Royal Charter of Incorporation that they may the more effectually carry into execution the purposes above-mentioned :—We being desirous to encourage so laudable an undertaking, have of our special grace and free motion ordained, constituted, granted and declared, and by these presents We do for ourselves, our heirs and successors ordain, constitute, grant and declare :

1. That the said William Carey, Joshua Marshman and John Clark Marshman, and such other person or persons as shall successively be elected and appointed the Council of the said College, in the manner hereafter mentioned, shall by virtue of these presents be for ever hereafter one body politic and incorporate by the name of the Serampore College for the purposes aforesaid to have perpetual succession and to have a common seal, and by the said name to sue and to be sued, to implead and be impleaded, and to answer and be answered unto in every court and place belonging to us, our heirs and successors.

2. And We do hereby ordain, constitute and declare that the persons hereby incorporated and their successors shall for ever be competent in law to purchase, hold and enjoy for them and their successors any goods and chattels whatsoever and to receive, purchase, hold and enjoy, they and their successors, any lands, tenements or hereditaments whatever and that they shall have full power and authority to sell, exchange or otherwise dispose of any real or personal property to be by them acquired as aforesaid, unless the sale or alienation of such property be specially prohibited by the donor or donors thereof, and to do all things relating to the said College or Corporation in as ample a manner or form as any of our liege subjects, or any other body politic or corporate in our said kingdom or its dependencies may or can do.

3. And We do hereby ordain, grant and declare that the number of Professors Fellows or Student Tutors and Students shall be indefinite and that the said William Carey, Joshua Marshman and John Clark

Marshman shall be the first Council of the said College, and that in the event of its appearing to them necessary during their lifetime, or in the case of the death of any one of the three members of the said first Council, the survivors or survivor shall and may under their respective hands and seals appoint such other person or persons to be members of the Council of the College, and to succeed each other so as to become members of the said Council in the order in which they shall be appointed, to the intent that the Council of the said College shall for ever consist of at least three persons.

4. And We do hereby further ordain, grant and declare, that for the better government of the said College and the better management of its concerns, the said William Carey, Joshua Marshman and John Clark Marshman, the members of the first Council, shall have full power and authority for the space of ten years from the date of these presents, to make and establish such Statutes as shall appear to them useful and necessary for the government of the said College, in which Statutes they shall define the powers to be entrusted to their successors, to the Professors, the Fellows or Student Tutors and the other officers thereof, and the duties to be performed by these respectively for the management of the estates, lands, revenues and goods—and of the business of the said College, and the manner of proposing, electing, admitting and removing all and every one of the Council, the Professors, the Fellows or Tutors, the officers, the students and the servants thereof, and shall make and establish generally all such other Statutes as may appear to them necessary for the future good government and prosperity of the said College, provided that these Statutes be not contrary to the laws and Statutes of our realm.

5. And We do hereby further ordain, grant and declare that the Statutes thus made and established by the said three members of the first Council and given or left in writing under their respective hands, shall be valid and in full force at the expiration of ten years from the date of these presents, so that no future Council of the College shall have power to alter, change or vary them in any manner whatever, and that the Statutes shall for ever be considered the constitution of the said College. And We do hereby appoint and declare that these Statutes shall be made and established by the said William Carey, Joshua Marshman and John Clark Marshman alone, so that in case either of them should die before the expiration of ten years, the power of completing or perfecting these Statutes shall devolve wholly on the survivors or survivor; and that in case all three of them should die before the expiration of ten years, the Statutes which they have left in writing under their hands, or under the hand of the last survivor among them, shall be considered "The Fundamental Statutes and Constitution of Serampore College", incapable of receiving either addition or alteration, and shall and may be registered in our Royal Court of Chancery as "The Statutes and Constitution of Serampore College".

6. And We do hereby further appoint, grant and declare that from and after the completion of the Statutes of the said College in the above said time of ten years, the said Council of the College shall be deemed to consist of a Master or President and two or four members who may be Professors or otherwise as the Statutes may direct so that the said Council shall not contain less than three, nor more than five persons, as shall be defined in the Statutes. The Council shall ever be elected as the Statutes of the College may direct, yet the said Master or President shall always previously have been a member of the College; and upon the decease of the said Master or President, the Council of the said College shall be unable to do any act or deed until the appointment of a new Master or President, save and except the appointment of such a Master.

7. And We further appoint, grant and declare that the said William Carey, Joshua Marshman and John Clark Marshman, the members of the first Council, and their successors for ever, shall have the power of conferring upon the students of the said College, native Christians as well as others, degrees of rank and honour according to their proficiency in as ample a manner as any other such College, yet the said Serampore College shall only have the power of conferring such degrees on the students that testify their proficiency in Science, and no rank or other special right shall be connected therewith in our dominions. And We do hereby further appoint, grant, and declare, that after the expiration of the said ten years, the said Council of the College and their successors for ever shall have power to make and establish such orders and bye-laws as shall appear to them useful and necessary for the government of the said College, and to alter, suspend or repeal those already made, and from time to time make such new ones in their room as shall appear to them most proper and expedient provided the same be not repugnant to the Statutes of the College or the laws of our realm, and that after the expiration of these ten years any member of the Council shall have power to move the enactment of any new bye-law, or the alteration, suspension or repeal of any existing one provided notice of such motion shall have been delivered in writing to the Master and read from the Chair at one previous meeting of the Council of the said College, but that no such motion shall be deemed to have passed in the affirmative, until the same shall have been discussed and decided by ballot at another meeting summoned especially for that purpose, a majority of the members then present having voted in the affirmative; and in this as in all other cases, if the votes be equal, the Master or President shall have the casting vote.

Given at our Royal Palace in Copenhagen on the twenty-third day of February in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty-seven, in the nineteenth year of our reign.

Under our Royal Hand and Seal.

SCHEDULE II.

[See Preamble and sections 10 (1), 14 and 15.]

Statutes and Regulations of the Serampore College.

June 12th, 1833.

1. Article the Third of the Charter granted by His Danish Majesty, having authorized the first Council of Serampore College in their life-time to nominate under their hand and seal such other person or persons for colleagues or successors as may to them appear most proper so that the Council shall always consist of at least three persons, their successors in the Council shall be competent in like manner to nominate in their life-time under their separate hand and seal such person or persons as they may deem most proper to fill vacancies then existing or which may occur on their demise; members thus nominated and chosen shall succeed to the Council in order of their nomination.

2. It being fixed in the Charter that the Council must consist of the Master or President and at least two, but not more than four members, and that on the demise of the Master no act shall be done until another be elected, the Master and Council for the time being shall appoint the next Master under their separate hand and seal. If on the demise of a Master no one be found thus appointed under the hand and seal of a majority of the Council, the senior member of the Council shall succeed as Master.

3. The Charter having given the casting vote to the Master, in all cases when the votes are equal the casting vote shall lie with the Master, and if there be no Master, it shall lie with the Senior Member of the Council.

4. Learning and piety being peculiar to no denomination of Christians, one member of the Council may at all times be of any other denomination besides the Baptist to preserve the original design of the Institution. However if on the election of a Master a number of the Council be equally divided, that part which is entirely of the Baptist denomination shall have the casting vote, whether it includes the Master or not.

5. The management of the College, including its revenues and property, the choice of the Professor and Tutors, the admission of students, the appointment of all functionaries and servants and the general order and government of the College, shall ever be vested in the Master and the Council. The Master shall see that the Statutes and Regulations of the Council be duly carried into effect, and take order for the good government of the College in all things. His signature is necessary to the validity of all deeds, instruments, documents and proceedings.

6. "The first Council and their successors for ever" being authorized by the Charter "to confer such degrees of rank and honour as shall encourage learning"

The Serampore College Act, 1918.

(Schedule II.—Statutes and Regulations of the Serampore College.)

in the same manner as other Colleges and Universities, they shall from time to time confer degrees in such branches of Knowledge and Science as may be studied there, in the same manner as the Universities in Denmark, Germany and Great Britain. In doing this the Master and Council shall ad libitum call in the aid of any or all the Professors of Serampore College. All such degrees shall be perfectly free of expense to the person on whom they may be conferred, whether he be in India, Europe or America.

7. No oaths shall be administered in Serampore College either to the Members of the Council, the Professors and Tutors, or the students. In all cases a solemn promise, duly recorded and signed by the party, shall be accepted instead of an oath.

8. Marriage shall be no bar to any office or situation in Serampore College, from that of the Master to that of the lowest student.

9. The salaries of the Professors and Tutors in Serampore College shall be appointed and the means of support for all functionaries, students and servants be regulated by the Council in such manner as shall best promote the objects of the Institution.

10. It is intended that neither the Master nor any Member of the Council in general shall receive any salary. But any Master who may not previously reside in the College shall have a residence there free of rent for himself and his family. And if the Council shall elect any one in Europe or in America, whom they deem eminent for learning and piety, a member of the Council, with a view to choosing him Master should they on trial deem him worthy, the Council shall be competent to appoint him such salary as they may deem necessary, not exceeding, however, the highest given to a Professor.

11. As the founders of the College deem the belief of Christ's Divinity and Atonement essential to vital Christianity, the promotion of which is the grand object of this Institution, no one shall be eligible to the College Council or to any Professorship who is known to oppose these doctrines, and should any one of the Professors or any member of the Council unhappily change his views after his election as to oppose these fundamental doctrines of Christianity, on this being clearly and decidedly proved from his teaching or his writings, he shall vacate the office he previously held. But every proceeding of this nature on the part of the College Council shall be published to the Christian world, with the proofs on which it may rest, as an Appendix to the succeeding Report.

12. Members of the Council are eligible from among the Professors of the College, or from among any in India, Europe, or America, whom the College Council may deem suitable in point of learning, piety, and talent.

The Serampore College Act, 1918.

(Schedule II.—Statutes and Regulations of the Serampore College.)

13. Students are admissible at the discretion of the Council from any body of Christians, whether Protestant, Roman Catholic, the Greek, or the Armenian Church; and for the purpose of study, from the Musalman and Hindu youth, whose habits forbid their living in the College. No caste, colour, or country shall bar any man from admission into Serampore College.

14. Expulsion shall be awarded in cases of open immorality, incorrigible idleness, neglect of the College Statutes and Regulations, or repeated disobedience to the officers of the College.

15. Any person in India, Europe or America shall be at liberty to found any Professorship, or to attach to Serampore College any annual exhibition or prize for the encouragement of learning in the same manner as in Universities of Great Britain, regulating such endowment according to their own will; and it shall be the duty of the College Council to carry such benefactions into effect in strict consonance with the will of the donors as far as shall be consistent with the Statutes of the College.

16. It shall be lawful for the first Council of the College or their successors to make and rescind any bye-laws whatever, provided they be not contrary to these Statutes.

17. The Charter having declared that the number of the Professors and Students in Serampore College remains unlimited, they shall be left thus unlimited, the number to be regulated only by the gracious providence of God and the generosity of the public in India, Europe and America.

DISTRICT REPORTS ON WEATHER AND CROPS.

For the week ending on the 25th April 1918.

Summary.—During the week rainfall was general throughout the province, facilitating agricultural operations and doing immense good to vegetables and other standing crops. Sowing of jute and autumn paddy is progressing. The operation is nearing completion in the eastern districts. Weeding has commenced. Harvesting of boro paddy continues. The average price of common rice for the province has slightly risen as compared with that of the previous week.

DACCA,
The 24th April 1918.

WALI-UL ISLAM,
for Director of Agriculture, Bengal.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

CALCUTTA TRADE FLUCTUATIONS.

THE following tables are intended to show the trade of the Calcutta Block* in certain selected articles during the months of April, 1917, to February, 1918, by all routes, i.e., by rail, river, canal, road, and sea. The statistics have been compiled from returns furnished by the Collector of Customs, Calcutta, Railway Audit Offices, Steamer Companies, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, the Collectors of the 24-Parganas and Howrah, and the Assistant Engineer, Calcutta Canals.

General Summary.

Imports.—The imports of rice, including paddy†, into Calcutta by rail, river, canal, road, and sea (coastwise) during April, 1917, to February, 1918, amounted to 13,122,000 maunds as against 15,866,000 maunds in the corresponding period of the preceding year,—a decline of 17 per cent. There was a decrease (30 per cent.) in the imports of coal and coke (69,892,000 maunds as against 99,636,000 maunds last year). The imports by rail, river, road, and sea (coastwise) of Indian cotton piece-goods showed a small increase (3 per cent), the total value amounting to Rs. 3,50,33,000 as against Rs. 3,39,04,000 in 1916-17. The imports of raw jute amounted to 4,145,000 bales as against 5,112,000 bales,—a decrease of 19 per cent. The importations of gunny-bags also showed a decrease of 2 per cent (391 million bags as against 401 millions in the preceding year). The quantity of indigo imported by all routes during April, 1917, to February, 1918, fell by 28 per cent to 23,000 maunds from 32,000 maunds last year, and that of oilseeds (linseed and rape and mustard seed) by 40 per cent to 3,928,000 maunds from 6,580,000 maunds. There was a slight increase in the imports of sugar (639,000 maunds as against 607,000 maunds last year); the imports of tea increased by 787,000 maunds or 28 per cent, the total quantity amounting to 3,640,000 maunds as against 2,853,000 in the preceding year.

Exports.—The exports of cotton piece-goods, foreign, from Calcutta by all routes during April, 1917, to February, 1918, increased by 15 per cent (Rs. 21,40,19,000 as against Rs. 18,53,98,000 last year). The exports of gunny-bags (excluding exports by sea to foreign countries) decreased from 107 million bags to 88 million bags. The shipments of gunny-bags to other Indian ports which are included in these figures decreased by 2,069,000 in number in the period under review (28,329,000 as against 30,398,000). The quantity of kerosene oil despatched from Calcutta and Budge-Budge by internal routes and by sea (coastwise) decreased by 12 per cent from 5,707,000 maunds to 5,048,000 maunds.

† One maund of paddy is equivalent to 25 seers of rice.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

APPORTIONMENT ORDER.

No. 60T.R.—The 2nd May 1918.—Under section 114 of the Bengal Tenancy Act (Act VIII of 1885) the Governor in Council is pleased to direct that the cost of the survey and the preparation of a record-of-rights in respect of the lands comprised in Patni tenure Gilatala, situated in mauzas Gilatala, Atra, Mosheali and Damoodar, in the district of Khulna, and appertaining to the Syedpur Trust Estate, bearing tauzi No. 188 of the Khulna Collectorate, undertaken under Government Notification No. 1897T.R., dated the 3rd November 1916, published in the Calcutta Gazette of 8th November 1916, shall be borne by the landlords and tenants in the manner specified below:

Khulna.

The balance of the total cost remaining after recovery has been made in the said manner shall be borne by the applicants at whose instance the proceedings were undertaken, in addition to what may be payable by them according to this apportionment order as landlords.

(1) A rate of Re. 1-8 per acre shall be levied on all lands in the said patni, of which the raiyats shall pay twelve annas and their landlords of all grades together twelve annas.

(2) Landlords shall pay the raiyat's share for lands in their khas possession and the raiyats shall pay the full raiyati share for lands sub-let as well as for those in their khas possession.

(3) As between the different grades of landlords, the landlord's share shall be apportioned thus :—

Permanent tenure-holders, whose rent or rate of rent is fixed in perpetuity, shall pay the whole of the landlords' share. Other permanent tenure-holders shall pay ¾ths of the landlord's share, the calculation being made from the lowest grade of landlords immediately above the raiyats.

(4) Rent-free holders, whether of the degree of raiyat or landlord, shall pay the whole of the landlord's share for their lands.

(5) The following minimum charges shall be adopted :—

(a) The minimum charge shall be the charge for one acre.

(b) There shall be no charge for broken portions of less than half an acre: but if the broken portion be half an acre or over it shall be taken as a full acre.
